INTRODUCTION TO THE SECOND REVISED EDITION.

THIS second revised edition of Ploetz's Manual of Universal History has been executed with the aim in mind of including in it the new material which has been produced both by the progress of scholarship in the last generation and the new historical events which have taken place since the original edition was issued. There have earlier been several partial revisions and additions made, but no thorough and coördinated effort at a systematic execution of the task. The effort has been made here, then, to combine the perennial usefulness of this compilation with the changes and advances forced by the progress of scholarship and events. The great body of the book still remained essentially accurate. Therefore, the actual revision consists chiefly in a thoroughgoing rewriting of the section on the ancient Orient, and the period since 1883. In the revision of the Oriental section particular attention has been given to the matter of providing an adequate chronological summary of this period, in the light of the very latest research and results in the field of Oriental chronology. There has also been added considerable new material on the civilization and culture of this area. A few significant alterations have been provided throughout the book in the way of eliminating what are now definite anachronisms, such as the term "Aryan" as descriptive of European races. New paragraphs have been provided on the racial background of Greek and Roman history, and a portion of the classical mythology has been eliminated to make way for more specifically historical material.

Many readers might question the wisdom of taking 1883 as the date for beginning the section on modern times. This choice has been dictated by the fact that the book, as originally printed, ended with this date, and it would have been impossible to have chosen any other date without resetting the entire material on the period since 1815. As an actual matter of fact, 1883 is probably as satisfactory as any other date for the purposes of this compilation. From the standpoint of the newer dynamic history, no particular date can be looked upon as of unique chronological significance. All dates are chosen chiefly on the basis of pedagogical convenience. Least of all is a particular date of significance in a work like the present, which is chiefly devoted to a chronological summary instead of an analysis of great historical movements.

In working out the distribution of material in the modern period, the fact that the work will be used primarily by English and American readers has been a guiding consideration. Much more space has been assigned to the history of Great Britain and the United States since 1883 than to the history of Continental Europe or the rest of the world. The importance of the World War and its aftermath has convinced the editor that there should be relatively more space assigned to European events since 1914 than to those between 1883 and 1914. This will account for the rather more thorough treatment of the war and the period since the armistice. While the editor's own historical philosophy is one in which economic, social, and cultural activities and achievements are deemed as of far greater importance than political, military, and diplomatic events, he has made an effort to avoid allowing his personal views to emerge in the determination of the space allotted to a specific treatment of the various subjects. It has been recognized that the majority of those who will use this work will chiefly come to it to seek information concerning the conventional political history. Hence, political, military, and diplomatic events have been included with as much thoroughness and tolerance as in the original edition. There is, however, considerably more material on economic and cultural progress than was to be found in Ploetz's own work. It is hoped that the new material in the present edition will serve as a thoroughly reliable guide to the chronology of ancient history, and as a convenient epitome of contemporary history. The excellencies of the old edition on the mediæval and the early modern periods need no word of comment from the present editor.

The work of the collaborators has been distributed essentially as follows. The sections on the ancient Orient have been prepared by both Mr. Peardon and Mr. Imlah, together with considerable additions by the editor. The sections on Great Britain, the British Empire, Asia, and the United States and its dependencies have been prepared by Mr. Imlah. The sections on Central Europe from 1883 to 1914, and on the partition of Africa, are the work of Mr. Peardon. The section on the war has been revised by Mr. Wuorinen. The material on the period since the war has been worked out by Mr. Wuorinen and Mr. Peardon in coöperation. The index has been prepared by Mr. David M. Matteson, who supplied most of the material for the years 1883-1903 in the last Revised Edition, and did much to assist the editors in their effort to make the present revision as accurate as possible. In regard to certain sections of the manuscript the collaborators have been aided by Professor L. O. Machlan, of the Western State College of Colorado; Professor F. M. Cutler, of the University of Porto Rico; and Mr. E. B. Hewes, of Columbia University.

The editor desires in particular to express his sincere gratitude to the distinguished scholars who have consented to read the revised material in manuscript or proof. Their corrections and suggestions have been of the utmost importance in checking errors and suggesting changes. The section on Egypt was read by Professor J. H. Breasted, of the University of Chicago. The sections on Western Asia in antiquity were examined by Professor A. T. Olmstead, of the University of Illinois, and Professor Robert W. Rogers, of Drew Theological Seminary. The section on Hebrew history was read and criticized by Professor Charles A. Hawley of Springfield College and by Professor Robert W. Rogers. The section on Crete and the Ægean was read by Mrs. Harriet B. Hawes. The section on India was looked over by Professor E. W. Hopkins, of Yale University. That on early China was inspected by Mr. D. S. F. Chen, of Columbia University. The section on ancient Japan was corrected by Professor K. Asakawa, of Yale University. The sections on Great Britain and the British Empire were critically read by Professors Howard Robinson, of Miami University, and W. T. Morgan, of the University of Indiana. The section on the United States was criticized by Professor Joseph McGoldrick, of Columbia University. The material on modern China and Japan was read by Professors K. S. Latourette, of Yale University, and Frank M. Mohler, of Springfield College. The section on Siberia and Russian foreign policy has been examined by Professor A. L. P. Dennis, of Clark University. The section on Latin America was read by Professor J. Fred Rippy of the University of Chicago.

These scholars have not only exhibited rare patience and courtesy in regard to the intrusion upon their time, but have given indispensable aid with respect to both the completeness and the accuracy of the revision. The editor would not in any sense hold them responsible for the present form of the material. The limitations imposed by the nature of the book obviously confined their comments to an appraisal and criticism of the material submitted to them in copy or proof. Nor does the editor assume in any way personal responsibility for the specific statements made in the revision. He has merely attempted to secure competent collaboration in the collection of material, and to arrange to have this material scrutinized by scholars of established standing. It is his opinion, however, that the material contained in the revision is highly accurate as to statement, and as wisely distributed as to space and material as was possible within the limitations imposed by the nature of the undertaking. It is hoped that in its present form the new edition of Ploetz will be of as much service to the coming generation of historical students as the original English edition has proved to those who have had recourse to its pages in the last forty years.

HARRY ELMER BARNES.

NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

INTRODUCTION.

PROF. DR. CARL PLOETZ, well known in Germany as a veteran teacher, is the author of a number of educational works having a high reputation, among which none has better approved its usefulness than the Epitome of Universal History.¹ The admitted excellence of the book renders an apology for its translation unnecessary, but an extract from the author's preface respecting the nature and purpose of the work may not be out of place.

The present Epitome, which now appears in a seventh edition, enlarged and improved, is intended, in the first place, for use by the upper classes in higher educational institutions, as a guide or handbook in the historical classroom. The handy arrangement of the book and the elaborate index are intended to adapt it for private use, and to facilitate rapid acquisition of information concerning historical matters which have, for the moment, escaped the memory.

I have endeavored to give everywhere the assured results of recent historical investigation, adding, as far as possible, references to my authorities.

The exposition of ancient history is based upon the works of Duncker, Curtius, Mommsen, and Peter. Mediæval history, which was treated somewhat too briefly in the earlier editions, has been made proportionately full since the fourth, and has been, moreover, enlarged, as has modern history, by the addition of a number of genealogical tables. In modern history the treaties of peace have been brought into special prominence, and the principal conditions of the great treaties, through which alone one can get an insight into the historical formation of the present system of European states, have been stated with all possible accuracy. Recent history has been brought down to the present day. The purpose and the compass of the book alike permitted nothing more than a compressed narrative of facts, as far as possible free from the expression of personal opinion. This limitation of itself excludes the possibility of offending, whether in a religious or a political sense.

All are probably now agreed that it is unadvisable for scholars to write out the lecture of the instructor in full, which, however, should not prevent them from taking notes here and there. No one denies the necessity of a guide as a basis for instruction; but widely differing ideas prevail concerning the arrangement and extent of such a work. The author of this Epitome, who was for a number of years historical instructor of the first and second classes in the French Gymnasium at Berlin, holds the opinion that even the best handbook can in no way take the place of an animated lecture, and that any guide which gives a connected narrative in some detail necessarily detracts from the value of the teacher's lecture, if in the hands of the pupils in the classroom. I am persuaded that such a work should place before the pupil facts only, in the wider sense of the word, and these grouped in the most comprehensive manner. The task of animating these facts by oral exposition ought to be left to the instructor.

The translator has enlarged the book in no small degree, with the hope of increasing its general usefulness, and of giving it especial value in this country.

Under ancient history an attempt has been made to bring the ethnographical relations of the early peoples into prominence; but believing that the uncertainty of our knowledge in this respect can hardly be dwelt upon too strongly, the translator has tried to speak guardedly. Even the Indo-European family is far from being satisfactorily understood; the details of the relationship of its constituent groups are not clear; the theory of a primitive Asiatic home and a wave-like series of westward migrations is but one, though perhaps the best, among many speculations. Recent textbooks have delighted us with minutely ramified tables of Indo-European relationships, showing, with close approximation, when each group left the parent stock, each tribe the common group; this, though harmless as speculation, is dangerous if taken for knowledge.¹

The speculations in regard to the early inhabitants of the British Isles should be received with like caution. Their provisional acceptance, however, is so useful as to justify their insertion.

The mythical history of England, Ireland, and Scandinavia has been deemed worthy to stand beside that of Greece and Rome. The undoubted historical value of many of these traditions and the part which they play in general literature will explain the presence of even the distinctly fabulous tales. The distinction between myth, a theoretical explanation of myths, and tolerably trustworthy history has been kept constantly in view.

The history of certain countries, as China, Japan, Parthia and Persia under the Sassanidae, which the stricter limits of the German work had caused the author to omit, has been added; in the cases of India, the Scandinavian monarchies before 1387, and France, the meager account in the original has undergone considerable amplification.

The greatest changes, however, will be found in the history of England and in that of America, which have been rewritten from the beginning with a fullness of detail proportioned to that observed by the original in the history of Germany.

In the additions nothing more than a compilation from reliable, but easily accessible, sources has been attempted. A few notes have been inserted and a few dates and facts interpolated in the text of the original, but these changes have been duly attributed to the translator, either directly or by the use of brackets, where they seemed of sufficient importance.

Absolute accuracy cannot be looked for in a work dealing with so vast a number of dates and covering so wide a range in time; the translator, however, in the sections for which he is responsible, has endeavored to verify each date by reference to independent authorities. He will be grateful to all who will take the trouble to inform him of errors that have escaped his notice. That the proportion observed in the space allotted to different countries and epochs is open to criticism, the translator is well aware; the fault is due in part to the plan adopted by him of sending the earlier portions of the book to press before the later were finished, in the vain hope of hastening its completion.

Except in the case of the Austro-Prussian and Franco-Prussian wars, where much of the minute descriptive detail has been omitted, no attempt has been made to condense the original.

Various circumstances have delayed the appearance of the book much beyond the time for which it was announced; that it is at last ready is due to the kindness of Dr. Edward Channing, of Harvard College, who took upon himself the preparation of those sections which contain the history of Great Britain and her colonies from 1784 to 1883, and that of the United States from 1789 to 1883. The thanks of the translator are also due to Professor H. W. Torrey, of Harvard College, for the loan of material of which free use has been made for English history in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and for French history in the nineteenth century; and to Mr. Justin Winsor, Librarian of the University, for the free use of books.

To Dr. R. H. Labberton and to Messrs. E. Claxton & Co. of Philadelphia, the translator is indebted for courteous permission to use certain genealogical tables in Dr. Labberton's exceedingly useful Outlines of History.¹

The distinguishing feature of the Epitome is the arrangement whereby a brief connected narrative is accompanied by a clear, well-graduated chronology which emphasizes the sequence of events without breaking up the story or fatiguing the mind. An attempt has been made, by the use of italics and two sizes of black type, to mark and distinguish events according to their relative importance, and also to relieve the page; while, with the latter object in view, the use of capitals has been as far as possible dispensed with, although the manner of printing the book has prevented consistency in this respect. Especial care has been devoted to the index, which has been made very full, in order that the book might serve as an historical dictionary, as well as a chronology.

UNIVERSAL HISTORY.

A GENERAL VIEW OF ITS PRINCIPAL DIVISIONS.

- x B. C. — 375 A. D. I. Ancient history, from the beginning of historical information to the commencement of the migrations of the Teutonic tribes.
- 375 — 1492. II. Mediæval history, from the commencement of the migrations of the Teutonic tribes to the discovery of America.
- 1492 — x. III. Modern history, from the discovery of America to the present time.

Ancient history, treated ethnographically, falls into two great divisions:

A. Eastern peoples: Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Hebrews, Phœnicians, Carthaginians, Lydians, Phrygians, Hittites, Aramæans, Bactrians, Medes, Persians, Parthians, Peoples of India, Chinese, Japanese, Cretans and Myceneans.

B. Western peoples: Celts, Britons, Greeks, Romans, Teutons.

Mediæval history can be divided into four chronological periods:

- 375–843. 1. From the commencement of the migrations of the Teutonic Tribes to the Treaty of Verdun.
- 843–1096. 2. From the Treaty of Verdun to the beginning of the Crusades.
- 1096–1270. 3. The epoch of the Crusades.
- 1270–1492. 4. From the end of the Crusades to the discovery of America.

Modern history can be divided into five periods:

- 1492–1648. 1. From the discovery of America to the Peace of Westphalia.
- 1648–1789. 2. From the Peace of Westphalia to the outbreak of the first French Revolution.
- 1789–1815. 3. From the outbreak of the first French Revolution to the Congress of Vienna.
- 1815–1883. 4. From the Congress of Vienna to 1883.
- 1883–x. 5. From 1883 to the present time.

I. ANCIENT HISTORY.

A. EASTERN PEOPLES.

§ 1. EGYPTIANS. Mediterranean.

Race: The original inhabitants of Egypt were probably of African or Mediterranean long-headed stock. Subsequent invasion and immigration seems to have brought mainly Semitic long-headed peoples, though there may have been some round-headed elements from Anatolia. Yet the Egyptian racial type apparently persisted through all vicissitudes in a comparatively pure form.

Geography: Egypt¹ (Kemet, i. e. "black earth" in old Egyptian) is the valley of the Nile, which extends between two chains of low hills for 550 miles, with a breadth, above the Delta, of but a few miles. It is divided into Upper Egypt (Philæ, Elephantine, Thebes, or Diospolis) and Lower Egypt (Memphis; in the Delta, Tanis, Bubastis, Naucrätis, Saïs; west of the Delta, Canopus, now Aboukir; on the east, Pelusium). These divisions were originally, in all probability, independent countries. They are not to be confounded with the separate principalities which became numerous at a later time. This division was commemorated in the royal title of the kings of the united countries, "lords of upper and lower country," "lords of the two crowns."

Religion: Worship of personified forces of Nature and symbolical animal worship. Special reverence was attached to two gods; the sun, worshipped under the name Re, was the chief divinity; Osiris represented in general the reviving power of the Nile and the fertile soil it refreshed. In Memphis especial reverence paid to Ptah, the first creator; in his temple stood the sacred bull Apis (Egypt. Hapi), also closely connected with Osiris. *Re*² worshipped particularly in On or Heliopolis, represented the transmitting and preserving power of the god head embodied in the sun. Keb was the god of generation and growth. Reverence was also paid to the goddess Neit, to the goddess Bast or Pakht (at Bubastis), and to the goddess of Buto, on one of the mouths of the Nile.

At Thebes, cult. of Amon (Amun), the god of heaven, later united with Re to form a single divinity. In Upper Egypt worship was paid to Khepri, the rising sun; Tum or Atum, the setting sun; Khnum, god of the overflow, always represented with a ram's head and double horns, and later becoming united with Amon to form one divinity; and to the goddess Mut (i. e. "mother"). Apparently monotheism at no time prevailed, although there was a tendency in this direction and the educated classes may have recognized the various gods as personified attributes of the one Divinity.

Myth of Osiris, the creative force in Nature, who was killed and thrown into the sea by Set (Typhon), the destructive force in Nature (especially drought); sought after by his sorrowing consort Isis (the earth), he was avenged by their son Horus, who slew Set; restored to life Osiris thenceforward ruled in the lower world (decay and resurrection of the creative force in nature; immortality of the soul). Conjoined with Horus, the goddess Hathor, considered by the Greeks to be the same as Aphrodite.

Highly developed moral code. Higher place accorded to women than in Hebrew society.

Geography: Fertility of the valley of the Nile maintained by the regular overflow of the Nile, beginning at the end of June and lasting four months. Geographic factors favored an early and high development of Egyptian civilization; the narrow river valley meant a massing together of the population; the sheltered position of the country gave ample protection without producing stagnation; the fertility of the Nile valley made possible an economic surplus; while Egypt's favored location at the meeting place of three continents assured a considerable degree of world trade.

Civilization: De Morgan, by discovering a "prehistoric" Egyptian age running back as far as the Paleolithic, has bridged the gap between the "prehistoric" and historic periods, and given the proper perspective for an approach to Egyptian history. High development of Egyptian civilization in Fifth Millennium B. C., including domestication of animals, development of agriculture, wonderful stone implements, high development of spinning and weaving industries, and Nilotic commerce. Primary importance of agriculture in Egyptian socio-economic life. Great significance of grain supply and grain export trade. Agricultural basis of religion. Relation of Nile and agriculture to engineering, surveying and mathematics. Significant progress of industrial arts: building trades, metal-working, wood-working, leather manufacturing, glazed work and pottery. Origin of industrial crafts. Extensive nature of Egyptian commerce: with Aegean area to North, Syria and Mesopotamia to northeast, Red Sea and Punt to southeast, Sahara and Sudan to west and south. Close governmental regulation of commerce. Great importance of commercial contacts in spreading Egyptian civilization and introducing certain aspects of Aegean and western Asian civilization into Egypt.

Embalming of the dead. Mummies.

Avoidance of cultural intercourse with foreign peoples and adoption of foreign customs. Strict regulation of the entire life by religious prescriptions.

Hieroglyphics, very early in conjunction with the hieratic, and afterwards the demotic, characters (syllabic and phonetic signs), which represented the language of daily life, the dialect of the common people. Earliest historic alphabet produced.

Classes: Priests, warriors, agricultural laborers, artisans, shepherds.

These classes, however, were in no wise absolutely separated from one another.

Form of government: Gradual development to despotic monarchy, with divine attributes, also in possession of the highest spiritual power. Persistence and successive revival of feudalism. Strong influence of the priests, especially after the fourteenth century, but they never controlled the supreme power. Paternalistic theory of politics and economics. The State and society conceived as domain of Pharaoh. State largely concerned with regulation of grain supply and grain trade. Naval power of Egypt.

The Pyramids are gigantic sepulchres of the kings. Some seventy still exist. The largest, at Gizeh, was originally 481 feet high, and still measures 450 feet. The Obelisks — of which one is now at Paris, several in Rome, one in London, and one in New York — are cut from single blocks of stone (monoliths), and were symbols of the sun-god Re; the Sphinxes were by mythology symbols of the sun-god.

Chronology.¹ The Egyptians filled the space before Menes, the first of the historic line of kings, by the assumption of three dynasties of gods, demi-gods, and "the mysterious manes." The list of kings after Menes was given at length by the priest Manetho (about 300 B. C.), in his history of Egypt. He arranged them in thirty dynasties, a division which is still used. To reconcile the names and dates given by Manetho with the records upon the monuments is a difficult matter, owing in part to the fact that several of the dynasties of Manetho probably reigned contemporaneously in different parts of Egypt, that it was the custom for a king to associate his son with himself during the latter part of his reign, and that the son afterwards reckoned his reign from the date of such association. Hence the systems of chronology, drawn up by Egyptologists, vary greatly. There are, in general, two schools: (1) The "German School," following E. Meyer and advocated by Breasted in America giving the dates of Menes as 3315 (Meyer) or 3400 (Breasted). (2) The Petrie chronology pushing back the dates assigned to Menes to 5510. In the following pages the chronology of Breasted has been followed. These dates should be compared with the lists given by Petrie, History of Egypt, Rawlinson, History of Egypt, and the Cambridge Ancient History (Vol. I. chap. iv).²

4241. Introduction of the calendar year of 365 days, "the earliest fixed date in the history of the world as known to us." (Breasted.)

ley of the Nile, founded according to Egyptian tradition by Menes,¹ (Mena). Capital: Memphis.

2900-2750 (?). The kings Khufu, Khafre, Menkure (according to Herodotus, Cheops, Chephren, Mykerinos), the builders of the largest pyramids. IVth dynasty (Memphis) called the "Pyramid dynasty."

After 2400. Decline of Memphis and rise of Thebes to supremacy.

2160. The Middle Empire.

Of the princes of the Theban line the following deserve mention: Amenemhet I (2000-1970), who seems to have extended the power of Egypt up the Nile and over a part of Nubia; Sesostris I (1980-1935), who continued the conquests of his predecessor, and erected obelisks; Amenemhet II; Sesostris II; Sesostris III; Amenemhet III (1849-1801) constructed lake Meri² (i. e. "lake of inundations"), a large reservoir for regulating the water supply of the Nile, and built S. of this lake the so-called Labyrinth, a large palace for ceremonial acts and sacrifices. These six monarchs belong to the XIIth dynasty (of Thebes).

About 1675. Egypt invaded by the Hyksos. The Hyksos (the Greek spelling of the Egyptian title, "Ruler of Countries") were probably wandering tribes of Semitic descent.

About 1600. Thebes revolted against the rule of the Hyksos. Native rulers maintained themselves in Upper Egypt. After a long contest the Hyksos kings were driven out of Egypt completely under King Ahmose (Amosis), of Thebes (1580-1557). Their epoch covers the XIIIth to XVIIth dynasties.

1580-1150. The New Empire (capital at first Thebes), under Thutmose III. (1501-1447; XVIIIth dynasty) increased rapidly in power and extent.

1501-1350. Under Thutmose and his successors, especially Amenhotep III. (Amenophis), successful expeditions against the Syrians (Ruthen) and against the Ethiopians in the south.

Erection of magnificent palaces and temples at Thebes.

1375. AMENHOTEP IV (Akhnaton) the first religious reformer in history. Attempted to establish monotheism through worship of the Sun-God. His plan failed because of priestly opposition.

Tutankhamen (c. 1360-1350 B. C.). Excavations of his tomb by Carnarvon and Carter have produced astonishing revelations concerning the material splendor of the height of Egyptian civilization.

1313-1292. Similar success in war fell to the lot of Seti I. (Sethos).

² Called by the Greeks Maris (Μαίρις, Herod. I., 101), and erroneously interpreted as a royal name.

Expeditions to Ethiopia, Arabia, and to the Euphrates. Temple of Amon on the left bank of the Nile, opposite Thebes. His son, 1292-1225. Ramses II., the Great (Sestu-Ra, Ramessu), was victorious in the early part of his reign, but could not long maintain his supremacy over Syria (XIXth dynasty).

In spite of this a peculiar tradition transformed him into that military hero whom the Greeks knew as Sesostris (Herodotus, II. 102-110), or Sesoosis (Diod. Sic. I. 53-58), and to whom they ascribed fabulous expeditions to Thrace and India. This tradition seems to have had its origin in the bombastic expressions common to the royal inscriptions of the Egyptians, and in poetic exaltations of his earlier victories. In the Greek account we have besides a confusion of recollections of the glorious deeds of Thutmose and Amenhotep, of Seti and Ramses III.

During his long reign he covered Egypt with magnificent buildings. Splendid palace known as "the House of Ramses," south of Karnak, temple of Amon, 400 miles above Syene. "Probably no Pharaoh ever left a more profound impression upon his age." Ramses II was probably the oppressor of the Hebrews, using some tribe of this people as captive labor in his great building enterprises.

About 1230. Flight of the Hebrews to escape this forced toil. (See p. 14.) Merneptah.

1198-1167. Ramses III. (Rhampsinitus, XXth dynasty). Successful resistance offered to the Libyan and Semitic tribes; expeditions as far as Phœnicia and Syria. (Story of the theft from the treasury, Herodotus, II. 121.)

1167-1090. Decay of the empire under the later kings of the name of Ramses.

1150-663. The Decline and Decadence.

1090. A new dynasty (XXI.) came to the throne with King Hrihor (Smenes). The seat of their power was Tanis, in the Delta, whence they are called Tanites. Loss of supremacy over Ethiopia, where the kingdom of Napata or Meroe was founded.

945-924. Sheshonk I. (Sesonchis, Shisak), from Bubastis, founded a new dynasty (XXII). He undertook (about 926) a successful expedition into Palestine. Jerusalem conquered and plundered.

712. The Ethiopians, under Shabaka (Sabako), conquered Egypt, which they governed for fifty years under three successive kings. (XXVth dynasty.)

674. An expedition of the Assyrians, under Esarhaddon (p. 15) against Egypt. The king of the Assyrians and his son, Ashurbanipal (Sardanapalus), put an end to the rule of the Ethiopians (under Taharka or Tirhakah, the second successor of Shabaka), and entrusted the government of Egypt to twenty governors, most of whom were natives.

663. One of these governors, Psamtik, in alliance with Gyges, king of Lydia, with the help of Carians, Phœnicians, and Ionians, made himself independent of Assyria, and sole ruler of Egypt.

663-525. The Revival.

663-609. Psamtik I., king of Egypt, from the mouths of the Nile to Elephantine, above which place the Ethiopians held the supremacy. (XXVIth dynasty.)

New capital, Sais, in the Delta, where Psamtik built a magnificent palace. Egypt opened to foreigners, who were favored in the army and settled at various points. Caste of Interpreters. Greek factory at Naucrātis. Dissatisfaction among the military caste; emigrations upward along the Nile to Ethiopia.

Psamtik carried on wars in Syria, Phœnicia, and Palestine; they were probably undertaken in the first instance to strengthen his frontier against a new attack by the Assyrians, which he dreaded. These wars led to no lasting conquests. The son of Psamtik, 609-593. Necho (Neku) undertook to clear the ancient Pharaomic canal uniting the Nile and the Red Sea, but did not succeed in carrying it out. By his orders Africa was circumnavigated by Phœnician seamen. He undertook expeditions to Syria where he was at first successful, and defeated the king of Judah in the battle of Megiddo (609), but was afterwards defeated by the Babylonians in the

605. Battle of Carchemish. Loss of all his conquests in Asia. Necho's son, 593-588. Psamtik II. Expedition against Ethiopia without success. His son, 588-569. Apries (Hophra), fought without lasting success against Nebuchadnezzar, and sent help to the tribes of Libya against Cyrene. His defeated army revolted, and he was defeated at the head of Ionian and Carian mercenaries, captured and strangled.

569-525. Ahmose (Amasis), a relative of the royal house, ascended the throne. Encouragement of foreigners, especially of the Greeks, carried still farther; numerous Grecian temples erected in Naucrātis. Friendship with Cyrene and Polycrates of Samos. Magnificent buildings, especially in Sais. The son of Amāsis, 525. Psamtik III., defeated in the battle of Pelusium by Cambyses. Egypt a Persian province.

332. Alexander the Great conquers Egypt.

332-30. Ptolemaic period. Remarkable civilization of Hellenistic age with its center at Alexandria. Scientific and literary activity. Commerce and prosperity.

31. Battle of Actium. Egypt becomes a Roman province. Importance for Roman grain supply.

30 B. C. to 641 A. D. Roman period.

641 A. D. Saracen conquest. Alexandria captured by Omar.

§ 2. BABYLONIANS AND ASSYRIANS. Mediterranean-Caspian

Geography: Babylonia,¹ called by the Hebrews Shinar, is the country lying between the Euphrates and Tigris, and stretching from the point where these rivers approach one another, about 350 miles from their mouth, to where they empty into the Persian Gulf by several arms, as Pasitigris (now Shatt-el-Arab). In the neighborhood of the present village of Hillah stood Babylon (in the Babylonian form, Bablu, called by the Hebrews Babel, i. e. gate or dwelling of the god Bel), a rectangular city, situated, since the time of Nebuchadnezzar, on both banks of the Euphrates. In Babylon: (a) The Temple of Bel (Tower of Babel), a huge square building of brick, consisting of eight diminishing stories rising in pyramidal form. It is said to have been originally 600 feet high. (b) Two Palaces, the one on the east side of the Euphrates having the Hanging Gardens, the construction of which is wrongly ascribed to Semiramis, and which were terraced pleasure grounds.

Assyria (Asshur) is bounded on the N. by the highlands of Armenia, on the E. by the plateau of Iran, on the S. by the Diala, a branch of the Tigris, and on the W. by the Tigris itself. The smaller region called Assyria by the Greeks lay within this territory, between the Tigris and its branch, the Great Zab, which flows into the Tigris below the present Mosul. On the Tigris stood Nineveh (Ninua, ἡ Νῖνος) surrounded with huge walls. The ruins lie opposite the present Mosul. Oldest residence of the kings, Asshur; afterwards founded, Calah; founded by Sargon, Dur-Sharrukin.

The physical environment of Babylonia and Assyria was the delta and river valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates. Importance of annual freshets for agricultural life, canal systems, and mythology. Origin of Babylonian Deluge Myth. There was partial protection given by the northern mountains and southern desert, but less than that possessed by Egypt. Thus there were periodic invasions by desert nomads and mountaineers.

Race: The peoples of Babylonia and Assyria may be divided into three groups: (1) Sumerians (and Elamites), whose origin, according to present evidence, seems to have been in Asia Minor, near the Caspian Sea.² (2) Semites (Akkadians, Kaldi or Chaldeans, Aramæans and Assyrians). (3) Roundheaded Kassites and *Mitanni*ans, race unknown. During the course of Mesopotamian history there was probably a steady infiltration of round-headed "Indo-European" peoples. Conquest, forcible colonization and the recruiting of armies from foreigners also diversified the racial composition.

Religion: Divinity conceived as the personified force of nature in human form, male and female. Each city had its own patron god, but worship of other gods permitted; pantheon formed through the amalgamation over a long period of different local deities. Shamash, the Semitic name for the sun-god, identified with the old Sumerian

² Hall, Ancient History of the Near East, pp. 171 ff., believes them to have been of Indian derivation.

Babbar. Sin (Nannar) was the great moon-god; Bel, "the lord" (Enlil); Ishtar (Imini) was the mother goddess, source of earth fertility, and the goddess of love. Enki, the Sumerian god of earth, later worshipped by the Semites as a god of water, under the name Ea. Innumerable minor divinities.

Temples were great state-institutions under the care of the king and especially important as monetary centers. Liturgical services, originating among the Sumerians. Large staff of musicians, singers, seers, priests, priestesses and temple women. In Babylon there was developed relatively late a complicated system of star-worship.

The Chaldeans, or caste of priests, in Babylon, possessed some astronomical and astrological skill. This name was properly that of the Semitic tribe which produced Merodach-Baladan and Nebuchadnezzar, but western writers applied it chiefly to the astrologers and priests.

Civilization. An exact system of weights and measures, which was used far outside the borders of Babylonia. Cuneiform writing, a system of characters formed by the gradual abbreviation of hieroglyphics. Magnificent structures of brick. System of canals for the irrigation of the country, and for the regulation of the yearly overflow of the Tigris and Euphrates. Important manufacturing industries and extensive commerce. Legal development. Commercial documents. Introduction of horse and wheeled vehicle. Astrology. Literature and libraries. Imperial administrative institutions.

Chronology.¹ The early Babylonians reckoned time from some great occurrence, such as the destruction of a city or the opening of a new canal. The Assyrians named the years after certain officers annually appointed. These limmu lists (from the name of the office) extant for the period from Adad-nirari II (911-890) to Ashurbanipal (668-626). Some of them give important events of their year. The modern chronological outline of Mesopotamian history is based upon a number of factors: the limmu lists, early computations of ancient writers, synchronisms and historical allusions. An actual inscription of a king of the supposed mythical first dynasty has been found in Babylonia. The list goes back to about 4500 B.C., if there is no overlapping.

About 4000—about 2750. Sumerian period.

Civilization, introduced by the Sumerians, was adopted, with the cuneiform writing, by the Semites, who began to come in about 3000. Independent, hostile cities: Ur, Erech, Eridu, Lagash, Umma, Kish, Adab, Nippur.

About 2750. First Semitic Period, beginning with Akkadians. Sargon I. of Agade, about 2750, founded a Semitic dynasty. Conquests to the East, bringing Elam under subjection. In the West Sargon reached the Mediterranean.

About 2481-2361. Dynasty of Ur. Golden age of Sumerian literature.

gin in Revue d'Assyriologie, 1918. Cf. E. F. Weidner, Die Königen von Assyrien, Berlin, 1921; and Cambridge Ancient History.

2225-1957. First dynasty of Babylon. Union of scattered realms into one kingdom with Babylon as a centre. Conquests carried into Elam. Great improvements in internal conditions, both material and political; canals and buildings. Codification of laws ("Code of Hammurabi," discovered by De Morgan at Susa in 1901), giving exact knowledge of Babylonian laws and economics, and revealing a high social development. Decline of Babylonia. Kassite raids.

1745-1169. Kassite kings of Babylonia. International diplomacy. Amarna letters.

1500-815. Constant wars with Assyria. Practical subjugation of Babylonia from the eighth century to the rise of the new Babylonian Empire (see p. 12), though some sanguinary struggles for supremacy.

1900-612. Assyrian Empire

The origin of Assyria is still unsettled. Archæological evidence indicates that Assyrian beginnings go back well towards 3000, but there is little definite knowledge until the days of Shamshi-Adad, about 1900. This ruler speaks of himself as "king of the universe." Further evidence shows him to have extended his rule beyond the natural boundaries of Assyria to a considerable extent. From this time there was a constant rivalry between Babylonia and Assyria and an alternation in supremacy. Tiglathpileser I. (about 1125-1100) extended his sway to the northeast and northwest. Iron weapons adopted from contact with Hittites.

930-626. Brilliant epoch of Assyrian history. The inscriptions become frequent, full, and exact. It was a time of expansion, conquest, and great activity in architecture, sculpture, and literature. Most important contribution of Assyria was imperial administrative institutions and assimilation and dissemination of culture throughout western Asia. Among the kings may be mentioned:

885-860. Ashurnasirpal II. Systematic military campaigns to northeast and northwest. Large amounts of booty and tribute. Many rebellions against Assyria because of ruthless rule.

860-825. Shalmaneser III. Annual campaigns for twenty-six years. Subjection of Syria and Palestine at Karkar on the Orontes (854, Ahab). Jehu in 842 paid tribute. But persistent uprisings for more than a century. Internal rebellions against Shalmaneser, including one led by his own son, Ashur-daninapal. The famous Semiramis was the daughter-in-law of Shalmaneser III., the "palace lady" of Shamshi-Adad V. (825-812), and mother of Adadnirari IV. (812-782).

745-727. Tiglathpileser III. usurped the throne. Perfection of military organization. Final subjection of Babylonia under direct rule of the Assyrian king. forcible colonization and deportations throughout the empire. Western Iran, Armenia, Syria, Phœnicia, Judah and Israel reduced.

727-722. Shalmaneser V. suppressed the revolt of the Phœnician cities and ended the kingdom of Israel.

- 722-705. Sargon (Sharrukin) (see p. 16). Struggle with Mero-dach-Baladan, a local chief in Babylonia, who made himself master of the country when Tiglathpileser III. died. In 710 Sargon assumed direct rule over the south. Conciliatory policy towards Babylonia, but constant opposition there to Assyrian control, especially in the large centres. Several uprisings. Sargon received tribute from Arabia, Egypt, and Cyprus. Residence, Dur-Sharukin, now Khorsabad, not far from Nineveh.
- 705-681. Sennacherib retained his hold upon Babylon in spite of repeated insurrections. War with Egypt, which gave aid to uprisings in Syria, Palestine and the Phœnician coast. The Egyptians defeated and the uprisings put down. Fleet added. Naval operations in the Persian Gulf. War with Elam. Rebuilding of walls and palaces of Nineveh, transforming it into a mighty capital. Murder of Sennacherib by his two elder sons. Another son,
- 681-668. Esarhaddon, succeeded to the throne after quelling the uprising of his two brothers. He revived Sargon's conciliatory policy towards Babylonia and rehabilitated the city. Cimmerian invasion of Asia Minor. Reconquest of Syria, Phœnicia, Cyprus, Judah, and a part of Arabia, where revolts had broken out in the first years of the reign. Invasion of Egypt. Capture of Memphis, 671, and overthrow of the ruling dynasty. Division of Egypt into provinces, each ruled by a native with Esarhaddon over all.
- Assyria at the height of her power. One of his sons was made viceroy of Babylonia, the other,
- 668-626. Ashurbanipal (Sardanapalus), defended Egypt, at first with success, against the kings of Ethiopia and native insurrections, but lost it in 653 by the revolt of Psamtik (see p. 7). On the other hand he strengthened the Assyrian power in Syria, Arabia, Cilicia, as well as in Babylonia, where his brother had revolted, conquered the Kingdom of Elam, and received tribute from Lydia. Erection of magnificent palaces. Foundation of a library at Nineveh. Highest development of Assyrian art. About
- 640. Rise of the Medes. Of the Medes little is known until they were attacked by the Assyrians in 835 B. C. About 710 their resistance was broken and their country was soon subjected to Assyria, and so continued until about 640. Phraortes (647-625), son of Dejoces, began the revival of Median power and attacked Nineveh, but lost his life in the attempt. His son, Cyaxares, reigned for forty years and raised his kingdom to its greatest importance. He reorganized the army and continued the struggle against Assyria, which was, however, soon interrupted by the irruption of Scythian tribes which had wandered about western Asia, plundering as they went, as far as the borders of Egypt, for many years. After Cyaxares had rid the country of them, he made another attack on Assyria, which had been much weakened by the Scythians.

For the purpose of destroying the Assyrian kingdom, Cyaxares allied himself with the Chaldean Nabopolassar, Assyrian governor of Babylon since 625, who had made himself independent. Desperate struggle with the Assyrian king Sin-shar-ishkun (622(?)–612,) son of Sardanapalus V. After a long siege, 612. Nineveh was taken and destroyed; as the enemy broke into the city, Sin-shar-ishkun set fire to the royal palace and perished in the flames with his wives and treasure. End of the Kingdom of Assyria. Nabopolassar united with Babylonia the whole of northern Mesopotamia on the right bank of the Tigris, the rest falling to the share of Cyaxares, who had already subjugated Armenia and the Iranian portions of the kingdom of Assyria.

- 626–538. (New) Empire of Babylon. After the Assyrian conquest of Babylonia, in 710 (see p. 11), the latter country continued subject to Assyria, with intervals of rebellion, until the successful combination of Nabopolassar and Cyaxares destroyed the power of Assyria. Babylon then took the lead among the nations of the East, surpassed by Media alone.

- 604–561. Nebuchadrezzar (Nabu-kudur-usur), son of Nabopolassar, during the reign of his father defeated Necho, king of Egypt, at Carchemish on the Euphrates (605), conquered Syria, captured Jerusalem (586), and attacked Tyre (588). Enlargement and adornment of Babylon (on the east bank of the Euphrates). Construction of a bridge over the Euphrates, and of a new palace, with the “hanging gardens” which tradition assigns to Semiramis. Erection of the Median wall from the Euphrates to the Tigris. Magnificent water works. The reservoir at Sippar. After Nebuchadrezzar, rapid decline of the dynasty, which became extinct in 554.

538. Babylon (last king Nabu-naid, reigning in conjunction with his son Bel-shar-usur, the Biblical Belshazzar) taken by Cyrus. Babylon a Persian province.

§ 3. HEBREWS (JEWS, ISRAELITES). Predominantly Mediterranean-Caspian.¹

Geography.² The land of the Hebrews is bounded N. by Cælo-Syria; W. by Phœnicia, the Mediterranean, and the land of the Philistines; S. by Arabia Petrea; E. by the Arabian Desert.

The name Canaan i. e. “low land,” was originally applied to the region along the coast, but was at an early date extended to the inland country.

The names Canaanite and Phœnician have properly the same meaning; the first was Semitic, the second the Grecian name for the Amorite inhabitants of the whole land before the Hebrew conquest.

Palestine was originally the name of the southern coast-land, which was so called after the Cretan tribe of the Philistines (Pelishtim) which had possession of it, but was transferred by Egyptians and Greeks to the land occupied by the Hebrews. In the Bible the country is called "the promised land," i. e. the land promised by Yahweh to the children of Israel.

The river Jordan, which rises in the mountain range of Antilebanon and empties into the Dead Sea, runs through the middle of the country. After the Hebrew conquest the country was divided into the twelve provinces of the twelve tribes; after the death of Solomon into the kingdoms of Judah and Israel; at the time of Christ into four districts: 1. Judæa (Jerusalem, Hebr. Jerushalaim; Greek Ἱερουσόλυμα, with the fortress of Zion and the Temple on Mt. Moriah; Bethlehem, Jericho, Joppa, now Jaffa, on the coast); 2. Samaria (Samaria Shechem); 3. Galilee (Nazareth, Capernaüm on the sea of Tiberias, or Gennesaret, Cana), east from Jordan; 4. Peræa.

In the country of the Philistines the coast region between Palestine and Egypt: Ashdod, Ascalon, Gaza, Ekron, Gath.

Chronology. As is the case with the earliest history of all nations, the chronology of Hebrew history is uncertain.

By 2500 Palestine was occupied by Semitic nomads from Babylonia who came in several waves. Aramean tribes from highlands of Mesopotamia mingled with these Semites, probably about 1500 (or earlier). The Hebrew clans came from these. The Philistines were not Semites, but were apparently refugees from Crete. The population of ancient Palestine was highly mixed in the matter of race.

According to Hebrew tradition, the Patriarch Abraham (2100¹) had two sons: Ishmael by Hagar, the ancestor of the Ishmaelites (Arabs); and Isaac, by his lawful wife, Sarah. The son of Isaac by Rebekah, Jacob, or Israel, the true tribal ancestor of the Hebrews. Jacob's twelve sons: by Leah — Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulon; by Rachel — Joseph, Benjamin; by Bilhah — Dan, Naphtali; by Zilpah — Gad, Asher.

c. 1460. Joseph. This Hebrew tribe migrated to Egypt.² It is claimed that the master of Joseph was Apepi, the last of the Shepherd kings of Egypt. The whole matter of the Hebrew migration to Egypt is highly legendary. It is certain that only a portion of them ever went to Egypt.

C. 1230.³ Moses (?) conducted the Hebrews out of Egypt. Yahweh becomes God of Hebrews. Was originally the God of the Kenites, a tribe to which belonged Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses.

No Old Testament books can be assigned to Mosaic authorship. Most of the traditional Moses literature was compiled between 940 and 450 B.C.

- C. 1200. The Israelites under Joshua, after a long Nomadic life in the Peninsula of Sinai and on the east of Jordan, conquered the Promised Land, but without entirely subjugating the former inhabitants. The Canaanites of Palestine were far more advanced in culture than the invading Hebrew shepherds. They possessed an agricultural and commercial civilization more than a thousand years old. Contact with the Canaanites or Amorites gradually civilized the Hebrews.

Theocracy, i. e. the nation was under the immediate guidance of Yahweh. The office of the high priest was hereditary in the family of Aaron, the brother of Moses. The Tabernacle, a portable temple or holy tent. The Ark of the Covenant. To the family of Levi (son of Jacob-Israel) was given the exclusive care and service of the tabernacle and all things used in the religious ceremonial.

The other twelve tribes (names from ten sons of Jacob (see above) and two sons of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasseh) settled in separate districts, which were more or less cut off from one another by remnants of the former inhabitants, and formed an exceedingly loose union of twelve small states under tribal chiefs, which was at times hard pressed by neighboring tribes.

Judges (Shofetim): men raised up by Yahweh in times of need, especially military leaders in the wars against the Canaanite tribes: Amorites (of whom the Jebusites were a part), Amalekites, Hittites, Hivites, and against the Philistines, Midianites, Ammonites, Moabites. Judges: Ehud; the heroine Deborah; Gideon, conqueror of the Midianites; Jephthah, conqueror of the Ammonites; Samson, the terror of the Philistines.

- C. 1080. The Philistines subjugated the whole country this side Jordan. They were more advanced in culture and far better equipped in military armament than the Hebrews, possessing bronze armor and iron swords.

At the demand of the people, Samuel, the last "Judge in Israel," anointed a stalwart member of the tribe of Benjamin,

- C. 1025. Saul, as king of the Hebrews.

Victory of Saul over the Moabites, Philistines, Edomites, and Amalekites. Samuel, being at variance with Saul, anointed David, from the tribe of Judah, as king, "at the command of Jahweh." David fled to the Philistines from the persecution of Saul. Saul defeated by the Philistines, put an end to his life (c. 1000). For seven years David was recognized as king by the tribe of Judah only, the other tribes under the influence of the captain, Abner, adhering to Saul's son, Ish-bosheth. After the murder of Abner and Ish-bosheth (Ish-baal), all the tribes acknowledged David as king in the assembly at Hebron.

C. 1000. David. Kingdom of the Hebrews at the highest point of its power. David wrested Jerusalem from the Jebusites, and made it his residence. He restrained the Philistines within their own borders. His sway extended from the N.E. end of the Red Sea to Damascus. Erection of a royal palace at Zion. Ark of the Covenant placed in Jerusalem. Organization of the army. Revolt and death of Absalom (Ahithophel). David passed over his son Adonijah, by Haggith, and other sons, and appointed his son by Bathsheba his successor.

C. 960. Solomon. Erection of the Temple of Yahweh and a new palace in Jerusalem, with the aid of workmen from Tyre. Luxurious court. Standing army. Extensive commerce. Relative strength, area, population, prosperity and prestige of this Hebrew kingdom is usually greatly exaggerated when compared with modern standards. Defection of Damascus. Yahvist sources of Hexateuch (Pentateuch and Joshua) composed c. 940-900. At the close of Solomon's reign, toleration of foreign idolatry in Jerusalem. After the death of Solomon,

C. 933. Division of the kingdom of the Hebrews.

The tribe of Judah, the tribe of Simeon, which had become united with Judah, and a part of Benjamin with the Levites, remained true to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, and formed the Kingdom of Judah (capital, Jerusalem); the other tribes, under Jeroboam, formed the Kingdom of Israel farther north (capital at first Sichem, still later Samaria and Jezebel). These two kingdoms were frequently at war with one another.

Kingdom of Israel.

After the death of the energetic Jeroboam (932-911), his son Nadab was murdered by the captain Baasha, who ascended the throne (c. 910). His son and successor Elah was slain by Zimri; Tibni and Omri disputed the throne, but Omri prevailed in the end (c. 886). The son of Omri, Ahab, married Jezebel, princess of Tyre, whereby the practice of Phœnician idolatry (Baal and Astarte) was extended in Israel.

Contest of the Prophets (Elijah, Elisha, etc.) with the idolatrous monarchy. — Israel and Judah united for a short time. Ahab's son Ahaziah (854-853). The captain Jehu, anointed king by Elisha, slew the brother of Ahaziah, Jehoram (853-842), and put to death Jezebel and seventy sons and grandsons of Ahab. Jehu (842-815) destroyed the temple of Baal and put to death the priests of that god. Great ethical development under eighth century prophets; Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, and Micah. After the fall of the house of Jehu, the kingdom of Israel became tributary to the Assyrians. Tiglath-Pileser conquered the northeastern part of the kingdom. Hosea, the last king of Israel (730-722), tried to free his country from the Assyrian yoke, but was defeated and captured by Shalmaneser V. After a three years' siege, 722.¹ Samaria was captured by Sargon II, king of the Assyrians, the Kingdom of Israel was destroyed, and a part of the people carried away and settled in Assyria and Media.

Kingdom of Judah.

In the reign of Rehoboam the country was overrun by the Egyptians under the Pharaoh Sheshonk (Shishak).

Sack of Jerusalem (949). Rehoboam's grandson Asa (913-873) abolished idolatry, which was prohibited by the law. He was compelled to buy assistance from the king of Damascus against Baasha of Israel. Energetic reign of his son Jehoshaphat (873-849). In the hope of putting an end to the war with the Kingdom of Israel, Jehoshaphat married his son Jehoram (849-842) to Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab of Israel and Jezebel. After the son of Athaliah, Ahaziah, was murdered while on a visit to the king of Israel, together with the whole royal family of the Kingdom of Israel as above described (p. 15), Athaliah (842-836) seized the supreme power in Jerusalem, put to death her own grandchildren in order to destroy the tribe of David, Joash alone being miraculously rescued and brought up in the Temple of Jehovah, and introduced the worship of Baal in Jerusalem. Athaliah was overthrown and put to death by the high priest Jehoiada, and the young Joash raised to the throne. The worship of Baal was abolished.

Joash (836-797) was obliged to purchase the retreat of the army from Damascus which was besieging Jerusalem. Murder of Joash. Under his son Amaziah (797-789) Jerusalem was captured by the Israelites; the Temple and palace plundered. Amaziah was murdered; but his son Uzziah (Azariah, 789-738) successfully resisted the murderers and raised the kingdom again to a position of power and authority. The Prophets Isaiah and Amos. Elohistic sources of the Hexateuch composed between 750-700.

Under the successors of Amaziah, the Kingdom of Judah, hard pressed by the Kingdom of Israel and by Damascus, became tributary to the Assyrians. King Hezekiah (720-692) again abolished idolatry, refused to pay tribute to the Assyrians, and allied himself with the Egyptians. Deuteronomy compiled 700-620. The Assyrians under Sennacherib besieged Jerusalem in vain, but carried off many of the inhabitants of the open country into captivity. Hezekiah's son Manasseh (692-638) transformed the Temple of Jahweh into a temple of Astarte, and sacrificed to Baal and Moloch in spite of the opposition of the prophets; he submitted again to the Assyrians, was carried captive to Babylon, but in the end restored to his throne. Under his grandson Josiah (637-607), the country was ravaged by Seythians.

Religious reaction against idolatry (Jeremiah). Reformation of the worship of Jahweh, according to Deuteronomy, which was finished about 620, King Josiah fell in the battle of Megiddo (607) against the Egyptian king Necho (Neku).

The Kingdom of Judah subject to the Egyptians, and, after the defeat of Necho at Carchemish (605), to the Babylonians. Jehoiakim endeavored to revolt, but was put to death. His son, Jehoiachin, was carried into captivity with many of his subjects by the Babylonians (597). An attempt on the part of the last king, Zedekiah, to regain independence was unsuccessful in spite of Egyptian assistance. Jerusalem was besieged (588–586); an Egyptian army advancing to its relief was defeated and compelled to retreat.

586. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, captured Jerusalem. Destruction of the city and burning of the Temple. Many of the Jews were slain; majority of those who were left were carried into the Babylonian captivity. The story of the Garden of Eden and the tradition of the Deluge apparently adopted by Jews from Babylonians as a result of this residence in Mesopotamia.¹ (The prophet Ezekiel.)

538. Cyrus allowed the Jews to return to Palestine. Only a small number availed themselves of this opportunity. Rebuilding of the Temple (Zerubbabel), which was not completed, however, until the time of Darius I. (515). Priestly or Foundation document of Hexateuch brought to Jerusalem from Persia by Nehemiah c. 450. Hexateuch compiled and edited c. 450–c. 300. The Jews subject at first to the Persians (539–332), then to Alexander the Great (332–323), afterwards to the Ptolemies (323–198), finally to the Seleucid kings of Syria (198–167).

167–130. Emancipation of the Jews by Maccabees, or Asmonæans, after a struggle lasting nearly fourteen years. Leaders: the priest Mattathias, and his five sons, especially Judas Maccabæus.

A great-grandson of Mattathias, Aristobulus, assumed the title of king (104). Under his successors, strife between the Pharisees and Sadducees. Much of Wisdom Literature, i. e. Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, etc., from this period and following. Daniel, latest canonical work in Old Testament, written c. 165 B. C.

63. Pompeius, called in to help the Pharisees, made the Jews tributary to the Romans.

40. Herod (the Great), son of the Idumæan Antipater, recognized by the Roman Senate as dependent king of Judæa.

Birth of Christ (4–6 years before the beginning of our era).

6 A. D. After a short reign of the three sons of Herod, Judæa became a part of the Roman Province of Syria. (Two Tetrarchies, however, remained independent: Galilee, until 32 A. D.; Peræa, until 33 A. D.)

41-44. Judæa again a dependent kingdom under Herod Agrippa I., a grandson of Herod the Great; then a Roman province again, Agrippa II. was made king over a small portion in dependence on Rome.

66. Revolt of the Jews against the Roman supremacy, ending in the 70. Destruction of Jerusalem by Titus.

A large part of the Jews assembled in Jerusalem for the observance of the passover perished by starvation and the Roman sword; many thousands were taken captive to Rome. (The historian Josephus.)

132-135. Another uprising of the Jews, under Hadrian, on account of the foundation of the colony, Ælia Capitolina, on the site of Jerusalem, wherein more than half a million perished. Dispersal (Diaspora) of a great part of the survivors; nevertheless a considerable number remained in Palestine.

§ 4. PHENICIANS AND CARTHAGINIANS. Mediterranean.

Geography.¹ Phœnicia (φωινίκη, Phœnice). Considered in the narrow sense the name denotes the strip of coast, 5-14 miles wide and 200 miles long, which lies N. of the country of the Philistines and the Hebrews and W. of Mt. Lebanon. This strip was inhabited by city-states from 3000 B. C. at least. Leading cities: Amor, Arvad, Gebal, Berytus, Sidon, Tyre.

Religion of the Phœnicians. The god Baal and the goddess Baalath, the divinities of life, birth, and the genial forces of nature. The god Moloch (i. e. "king"), the devouring and destroying, and yet cleansing fire, also god of war. Human sacrifices: to Moloch, boys and youths; to Ishtar, youths and maidens. Afterwards Baal and Moloch were confused into one divinity, who, under the name of Melkart (i. e. "king of the city"), became the guardian divinity of Tyre. In the same way Baalath and Ishtar were united into one divinity, who when represented as a grim wandering goddess vanishing with the changing light of the moon bears the name Dido, but when represented as a kind and gentle divinity newly restored to the knowledge of mankind that of Anna (i. e. "pleasant").

The Political Constitution of the Phœnician cities was an hereditary monarchy, but the royal power was checked by the existence of two senates.

1300. Period of Sidon's greatest power. Favored by the situation of their country, and urged by an energetic industry which led to the invention or development of many arts and manufactures, such as purple dye, weaving, glass-making, mining, work in metals, and architecture, the Phœnicians established at an early period, certainly not later than 1500, a carrying trade by sea, which time only made more extensive.

In close connection with the commerce by sea was the foundation of numerous colonies. Thus in Cyprus were founded Citium, Amathus, Paphos, the centre of the worship of Asherah, whence originated the Grecian worship of Aphrodite, that goddess "born of the foam of the sea" (i. e. whose cult came to Greece by sea). Other colonies were founded in Cicilia, Rhodes, Crete, Cythera, as well as on many of the islands of the Ægean sea, and at points along the coast of Greece; further west, again, colonies were planted in Melite or Malta, in Sicily (on the southern coast Minoa, Gr. Heraklæa, on the northern coast Solæis (sela = "cliff"), Panormus (Machanath?), at the western end of the island Motye) on Sardinia (Carālis), on the north coast of Africa (two cities of Leptis, Hadrumētum, Utica, the two towns of Hippo), in the country called Tarsis or Tarshish, i. e. southern Spain, beyond the columns of Hercules (Straits of Gibraltar) Gadir or Gades, i. e. "walls," "fortress," now Cadiz, founded about 1100. No Phœnician art in Spain till 8th century.

From this point the Phœnicians extended their commercial dealings still further to the western coasts of Africa, and to the Islands of Tin (the Cassiterides), Britain,¹ and the coasts of the German Ocean, where they bought amber which the native tribes obtained by barter from the Baltic. Importance of Phœnicians in spreading alphabet and west Asiatic material culture throughout the Mediterranean area. Great civilizing agency in Mediterranean 1100-800.

Mythical representations of these voyages and settlements of the Phœnicians are contained in a series of well-known Grecian tales.

1100. Tyre, though younger than Sidon (each claims to be mother of other!), attained the first rank among the Phœnician sea-board towns.

1001-967. Tyre, at the height of its prosperity, under King Hiram, the contemporary of David and Solomon, and the latter's friend. Exploring expedition of the Tyrians, accompanied by the servants of Solomon, through the Red Sea to the coast of Ophir. Ophir is certainly not India, probably S.W. Arabia or opposite coast of Africa.

Hiram filled in the space between the island upon which stood the temple of Melkart, and New Tyre (which was also situated on an island), and erected buildings on the new land. He also narrowed the strait between New Tyre and Old Tyre on the mainland.

c. 900. Ethbaal (Ithabalus), high priest of Astarte, murdered Phales, the last descendant of Hiram, and made himself king.

About seventy (?) years later, according to a Grecian authority, a grandson of this Ethbaal decreed in his will that his minor son Pygmalion and his daughter Elissa should govern Tyre in common under the guardianship of their uncle, the high priest Sicharbas, who was to marry Elissa. The democratic party deprived Elissa of her share in the government, and Pygmalion, coming of age, murdered Sichar-

bas. In consequence of this internal strife, and influenced probably by the unfavorable state of the foreign relations (advance of the Assyrian power towards the Mediterranean, see p. 10), a large part of the older families left Tyre with Elissa. On an excellent site, on the north coast of Africa, they founded about

845.¹ Carthage² ("the new city"), between Utica in the W. and the present cape Bon in the E., not far from the present Tunis. Double harbor. Citadel Byrsa. Later the foundress, Elissa, became confused with the goddess, Dido-Astarte, the protectress of the colony.³

Carthage, so far as it comes within the realm of history, appears to have been an aristocratic republic, with two Sufetes, or judges, frequently called "kings," and compared with the Spartan kings, and two senates, a large and small. Only upon occasion of a disagreement between these branches of the government were the people called upon to give their opinion. The government tended constantly toward the oligarchical form.

850. Decline of the power of the Phœnician cities, especially of Tyre, which was distracted by civil dissension.

The Phœnicians fell repeatedly under the rule of the Assyrians, and, for a time, under that of the Egyptians. After the fall of the Assyrian empire (606), they became dependent upon the Babylonians, Tyre alone maintaining its freedom until 573.

Favored by the political situation, the Greeks, who had already (about 1000) driven the Phœnicians out of the Ægean Sea, began to extend their influence in the eastern Mediterranean, and, especially after the second half of the eighth century, along the coasts and islands of the western Mediterranean, and in Lower Italy and Sicily (p. 49).

Foundation of Cyrène (p. 49) and Massilia (about 600), attempted settlements upon Corsica, Sardinia, and the shores of Spain. In short, the Phœnician power was threatened with destruction throughout the entire West.

Brought face to face with this danger, Carthage, which had meantime grown considerably stronger, began about 600 to gather the other Phœnician cities under its control, to subjugate the country around its own commercial stations, and to secure its possession by the establishment of new colonies. The Carthaginians annexed to their territory the African coast from Hippo in the W. to beyond Leptis in the E., and opposed armed resistance to the advancing power of Cyrène. In the peace which was concluded, the altars of the Phœnians, E. of Leptis, were made the boundary. The Carthaginians subjugated Southern Spain and Sardinia, and, with Etruscan aid, drove the Phœnicians from Corsica (537?).

585-573. Tyre successfully endured a thirteen years' siege, from the land side, by Nebuchadnezzar, but was finally forced to acknowledge the supremacy of the king of Babylon.

³ The credibility of this narrative and the interpretations put upon it, both as regards the chronology and the facts, are contested by O. Meltzer.

538. After the destruction of the Babylonian monarchy, by Cyrus, Phœnicia became subject to Persia. The Phœnician cities, however, retained their independence and their native kings. The Phœnicians henceforth furnished the principal part of the Persian fleet. An expedition for the conquest of Carthage, proposed by Cambyses, king of Persia, after the conquest of Egypt, was rendered impossible of execution by the refusal of the Phœnicians to fight against their colony.

During the Persian supremacy, Sidon was again the first city of Phœnicia. The Carthaginians, favored by the civil dissensions of the Greeks in Sicily, and by the Persian war with Greece, attacked the Greek colonies in Sicily.

480. War of the Carthaginians, in alliance with Selinus, against the other Greek cities in Sicily.

The Carthaginian army under Hamilcar was utterly defeated and scattered at Himēra by the tyrants Gelon of Syracuse (Συράκουσαι) and Theron of Agrigentum (Ἀκράγας).

409-339. Repeated Wars between the Carthaginians and Greeks in Sicily.

The Carthaginians, called in to assist Segesta (Ἑγεστα) against Selinus, after conquering Selinus, Himēra, Agrigentum, and Gela, secured the supremacy over the western half of Sicily, a position which they maintained against all attempts of the tyrant Dionysius I. and Timoleon, who restored republican liberty to the Grecian cities, to dislodge them.

332. Capture of the island city, New Tyre, by Alexander the Great after a seven months' siege.

Phœnicia became a part of the great Græco-Macedonian monarchy, and later a part of the kingdom of the Seleucidæ, and for a time of that of the Ptolemies.

317-275. New wars between the Carthaginians and Greeks in Sicily.

Agathōcles, tyrant of Syracuse, sought to bring all Sicily under his rule. The Carthaginians despoiled him of his conquests and besieged Syracuse. Agathōcles effected a landing in Africa (310), and overran a large part of the Carthaginian territory, while the Syracusans repulsed and annihilated the Carthaginian army under the walls of Syracuse. Agathōcles returned to Sicily; his army, which he left before Carthage, was destroyed. In the peace with Syracuse the Carthaginians regained their former possessions in Sicily (306).

After the death of Agathōcles, party broils in Syracuse favored the advance of the Carthaginian power. Pyrrhus of Epirus, then in Tarentum, was called to the aid of the Syracusans (278). He was at first successful, but offending most of the Grecian cities by his severity, they took sides with the Carthaginians, and Pyrrhus was forced to leave Sicily. On the voyage back to Italy he was defeated by a Carthaginian fleet (276).

Importance of Carthage in the commercial life of the western Mediterranean. For clash of Carthage with Rome, see Punic wars (p. 109).

§ 5. LYDIANS, PHRYGIANS, HITTITES, AND ARAMÆANS.

Lydians. Mediterranean-Caspian.

Geography: Lydia, in the strict sense, or Mæonia, was the middle one of the three divisions of Asia Minor lying on the Ægean Sea, the northern being Mysia, the southern Caria. Capital of Lydia: Sardis at the base of the Tmolus range.

The kingdom of Lydia at the period of its greatest extent reached to the Halys river (now the Kisil Irmak), and included, beside the countries mentioned above, Bithynia and Paphlagonia on the Pontus Euxinus (Black Sea), and the inland country of Phrygia.

Religion: Worship of the sun-god Sandon, and the goddesses Bla (Myllitta-Asherah) and Ma (Ishtar). The last two became united in one goddess, under the name "the great mother" (Cybele), who was worshipped in Ephesus as Artemis (Diana).

Chronology: Lydia was ruled by two successive mythical dynasties, the Attyadæ from Attys, son of the god Manes and the Sandonidæ, who traced their origin to the god Sandon.

About 660. Under Gyges, Lydia grew to a strong aggressive power. His two successors conquered Phrygia, and carried on an unsuccessful war with the Greek cities on the seacoast. Lydia was rich in gold and became very wealthy through manufacturing and overland trade with Asia. A vast treasure collected in the royal palace at Sardis. Magnificent buildings. Ruins of royal tombs north of Sardis.

About 560-546. With Cræsus Lydia reached the height of her prosperity and empire. Completion of the kingdom by subduing all the Greek cities on the coast, Ionian, Æolian and Dorian, with the exception of Miletus, with which Cræsus formed a league. Close cultural and trade relation with the Greeks to whom the Lydians had already given their useful arts. Origin of coined money traditionally assigned to the Lydians. After the rise of Cyrus the Persian, Cræsus attacked the Persian empire. Cyrus was victorious in two battles, captured Sardis, and took Cræsus prisoner (see p. 25).

546. Fall of the kingdom of Lydia, which was united with the Persian empire.

750, or earlier, an independent monarchy was formed in N. W. Phrygia, having its capital at Gordicæum. Its monarchs, the dates of whose reigns are uncertain, bore the names of Gordia and Midas alternately. A Midas contemporary with Alyattes (about 608-570), and a Gordias with Cræsus (570-560). Phrygia conquered by Lydia about 560.

HITTITES. Anatolian.

Geography and Race: The Hittites inhabited the interior hills and mountains of Asia Minor stretching over an area about as large as the state of Texas (Breasted). Racially they were perhaps a round-headed people related to the Indo-European group.

Civilization: Considerable Egyptian and Babylonian influence. Worship of the Great Earth-Mother as chief goddess. Considerable progress in art, especially architecture; the "house of the two towers" which later adopted by Assyrians and, through them, the Persians. Sculpture not highly developed. Important iron culture beginning about 1350; mines of the Black Sea mined by the Hittites and iron first introduced into warfare.

2000, or earlier, cuneiform learned from Babylonians through business intercourse. Hieroglyphics from Egyptians. Hittite cuneiform recently interpreted by scholars.

About 1450. Rise of the Hittite Empire under kings of Khatti (Boghaz Kyö, in Anatolia). Control exercised over a large part of Asia Minor.¹ Conquests due largely to new iron weapons.

About 1385-1250. Golden Age of Hittite civilization.

About 1300. Hittite advance towards Euphrates checked by Assyrian monarchs. Babylonian "coat of arms," the lion-headed or double-headed eagle, adopted by Hittites and thus introduced into the West.

By 1200. Increasing invasion of the Indo-European peoples from the north and growing Assyrian strength brought complete collapse of the Hittite Empire.

ARAMAEANS. Semitic.

By 1400. Aramæans, along with Hebrews, occupying Syria.

After 1200. Important Aramæan culture with centre at Damascus. Widespread commerce. Transmission of alphabet to Western Asia. Increased presence of Aramæan officials in Assyrian government service. Triumph of the Aramaic language throughout Western Asia, displacing even the Hebrew of Palestine.

§ 6. BACTRIANS, MEDES, PERSIANS. *Chiefly Alpine.*²

Geography: The Bactrians, Medes, and Persians inhabited the plateau of Iran,³ between the Indus River on the E. and the valley of the Euphrates and Tigris on the W., between the Caspian Sea on the N., and the Persian Gulf and Arabian Sea on the S. On the western border of this highland: Media (Ecbatana, Med. Hangmatana, i. e. "place of assemblies"); on the southern border along the Persian Gulf, Persis (Pasargādæ, Persepōlis), Carmania; on the Arabian Sea, Gedrosia; on the eastern border, Arachosia, the land of the Paropanisādæ, at the foot of the Paropanisus (Hindu Kush);¹ on the northern border, Bactria or Bactriana (Bactra), Parthia and Hyrcania on the Caspian Sea; in the centre, Aria and Drangiana; between the Oxus and the Jazartes, Sogdiana (Maracanda).

East of the lower course of the Tigris, in the lowlands: Susiana (the ancient Elam) with Susa, the principal residence of the Persian kings. Within this broad plateau, a formerly accepted theory located the primeval home of the Aryan or Indo-European or Japhetic race, from which in prehistoric times successive colonies wandered away to the south and west. This theory is now wholly discarded.

Religion: About 600 B.C. Zoroaster whose doctrine, a spiritual reform of the old Iranic superstitions, was contained in the 21 (?) books of the Avesta, of which one only has come down to us: the Vendidad, i. e. "delivered against the Daëva," the bad spirits. The pith of the doctrine as set forth in the *Avesta*² is the conception of a continuous warfare of the good spirits, whose leader was the good god Ahuramazda or Auramazda (in modern Persian Ormuzd), and the evil spirits, or Daëva, whose leader was Angromainyu (in modern Persian Ahriman), over the life and death, welfare or injury, of man and his soul after death. In this new doctrine Mithra the sun-god, originally the highest of the Iranian gods, appeared as a creature of the creator Ahuramazda, but nevertheless the equal of the latter in dignity and divinity. Worship of fire, whose blaze scared away the evil spirits of the night; reverence paid to water, and the fertile earth, the daughter of Ahuramazda. The priests, called Athrava (from athao, fire), by the Bactrians, and Magians (Maghush) by the Medes, formed a distinct hereditary class; an institution which was copied by the ancient priestly families of Persia, after the general acceptance in that country of the reformed faith, which came to them from Bactria, through Media.

About 1100. Formation of a powerful Empire in Bactria, mythical reminiscences of the deeds of whose kings are perhaps contained in the Shahnameh of the poet Firdusi (about 1000 A. D.).

As early as the ninth century, the Assyrians undertook expeditions against the plateau of Iran, and in the middle of the eighth century, the western portion of this plateau, Media, and Persia, became permanently subject to Assyria.

The first prince of a Median dynasty mentioned was 708-655. Dejōces (Δηϊόκης, old Pers. Dahyauka), to whom is ascribed the foundation of the capital Ecbatāna. He does not appear, however, to have reigned over the whole of Media, or to have been independent, but rather to have continued to pay tribute to the Assyrians. His son, 655-633. Phraortes (Φραόρτης, Pers. Fravartis), was the first who united the whole country under one ruler and established the independence of Media. He made the Persians tributary, although their native ruler Achæmènes (Hakhamanis), who was raised to the throne after the revolt of the Persians from Assyria, retained his crown under Median supremacy, and bequeathed it to his descendants.

After Phraortes had fallen fighting against the Assyrians (p. 11) his son, 633-593. Cyaxâres (Κυαξάρης, Pers. Uvahksathra) succeeded him and continued the war with Assyria successfully. Inroad of the Scythians. After their departure (about 626? see p. 12), Cyaxâres subjugated Armenia. War with Alyattes king of Lydia.

612. Cyaxâres, in alliance with Nabopolassar of Babylonia, captured Nineveh and destroyed the Empire of Assyria (p. 12), whose territory on the left shore of the Tigris fell to the Medians. He also conquered eastern Iran. Media at the death of Cyaxâres was the most powerful monarchy of Asia. His son, 593-550. Astyages (Ἀστυάγης), last king of the Medes. Cyrus, of the family of the Achæmenidæ in the Persian tribe of the Pasargadæ, which resigned in Persia under Median supremacy, deposed Astyages. The supremacy passed (550) from the Medes to the Persians.

Herodotus (I. 107, etc.) reports a tradition of the Median descent of Cyrus through his mother Mandāne, daughter of Astyages, which is adorned after the Oriental manner, with the dream of Astyages, the interpretation of the Magi, the exposure, miraculous rescue and recognition of the boy Cyrus, the cruel punishment of Harpāgus, his treachery, etc. This story is evidently an invention of the Medes, who would not admit that they were conquered by a stranger.

According to Ctesias, the daughter of Astyages was named Amytis, and was the wife of a Mede, Spitamās. After the deposition of Astyages and execution of Spitamās, Cyrus made her his consort.

550-330. Persian Empire founded by 558-528. Cyrus (Κῦρος, Pers. Kurush).

Cyrus strengthened the Persian power over those peoples of Iran which were formerly subject to the Medes and, over the Armenians and Cappadocians. War against Cræsus of Lydia (p. 22). After the indecisive battle of Pteria (546?), Cyrus advanced on Sardis, defeated Cræsus in a second battle on the Hermus, stormed Sardis, captured Cræsus, and deprived him of his kingdom, but otherwise treated him as a friend and adviser (546).¹

The Grecian story told by Herodotus (I. 86) of Cyrus' intention to burn Cræsus, who, on the pyre, calls to mind his interview with Solon, of his consequent pardon by Cyrus, and the miraculous quenching of the flames by the Delphic Apollo, who had formerly received valuable presents from Cræsus, betrays a purpose of bringing Grecian wisdom into strong relief (proverb of Solon, that no mortal is to be called fortunate before death), and of vindicating the Grecian god. It is inconsistent with the command of the Persian faith, not to contaminate the sacred fire. Probably Cræsus wished to appease the anger of the gods against his people and country, according to Semitic usage, by burning himself; according to the Lydian story, the sun-god Sandon does not accept the offering, but puts out the flames with rain.

Cyrus returned to Ecbatāna. A revolt of the Lydians was quickly repressed. Mazæres and Harpāgus made the Grecian coast cities tributary to the Persians. A portion of the Phocæans migrated to Corsica; driven thence (see p. 20) they went to Elea (Velia) in southern Italy. Harpāgus conquered Caria and Lycia.

539-538. War of Cyrus against the Babylonians. After a siege of nearly two years (diversion of the Euphrates) Babylon was captured. The Babylonian Empire was incorporated with the Persian; the Phœnicians and Cilicians retained their native rulers under Persian supremacy; the Jews were sent from Babylon back to Palestine (p. 17).

528. Cyrus, who was occupied during the last nine years of his reign with wars against the eastern peoples, fell in one of these expeditions. The story of his death, like that of his birth, has been poetically adorned and variously related. According to one tradition, probably of Median origin (Herodotus, I. 202-214), Cyrus fell in battle against Tomyris, the queen of the Massagetæ, whose son he had overcome by deceit. She thrust the dismembered head of the Persian monarch into a skin-bag of blood that he might "drink his fill of blood." According to Ctesias, Cyrus died, on the fourth day, of a wound which he received in a victory over the Derbices. The son and successor of Cyrus, 528-521. Cambyzes (Καμβύσης, Pers. Kambujiya), conquered Egypt by his victory at Pelusium (p. 7).

525.² Capture of Memphis. Expedition up the Nile toward Ethiopia; failure of provisions in the desert compelled him to turn back. The tyrant of Cyrene acknowledged the supremacy of Cambyzes, but a projected attack upon Carthage by sea was prevented by the refusal of the Phœnicians to lend their ships (p. 21). Destruction of the army corps dispatched against the temple of Jupiter Amon (Oasis Siwah).

Cambyzes slaughtered the bull Apis in Memphis¹ (?), and manifested in all ways a choleric and bloodthirsty disposition. On the way back from Egypt, he died in Syria, either from an accidental wound, or by his own hand.²

522-521. A Magian, Gaumata, claiming to be Bardiya (Smerdis), the brother murdered by Cambyzes, seized the throne. After a short reign the usurper was put to death by the princes of the seven Persian tribes, the most influential of whom, 521-485. Darius (Δαρείος, Pers. Darayavus), son of Hystaspes (Vistaspā), was made king.

The father of Darius, Hystaspes, was the head of the younger line of the Achæmenidæ (the elder became extinct with Cambyzes and Bardiya) and the rightful heir to the Persian throne. The son, Darius, however, was recognized by the other princes as king. Later his accession was ratified by the production of auguries. (Anecdote of the neighing horse in Herodotus, III. 85.)

Revolt of the Babylonians. The city of Babylon recaptured only after a siege of more than 20 months. (Self-mutilation of Zopyrus, in order to deceive the Babylonians.)

519. (?). Afterwards Darius suppressed revolts which had broken out in other parts of the empire (in Media, Persia, Parthia, etc.), and conquered the right bank of the Indus.

513 (?). Unsuccessful expedition of Darius against the Scythians with a land force of 700,000 men. The fleet of the Greeks of Asia Minor was conducted by the tyrants of the Ionian cities. Bridge of boats across the Bosphorus. Bridge over the Ister (Danube). After an aimless advance, lack of provisions induced a retreat (Herodotus, IV. 130 seq.). Darius rescued by the faithfulness of Histiæus of Miletus (against the advice of Miltiades of Athens, tyrant in the Chersonese). Thracia made subject to Persia. Cyrene conquered by a force sent from Egypt.

Susa, in Susiana, since the time of Darius the principal residence of the "Great King" (Βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλέων, μέγας βασιλεὺς, Pers. Khshayathiya-Khshayathiyânâm, whence the modern Persian Shahin-shah). Ecbatāna in Media was the summer residence. Erection of a new royal palace at Persepolis in Persis, where ruins with inscriptions and sculptures have been discovered, as well as at Susa. At Persepolis, too, the tombs of the kings.

Divine worship paid to the king, the satisfaction of whose wants was the final purpose of the state. Maintenance of a costly court, with an elaborate ceremonial. Construction of great military roads. Completion of the canal from the Nile to the Red Sea, which Ramses II. had begun and Necho had continued (p. 7). Establishment of postal stations, of course only for the carriage of royal messages. Division of the empire into 20 (?) satrapies, each under a satrap (Persian Khshathra-pravan, i. e. "lord of the province"), with regal accommodation in palaces surrounded by extensive gardens (Paradisæ). Subject cities or tribes, and indeed whole nations, enjoyed their own laws and separate administration, under native though dependent princes.

² Herodotus and Ctesias attribute his death to accident. But Darius states it was by his own hand, which is more probable since the attempt to displace Bardiya seemed hopeless. Meyer.

500-494. Revolt of the Ionian Greeks, incited by Histiæus of Miletus, who had been accused of Darius and summoned to Susa, and his son-in-law Aristagōras. With the assistance of Athens and Eretria, Sardis was captured and burned. The Ionians, defeated by the Persian army, were abandoned by their allies from Athens and Eretria; their fleet was defeated at Lade, opposite Miletus. The Ionians were again reduced to subjection, and the Milesians, by command of Darius, were settled about the mouth of the Tigris.

493-486. War of Darius against the European Greeks (p. 56). Great preparations for a new expedition against Greece. Revolt among the Egyptians.

485. Death of Darius. He was succeeded by his son, 485-465. Xerxes I. (Ξέρξης, Pers. Khshayarsha).

480. War against Greece (p. 58). Xerxes and his eldest son murdered by Artabānus, captain of the body-guard. The second son of Xerxes, 465-424. Artaxerxes I. (Pers. Artachshatra), called Μακρόχειρ, Longimānus, succeeded to the throne.

465-455. Second revolt of the Egyptians under Inārōs, assisted by the Athenians, suppressed by the satrap Megabyzus (Amyrtæus alone maintained himself about the mouths of the Nile). Wars with the Greeks (p. 63). Beginning of the internal decay of the Persian empire. Revolts of the satraps. Mercenary troops. The son of Artaxerxes,

424. Xerxes II., after ruling one month and a half, was murdered, by his brother,

424. Sogdianus, who after six and a half months, was murdered by his brother Ochus, who reigned under the name

424-404. Darius II., Nothos. He was under the influence of his wife Parysātis. Third revolt of the Egyptians, who maintained their independence for sixty years (414-354).

404-359. Artaxerxes II., Mnemon. Revolt of his brother, the younger Cyrus, who, assisted by Grecian mercenaries, attacked the king in the neighborhood of Babylon.

401. Cyrus fell in the battle of Cunaxa in personal combat with his brother.
400. Retreat of the 10,000 Greeks, Xenophon (Anabasis).
- 359-338. Artaxerxes III. Revolt of the Phœnicians and Egyptians suppressed. Artaxerxes poisoned by his favorite, the Egyptian Bagoas, who placed on the throne the king's youngest son,
- 338-336. Arses, whom he likewise murdered, in order to put a great-grandson of Darius Nothos in his place.
- 336-330. Darius III., Codomannus. Bagoas executed by poison. War with Alexander of Macedonia; Darius murdered by the satrap Bessus while fleeing, after the battle of Arbela (331).
330. Destruction of the Persian Empire. See Grecian history, 4th period, p. 74.

§ 7. PARTHIANS. Caspian and Alpine elements?

Geography: The Parthian empire extended from the Euphrates to the Indus, from the Caspian Sea and the Arazes to the Indian Ocean, covering nearly the same ground, and having in the main the same divisions, as the Persian empire, of which it was, indeed, in many ways an avowed imitation. Parthia proper, the region between the Jaxartes, and the desert of Iran, the Caspian Sea and the province of Aria, was a satrapy of the Persian empire. About

248. The Parthians revolted under the lead of Arsaces, the chief of a tribe of the Dahæ (Scythians). The revolt succeeded,
- 248-216. Arsaces I. was raised to the throne. He was succeeded by his brother Tiridates as
- 246-c. 211. Arsaces II.,¹ who firmly established the independence of Parthia. His son,
- c. 211-c. 190. Arsaces III., successfully resisted Antiochus the Great. Arsaces IV. (Priapatius) and Arsaces V. (Phraates I.) accomplished but little of importance. The son of the latter,
- c. 170-c. 138. Mithridates I., founded the Empire of the Parthians, extending his sway over Media, Susiana, Persia, Babylonia, Bactria. Subject nations were permitted to retain their native kings in subjection to Parthia. The Parthian civilization was rude and of a low order.
- c. 138-c. 127. Phraates II. (Arsaces VII.) repressed a revolt of Babylonia, but fell fighting against the Mongolians. The incursions of these nomadic tribes became more frequent under Artabanus (Arsaces VIII.), 127-124, who likewise fell in battle against them. They were, however, effectually checked by Mithridates II. (Arsaces IX.), c. 124-88, who also extended the power of Parthia in other directions, until towards the close of his reign he was defeated by Tigranes of Armenia. Under Phraates III. (Arsaces XII.), 70–57, the Parthians first became embroiled with Rome, war with this power breaking out in 54. Under Orodes I. (Arsaces XIV.), 57–37, Expedition of Crassus (p. 140). Expedition of Antonius, 36, against Phraates IV. (Arsaces XV.). From 37 B. C. to 107 A. D. Parthia was ruled by a series of ten monarchs, whose reigns were mostly occupied with struggles for the succession. Vologaes I., 51–77; Armenia lost. An attempt made by 106–129 A. D. Chosroës (Arsaces XXV.) to recover Armenia brought about the successful Parthian expedition of Trajan, whose conquests were, however, abandoned as soon as made. Vologaes III. (Arsaces XXVII.), 147–191 A. D., became involved in a war with M. Aurelius, which terminated in the complete submission of the Parthian. His successor, Vologaes IV., 191–209 A. D., lost northern Assyria to Rome.

209–226 A. D. Artabanus IV. (Arsaces XXX.), last king of Parthia. In his reign Parthia suffered severely at the hands of Caracalla, but, after his death and the defeat of Macrinus, had regained its former power, when the empire was brought to an end by the success of an insurrection of the Persians under Artaxerxes, son of Sassan, who defeated and slew the Parthian monarch. The Tatar empire was replaced by the Iranian kingdom of the Sassanidæ, or the New Persian Empire (226–652 A. D. (p. 187).

§ 8. PEOPLES OF INDIA.

Race: “Of the racial characteristics of the ancient peoples of the Indian area we are still almost totally ignorant” (Dixon). Only a few crania of antiquity described. These seem to indicate a dominantly dolichocephalic people, though some authorities regard them as round-headed and akin to the Alpine or Eur-Asian invaders of Europe.

Geography: India is a vast triangle, having a base and a height of about 1900 miles, bounded on the N. by the Himalaya Mountains, on the E. by the Bay of Bengal, on the W. by the Gulf of Arabia. Three geographical divisions: I. The region of the Himalayas. The central range forms an almost impassable barrier between India and the Mongol tribes of central Asia (Mt. Everest, 29,000 ft.). This region includes Nepal and Kashmir. II. The fertile valley of the great rivers, which receives the drainage of the northern as well as of the southern slopes of the Himalayas. River systems: Indus; Ganges; Bramaputra. Deltas of the Ganges and Bramaputra. III. The Deccan, or southern plateau, separated from the Ganges valley by the Vindhya mountains (5000 ft.). Provinces: Madras, Bombay, Mysore, etc.

Religion: The religion of the early Indians, as portrayed in the Vedic hymns was a worship of Nature: gods of the sky, the rain-vapor, fire, the storm. Dyaush-pitar, Father of Heaven. After the settlement in the Ganges valley, this primitive faith underwent a change. Jainism and Buddhism arose in the sixth century B. C.

History: The Indians (Hindus) migrated from the northwest, through the valley of the Indus and the Punjab, down the valley of the Ganges, where they were probably established as early as 1500 B. C., and at a later date along the coasts of the Deccan and to Ceylon.

Foundation of numerous despotic kingdoms. Strict separation of the Indian conquerors from the subjugated aborigines. Development of the royal power and the priestly influence. Principal "orders": Brahmans, priests; Kshattriyas, warriors; Vaisyas, agricultural settlers. The Sudras, or servile "order," were of aboriginal descent. Rise of religion of Brahma: Brahma, the creator; Vishnu, the preserver; Siva, the destroyer and restorer. Spiritual tyranny of the Brahmans. High development of philosophy, grammar, etc., in connection with the explanation of the Vedas ("revelations"), or services for the various religious ceremonies. Priestly treatises attached to each Veda. Poetry, the epics: Maha-bhārata, Rāmāyana. Strict regulation of entire thought and life: the book of the laws of Manu.

Magnificent monuments of Indian architecture, especially the Cliff Temples, which were excavated in the rock, both upon and below the surface of the earth. Later, Pagodas.

In the sixth century, appearance of the reformer Buddha, i. e. "the enlightened" (560 to 480), properly Gautama, afterwards Sidhartha (i. e. "he who has fulfilled his end"), son of prince Suddhodana: Buddhism, called after its founder, was originally a philosophical system, without creed or rites, having for its object the attainment of moral perfection (cf. Stoicism). Through its doctrine of the essential equality of all men, it indirectly became opposed to Brahmanism.

The progress of Buddhism produced, along with certain changes in the old system, a strong Brahmanistic reaction. Buddhism perished of inanition in India, yet maintained itself in Burma and Ceylon, but the loss was offset by great gains in central and eastern Asia, where it has to-day (1924) devotees variously estimated from 150,000,000 to 500,000,000 in Tibet, China, Japan, etc.

Early Kings: Sisunāga (c. 642); Bimbisāra (c. 582); Ajātasatru (c. 554); Darśaka (c. 527); Udaya (c. 503); Nandivardhana (c. 470); Nanda dynasty (c. 470-413); Chandragupta (c. 325).

326 (327) Invasion of the Punjab by Alexander the Great (p. 75). 317-291. Formation of great empires of short duration; empire of Magadha, under Chandra-gupta, and his grandson, 273-232 (?). Asoka, the friend of Buddhism. After the reign of Asoka the Punjab fell under the supremacy of the Græco-Bactrian empire in central Asia, and thus some tincture of Greek civilization was imparted to this part of India. The Bactrian rulers were finally expelled by Scythian invaders. Several dynasties of Scythian rulers and further invasions by an unknown people, the Guptas. These established themselves in India and remained in Oudh and the north until overthrown by foreign invaders (Huns) in the latter half of the fifth century A. D. The Gupta period was the golden age of Hindu India (320 A. D. -647 A. D., approximately).

§ 9. CHINESE. Turanian.

Geography: China in the broad sense, or the Chinese Empire, embracing Manchuria, Mongolia, and Tibet, as well as China proper, is bounded N. by Siberia, E. by the Sea of Japan, the Yellow Sea, and the Sea of China, S. and S. W. by the Sea of China, Cochin China, Burma, and the Himalaya Mountains, W. by Kashmir and Western Turkestan. China proper (land of the Seres among the ancients, Cathay in the Middle Age), comprises less than half of the Chinese empire, being about 1474 miles long by 1355 wide. Vast alluvial plain and delta in the N. E. Mountainous and hilly in south. Rivers: Hwang-ho (Yellow River); Yang-tse-kiang; Si-kiang. Provinces: 1, Chih-li with Peking, the capital of the empire; 2, Kiang-su, the most prosperous and best watered of the provinces, with the cities, Nan-king, Shang-hai; 3, Anhui; 4, Kiang-si; 5, Che-kiang, with the city Ning-po; 6, Fuh-kiên, including the island of Formosa¹ (Taiwan); 7, Hu-peh; 8, Hu-nan; 9, Ho-nan; 10, Shan-tung with the Tai-shan mountain; 11, Shan-si; 12, Shen-si; 13, Kan-su; 14, Szechuan; 15, Kwang-tung, with the cities, Canton, Macao, Hong-Kong; 16, Kwang-si; 17, Yun-nan; 18, Kwei-chow; 19, Shing-kiang (Chinese or Eastern Turkestan).

Religion: Uncertainty concerning the oldest religion of the Chinese. By some writers it is considered little higher than fetishism, while others see a monotheistic belief in the worship of Ti. Their religion embraced a worship of ancestors, of deified rulers, and of spirits generally, classed in antitheses of opposing qualities (yang and yin), heaven and earth, male and female, from whose interaction all created beings sprang. Ideas of future life indistinct, no system of rewards and punishments. System of offerings; never human sacrifices. In the fifth century B. C. appeared the philosopher Confucius (K'ung-tse, 551-479 B. C.), who taught no new theology, and did not remodel the old religion, but whose ethical code and personal influence secured for him an enthusiastic following. It was a revival, rather than a reformation, of the ancient faith. Enunciation of the Golden Rule.² Contemporary with Confucius was Lao-tse, the author of a system of ethical philosophy, Taoism, the "way or method of living which men should cultivate as the highest and purest development of their nature" (Legge). At a later time there grew up a system of gross and mystical superstition, which took the name of Taoism, deified Lao-tse, and became one of the recognized religions of the land. Buddhism introduced into China about A. D. 65, where it has degenerated into a low superstition, but still numbers many devotees and has deeply affected the older religions. Begging priests. As a system of philosophy, Buddhism has always been eagerly studied by Chinese scholars. Mohammedanism has also its adherents. The common religion of the lower classes is the old ancestor and spirit worship, complicated by the introduction of elements from all the sects above mentioned. No state religion; toleration of all faiths.

Chronology. The Chinese regard themselves as aborigines. Foreign scholars derive them from wandering bands of Tatars, or from the peoples of Tibet and Farther India.¹ The first settlements were made in the valley of the Hwang-ho.

The Chinese possess an intricate system of chronology which earlier writers trusted almost implicitly, but which modern scholars have severely criticised. The earliest dates are probably wholly untrustworthy. Chinese annalists place the creation between two and three millions of years before Confucius, and divide the intervening space into ten epochs. In the eighth of these are placed the famous emperors Yew-chou She ("nest builder"), Suy-jin She, the discoverer of fire, Fushi, Shen-nung, inventor of the plough, and Yao, who first caused the valley of Hwang-ho to be drained. These sovereigns are largely mythical. Hsia (2205-1766 B. C.) and Shang (1766-1122 B. C.) are the first historic dynasties, but records about them are fragmentary.

1122-255 B. C. Dynasties of West and East Chow.

The feudal system reached the peak of its development. The imperial domain lay in the middle of the empire, whence the name applied to the empire, "Middle Kingdom." Under Ling-wang, birth of Confucius, 551 B. C.; wars and anarchy. Wonderful growth of political and philosophical speculation.

255-206 B. C. Dynasty of Chin, famous for the energetic monarch Shi Hwang-ti (246-210), who extended the empire to the sea, defeated the Mongols, built the Great Wall (1400 miles long, 15-30 feet high, 15-25 feet broad); 213, he ordered the destruction of all books except those on medicine and divination. Abolition of the feudal system.

206 B. C.-220 A. D. Dynasties of West and East Han. Brilliant period of Chinese history. Revival of the feudal system, but the power of the feudal lords limited. The empire consolidated and strengthened, and extended westward to western Turkestan. Conquest of Korea (108 B. C.). Annexation of Hainan. This period was marked by literary excellence and is rich in commentaries on the classics. Succeeding period was one of great confusion.

220-265 A. D. Epoch of the Three Kingdoms: Wei, in the north; Wu, in the east; and Shuh, in the west. Wei-Wuti, 265 A. D., reunited a large part of the empire and founded the dynasty of Tsin (265-420 A. D.), but the country soon relapsed into a divided state (420-589 A. D.), which continued until 589 A. D. Yang-Chian, prince of Suy, in the northern kingdom of Wei, extending his conquests southward, united the whole empire under his sceptre and founded the dynasty of Suy (589-618 A. D.).

Geography: The Japanese¹ empire, Dai-Nippon, is a chain of islands which skirts the eastern coast of Asia opposite Korea, Manchuria, and Amur. It now includes Southern Sakhalin, Formosa, the Pescadores, Korea, etc. It comprises four large islands: Kiushiu; Shikoku; Hondo,² or Honshiu, the principal island; Yezo; and some three thousand small islands.³ Nature of the country, rocky, mountainous, volcanic. Highest mountain in Hondo, Fujiyama (12,400 ft.), in the centre of the east coast. Rivers numerous but small; among the largest: Tone-gawa, Shinano-gawa, Kwā-gawa, Ti-gawa. Lake Biwa in Hondo. Principal cities: Tokyo (Yedo), Osaka, Kyoto, Nagoya, Kobe, Yokohama.

Religion: The most ancient religion of Japan is known abroad by the term Shintō. It consisted of a theology which comprised chiefly the spirits of imperial ancestors and of mythical characters, spirits of Nature, and deified mortals, and of a ritual for the worship of these deities. It had little moral code. It was emphatically an ethnic religion, and often gave moral support to the imperial authority. In 552 A. D. Buddhism was introduced into Japan, where it spread rapidly. Development of a score or more of sects. (Among others Shin-shu, which teaches salvation by faith in a Buddha.) Buddhism for a time overshadowed the older religion, but the present government has fully reinstated the Shintō cult.

Chronology: The origin of the Japanese is uncertain. They invaded the islands from outside, and conquered them from the Ainos and other races. The present Japanese are certainly a mixed race, containing Malay, Mongol and Ainu elements.

The mythical history of Japan comprises a dynasty of gods, followed by a dynasty of rulers descended from the sun-goddess. The date officially assigned long ago to the founding of the state is 660 B. C.; but the dates begin to be verifiable only about 400 A. D.

660-585 B. C. Jimmu Tenno, the first emperor, being the 5th in descent from the sun-goddess. He was leader of the invasion, and conquered Kiushiu, Shikoku, and a part of the main island. Jimmu was the founder of an unbroken dynasty, of which the reigning emperor, Yoshihito, is the 123d (124th counting Jingu) sovereign. The 10th emperor, Sujin (97-30 B. C.) and his successors introduced reforms, reorganized the administration of the empire and generally advanced the civilization of the people. Intercourse opened with Korea. Succeeding emperors continued the war with the native Ainos, who were pushed further and further to the north. Especially famous is the reign of the 12th emperor,

² This is the name recently applied to the main island by the Japanese government. Nippon, the name frequently given it by foreigners, is the name of the whole empire.

³ Sakhalin was given to Russia in 1875 in exchange for the Kurile islands. Southern half ceded back to Japan in 1905.

- 71-130 A. D. Keiko, whose more famous son, Yamato-Dake, "the warlike," conquered the great eastern plain, the Kwanto. The 14th emperor, Chuai, dying suddenly, was succeeded by his wife the renowned
- 201-269 A. D. Jingu-Kogo, sometimes called the 15th sovereign, although never formally crowned. She suppressed a rebellion in Kiushiu, and herself led an army to Korea, which she reduced to submission. Diplomatic relations with China. Her son and successor,
- 270-310 A. D. Ojin, was a great warrior, and came later to be deified as a god of war. Introduction of Chinese literature and civilization, which at this date was far in advance of the Japanese. From this time to the sixth century the annals of Japan are marked by no great events.

Crete.

Area. The Ægean civilization extended from the Cyclades to Troy and Cyprus and, in the opposite direction, to the coasts of Greece.¹ Many local varieties of culture.

Crete, the chief centre of this newly discovered civilization, is, after Sicily and Sardinia, the largest island in the Mediterranean; length, E. to W., 160 miles, breadth varying from 35 to 7½ miles, area 3330 square miles. North coast much broken and many natural harbors; south coast much less broken and no natural harbors.² Crete formed a natural stepping stone for intercourse between Greece and Egypt. Troy's location gave it the ability to close the Hellespont to trade from the west and made it the meeting place of Ægean and Euxine trade. Hence it gained great wealth and power. Mycenæ and Tiryns, on the mainland, dominated the routes to the north and the southern exit to the Gulf of Argolis and Crete.

Previous to 1870 no accurate knowledge of the Cretan-Mycenean civilization. The romantic story of Heinrich Schliemann (1822-1890) whose investigations uncovered Troy on the Hellespont (beginning 1870), Mycenæ (beg. 1876) and Tiryns (beg. 1884). Excavations in Crete beginning with the work of Sir Arthur Evans at Knossos (Gnossos) in 1894 and thereafter. Other discoveries in Crete through the labors of Halbherr, Hogarth, Miss Boyd (Mrs. Hawes), and Seager.

Religion: Chief worship given to a Nature Goddess, the Great Mother, source of all life, ruling over all creatures both on earth and in the underworld. Represented many times, with doves as goddess of the air and with snakes typifying her connections with the earth and in a more fearful aspect when lions are her companions. The cult scenes show a "dignified, orderly worship," priestesses forming a noteworthy feature. The Great Goddess became identified with many Hellenic deities, especially becoming Rhea, the mother of the gods, and Ge, Mother Earth. Also identified with Hera, Aphrodite, Demeter and Artemis. Practically no temples because of domestic character of Cretan religion. Great prominence given to sacrifice, especially of the sacred bull, the chief victim offered to the Great Goddess.

Chief centres of culture, Crete, Knossos, Phæstos, Aghia Triadha, Gournia, Palaikastro.

Legends. Crete always important in mythology of Greece, especially as the reputed home of Zeus, born in the cave of Dictæ or on Mt. Ida and buried on Mt. Juktas. Here, too, was Minos, the son of Zeus and Europa, a great sea-king and, according to Thucydides, first to have established a navy.¹ His wife Pasiphæ, as the result of an unnatural passion gave birth to the Minotaur, half-man, half-bull, which Minos kept shut up in a great building called the Labyrinth (the great palace of Knossos?). Defeating the Athenians in war the King compelled them to send a tribute annually of seven youths and seven maidens who were thrown into the Labyrinth as a sacrifice to the Minotaur. Theseus, the son of King Ægeus of Athens, won the love of the Cretan princess Ariadne who aided him in finding his way through the Labyrinth and killing the monster. Lycurgus, Dædalus, Icarus and other famous mythological figures were connected with Crete.

Industry and Commerce: Herding and Agriculture. High development of the practical arts and crafts, combining the utilitarian and æsthetic in execution. Remarkable spread of sea-trade, especially with Egypt. Probably the Egyptian maritime commerce was prior to that of the Cretans, but the latter were the first real nation of sailors in history. Little evidence of trade with Mesopotamia. Great wealth and culture based upon commercial supremacy.

Chronology: Systems worked out by archæologists based on connections with Egypt. Cretan evidence seems to favor the Berlin system of Egyptian chronology (see p. 4). Minoan Crete is thus divided into three great eras, Early, Middle, and Late Minoan; each of these is divided into I, II, and III representing the rise, culmination, and decline of each stage (Evans).

No paleolithic remains found in Crete.

About 10,000. Probable appearance of the Ægæans in Crete.

About 10,000-3000. Neolithic Age. Quite extensive settlements at Knossos. Stone axes, maces, obsidian knives, but no traces of metal. Only the more advanced stages of Neolithic culture found.

About 3000-2800. Bronze introduced. No distinct copper age as in Cyprus. Probably from natural bronze ore found in Ægæan area.

2800-2200. Early Minoan. Considerable progress in housebuilding and the crafts. Vigorous native art. Contacts with Egypt, Hissarlik (Troy), and the Cyclades.

2200-1700. Middle Minoan. First climax of Cretan civilization. Knossos and Phæstos assert leadership of the island. Free trade with Egypt, Asia and continent of Europe. Development of forms of writing from pictograms.

1900-1700. Third Middle Minoan period. Palace of Knossos rebuilt. Town of Gournia begun.

1700-1500. First Late Minoan. Height of prosperity of smaller towns (Aghia Triadha, Gournia, Zakro, Psyrá). Later palace of Phæstos begun. Time of peace and widespread artistic development, though not as elaborate as in the next or "Palace" period. But a genuine love of art among all the people so that even humblest articles decorated tastefully.

1500-1450. Second Late Minoan or Palace Period. Golden Age of Crete. Palace of Knossos remodelled on magnificent scale. Second Palace of Phæstos completed. Widespread use of linear writing, probably syllabic. Bronze and stone vessels of great size and beauty. Lavish use of frescoes and painted relief, similar to those of Egyptian tombs and palaces in technique. Love of display and resort to shams to conceal poor work or heighten effect. At end the sudden destruction of Knossos and the glory of Cretan civilization.

1450-1200. Third Late Minoan. Partial reoccupation and decline. Art conventionalized. Decline of letters. Several inroads of barbarians from the north giving Crete the mixed population known to Homer. Men driven from peaceful pursuits.

Mycenæ and Tiryns.

The Mycenæans were traders and also profited by levies on merchants made possible by the geographical location of their city. Tiryns combined trading and piracy also.

1500-1100. Height of culture. The true Mycænæan Age. Evidence of trade with Crete, Cyprus, Egypt and the north. Remarkable wealth and artistic achievement. This culture received its stimulus from Crete and perhaps began with Cretan immigrants.

B. WESTERN PEOPLES.

§ 1. CELTS. Alpine.

Celts, or Kelts, is the name given to that race which, at the dawn of authentic history, occupied the extreme west of Europe. They belonged to the Alpine family, and, if the Asiatic origin of that family be accepted,¹ were the first branch to enter upon the westward migration.

a. Continental Celts. Gauls.

Geography: At the time of the Roman conquest (59-51), Gaul, or that part of Europe occupied by the Celts, (Κελτοί) or

Gauls, (Γάλλοι), was divided among three great groups of tribes: Belgians, dwelling between the lower Rhine, the forest of Ardennes, the Marne, and Seine. This people have been claimed as Teutons, but the weight of evidence assigns them to the Celts.¹ Tribes: Remi, Suessiones, Nervi,² Menapii. Gauls,³ dwelling between the Seine, Marne, middle Rhine, Rhône, and Garonne. Tribes: In the valley of the Seine (Sequana): Parisii (with the city Lutetia Parisiorum, now Paris), Senones; in the valley of the Loire (Liger): Namnetes, Turōnes, Carnutes, Boii, Ædii, Averni; W. of the Seine: Treviri; in the valley of the Saone and Rhône: Sequani, Allobroges. The *Aquitani*ans, between the Garonne and the Pyrennees, were not Celts, but Iberians. In Switzerland: Helvetii, Vindelici.

Religion: Soon after the conquest the theology of the Gauls was largely superseded and corrupted by the introduction of the Roman gods. Little is therefore known of the pure Celtic religion, whose nature has consequently become a favorite subject for dispute. It was a pantheism, which had its cycle of great gods, its local divinities, its dedications of forests, rivers, and fountains. Among the great gods are the following, with their Roman equivalents: Bormo, Grannus (Apollo), with his companion the goddess Damona; Segomo, Cannulus (Mars), with the goddess Nemetonia; Belisama (Minerva?); Tarnicus (Jupiter). Complicated and imposing ceremonial, conducted by the Druids, or priests, who were accorded at least equal honors with the nobles. They did not form an hereditary class, but were recruited from the people. Exemption from military service and taxes. Use of writing, with Greek alphabet. Exercise of jurisdiction. Human sacrifices.

Civilization:⁴ The Celts are important in the cultural history of the pre-literary period in Europe. They are thought to have brought the so-called Aryan language and culture to Europe from Asia. They originated the iron culture in Europe at Hallstatt in Austria about 1200 B.C., and brought it to Gaul by 900 B.C. The Hallstatt era lasted in Gaul until about 500 B.C., when it was succeeded by the La Tène period, which endured until the Roman conquest. Long before Cæsar's time they had developed a high civilization, in many ways more advanced than that of the Romans. They possessed a very efficient agricultural industry, had developed remarkable skill in metal working, and their linen textile industry was the finest in Europe. They maintained an extensive land and sea trade, having ocean-going vessels for coastwise trade. High development of social and economic

² Dahn, Urgesch. d. Germ. III. 26, note 9.

³ In spite of Cæsar's statement that the Gauls were called Celts in their own language, the two names are not considered synonymous. It is probable that the Gallic tribes formed a division distinct from the Celtic tribes (using Celt in the narrow sense of inhabitant of Gaul). The attempt has even been made to draw the geographical boundary between them.

⁴ The best brief sources on Celtic civilization are T. Rice Holmes, Cæsar's Conquest of Gaul, Chap. I; G. Ferrero, Characters and Events in Roman History, pp. 71-99; and A. L. Guérard, French Civilization to the Close of the Middle Ages, Part I. The classic treatment is by Déchelette and Jullian.

classes. Cæsar grossly understated the degree of their cultural development.

Chronology: Before the conquest the history of the Celts of Gaul is the history of their collisions with the southern nations.

The Celtic migration was slow, and large bodies were left behind at various points, as in Bohemia and throughout Germany, where many traces of Celtic occupation survived the Teutonic conquest. According to some writers the Celts immigrated in two bands, the Goidelic or Gadhelic Celts being the more northerly, and the Brythonic or Cymric Celts the more southerly; this is but a surmise.

2000. The Celts reached the western shores of Europe. Their principal settlements were made in central France. They here attained their highest culture, and from this point detachments went forth to conquer new lands. There were four principal emigrations.

1. To the British Isles. Date unknown. Probably in bronze and early iron ages. See p. 40.

2. To Spain, where they mingled with the Iberian inhabitants and formed the Celtiberians. Celts in Spain were known to Herodotus in the fifth century B. C.

3. To Northern Italy. In all probability the Celts came into Italy more or less steadily from the close of the Neolithic onward. The legendary history of Rome places this event in the reign of Tarquinius Priscus, or about 600 B. C. Tribe followed tribe until the whole of northern Italy was occupied (Gallia Cisalpina). Tribes: Bituriges (Milan), Cenomani (Brescia and Verona), Boii (Bologna), Senones (coast between Rimini and Ancona).

390. Conquest of Rome by the Senones under their Brennus, i. e. military leader.

285. Extermination of the Senones by the Romans; defeat of the Boii on the Vadimonian lake.

238. General league of Cisalpine Gauls against Rome. Defeat of the league at Telamon, 225. Capture of Milan by Scipio. Formation of Roman colonies at Placentia, Cremona, Mutina. In the second Punic War, Hannibal induced the Gauls to take up arms, but in the

193. Battle of Mutina, the last resistance of the Boii was broken and northern Italy was rapidly Romanized.

4. To Greece and Asia Minor. In 279 a band of Gauls under a Brennus ravaged Macedonia and Greece. After a futile attack upon Delphi, the survivors made their way by land to Asia Minor, where they settled in the interior, and gave their name to Galatia.

Some time before the Roman conquest, it is probable, the pressure of the Teutonic migration had made itself felt in the west, but the details of the conflicts are unknown. Celts and Teutons became here and there interspersed, but in general the Rhine was the boundary. About 125-121, the Romans conquered Southern Gaul and made it a province (Gallia Narbonensis). While the Celtic origin of the Cimbri may not be admitted without question, it is certain that Gallic tribes played a considerable part in that great invasion of Italy (113-101).

58-51. Conquest of Gaul by Cæsar (p. 138), after which the history of Gaul belongs to that of Rome.

b. Celts of the British Isles.

BRITAIN.

Geography: The island of Britain forms an irregular triangle, and is bounded E. by the German Ocean, S. by the Straits of Dover and the English Channel, W. by St. George's Channel, the Irish Sea, North Channel, and the Atlantic Ocean. It falls into three geographical divisions, corresponding somewhat to the later political divisions. I. The extreme north, beyond the deep indentations of the Frith of Clyde and the Frith of Forth, is mountainous and barren, with numerous small lakes (Loch Ness, Loch Tay, Loch Lomond), and sharply cut coasts on the west. II. The southern and eastern portion: hilly in the N. and W.; on the E. a broad plain, well watered and fertile. Eastern rivers: Humber (Ouse, Trent), Witham, Welland, Nen, Ouse, running through a broad fen-land into the Wash, Thames. Western rivers: Severn, Mersey. Island of Wight. In early times the greater part of this plain, the modern England, was covered with forests, of which scanty traces remain. The Andredsweald covered a large part of the counties of Surrey and Sussex; north of the Thames a huge forest extended nearly to the Wash, of which Epping and Hainault forests formed a part. The fens about the Wash were much more extensive than now. III. The broad western promontory of Wales, mountainous with small rivers. Island of Anglesea.

Religion and Civilization: The Celts of Britain were ruder than their brethren of Gaul, and never reached the same stage of civilization, but they seem to have resembled the continental Celts in customs and religion. Druids. Bards.

History. The Britons of historic times were Celts who came to the island from Gaul at two periods. The first invasion was very early, and the invaders were Celts of the Goidelic (Gadhelic) or northern branch. From the testimony of sepulchral monuments it is conjectured that the Celts found two races in Britain: a small, dark-haired race, perhaps of Iberian stock, and a large light-haired race of Scandinavian origin. The Goidelic Celts conquered without exterminating the previous inhabitants, and held the land many centuries, until a new invasion of continental Celts occurred. This time it was the Brythonic or Cymric Celts of the southern stock, who crossed the channel, probably not very long before the expedition of Cæsar, and dispossessed their kinsmen of the southern and eastern portion of the island. Tribes: Cantii, the most civilized, Attrebatii, Belgæ, Damnonii, Silures, Trinobantes, Iceni, Brigantes, etc.

The ancients received their first direct knowledge of Britain from Pytheas of Massilia, who landed on the island in the third century B. C. That the Phœnicians ever visited Britain is doubted by English scholars, who contend that they obtained their tin either from the rivers of Gaul, or from the Gallic tribes who imported it from Britain. With 55–54 B. C. The two expeditions of Cæsar, the actual history of Britain begins. The effect of the invasions was transitory.

43 A. D. Claudius began the conquest of Britain in earnest, and his generals reduced the country south of the Avon and Severn.

58. Revolt of Boadicea, leader of the Iceni; her defeat.

78–85. Agricola, under Vespasian and Domitian, carried the Roman arms far into Scotland and built a wall from the Frith of Forth to the Frith of Clyde as a defense against the wild tribes of the north. Henceforward Britannia formed a tolerably quiet part of the Roman empire. Roman fortresses, towns and villas covered its soil in profusion.

121. Hadrian built a wall from the Tyne to the Solway. In

139. Antoninus strengthened the wall of Agricola. In 210 Severus added new defenses to that of Hadrian.

180. Legendary conversion of Lucius, king of the Trinobantes, to Christianity, after which the new religion spread throughout the country, a church was organized and bishoprics founded at Canterbury and York (?).

With the decay of the empire its power in Britain declined. Troops were withdrawn to assist in defending the continental borders, or in supporting the claims of rival aspirants for the crown. During the third century the attacks of the Picts and Scots in the north grew more and more severe, while the southern and eastern coasts suffered from the ravages of the Frank and Saxon pirates. Count of the Saxon Shore, the officer in charge of the coast between the Wash and Southampton water, which was most exposed to these ravages. From 286–294 Britain was independent under Cerausius, who proclaimed himself emperor of Britain.

360. Scots from Ireland ravaged the western shores.

410. Honorius renounced the sovereignty of Britain. The withdrawal of the legions left Britain to her own resources. A period of civil dissension and exposure to foreign inroads followed, broken by the 411. “Alleluia Victory” of the Britons accompanied by St. Germanus, over the Picts. Finally the king of the Damnonii, Vortigern (Guorthigen), either by usurpation or election, obtained the sovereignty over a large part of the island, and, as the story goes, invited the invasion of the Teutonic conquerors (p. 176).

IRELAND.

Geography: Lying W. of Britain, Ireland is bounded on the E. by the North Channel, the Irish Sea, and St. George's Channel; on all other sides by the Atlantic Ocean. It is a low plain, fringed with hilly tracks upon the coast; abounding in lakes (Lough Corrib, L. Mask, L. Erne, L. Neagh, Lakes of Killarney, L. Dearg, L. Ree), and rivers (Boyne, Liffey, Barrow, Blackwater, Shannon).

Religion and Civilization: In Ireland as in Britain we find Celtic inhabitants, Celtic religion, and Celtic culture, but both in a still more primitive form than in England.

History. Between the numerous petty kingdoms established, incessant war prevailed, with the details of which the legendary history is filled. Tuathal (died 160 A. D.), a powerful king who reigned over Leinster and Meath, and warred with the rival kingdom or kingdoms in Munster, is probably historic. Ireland was never conquered, or even invaded, by the Romans, though Agricola had planned an Irish expedition. The Irish were converted to Christianity in the fifth century. Pelladius, sent to Ireland, 431 A. D., died soon after. St. Patrick (Succath or Maun), took up the work and brought it to a successful conclusion. Establishment of numerous monasteries, which in the next century attained wide renown for the learning of their members.

GEOGRAPHICAL SURVEY OF ANCIENT GREECE.¹

The peninsula of Greece (Hellas, ἡ 'Ελλάς) bounded N. by Macedonia and Illyria, and on all other sides by the sea (E. mare Ægæum, S. mare Myrtoum and mare Creticum, W. mare Ionium), is divided into four principal regions: Peloponnesus, Central Greece, Thessaly, Epirus.

A. Peloponnesus (ἡ Πελοπόννησος, Island of Pelops), connected with the mainland by the narrow Isthmus of Corinth, washed on the N. by the waters of the Corinthian Gulf, is divided into nine districts: 1. Achaia, formerly inhabited by Ionians, in twelve communities, or cantons. Ægium, capital of the confederacy, Patræ. 2. Elis or Eleia, in Æolic dialect, Välis, drained by the Alphæus and Penæus. It is subdivided into Elis Proper, or Hollow Elis: Elis and its harbor Cyllène, Pisatis: Olympia, not a city but a temple of Zeus, in a walled grove (Ἄλτις*), with places for games, altars, and various buildings, and Triphylia. 3. Messenia: Pylos, the home of Nestor, opposite the island of Sphacteria, Messène, built in 369 B. C., the hill fortresses of Ithome and Ira. 4. Laconia (Λακωνική), with the mountain range of Taygētus, ending in the promontory Tænārus: Sparta (Σπάρτη), on the right bank of the Eurōtas; north of Sparta, Sellasia; on the coast Helos, and Gythium the harbor of Sparta.

5. Argolis (τὸ Ἄργος, ἡ Ἀργεῖα) comprised many cantons, politically independent of one another: Argos, with its harbor Nauplia, on the gulf of Argolis, near by Tiryns, with Cyclopean walls, Hermione, Træzæn, Epidaurus, on the Saronicus sinus; inland, Mycenæ with Cyclopean structures. The Lion Gate, the so-called Treasure House of Atreus. 6. Phliasia: Phliūs. 7. Corinthia: Corinth, formerly Ephÿra with its citadel Acrocorinthus. 8. Sicyonia: Sicyon (Σικυών). 9. Arcadia, the mountainous region in the interior, with the ranges Cyllène and Erymanthus on the borders of Achaia; Mantinæa, Tegea, Megalopödis, the latter founded in 370.

B. Central Greece,¹ also divided into nine districts: 1. Megaris, since the Dorian conquest, belonging ethnographically and politically to Peloponnesus: Megära, and its harbor Nisæa. 2. Attica (Ἀττική) with the mountains Parnës, Brilissus (Pentelicus), Hymettus, and the promontory of Sunium, the rivulets Cephissus and Ilissus. Athens (Ἀθῆναι) with the Acropölis (Propylæa, Parthënon, Erechtheion), the fortified harbor of Piræus (Πειραιεύς), connected with the city by the Long Walls (τὰ μακρὰ τεῖχη; τὰ σκέλη), the two unimportant harbors Munychia and Zea and the open bay of Phaleron, which served as a roadstead. Attic demes: Eleusis, Maräthon, Decelæa, Phyle, etc. 3. Bœotia, with Mts. Helicon, and Cithæron, Lake Copaïs, traversed by the Cephissus; Thebes (ἐπτάφυλος), with its citadel the Cadmæa; Thespiæ; Leuctra; Platææ, which separated itself very early from the Bœotian league and allied itself with Athens; Haliartus, Coronæa, Orchoménos. On the coast; Aulis, Delium, and, not far distant, Tanægra. 4. Phocis: At the base of Mt. Parnassus, Delphi (Δελφοί), with the oracle of the Pythian Apollo, Crissa, with its harbor, Cirrha; Elatæa. 5. Eastern Locris: (Λοκροὶ ἡῤῥοί), for a time divided by a part of Phocis into the southern region of the Opuntian Locrians with the town Opus, and the northern of the Epicnemidian Locrians (i. e. they who dwell on the mountain of Cnemis) with the town Thronium. 6. Western Locris (Λοκροὶ ἐσπέραιοι, called by the other Grecians Λοκροὶ ὀσέλαι, "the stinking"). Amphissa, Naupactus. 7. Doris (Δωρίς), between the mountains Æta and Parnassus, the country of a small body of Dorians, who at the time of the Dorian invasion remained in the north, called from its four unimportant villages, the Tetrapolis. 8. Ætolia, Calydôn, Pleurôn, and Thermum (afterwards the place where the assembly met at the time of the Ætolian league). 9. Acarnania, with the promontory Actium; Stratus, near the river Achelous, (Ἀχελῷος) which separates Acarnania from Ætolia.

The religion of the early Greeks was a pantheistic nature-worship, distinguished among others by the multiplicity of its deities, and their intricate gradation, as well as by the wealth of biographical detail which the imagination of the poets provided for them. The great gods, Olympic deities, were 12 in number. Male divinities: Zeus "the God," lord of the sky, and ruler of all other gods as well as of men; Poseidon, god of the sea; Apollo, probably originally the highest god of some local district, the divinity of wisdom, of healing, of music and poetry, but not until later the sun-god; Ares, god of war; Hephæstus, god of fire, and of work accomplished by the application of fire, set apart from the other gods by his lameness; Hermes, god of invention, commercial skill, cunning, bravery. Female divinities: Hera, consort of Zeus; Athena, the maiden goddess sprung from the head of Zeus, the embodiment of wisdom and of housewifery; Artemis, goddess of hunting, afterwards connected with the moon, as her brother Phœbus Apollo, with the sun; Aphrodite, goddess of sensual love, probably introduced from the East; Hestia, goddess of fire, especially of the hearth-fire; Demeter, "earth-mother," presiding over agriculture.

In the lower rank of gods may be mentioned: Dionysius, god of wine and drunkenness; Hades, god of the lower world, the Graces, the Muses, the Fates, the Furies, etc. The fields and forests, the ocean and the rivers were crowded with Nymphs and Hamadryads, Naiads and Nereids, while creatures of a lower order, Satyrs (among whom Pan rose to the level of a god of the second rank) and monsters (Cyclopes, Gorgons, *Centaur*s, etc.) abounded.

Reverence was also paid to the heroes, ideal representations of famous men, real or imaginary. Such were Cadmus (Thebes), Theseus (Athens), and Heracles, the mostly widely known of all.

The gods were worshipped by invocation, and by sacrifices offered in accordance with a rigid ritual at altars which could be improvised anywhere. There were, however, permanent altars for all divinities, in temples where the statue of the divinity was also enshrined. These temples were frequently erected on lofty and commanding sites, and upon their construction and decoration was lavished the highest skill in architecture and sculpture. Brilliant coloring was also employed upon the temples. Each family, tribe and race, each city, district and country had its recurring festivals of special honor to the gods (Panathenæa at Athens). Religious festivals of all Greece: Olympian (Zeus) every fifth year, in July or August, at Olympia in Elis; Pythian (Apollo), every fifth (9th) year, at Delphi; Isthmian (Neptune), every five years on the Isthmus of Corinth; Nemean, every third year, at Nemæa in Argolis. These festivals were the centre of Grecian national life. Amphyctionic Council, the most important of the Amphyctionies (p. 51), a religious conference which met at Delphi, and represented the political side of the Pan-Hellenic religion. Consultation of oracles, for obtaining the counsel of the gods, especially at Delphi. Mysteries, or rites of secret religious societies, the most renowned at Eleusis. No hierarchy of priests; yet those who had charge of the sacrifices, and more especially of the oracles, often attained great influence.

Ideas of future life vague and unsatisfactory. The more advanced minds among the Greeks undoubtedly attained to the idea of the essential oneness of divinity.

GRECIAN HISTORY CAN BE DIVIDED INTO FOUR EPOCHS.

æ-1104 (?). I. Mythical period down to the Thessalian and Dorian migration.

1104 (?)-499. II. Formation of the Hellenic states. Period of constitutional struggles down to the Persian wars.

499-338. III. Persian wars and internecine strife for the hegemony down to the loss of independence at the battle of Charonæa.

338-146. IV. Græco-Macedonian or Hellenistic period down to the subjugation of Greece by the Romans. Destruction of Corinth.

FIRST PERIOD.

Mythical times, down to the Thessalian and Dorian migration (x-1104?).

Races: The problem of races in the Hellenic civilization is, like that of the pre-Hellenic culture, one admitting of considerable difference of opinion.¹ The Greeks state that the original inhabitants of their country were the Pelasgians. The meaning of this name is much disputed. It seems clear, however, that the original peoples belonged probably to the long-headed Mediterranean group and were akin to the Cretans of the Minoan Ages (p. 36). Traces of them survive in the pre-Hellenic place-names and in the Greek traditions.

About the middle of the third millennium there began a series of migrations from the north that finally resulted in the Greeks, or as they called themselves the Hellenes (Ἕλληνες), of classical times.² These peoples were largely round-headed Alpines from the Danube valley though there were present some of the long-headed Nordic type who possibly led the movements. By 2000 the first comers were firmly established throughout the peninsula. Their descendants, considerably mixed with the native inhabitants, were probably the historic Arcadians and Ionians. In Thessaly and Bœotia they remained in the Neolithic stage of culture, but in other places, notably the Argolid, they came into contact with the Ægean Bronze Age civilization and assimilated much of it. Some writers go so far as to attribute the high development of Ægean culture on the mainland, in the later Minoan Periods, to this Greek population, but others (especially Sir Arthur Evans) regard it as purely the work of conquerors from Crete.

A second migration is regarded by many as having begun about 1800 and brought the ancestors of the Achæans of historic times. The expansion of Mycenaean power and the violent destruction of the palaces of Knossos and Phæstos which took place during the fifteenth century is sometimes attributed to these invaders. Others maintain that no new race can be found till near the end of the Mycenaean Age.

The next, and last, great movement of the Hellenic peoples southward is known as the Dorian migration, another invasion of northern round-heads, and probably culminated about 1100; it may have begun as early as 1500.

The racial elements introduced by these migrations mingled freely with the Mediterranean stock of pre-Hellenic times so that the historic Greeks, like the modern English, were distinctly a people of mixed blood.

There were many curious but non-historic traditions among the Greeks as to the origin of their race.

² Græken (Graeci, Γραικοί) was the name given to the Greeks by the people of Italy; it was the name of a tribe in Epirus, or the Illyrian name for the Hellenes in general.

1193?-1184?. Trojan War.

The Trojan War is the most famous event in early Greek history. We shall here recite the familiar facts of the traditional story, and then give the view of modern scholarship.

Priam was king of Troy, or Ilium, in Asia Minor; his consort was Hecuba (Hecabe). Of his fifty sons the following appear in the legend: Hector (Ἑκτωρ), whose wife is Andromache, and Paris (Alexandros). The latter abducts Helena (Ἑλένη), wife of Menelaus, of Sparta. The noblest princes of Greece unite to bring her back. Agamemnon of Mycenæ, brother of Menelaus, and leader of the Greeks; Sthenelus of Tiryns; Nestor of Pylos; Achilles (Ἀχιλλεύς), king of the Myrmidons from Phthia in Thessaly, son of Peleus and the Nereid Thetis; Patroclus; Ajax (Atas), and Teucer, sons of Telamon of Salamis; the younger Ajax, son of Oileus, leader of the Locrians; Diomedes of Argos, son of Tydeus; Odysseus of Ithaca, son of Laërtes; Idomeneus, of Crete, grandson of Minos, etc.

Among the Allies of the Trojans from Asia Minor are: Sarpëdon and Glaucus, leaders of the Lycians, troops from Mysia, Mæonia (in Lydia), Paphlagonia, and Phrygia, also Thracians and Pæones from the other side of the strait.

Connected with the tale of the Trojan war, are the stories of the return of the Grecian princes. The murder of Agamemnon by his wife Clytemnestra and her paramour, and the vengeance of his children Orestes and Electra. The ten years wandering of Odysseus and his many adventures (Polyphemus, Lastrygones, Circe, Calypso, the Phæacians, etc.).

The historical kernel of this great Grecian legend is the fact of a military expedition of Grecian tribes against the Trojans and the conquest of Troy; the remainder of the story is probably mythical. Perchance the Æolian colonization of historic times (p. 49) and the ensuing contests with the native population gave rise to the romance of the Trojan war, which tradition then removed to the time before the Dorian migration. The prehistoric existence of a powerful city in the neighborhood of Troy, and its name Ἰλίου and Ἰλιον, is certain. This was proved by the archeological researches of Schliemann and Dörpfeld. Nine distinct cities have been uncovered on the site of Troy.

[The most plausible theory of the Trojan War is that set forth recently by Walter Leaf, who maintains, in his Troy: a Study in Homeric Geography, that it was caused by the Greek desire to destroy the Trojan control over the Straits and the trade route to the Black Sea, which had become obstructive to Greek commercial activity. — Editor.]

SECOND PERIOD.

From the Thessalian and Dorian Migration to the beginning of the Persian Wars (1104 (?)–499).

Migration of the Thessalians from Epirus to the valley of the Peneüs, thenceforward called Thessaly. Of the former inhabitants, Æolians, part became serfs (πενέσται), part fled the country. A portion of the latter conquered Bœotia. The previous inhabitants of Bœotia, probably Pelasgians, as for instance the Minyæ in Orchomenos, and the Cadmeans in Thebes, were partly subdued, partly scattered in various settlements. Their name is henceforward unknown to history.

The Dorians were likewise driven away by the Thessalians. They had inhabited the country about the Othrys and Ceta, and the small mountainous region where they maintained themselves after the invasion, and which was known as Doris. That portion of them which emigrated also took the southern way. Strengthened by Ætolian bands, they crossed to the Peloponnesus between Naupactus, where they constructed vessels, and the promontory of Rhion. This is the so-called 1104 (?).¹ Dorian migration, or the conquest of Peloponnesus by the Dorians and Ætolians, according to the story, under the leadership of the Heraclidæ (Temēnus, Cresphontes, Aristodēmus, descendants of Heracles).

The conquerors crossed the northern portion of the Peloponnesus without making a settlement, and turned towards the countries on the western coast. The inhabitants of these regions, the Epei, being subdued, the Ætolians established themselves here, and founded a new commonwealth, called Elis. Out of the mixture of the Ætolians and Epei, sprang the new tribe of the Elei. The Dorians passed through southern Arcadia, probably up the valley of the Alphæus, and established themselves in the south and east of Peloponnesus. The native population, consisting of Achæans and Æolians, were in part expelled, in part placed in subjection; while in some regions they gave up certain territories to the new-comers by treaty. The last was the case in Laconia, where the native chiefs made treaties with the invaders and thereby received for a time recognition of their princely rights and support in their supremacy.

So arose in Peloponnesus, one after another, but slowly and after much fighting and many revolutions, the following Dorian communities: 1. Messenia (Cresphontes); 2. Sparta (Procles and Eurysthēnes, sons of Aristodēmus); 3. Argos (Temenus), at first the most powerful state, at the head of a league, to which Epidaurus and Træzên, under their own rulers, belonged; 4. Phlius; 5. Sicyon; 6. Corinth, these three containing many of the old inhabitants, who lived among the new inhabitants under the same laws. Outside of Peloponnesus: 7. Megara; and 8. the island Ægina (Αἴγινα).

The remains of the old population, the Achæans, who were driven from their homes, expelled or subjugated the Ægialian Ionians, who inhabited the northern coast of Peloponnesus.

The whole region was henceforward called Achaia.

1068 (?). Codrus (Κόδρος), the last king of Athens, fell a voluntary sacrifice in battle against the Dorians.

According to the legend, Codrus was the son of the Nestorian Melanthus, who had fled from Pylos to Athens.

The immediate consequence of these migrations and conquests was the practice of colonization, on a great scale, which at first was carried on by the tribes which had been expelled from their homes, but in which the conquering Dorians soon took active part.

The Pelasgic population, driven from Thessaly, settled partly on the peninsula Chalcidice, partly in Crete, and partly on the coast of Mysia; the Minyæ from Ioleos, and Orchomēnos occupied Lennos, Imbros, Samothrace. More important were the 1000-900 (?) Æolian, Ionian, Dorian colonies which settled along the coast of Asia Minor and its islands.

Æolian and Achæan colonies: Mitylene and Methymna on the island of Lesbos; Cyme and Smyrna on the mainland of Asia Minor (Smyrna afterwards became Ionian).

The Ionians, who were driven away by the Achæans, fled first to Attica, but finally founded along the coast of Lydia 12 cities with a common sanctuary at Panionium on Mycæle, the most important of which were: Miletus, mother-city of more than 80 colonies, Ephesus, Phocæa (p. 26), Colôphôn, and occupied the islands of Samos and Chios.

Dorian colonies, along the coast of Caria: Halicarnassus and Cnidus. Dorians and Achæans founded settlements in Crete, Rhodes, where they gradually drove out the Phœnicians, in Melos and in Thyra, whence in 631 the colony of Cyrène was sent out to the north coast of Africa.

Constitution of society and government. During the heroic period, and at the beginning of historic times, we find everywhere a patriarchal monarchy, the hereditary property of families who derived their descent from the gods. In the historic times gradual formation in all states of a republican constitution, partly through the extinction, partly through the expulsion, of the old dynasties. This republican constitution was at first aristocratic; later, in most states, democratic, frequently reaching the latter state through the intervening supremacy of a Tyrant (Tύραννος), a name applied to every one who attained supreme power in an illegal manner, and originally not conveying the idea of an arbitrary or cruel government.

The democracy of antiquity was not, however, a form of government in which the majority of the inhabitants, but in which the majority of the citizens, took part in the conduct of the commonwealth. In most of the Greek states, the majority of the population consisted, not of citizens, but of slaves.¹ Democracies in the modern sense were almost unknown in ancient times.

In Doric Sparta the population consisted of three classes, strictly distinct from one another: 1. Spartiates (Σπαρτιᾶται, comprising ἄμιοι,

i. e. those having full rights, and ἱπομειλῶνες i. e. those of less means, who could not furnish the required contribution to the Syssites) divided into three Phylæ, each composed of 10 Obæ (ὠβαί); these were the Dorian conquerors, who occupied the fertile portions of the Laconian territory, the valley of the Eurotas, and the lowlands extending to the sea; 2. Lacedæmonians or Periæci (περίαικοι, i. e. they who dwell round about), descendants of those Achæans who had submitted to the conquerors by treaties. They were free, but payed dues, as tributary property-holders and small land-owners, and were without political rights, but were, however, bound to military service; 3. Helots (from ἑλωτες, "prisoners" ?), serfs of the state. They were divided among the Spartiæ by lot, and tilled their lands, paying to their lords a fixed portion of the harvest. The number of the Periæci was almost four times that of the Spartiæ, while the number of the Helots was, perhaps, from 2 to 3 times as great as that of the Periæci.

820 (?). Constitution and Laws of Lycurgus.

Lycurgus (Λυκοῦργος), according to tradition of royal descent, and guardian of the young king Charilaus, arranged the relation of the three classes, as described above, according to settled principles. His code of laws was for the Spartiæ alone. The form of government was an aristocratic republic, in spite of the two hereditary kings (generals, high priests, judges). Both kings must be of the Hæraclid race, one a member of the Agidæ (from Agis, son of Eurystheus), the other of the Eurypontidæ (from Eurypon, grandson of Procles; see p. 48). The Council of Elders (γερονσία, 28 Gerontes, at least 60 years of age, elected for life) under the two kings as presiding officers had: 1. the previous discussion of everything that was to be laid before the popular assembly; 2. jurisdiction over capital crimes. The popular assembly (ἀλία), consisting of all Spartiæ over thirty years of age, who had not lost their political rights, had no right of initiation, and decided without debate. At a later period the five Ephors, i. e. inspectors (for the 5 wards) who had probably existed before Lycurgus, acquired great power (p. 56).

Assignment of an hereditary landed estate to every Spartan family, which had lost its possessions since the conquest; equal division of the Helots, or slaves of the state, for the purpose of tilling these lands. No new division of all landed property.¹ (Tradition makes Lycurgus divide the land into 9000 (4500 ?) lots for the Spartiæ, and 30,000 for the Periæci.) Establishment of social unions or compulsory clubs (σκηναί), whose members ate together, even in time of peace: Phiditia or Syssitia. Children were brought up in common, and the young men of the Spartan warrior-nobles dwelt together. The Crypteia (κρυπτεία), an organized guard over the Helots by young Spartans. No actual hunting of the Helots.²

776. First Olympiad, that is, the first year in which the name of the Olympian victor was recorded. (The first was Coroibus.)

Olympian games (raised to greater importance since 820, by the participation of Sparta ?) ; Nemean games since 573, in honor of Zeus, Isthmean games (Poseidon, since 582), and Pythian games (Apollo, enlarged after 590). Oracle of Apollo at Delphi, founded, according to tradition, at the command of the god, by Cretans (i. e. Dorians) from Cnosus. Amphictyonies, societies for common worship (performance of sacrifices), the most important of which was the Delphic. 734. Traditional date of foundation of Syracuse.¹

743-724 (?). First Messenian war. Aristodemus king of the Messenians. Defence of Ithome. Those Messenians that did not emigrate became tributary. A part of the land was confiscated as conquered territory.

708. Foundation of Tarentum by the Spartan Phalanthus.

650 (?). Second Messenian war. Aristomēnes. Defence of Ira (Elpa), for nine years. The Athenian bard Tyrtæus accompanied the Spartans. After the fall of Ira the greater part of the Messenians fled to Sicily; Zancle, also, was occupied by them, but does not appear to have received the name Messana before the fifth century.² The remaining Messenians became Helots.

In Athens government of the nobles (Eupatridæ) since the death of Codrus (1068 ?). The chief officers of state were the Archons, at first (1067-753) chosen for life, from the family of Codrus exclusively, afterwards (752-683) elected for ten years, the first four only being of the family of Codrus, the rest taken from the Eupatridæ in general.

From 682 on there were nine archons chosen every year, and serving only one year, taken from the Eupatridæ alone, and chosen by them alone. These were: 1. Archon Eponymus (i. e. he from whom the year is named), the presiding officer. 2. Basileus, i. e. king of the sacrifices, high priest. 3. Polemarchus, at first leader of the army, afterwards, when the military command was entrusted to Strateges by turn, only superintendent of military affairs; the other six were Thesmothetæ, judges, heads of the department of justice.

Cir. 621. Laws of the Archon Draco. No alteration of the constitution, only reform of the criminal law, and the law relating to debts, introducing great severity, frequent use of the death penalty, and heavy fines. Hence later known as the "Law of Draco, written with blood."

632 or 628. Insurrection of Cylon, who, with the assistance of his father-in-law Theagēncs, tyrant of Megāra, seized the Acropolis. Cylon was driven into banishment by the Archon Megacles, of the family of the Alcmæonidæ, and his followers were put to death while clinging for protection to the altars. On account of this sacrilege the Archons for the year were banished. Religious purification of Athens by Epimenides of Cnossus.

Solon, of the family of the Nelidæ, gained great influence by the recapture of Salamis, which had been taken by the Megaræans, and through his share in the 600-590.¹ First sacred war against Crisa and Cirra, whose inhabitants had robbed the temple of Apollo in Delphi. The Amphictyonies destroyed both cities after a long contest; the inhabitants were enslaved and their land consecrated to the Pythian Apollo.

Growing dissatisfaction in Athens with the government of the nobility, and internal disorders. The citizens were divided into three parties: 1. The great land-owners of the plain (οἱ ἐκ τοῦ πεδίου), the Eupatridæ. 2. The peasants of the mountainous districts (δικῆριοι). 3. The inhabitants of the coast (πῆραλοι), a well-to-do middle class.

594. Solon, while Archon Eponymus, being authorized by a special enactment to negotiate between the aristocracy and the people, proposed and carried out at first the Seisachtheia (i. e. the removal of burdens), whereby debts secured by mortgage were reduced about 27% by the introduction of a new standard of coinage; the Attic or Eubæan talent ($1078.87) instead of the Aginetan talent ($1630.50); personal security for debts was abolished, and all money fines as yet unpaid were remitted. Amnesty for all who had been deprived of their political rights (ἄτιμοι). Return of the Alcmæonidæ.

The Constitution and Laws of Solon were established for the citizens (πολίται) only. Excluded from all political rights were: 1. The metœci (μέτοικοι, foreigners not citizens, but living in Athens under protection of the government), who were regarded in law as minors, and required to be represented by a patron (προστάτης) who was a citizen, in all legal transactions. 2. The slaves (δοῦλοι).

The two latter classes formed the great majority of the inhabitants. In her most prosperous days the citizens of Athens may be estimated at 90,000, the metœci at 45,000, the slaves at 360,000. So that in the period of most extreme democracy the sovereign people formed a small minority of the population.²

Division of all citizens, for purposes of military service and the exercise of political rights, into classes, according to income received from property in land, no regard being paid to movable property of any kind. The unit of measure was the medimnus (52.53 liter), for grain and vegetables; the metretes (39.39 liter), for wine and olive oil. The following four classes were formed:—

1. Pentakosiomedimni, men whose estates brought in a minimum of 500 medimni and metretes.

¹ According to Curtius, Hist. of Greece, I. 281. The date formerly accepted was 596-586.

² Cf. Schoemann, Antiq. of Greece, I. 348, 353.

2. Knights (ἵππεις), yield of estates 300–500 medimni.

3. Zeugitæ (i. e. they who work their land with one span of mules), yield of estates at least 150 medimni.

4. Thetes, comprising all who owned land yielding less than 150 medimni, or possessed no land, but were either day laborers in the country, or artisans, sailors, tradesmen in the city.

Taxation consisted in the duty of the citizens, as arranged in these four classes, to systematically supply ships, horses, and arms for military service. The members of the first three classes served as hoplites (ὀπλιταί), heavy armed foot-soldiers; members of the first two classes served also in case of need as cavalry, furnishing their own horses, while members of the first class furnished ships for the fleet at their own expense, for which purpose they were enrolled in 48 naucrariæ; the thetes were to be called upon to serve as light-armed foot, or upon the fleet, only to defend the country from invasion. There was no other regular taxation of citizens; state officials served without pay, and the other expenses of the commonwealth were covered by the yield of the mines, which were state property, by fines, by a poll-tax laid on the meteci, and by the harbor dues. When extraordinary taxes were necessary, they were adjusted on the basis of the classes described above, the fourth class, however, being exempt.

After the time of Solon, the nine archons were taken from the first class; every citizen had a vote in their election. The council (βουλή) of 400, formerly chosen from the Eupatridæ alone, was henceforward open to all citizens of the first three classes over thirty years old. The popular assembly (ἐκκλησία) consisted of all citizens over twenty years old.

The Areopagus (from Ἄρειος πάγος,¹ Hill of Ares, or Mars), the ancient court which had jurisdiction over murder and arson, and a general supervision over the entire administration of the state, was, after this time, composed of archons who had retired from office. Legal matters were adjusted by the heliasts (ἡλιασταί, so called from the halls, ἡλιαία, where they sat), bodies having something of the nature of both judge and jury, and consisting of citizens over thirty years old, chosen by the thesmothetæ, out of a list of 6000 citizens which was formed by lot.

This timocratic constitution of Solon paved the way from aristocracy to democracy. In itself it was essentially conservative, since the larger landed estates were nearly all in the hands of the nobles. Solon also established a code of laws for regulating the entire civil life, which was not completed until later.

Solon left Athens for ten years. Travels in eastern Asia, Crete, and Egypt. New party divisions in Athens. The nobles were led by Lycurgus; the middle class by the Alemæonid Megacles; the poorer classes by Pisistrātus, who, in spite of the opposition of Solon, who had returned to Athens and was now an old man, constantly gained new supporters, and finally made himself master of the Acropolis.

560-527. Pisistratus (Πεισίστρατος), tyrant of Athens.

Emigration of Athenian nobles, under Miltiades the elder, to the Thracian Chersonese. Solon left Athens again and went to Asia Minor. Legend of conversation with Cræsus in Sardis (see p. 26). He died at Soli, in Cyprus (?).

Pisistratus ruled in Athens under the forms of the Solonian constitution, which he did not revoke. He managed that the people should always choose archons who suited him. Driven out by a coalition of the nobles and the moderates, 559, he returned five years later (554). A second time exiled in 552, he again regained his power after eleven years absence, and ruled without further interruption from 541 to 527. New emigration of noble families, particularly that of the Alcæonidæ. Pisistratus conducted his government until his death, with mildness and wisdom, and bequeathed it to his son,

527-510. Hippias (Ἰππίας), under whom 519. Platææ seceded from the Bæotian League and entered into alliance with Athens. The Bæotians were defeated by the Athenians. Hippias conducted the government after the manner of his father, until his brother, Hipparchus, was murdered by Harmodius (Ἀρμόδιος) and Aristogiton (Ἀριστογείτων) in 514. (See Thucydides, VI. 54-59, where he criticises the traditional tale of Harmodius and Aristogiton.) Hippias took a cruel revenge, was driven out of the city by the exiled nobles (Clisthenes at the head of the Alcæonidæ) in connection with a Spartan army under Cleomènes. He took refuge with Darius, king of Persia.

509. Reforms of Clisthenes (Κλεισθένης), son of Megacles, grandson of Clisthenes, of Sicyon.

This was not only a change in the constitution, but a social reform as well. The constitution of Solon was not, however, repealed, but only further developed in a democratic manner, without as yet introducing equal political rights of all citizens. The Solonian arrangement of classes for purposes of taxation remained; the archonship was as before restricted to the first class, and membership of the council to the first three classes.

With the consent of the Delphic oracle, now indebted to the Alcæonidæ, for the erection of a new temple, the four old Athenian tribes (φυλαί), Geleontes, Hoplites, Argædeis, Ægicoreis, which Solon had left in existence, were set aside, and there were substituted for them ten new tribes, which were political and religious unions. These new tribes did not form connected territorial divisions.¹ Each tribe consisted of ten demes, or local communities, which, however, were not contiguous, but were scattered about the country and interspersed with demes belonging to other tribes. In all there were 100 demes, later 174. This arrangement was designed to break up the local influence of the aristocracy, and put an end to the old patriarchal condition of things, whereby only nobles and large land-owners

Henceforward every two demes formed a naucrary, which was expected to fit out and man a trireme (a vessel with three banks of oars); whereas the old division of Attica, made in 682, into 48 naucreries, had been based on the old politico-religious division into tribes and phratries. These phratries (φρατρίαι, 12), the subdivisions of the old tribes (φυλαί), were untouched by the reform of Clisthenes, but they were reduced to the condition of religious corporations for keeping lists of births, marriages, and deaths, but without political importance.

The council (Βουλή) was increased from 400 to 500 members, fifty for each tribe; and each of these sets of fifty presided in the council for the tenth part of a year (prytany, πρυτανεία); the members of these presiding committees of fifty were called prytanies. Instead of four popular assemblies in a year, as formerly, ten were held henceforward.

508. The Athenian nobility, headed by Isagōras, with the help of a Spartan army under Cleomēnes, brought about a short reaction. Clisthēnes fled; the Acropolis was delivered to the Spartans by a treacherous archon. A revolt of the Athenian populace compelled Cleomēnes to make a disgraceful capitulation: withdrawal of the Spartans without arms, and surrender of the leaders of the aristocracy. The latter were put to death, and Clisthēnes was recalled.

506. An expedition of the Spartans against Athens under their kings, Cleomēnes and Demerātus, at the head of their Peloponnesian allies, was broken up by the sudden withdrawal of the Corinthians and the lack of harmony between the Spartan kings. The allies of the Spartans, the Boeotians and the Chalcidians from Eubœa, were defeated by the Athenians. The latter conquered a part of Eubœa, and apportioned 4000 peasant holdings among Attic farmers, who retained their Athenian citizenship.

The Athenian democracy derived an accession of strength from a reduction in the powers of the archons. The place of holding the popular assembly was changed from the market-place (ἀγορά), where, according to a custom sanctified by its antiquity, the first archon presided, to the rocky hill of the Pnyx; and the duty of presiding in the popular assembly and in the council was fixed upon an officer (ἐπιστάτης), who was chosen by lot from the prytany, for the time being, and who was changed every day. This officer also held the keys of the Acropolis and of the archives. It is uncertain how far Clisthēnes had introduced the use of the lot, in selecting state officials (of course, only from the numbers of qualified candidates). Election of ten Strategi, one from each tribe, each of whom had by turns the chief command of the army, which formerly belonged to the archon polemarchus. The right of appeal from the decision of the thesmothetæ to the heliasts, which had been introduced before Solon for certain cases, was now extended to all cases. Establishment of the ostracism (ὀστρακισμός, used until 417), i. e. the power of the sovereign popular assembly to decree, by means of a secret ballot, with bits of pottery (δστρακα), the banishment of any citizen who endangered the public liberty, without process of law.¹

In Peloponnesus, during this period of internal development at Athens, Sparta had become the first power. Soon after the first Messenian war, an essential increase in the powers of the Ephors had taken place (under king Theopompus). About 560, another reform had been accomplished by the Geront Chilon, with the aid and religious consecration of Epimenides of Cnossus, which completed the aristocratic form of government at Sparta, and gave increased strength to the commonwealth. The Ephors received an extraordinary disciplinary power over every individual, not excepting even the kings. The power of the latter gradually dwindled to a shadow. After the victory at Thyræa (549), the power of Argos, which in the seventh century had again attained, under King Phidon, a transient increase, was broken, and the Argive league was dissolved. The Spartan state, which was everywhere the opponent of tyranny and the protector of republican-aristocratic governments, became the leader of a league of the Peloponnesian states, and claimed the Hegemony over all the Hellenic cantons.

THIRD PERIOD.

From the beginning of the Persian wars to the loss of independence by the Battle of Chæronea. 499–338.

499–449. Persian wars.

499–494. Revolt of the Ionian Greeks against the Persians (p. 28). The assistance rendered them by Athens and Eretria was the immediate cause of the attempt of the Persians to subjugate European Greece.

492–479. Attack of the Persians upon the Greeks.

492. First expedition of the Persians against Greece, under Mardonius.

The land force subdued the coast of Thrace; the fleet conquered the island of Thasos. Alexander, king of Macedonia, submitted voluntarily. The Persian army, surprised by a Thracian tribe, suffered great loss; the fleet was for the most part destroyed by a storm off the promontory of Athos. Mardonius thereupon decided to return.

Construction of citadels on the Thracian coast to serve as points of support in future campaigns: Byzantium, Sestos, Abdëra, received Persian garrisons.

491. The Persian heralds, who required signs of submission (water and earth), were sacrilegiously murdered at Sparta and Athens. The Cyclades and Ægina promised submission to Persia. The Athenians received from the Spartans Æginetan hostages.

490. Second expedition of the Persians against Greece, under Artaphernes (the young nephew of Darius) and an older general, the Mede Datis.

A fleet of 600 triremes and the same number of transports, with 100,000 infantry and 10,000 cavalry on board, crossed the Ægean sea. After destroying the city of Naxos, the Persians landed in Eubœa. The city of Eretria was stormed, and taken by treachery; those of the inhabitants who were not put to death were sent as prisoners to the great king at Susa. By the advice of Hippias (p. 54) the Persians landed on the east coast of Attica, and encamped in the vicinity of Marathon.

At Athens the entire military power of the city (9-10,000 Hoplites)¹ was called to arms under the ten Strategi of the ten tribes, among whom were Aristides, Themistocles, and Miltiades (the younger), who had been recalled from the Chersonese. The Athenians crossed the Brilessus and advanced to meet the Persians; they encamped in face of the enemy for nine days in a position strengthened by entrenchments, and whence they covered the road to Athens. Reinforced by 1000 Plateans, they attacked the Persians without waiting for the arrival of the assistance which had been sought from Sparta. It is probable that the Persians had at this time embarked a portion of their army, especially the cavalry, in order to attempt a second landing in the immediate neighborhood of Athens. After hard fighting the Athenians defeated the enemy in the 490. 12 September. Battle of Marathon, under the leadership of Miltiades.

The plan of the Persians to surprise Athens from the sea was prevented by a forced march of the army back to the city. The Persian fleet returned to Asia Minor. Hippias died in Lêmnos.

489. Ill-considered and unsuccessful attack of Miltiades, who had been clothed with unrestricted power as military commander, upon Parus. Miltiades, on his return to Athens wounded, was brought to trial at the complaint of Xanthippus, and condemned to pay the costs of the expedition, amounting to fifty talents, which sum was paid by his son Cimon, after the death of his father.

Aristides and Themistocles were now the leading statesmen at Athens. The latter devoted special attention to increase and improvement of the fleet, the necessity of which was proved to the Athenians by an unsuccessful war with Ægina, which occurred at this time, and for which they were obliged to hire ships from the Corinthians.² On the motion of Themistocles, the income from the silver works at Laurium were spent upon the fleet, and 20 triremes were built every year.

483. As the growing rivalry between Aristides and Themistocles endangered the commonweal, at the suggestion of the council the assembly decided between the two men by the ostracism (p. 55). Aristides was condemned to ten years' exile from Athens by more than 6000 votes.

Themistôcles urging the fortification of Piræus, a strong wall was built, the foundations of which are yet visible, which also enclosed the small harbors of Munychia and Zea on the southeast of Piræus. Radical reform of the naval department. The nauceraries (p. 55), which had not been able to furnish all the ships needed by the state, since the year 500 B. C., were dissolved, and their place supplied by a new arrangement known as the trierarchies. The building of ships and the supply of the more essential portions of their equipment were undertaken by the state; the completion of the equipment, the repairs, and the supplies of the crew, during service, of one ship was assigned as a service due the state (λειτουργία) to one well-to-do citizen, who in return was appointed trierarch, or commander-in-chief of the ship. Whereas in the nauceraries the expenses of the ships had fallen exclusively upon the Pentakosiomedimni (i. e. the large land-owners, p. 52), all citizens, whether land-owners or not, whose property exceeded a certain standard could be called upon for this purpose, and were entitled to the honor of the trierarchy.¹

481-480. Third expedition of the Persians against Greece, under Xerxes.

This expedition, planned by Darius, was carried out by his son Xerxes, after extensive preparations. Pisistratus, son of Hippias, and Demarātus, the deposed king of Sparta, accompanied Xerxes on the expedition.

Construction of a canal at Acanthus by the force on the fleet and the subject Thracians, to avoid the storms about Mt. Athos. Bridge over the Hellespont, between Sestos and Abydos, built by Phœnician and Egyptian laborers. Erection of large magazines in Asia Minor and on the coast of Thracia.

481. The troops from the eastern and southern parts of the empire assembled at Critalla in Cappadocia, whence they were conducted to Sardes by the king in person.

480. In the spring departure from Sardes (about 900,000 men). March through Mysia. Passage of the Hellespont, lasting seven days. March through Thrace and Macedonia. Passage of the fleet (more than 1300 triremes, among which were over 400 Grecian ships from Asia Minor) through the canal at Acanthus.

After the Greeks had given up the plan of defending the pass of Tempe, the Persian army traversed Thessaly without opposition. Not only the Thessalians, but also the Boeotian cities, with the exception of Plataea and Thespia, sent the king symbols of submission.

480. August. Battle of the Greeks under Leonidas, at Thermopylae (i. e. warm gates, a pass at the foot of Callidromus, near hot springs) against the army of Xerxes.

The Spartan king Leonidas, defended the pass of Thermopylae, with about 6000 Hoplites, among whom were 300 Spartiates, and 1000 Lacedæmonian Pericæci, against the overwhelming force of the Persians, while 1000 Phocians guarded the footpath over (Eta. The Persians, guided over this path by the traitor Ephialtes, drove back the Phocians and attacked the Grecian army in the rear. Leonidas ordered the Periæci and the troops of the allies to retire, and died a heroic death with his 300 Spartiate and 700 Thespians, who refused to leave him. The Thebans, who had fought under Leonidas against their will, laid down their arms; part of them were cut down: part branded, at the king's command, and sent back to Thebes. At the same time

480. Indecisive sea-fight at Artemisium, a promontory and temple at the northern point of Eubœa. During the first day about 280 Grecian ships, under conduct of the Spartan Eurybiades, fought against the Persian fleet, under Achæmènes, which was weakened through losses by storms, and the dispatch of 200 ships around the southern end of Eubœa. Night put an end to the indecisive battle. Loss of the 200 Persian ships which were sent around Eubœa.

On the second day the Grecian fleet, reinforced by 53 triremes, had a victorious contest with Cilician ships.

On the third day, also, the battle remained undecided, although the Persians attacked with their whole fleet.

On receipt of the news of the capture of the pass of Thermopylæ, the Grecian fleet hastened to the Gulf of Salâmis. The Peloponnesian army, having established itself on the isthmus, began the construction of a wall across the isthmus, instead of coming to the assistance of the Athenians.

Xerxes traversed central Greece, without meeting with resistance. Locrians and Dorians submitted. He ravaged the land of the Phocians, the detachment sent to Delphi was, however, driven back, with the help of a thunderstorm. Bœotia was treated as a friendly country. Thespiæ and Platææ alone were destroyed.

The Athenians abandoned their city, leaving only a garrison in the Acropolis. The fortifications of the Piræus being incomplete, the fleet conveyed the old men, women, and children, with all personal effects, to Salâmis, Ægina, and Argolis, in which latter place the Athenian children were provided with schooling at the expense of the inhabitants. Return of the exiles permitted. Xerxes entered the city, the Acropolis was taken by storm, the temples thereupon and the city burned to the ground.

480. 20 Sept. Naval battle of Salamis.

The Grecian fleet, now united and strongly reinforced (378 triremes, 7 fifty-oared vessels), was under the command of the Spartan Eurybiades. The Grecians, being through the contrivance of the strategus Themistocles, surrounded by the enemy and forced to fight, won a brilliant victory over the Persian fleet, which still numbered 750 (?) vessels. The island of Psytalæa, which the Persians had occupied, was recaptured by Aristides, who had hastened from Ægina to take part in the combat. The Greeks lost 40, the Persians 200, ships. The Persian fleet anchored in the bay of Phalæron. Retreat, not flight, of Xerxes. Mardonius was left in Thessaly with the best part of the army (260,000 men).

480. Nov. Xerxes, after suffering great loss through drought and lack of provisions, reached the Hellespont, where he found the fleet, which transported the army, the bridge having been carried away by storms.

The Grecian fleet, instead of pursuing the Persians, as Themistocles wished, laid unsuccessful siege to the city of Andros. The Athenians returned to their city, and at once began its reconstruction.

479. Fourth expedition of the Persians against Greece.

After Mardonius had in vain offered the Athenians, through Alexander of Macedonia, a separate peace with recognition of their independence, he entered Attica and advanced on Athens, strengthened by a reinforcement under Artabazus, and by contingents from his allies in northern Greece, Thessalians, Boeotians, a part of the Phocians, and the Argives. The Athenians, being a second time faithlessly left in the lurch by the Spartans, retired again to Salamis. Whatever had been rebuilt in the city, the Persians destroyed. Finally the whole Peloponnesian force of 30,000 hoplites and twice as many light-armed troops having crossed the isthmus, Mardonius retired, and took up a favorable position in Boeotia on the Asopus. More than 10,000 Athenians, Platæans, and Thespians joined the Hellenic army. Pausanias was the leader of the Spartans and of the whole force. He commanded the most imposing army that Hellas had ever seen. The Hellenes, however, had no cavalry.

479. August. Battle of Platææ.

After long delay and much marching back and forth, Pausanias, who had twice entrusted the most dangerous positions to the Athenians under the command of Aristides, decided to retreat without offering battle; being, however, attacked by Mardonius and compelled to defend himself, he fought bravely at the head of the Peloponnesians, and, being well supported by the Athenians, gained a decisive victory. Mardonius fell. Rout of the Persians; their camp captured by the Greeks.

The Grecian army advanced before Thebes; the leaders of the Persian party were given up, and executed on the isthmus.

At the beginning of the campaign against Mardonius a Grecian fleet under the Spartan king, Leotychidas, — Xanthippus commanding the Athenians under him, — had been dispatched to patrol the Ægean Sea. At the call of the Samians the fleet sailed for Asia Minor, and took the offensive against the Persians.

479–449. Offensive war of the Grecians against the Persians.

The Persian admiral, Mardontes, distrusting the Greeks of Asia Minor, who were in his fleet, did not venture to accept the naval battle offered him near Samos. He beached his fleet at the promontory of Mycæle, opposite Samos, and entrenched himself. The Grecian marines landed, and utterly defeated the Persians in the

479. Battle of Mycale

(on the day of the battle of Plataeæ ?), captured the camp and burned the Persian ships. Several of the island cities, particularly Samos, Lesbos, and Chios, and afterwards the Grecian coast towns of Asia Minor, joined the Hellenic league. The Peloponnesians returned home; the Athenians and Ionians conquered Sestos in the Thracian Chersonese.

Rebuilding and enlargement of Athens, which, in spite of the objection of the Peloponnesians, was surrounded with strong walls. (Stratagem of Themistöcles.) Completion of the fortification of Piræus, where a large city grew up.

478 (?). Reform of Aristides, from which dates the real supremacy of the democracy in Athens. The state offices were opened to all four classes alike (pp. 52, 53).

Under the command of Pausanias, the united fleet of Peloponnesians, Athenians, and Ionic Greeks of Asia Minor conquered Byzantium, and acquired a rich booty. The overbearing demeanor of Pausanias toward the other members of the league, and the winning manner of the Athenian leaders, Aristides and Cimon, brought it about that after the recall of Pausanias by the Ephors 478-477. The Hegemony (chief conduct of the war) was transferred from Sparta to Athens, and a Hellenic confederacy (symmachy) was formed, the political head of which was Athens, and whose religious centre was the temple of Apollo in Delos, where the treasury of the league was also established. The smaller states contribute money only, instead of furnishing contingents of ships.

Rivalry between Themistöcles and Cimon. The supporters of the latter procured the ostracism of Themistöcles. He retired to Argos. While there suspicion attached to him of being implicated in the treasonable intrigues of Pausanias. The latter, threatened with imprisonment by the Ephors, took refuge in the temple of Athēna at Sparta, and there died of starvation (467 ?). Themistöcles, driven from Argos, went to Coreyra, thence to Epirus, and finally to Susa, where he offered the Persian monarch his services against his native land. Artaxerxes I. (p. 28) gave him a princely domain in Asia Minor, where he died (460).

After the retirement of Aristides from political life, and his death, which occurred soon after (467 ?), Cimon became the leader of the Athenian commonwealth. He began the construction of the two long walls (τὰ σκέλη), one of which connected the city with Piræus, and the other with Phaléron.¹

Cimon, the victorious leader of the fleet of the league, captured those places on the Thracian coast which were still occupied by the Persians (Eion, 469); chastised the pirates of Scyra, and carried the bones of Theseus to Athens; captured Naxos, which had revolted

464. Earthquakes in Sparta; insurrection of the Laconian helots, a portion of whom joined the Messenian helots and occupied Ithōme.

464-456. Third Messenian war, in which the Spartans were forced to implore the help of Athens, which was furnished at the instance of Cimon, but was afterwards sent back by the suspicious Spartans (461). The Athenians, offended, allied themselves with the Argives, the principal enemies of the Spartans in the Peloponnesus.

In Athens, rivalry between Cimon, head of the aristocratic party, and Pericles, the son of Xanthippus, leader of the democracy. The latter party succeeded in establishing the payment of citizens serving in the army, or as judges, and the bestowal of alms of the state upon the poor at festivals out of the public treasury. The beginning of the decline of the Athenian democracy.

The Athenians sent aid to the Egyptian rebel Inārōs (p. 28) against the Persians. The expedition came to an unfortunate end, the Athenian army being surrounded on one of the islands of the Nile, and compelled to surrender.

463-461. The law of Ephialtes took from the court of Areopagus the censorship over the state, which had been intrusted to it by Solon (p. 53), and limited its sphere of action to its judicial powers.

461. After this democratic victory Cimon was banished from Athens by ostracism.

About this time (between 460 and 454), the treasury of the confederacy was transferred from Delos to the Acropolis of Athens. The contributions of the members of the league thereby acquired the character of a tribute paid to the Athenians. The confederates became for the most part subjects of Athens, which became the capital of a great coast and island empire.¹

459. Megara, threatened by Corinth, Ægina and Epidaurus, was placed under the protection of the Athenians, who connected Megara with its port, Nisæa, by long walls.

458. The Athenians, after suffering a defeat in Argolis, gained two battles at sea over the allied Corinthians, Epidaurians, and Æginetans; blockaded Ægina, and energetically defended Megara. This great development of power, on the part of Athens, caused a 457-445. War of the Spartans and Boeotians against Athens.

A Spartan army under Nicomedes, the guardian of the young king Plistoanax, had been sent to Central Greece to protect the Dorian tetrapolis against the attacks of the Phocians, who were compelled to give up their conquests. The Spartan army, cut off from a return over the isthmus by the Athenians, retired to Bœotia, where it assisted the Bœotians against Athens.

457. Battle of Tanagra, a Spartan victory, which they neglected to utilize. They concluded an armistice with Athens and returned to Sparta.

Very soon the Athenians again invaded Bœotia, defeated the Thebans at Enophyta (457), and replaced the aristocratic governments in most cities by democratic, which were friendly towards Athens. The Phocians and Opuntian Locrians joined Athens. Egina was forced to surrender to the Athenians after a long siege, gave up its ships of war, and became tributary (456). The Athenians laid waste the coasts of Laconia, and conveyed the Messenians, whom the Spartans had granted a free departure from Ithôme, to Naupactus (p. 43), where they formed a settlement. Reconciliation between Pericles and Cimon; the latter recalled after an exile of nearly five years (454). The influence of Cimon brought about an 452-451. Armistice between Athens and Sparta for five years, and a new naval expedition against the Persians. Cimon conducted 200 ships to Cyprus. He died during the siege of Citium. After his death his fleet gained a brilliant victory over the Persian (i. e. Phœnician, Cilician) fleet, and the hostile troops on the land in the double 449. Battle of Salamis (Σαλαμίς) in Cyprus.

New party struggles in the Bœotian cities. The aristocrats, who had been driven out by the Athenians, returned; the Athenians, called to the assistance of the democrats, were defeated at Coronea (447). The old aristocratic constitutions were restored, not only in Bœotia but also in Locris, Phocis, and Megara, which became free from the supremacy of Athens. After the expiration of the five years' armistice the Spartans sent an army under their young king, Plistoanax, to Attica, in order to assist the Eubœans in a revolt against the Athenians. Pericles bribed the advisers of the young king and secured the withdrawal of the army; then hastening back to Eubœa with an Athenian army, he subdued the island anew (446). Second assignment of Eubœan lands to Athenian citizens.

445. Thirty years' peace between Athens and Sparta. By this peace, or more properly armistice, the Peloponnesian and Athenian leagues acknowledged themselves to be two distinct and independent confederacies.

About this time, or at least after the death of Cimon, negotiations for peace were opened between Athens and Persia, and an Athenian embassy under Callias was sent to Susa. No formal peace, however, was concluded, but peaceable intercourse under a tacit recognition of existing political relations gradually took the place of a state of war. The Athenians gave up Cyprus and sent the Egyptian rebels no further aid. They continued to control the Ægean Sea, and the Grecian coast towns of Asia Minor were mostly their allies or subjects, — in any case, practically free from the Persian sceptre. The so-called peace of Cimon, wherein the king of Persia is said to have formally acknowledged the independence of the Greeks of Asia Minor, and promised to send no more ships of war into the Ægean, would seem to be the invention of a later time.¹

442. At Athens Thucydides (the son of Melantias, not the historian of the same name), became the leader of the aristocratic party. His party attempted to secure the ostracism of Pericles, but when the votes were counted it was found that Thucydides was banished.

444-429. Athens under the administration of Pericles, who, although never archon, conducted the government of the city by his influence in the assembly, and in his official capacity as strategus, as superintendent of the finances (Tamias or Epimeletes), and as superintendent of public buildings and other public works.

440-439. Revolt and subjugation of Samos.

443. Foundation of Thurii in Southern Italy on the ruins of Sybaris.

446. Foundation of Amphipolis on the Strymon. Completion of the fortifications of Athens by the construction of a third long wall, parallel with the first leading to the Piræus (p. 61). Magnificent buildings, especially on the Acropolis: the Hall of the Caryatides in the Erechtheion, the Propylæa, the Parthenon, or Hecatompædon, the bronze statue of Athena Promachos, a colossal figure over 50 feet high.

By the Age of Pericles is commonly understood the whole time of his political activity (461-429), or even the entire period from the Persian expeditions to the Peloponnesian war. This was the most brilliant epoch in the history of Athens, not only in its political power, its trade and commerce, but in art and literature. The tragic dramatists: Æschylus, 526-455; Sophocles, 496-405; Euripides, 480-406; later the comic dramatist, Aristophanes 456 (?) - 380? The historians: Herodotus of Halicarnassus, 484-424?; Thucydides, 470-400? The sculptor: Phidias; the architects Ictinus, Callicrates, and Mnesicles; the painter Polygnotus. The philosophers, Socrates, 469-399, Zeno of Elea, Anaxagoras, Protagoras. Aspasia of Miletus.

431-404. PELOPONNESIAN WAR.

Causes: Envy of the Dorian confederacy at the power of Athens, the ambition of the Athenians, and the discontent of those of their allies who had been reduced to subjects.

Immediate causes: 1. The interference of Athens in the war between Corcyra and Corinth (435-432), which had broken out concerning Epidamnus (afterwards Dyrrhachium) in Illyria, a colony of Corcyra. The democrats of Epidamnus, hard pressed by the exiled nobles in alliance with Illyrian barbarians, implored aid from their mother city Coreyra in vain, but obtained help from Corinth, the mother city of Coreyra. Enraged at this, the Coreyreans took sides with the aristocracy of Epidamnus, defeated the Corinthians at Actium (435), and captured Epidamnus. Corinth and Coreyra vied with one another for help from Athens. The Athenians decided in favor of Coreyra, and took part at first with 10, afterwards with 30, ships in the battle of Sybbōta (433), between the Corinthians and Coreyreans, wherein the Corinthians, at first victorious, afterwards retired before the Athenians. 2. The inhabitants of Potidæa, a Corinthian colony on the peninsula of Chalcidice, revolted from the Athenian league (432), and received support from Corinth. The Corinthians were, however, defeated by the Athenians at Olynthus, and Potidæa was surrounded and besieged.

The Corinthians, supported by the Megareans, who (since 432?) had been excluded from all Attic harbors and markets, and by the Æginetans, entered a complaint against the Athenians at Sparta. The popular assembly at Sparta having voted that the Athenians had broken the treaty, the Peloponnesian Congress resolved on preparation for war.

Military power of both parties: Achaia and Argos remained neutral at first. The Peloponnesians were joined by the Megareans, Bœotians, Opuntian Locrians, Phocians. Independent allies of the Athenians: Platææ, Coreyra, Zacynthus, Chios, Lesbos, Thessalians, Acarmanians. The Athenian league, including almost all the islands and coasts of the archipelago and the regions beyond, had been transformed, by naval stations and garrisons, into an extensive empire.

431. The war¹ began with the surprise of Platææ by the Thebans. The gates were opened by treachery; but the Thebans were driven out of the city; many were captured or cruelly slaughtered.

431-425. Five invasions of Attica by the Peloponnesians, 4 under the Spartan king Archidāmus, the 5th under Agis. While the Athenian fleet laid waste the coasts of Peloponnesus, the inhabitants of Attica took refuge in Athens, Piræus, or encamped between the long walls. The Æginetans were entirely driven away from their island by the Athenians, and their land divided among Athenian citizens. The country around Megūra was harried by an Athenian army.

430. A pestilence resembling the plague broke out at Athens, of which

In the spring of this year capture of Potidæa. *Cleon*² came forward as the leader of the democratic party; the head of the aristocratic party was Nicias.

- 428. Revolt of Mytilène in Lesbos (Methymna remained faithful to the Athenians). Before the arrival of the help promised by the Peloponnesians, Mytilène was compelled to surrender by the Athenians under Paches. The Athenian assembly decreed that all citizens of Mytilène should be put to death, a sentence which on the following day was restricted to the aristocrats. More than a thousand were slain, the city was razed, and the land on the island, with the exception of the territory of Methymna, divided among Athenian citizens.
- 427. Platœa forced to surrender. The survivors of its brave defenders, 225 in number, were executed by the Spartans. Bloody party contests in Corcyra, where victory at last remained with the democrats. Successful expedition of the Athenians under Demosthènes to assist the Acarnanians against the Ambraciots, who received help from the Peloponnesians.
- 425. Demosthènes landed in Messenia and fortified the ruined fortress of Pylos. The Spartans under Brasidas occupied the island of Sphacteria, opposite Pylos. The Athenian fleet under Nicias cut off their retreat. Spartan envoys in Athens offered peace, but their proposals were rejected at the instigation of Cleon, who, being appointed by the people strategus in place of Nicias, took Sphacteria by storm, and brought 292 of the enemy, among whom were 120 Spartiate, with him to Athens. The Athenians threatened to put the prisoners to death whenever the Peloponnesians should invade Attica again.
- 424. The island of Cythera occupied by the Athenians. From Cythera and from Pylos, to which latter place the Athenians conveyed Messenians from Naupactus, the Laconian territory was harassed incessantly. The Athenians invaded Bœotia, but were defeated by the Bœotians at Delium (Socrâtes, Alcibiâdes). Expedition of the Spartans under Brasidas by land to Macedonia and Thrace, with the design of putting an end to the supremacy of the Athenians there. Revolt of several towns from Athens; Brasidas captured Amphipolis, on account of which the Athenian general Thucydides (the historian), who lay with a squadron at Thasos, was banished. concluded for fifty years. Both sides restored conquests and prisoners, a condition which was, however, but imperfectly executed. Although Sparta even entered into alliance with Athens to force this peace upon their confederates, the war broke out again in three years, when Alcibiades persuaded the Athenians to join the league which Argos had formed with several Peloponnesian states, in order to oppose the oppressive ascendancy of Sparta. The united Argives and Athenians were defeated in the 418. Battle of Mantinea.

By this victory the Spartans regained their supremacy in Peloponnesus.

416. The Athenians captured Melos and put all the citizens to death.

415-413. Expedition of the Athenians against Syracuse,

Suggested by the request of Egesta for help against Selinus and Syracuse (Hermocrates), which was granted by the advice of Alcibiades. A fleet of 134 triremes, carrying 36,000 men inclusive of sailors, among which number were 5100 hoplites,¹ sailed for Sicily under Alcibiades, Nicias, and Lamachus. After the occupation of Naxos and Catana, Alcibiades was recalled to answer to a charge of participation in a sacrilege (mutilation of the Hermæ, ridiculing the Eleusinian mysteries). He went to Argos, was condemned to death in his absence, and his property was confiscated. Seeking revenge on his enemies, he forthwith went over to the side of Sparta.

414. Nicias gained a victory before Syracuse and besieged the city with some success. Death of Lamachus. At the advice of Alcibiades, the Spartans sent a small fleet under Gylippus to the assistance of Syracuse. The Athenians attacked the city

413. by storm, and were repulsed. They suffered from sickness and want. Reinforced by 73 triremes and 5000 hoplites under Demosthenes, they were nevertheless defeated in two naval battles in the harbor of Syracuse; their fleet was surrounded; the

413. remnants of their army on the retreat by land (on the Assinarus) were in part cut to pieces, in part captured. Nicias and Demosthenes were executed in Syracuse; 7000 prisoners were sent to the quarries (λατομιαί).

413. By the advice of Alcibiades the Spartans occupied and fortified the village of Decelæa in Attica. The last nine years of the Peloponnesian war are therefore known as the 413-404. Deceleian war.

The Spartans made forays from Decelæa into all parts of Attica.

Distress of the Athenians, flight of slaves, financial difficulties of the government. The influence of the aristocratic party revived. Establishment of a new board of ten councillors (πρόβουλοι).² Regulation of the finances. Renewed preparations for war. Alcibiades induced Chios, Erythræ, Clazomænæ, and Miletus to revolt. He was instrumental in forming an alliance between the Spartans, who declared their willingness to abandon to the Persian king all Greek cities formerly subject to him, and the Persian satrap, Tissaphernes, who paid a subsidy to the Spartans. A new Athenian fleet appeared off the coast of Asia Minor and defeated

412. the Peloponnesian fleet near Miletus, but was prevented from taking the city by a squadron from Syracuse. The Athenian fleet, increased to 104 ships, anchored off Samos. Alcibiades, being suspected and maligned by the Spartans, went to Tissaphernes, over whom he soon exercised great influence. At the same time he intrigued with the oligarchs in the Athenian army, whom, however, he only kept in suspense and finally deceived. In the mean time

411. the oligarchs overthrew the democratic constitution at March. Athens by a coup d'état. A new oligarchical council of 400 citizens was established; the popular assembly was limited to 5000 members; the payment of all state salaries, with the exception of the pay of citizens serving in the army, was abolished. The oligarchy entered upon negotiations for peace with Sparta, and endeavored to break up the new order of things by executions and banishments. Their rule, however, was of short duration. The army before Samos refused to recognize the alteration of the constitution; elected new leaders (Thrasylbulus) and recalled Alcibiades, who assumed command, but refused to lead the fleet against the oligarchs in Athens, and insisted that it should remain in the face of the enemy. At Athens the oligarchical rule of the new council of 400 was broken after it had lasted four months without direct interference on the part of the army; the old council of 500 was reestablished; the popular assembly remained limited to 5000 members (until 410?). The abolition of salaries was not repealed.

The Spartans broke off all connection with Tissaphernes, and entered into alliance with Pharnabazus, satrap of Bithynia.

The Athenians under Thrasylbulus defeated the Peloponnesian fleet under Mindarus and Pharnabazus in the June. The sentence of Alcibiades was repealed, and he was appointed commander by land and sea, with unlimited power. He guarded with the army the festal procession to Eleusis, which had been for a long time discontinued. Alcibiades conducted the Athenian fleet to Asia Minor. The Spartan, Ly-sander, had in the mean time assumed the command here, and the brother of the future king of Persia, Artaxerxes II., the younger Cyrus (son of Darius II.), a friend of the Spartans, had become satrap of Asia Minor. While Alcibiades was engaged on a foraging expedition in the country around Phocæa, the Athenian fleet was involved by the junior commanders in an engagement, and defeated by Lysander in the 407. Battle of Notium, in the gulf of Ephēsus.

On account of this misfortune, Alcibiādes was deposed from his command. He retired to the Hellespont, and died in 404.

The new Spartan admiral Callieratides, surrounded the Athenian fleet under Conon at Mytilōne. The Athenians with the greatest exertions fitted out a new fleet, which hastened to the aid of Conon. The united Athenian fleet completely defeated the Peloponnesians in the great April. The walls of Piræus, and the long walls between the city and the harbors, were torn down. All ships of war but twelve were delivered to the enemy. The democracy was overthrown, and the government entrusted to thirty men of the oligarchical party.

404-371. Second Hegemony of the Spartans.

404-403. Government of the so-called Thirty Tyrants, of whom the best known is Critias, at Athens.

The Thirty, instead of forming a new constitution, endeavored to secure the permanent control of the state, and to strengthen their power by receiving a Spartan garrison in the Acropolis, and by numerous executions. At last, one of the Thirty, Theramēnes, was put to death at the instance of Critias. Thrasybulus assembled the democratic fugitives in Phyle, defeated the troops of the Thirty, and seized Piræus; Critias was slain. Ten more moderate oligarchs took the place of the Thirty. Through the mediation of Pausanias, king of Sparta, an understanding was reached between Thrasybulus and the oligarchs in Athens. The remainder of the Thirty were put to death. General amnesty. Reestablishment of a moderate democracy. The government was rearranged by the revision of the laws made by Euclides (403).

399-387. War between the Spartans and Persians. The Persian satrap, Tissaphernes, attempted to punish the Greek cities of Asia Minor for their share in the expedition of the younger Cyrus. The Spartans came to the aid of the cities, at first under Thibron, then under Dercyllidas, finally under Agésilæus. The latter forced his way into Asia and defeated Tissaphernes, who was executed by command of his successor, Tithraustes. Persian gold produced the

394. Battle of Coronea in western Bœotia. Conon and the Persian satrap Pharnabâzus plundered the coasts of Laconia. Conon rebuilt the (2) long walls with Persian money. After some years of fighting, in which Iphicrâtes and Chabrias were the Athenian leaders, the

387. Peace of Antalcidas was concluded between the Grecian states and the Persians. It took its name from the Spartan admiral who was sent as envoy to Susa. The Grecian cities of Asia Minor and the islands of Clazomenæ and Cyprus were abandoned to the Persians. The Athenians retained control of Lêmnos, Imbros, and Scyros only; all other states and islands were to be independent under Spartan and Persian guaranty.

379-362. War between Thebes and Sparta, caused by the occupation of the Cadmæa in Thebes (383) by the Spartan Phæbidas, who was urged to take this step by the aristocratic party in Thebes, as he was conducting an army through Bœotia against Olynthus.

The Theban democrats had taken refuge in Athens, whence under Pelopidas they liberated Thebes in 379 and compelled the Spartans to withdraw from the Cadmæa. Cleombrôtus and Agésilæus were dispatched to Bœotia, but met with little success. The Spartans attempted to surprise Piræus. This induced the Athenians to enter into open alliance with Thebes. They founded a new confederacy (symmachy), embracing seventy communities, under more just conditions than those of the first league (378). The Spartans were repeatedly defeated at sea by the Athenians Chabrias, Phocion, and Timothæus. Peace between Sparta and Athens. Cleombrôtus invaded Bœotia anew, but in the 370. First invasion of Peloponnesus by the Thebans, under Epaminondas and Pelopidas in order to protect the Arcadians, who had revolted from Sparta. Megalopolis founded. An attack by the Thebans on Sparta proved unsuccessful, but they ravaged Laconia and proclaimed the independence of the Messenians. Foundation of Messene. The Athenians came to the aid of the Spartans. Retreat of the Thebans.

369. Second Theban invasion of Peloponnesus.
367. Third invasion. Sicyon revolted from Sparta. The third invasion produced a momentary alliance of Achaia and Thebes. The Corinthians and Phliasiens concluded peace with Thebes. In the north the Thebans sent several expeditions against the tyrant Alexander of Phæra for the liberation of the Thessalians. On the second expedition Pelopidas was captured, but soon set free by Epaminondas; on a new expedition he fell as victor at 364. Cynocéphale (κυνὸς κεφαλαί).

Fourth expedition of the Thebans against Peloponnesus. Epaminondas fell in the 362. Battle of Mantinea as victor against the Spartans and their allies (among others 6000 Athenians).

General peace between the Grecian states, which the Spartans alone refused to accept, not being willing to acknowledge the independence of Messenia. Agésilæus went to Egypt to the assistance of the rebels under Tachos, whose fleet was commanded by the Athenian Chabrias. Agésilæus died on the voyage home (360).

Rise of the Macedonian power.

359-336. Philip (Φίλιππος), son of Amyntas, had passed three years (368-365) in Thebes as a hostage, and had there learned to appreciate Grecian culture and military science through intercourse with Epaminondas and other men of note. After the death of his brother, Perdiccas, he succeeded him as king of the Macedonians at the age of twenty-three. Gifted with courage and a clear political insight, he strengthened the royal power in a country torn by party strife, defended the borders against the restless Pæonian and Illyrian tribes, and established a standing army (Phalanx). After he had given his own state a firm organization, he turned his attention to extending his power along the Thracian coast, and by cunning trickery encroached on the Athenian territory. He captured Amphipolis (357), Pydna, Potidæa, gained possession of the Thracian mines, concluded an alliance with Olynthus against the Athenians, and founded Philippi.¹

- 357-355. Social war of the Athenian league against Athens.

Since 378 Athens had regained much of her former influence. It was speedily lost. Chios, Cos, Rhodes, and Byzantium revolted. Chabrias perished in the harbor of Chios. Iphicrætes and Timothæus, leaders of the Athenians. The latter were forced to acknowledge the independence of their former allies.

- 356-346. Second Holy War against the Phocians, who had been condemned by the Amphictyonic council to pay an enormous fine for having used the holy land of Cirrha (p. 52), which was consecrated to the Delphian Apollo. The Thebans managed to have the collection of the fine entrusted to themselves.

The Phocians plundered the temple of Delphi and were thereby enabled to maintain by means of mercenary troops a long and dubious war against Thebans, Locrians, and Thessalians. Leaders of the Phocians, Philomelus († 354), Onomarchus, his brother Phayllus, and son Phalæcus. After a long contest Onomarchus fell (352) in battle against Philip of Macedonia, whose entrance into central Greece was prevented by an Athenian army at Thermopylæ. At a later period Philip was called upon by the Thebans for assistance against the victorious Phalæcus. The Phocians forced by Philip, who had subdued the Thessalians and secured Thermopylæ, to lay down their arms; their cities were deprived of their walls by a decree of the Amphictyonic council; the inhabitants were separated into villages, and made tributary to the Delphian god. Philip was elected to the Amphictyonic council in place of the Phocians.

Philip, whose power had steadily increased, had been at war with Athens since his occupation of Amphipolis. In Athens Demosthenes (383–322), since 351, when he delivered his first Philippic, was the soul of an organization of a national opposition to the threatening power of Macedonia.¹

Olynthus, having revolted from Philip and made peace with Athens, was hard pressed by the king, and begged aid from Athens. The three Olynthiac orations of Demosthenes. Before the arrival of the Athenian assistance Philip captured Olynthus by treachery and destroyed the city (348), as well as a large number of smaller places in Chalcidice, and sold the inhabitants as slaves.

The opponents of Demosthenes, Eubulus and Æschines (Ἀισχίνης). Formation of a Macedonian party in Athens. Negotiations with Philip, which, in spite of the opposition of Demosthenes, led to the shameful peace of Philocrates (346), which left all conquests in the hands of the king. A complaint being entered at Athens by Hyperides against Philocrates, he went into exile. Demosthenes lodged a complaint against Æschines, who was declared not guilty (343).

Philip endeavored to extend his power to the Propontis and the Pontus Euxinus, and founded numerous colonies in Thrace (Philippopolis). The national party at Athens succeeded in forming a league of Hellenic states (among others Megara, Achaia, Corinth), under the lead of Athens against Philip. The king besieged Perinth and Byzantium in vain. The Athenians declared war against him, sent a fleet and an army to Byzantium, and forced him to raise the siege. Athens derived her supply of grain from the countries on the Black Sea; hence her sensitiveness in regard to Byzantium, which was the key to the Euxine.

339–338. Third Holy War (against Amphissa). At the instigation of Philip (Æschines) the Amphictyonic council had decreed the punishment of the Locrians of Amphissa for having occupied some ground which was consecrated to Apollo. Philip, entrusted with the execution of the sentence by the Amphictyons, seized Elatea, which commanded the entrance to Bœotia. Great dismay in Greece. The Athenians fitted out a fleet and an army at the instance of Demosthènes, who went in person to Thebes and induced the Thebans to form an alliance with Athens. The allied Thebans and Athenians were defeated in the Philip punished the Thebans severely and placed a garrison in the Cadmœa; to the Athenians he granted a favorable peace. Peace of Demades. He advanced into Peloponnesus, took a large part of her territory from Sparta, and divided it among the Messenians, Argives, and Arcadians.

Macedonian Hegemony. At a national assembly at Corinth, where the Spartans only did not appear, Philip caused himself to be chosen leader (with dictatorial power) of the Grecian forces against the Persians (στρατηγὸς ἀποκράτωρ τῶν Ἑλλήνων). In other respects the Grecian cantons were to retain their autonomy; a congress (συνέδριον) at Corinth should adjust their differences.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Græco-Macedonian or Hellenistic Epoch down to the Subjugation of Greece by the Romans (338-146).

After the murder of Philip, who was on the point of beginning the war against Persia, by Pausanias (336), the Macedonian throne was occupied by his son, who had been educated by Aristotle (Ἀριστοτέλης, 384-322), and was now 20 years old.

336-323. Alexander the Great (Ἀλέξανδρος).¹

He forced the Greeks to transfer to him the Hegemony and the command against the Persians, quickly reduced the revolted Thracians (Triballians), Getæ and Illyrians in the north, appeared on the news of a Grecian uprising (of the Athenians and Thebans) for the second time in Greece, defeated the Thebans, destroyed Thebes with the exception of the house of the poet Pindar (522-442 ?), and sold the inhabitants as slaves. The terrified Athenians submitted and were pardoned. Antipater left as vicegerent in Macedonia. In 331 revolt of the Spartans put down by Antipater in the bloody battle of Megalopolis, where 5000 Spartans, under their king Agis II., met a heroic death.

tific expedition, and a journey of discovery. Alexander crossed the Hellespont at Abydos with 30,000 infantry and 5000 cavalry (generals: Perdiccas, Clitus, Parmenio, Hephestio, Craterus, Ptolemæus, Antigonus), defeated the Persian satraps and Memnon, leader of the Grecian mercenaries of Darius, completely in the 334. Battle of the Granicus (a rivulet in Troas).

Rescue of Alexander by Clitus. Advancing through Mysia and Lydia, Alexander proclaimed the freedom of the Grecian cities and islands from Persian rule, conquered Miletus and Halicarnassus, and traversed Caria and Lycia. Prevented from advancing further by the steep mountains, he went northward through the land of the Pisidians to Phrygia by way of Celæne, Gordium (the Gordian knot), and through Cappadocia to Cilicia (bath in the Cydnus). At Tarsus he was taken ill, but speedily recovering (potion of the physician Philippus) he passed through the Syrian Gates to Myriandrus on the coast in Syria. Meantime the Persian king, Darius III. (p. 29) had approached from the Euphrates with a large army and got to the rear of the Macedonians. On hearing this, Alexander turned back from Syria and gained a brilliant victory over the Persians in the 333. Battle of Issus, in Cilicia.

Nov. An immense number of Persians fell; the rest were captured or scattered. Darius escaped, but his mother, his wives, and daughters fell into the hands of the victor.

In order to completely destroy the Persian power at sea, Alexander conquered Syria, Phœnicia, where he besieged Tyre for seven months, and Palestine, advanced into Egypt without opposition, and went from Pelusium to Memphis. Foundation of Alexandria on a well-chosen site. Expedition across the Libyan desert to the oracle of Zeus Ammon in the oasis of Sivah. Leaving Egypt, Alexander passed through Palestine and Syria by way of Damascus, crossed the Euphrates at Thapsacus, traversed Mesopotamia, crossed the Tigris, and defeated the Persian army, which outnumbered his own 20 times, in the 331. Battle of Gaugamela or Arbela (τὰ Ἀρβέλα),

Oct. not far from the ruins of Nineveh. While Darius fled northward, Alexander crossed the Tigris a second time, entered Babylon without resistance, traversed Babylonia, crossed the Tigris a third time, captured the capital of Persia, Susa in Susiana, and traversed Persis. Capture of Pasargadæ and Persepolis.

In the spring of 330 Alexander set out in pursuit of Darius. Crossing Media to Ecbatāna in the north, he hastened through the Caspian gates to Parthia. There, in the neighborhood of Hecatompylos, Darius Codomannus was murdered (330) by the satrap Bessus, who fled to Bactria and assumed the royal title. After an expedition northward to Hyrcania against the Grecian mercenaries, Alexander traversed Parthia toward the east, turned southward, for the purpose of punishing an insurrection of satraps, and crossed Aria and Drangiana. In Prophthasia discovery of the conspiracy of Philotas, who was condemned by the army and executed; his father, Parmenio, was put to death in Ecbatāna (330) at Alexander's command.

Alexander now crossed Arachosia in a northeasterly direction, crossed the Paropanisus (p. 24), or Indian Caucasus, in the spring of 329 (foundation of a new Alexandria), advanced into Bactria, pursued Bessus, who had retreated beyond the Oxus, but was delivered to Alexander, and ultimately crucified. Alexander went northward as far as the Jaxartes (the modern Sir Daria), where he founded Alexandria Eschāta; after some short expeditions against the nomades (Seythians) on the other side of the Jaxartes, he remained for some time in Sogdiana (murder of Clitus in 327 in Maracanda, now Samarcand), after which he went to Bactria. Marriage with Roxana, daughter of a Bactrian prince. Alexander began at this time to adopt oriental clothing and customs.

327. Expedition of Alexander to India.

Having once more crossed the Paropanisus, Alexander, after sharp fighting with the mountain tribes, reached the Indus, crossed it, and entered the Punjab (country of five rivers). In alliance with the Indian prince Taxiles, at the

326. Battle of the Hydaspes (Vitastā, now Ihelum)

he defeated Porus, and took him prisoner, treated him, however, with magnanimity, and replaced him on his throne as a dependent prince.

Foundation of Nicea and Bucephāla. Alexander went eastward as far as the Hyphasis (Vipācā, now Vjāsa, or Beyas), when the Macedonian soldiers refused to go farther, and compelled him to return to the Hydaspes. Construction of a fleet of some 2000 (?) ships, which conveyed a portion of the army down the Hydaspes to the Acesines (now Chenab), while the remaining part (with 200 elephants) marched along the shore. Contest with the Malli. Alexander's rash bravery and severe wound. After his recovery the fleet and army proceeded, and finally reached the junction of the united Punjab rivers with the Indus. In 325 army and fleet went down the Indus. Cratērus returned to Persis with a part of the army by the short route to the west. Alexander continued with the fleet and land force to the delta of the Indus, where the fleet under Nearchus entered the Indian Ocean. Ebb and flow of the tide. Nearchus coasted to the west, and discovered the entrance to the Persian Gulf, while Alexander conducted the rest of the army through the desert of Gedrosia (Baluchistān). After terrible suffering and severe loss he arrived in Carmania, met Cratērus, and later Nearchus on the coast. The latter was dispatched to discover the mouths of the Tigris and Euphrates.

324. Return of Alexander to Persis; arraignment and punishment of the avaricious and cruel governors who had given up the king and his army for lost. Arrival in Susa. Here Alexander disclosed his great plan of Hellenizing the East, uniting the victor and the vanquished into one great nation and founding a great Macedonian-Persian universal empire on a basis of equality of the Græco-Macedonian and the Oriental population. Marriage of Alexander with the eldest daughter of Darius III. and the youngest sister of Artaxerxes III., while Hephestion took to wife the youngest daughter of Darius III. Eighty Macedonian officers married Persian ladies of good family, and in consequence of rewards offered by the king, 10,000 Macedonians took Persian wives. Great plans for opening commercial relations with other nations and for the construction of roads on a large scale. Alexander, as successor of the Great King, required to be worshipped as a divinity.

324. A mutiny of the Macedonian army at Opis on the Tigris was July. quelled by Alexander's courage and wisdom. The veterans were disbanded after receiving great rewards and sent to Macedonia under Cratærus, while Antipater was to bring new troops thence. Death of Hephestion. Alexander undertook the exploration of the Euphrates.

323. Death of Alexander the Great,

- June. at Babylon, which he had destined for the capital of the new empire.

These long and complicated contests, which broke out immediately after the death of Alexander, destroyed the newly founded universal empire, but carried on successfully in another way the work which Alexander had begun of Hellenizing the east, and spreading Grecian language and culture (Hellenistic language, ἡ κοινὴ διάλεκτος), so that the new Persian empire which afterwards grew up on this ground was very different from the old Persian monarchy, and a worthy rival of its great opponent, the empire of Rome.

Perdiccas became regent in Asia for Alexander's half brother Philip Arrhideus and his posthumous son by Roxana, Alexander. Antipater and Craterus shared the regency of the west. The other generals received lieutenancies: Ptolemæus, Egypt; Antigonus, Pamphylia, Phrygia and Lycia; Eumenes, Alexander's secretary, Paphlagonia and Cappadocia, which however he had first to subdue; Cassander, Caria; Leonnatus, Phrygia on the Hellespont. The plan of Perdiccas, who married Alexander's sister, to make himself king, caused a league of the other generals against him. Perdiccas was murdered by his own troops while on an expedition against Ptolemæus (321). The new regent, Antipater, made a new assignment of the lieutenancies, wherein Seleucus obtained the satrapy of Babylon. After the death of Antipater (319) a war followed between his son Cassander, and the aged Polyperchon over the regency. Antigonus, in league with Cassander, was victorious in Asia over Eumenes, who was betrayed by his own soldiers and whom he executed, while Cassander was victorious in Europe (316). Lysimachus made himself master of the lieutenancy of Thrace.

Antigonus wishing to bring the whole empire under his sceptre, a

315-301. war broke out between Antigonus and the other generals, in the course of which Antigonus and his son Demetrius Poliorcetes (Πολιορκητής) assumed the royal title (306). Their example was followed by Seleucus, Lysimachus, Cassander. During this period, a time abounding in horrors, every member of the royal family of Alexander perished, mostly by murder. His ambitious and cruel mother Olympias was condemned to death at the instance of Cassander, and stoned by the relatives of her own victims.

After a long contest attended with varying success, the war against Antigonus was ended by the 301. Battle of Ipsus (Ίψος in Phrygia).

Antigonus fell, his son Demetrius fled and led for many years an adventurous life as a pirate.

In Europe the war still lasted. After the death of Cassander (297), his two sons quarreled about the succession. Demetrius took the opportunity to seize the supreme power in Macedonia and Greece. He lost his power indeed through arrogance and desire for conquest after a reign of seven years, but his son Antigonus Gonatas after a changeful career gained permanent possession of Macedonia (277).

Thus after many divisions and the formation of many sovereignties of but short duration, there grew up out of the Macedonian-Persian universal empire, five monarchies, of decidedly Hellenistic character, in which Greek was the language of the court and the government, of inscriptions and coinage, and of the educated classes, and in some of which Grecian art, literature and learning reached a high development. Nevertheless, these five monarchies, from their formation to their fall, bore the imprint of the deepest moral decay. These five states, to which we must add the republic of Rhodes and the Grecian Cantons, were :

1. Egypt under the Ptolemies or Lagidæ with its capital at Alexandria.

Ptolemæus I. (323-285), called Sotēr, i. e. saviour, because he sent aid to the Rhodians, or Lagi, i. e. son of Lagus, founder of the kingdom. Ptolemæus II. (285-247) called Philadelphus from being the husband of his sister Arsinöe; foundation of the museum with the Alexandrine library. Ptolemæus III. (247-221), called Evergētēs, i. e. benefactor, by the priests, temporary conquest of Caria, Lycia, Cilicia, Cyprus. Ptolemæus IV., Philopater (221-205), decline of the power of the monarchy. Ptolemæus V., Epiphānes (205-181); Egypt becomes dependent on the Romans.

2. Syria, under the Seleucidæ. Capital at first Seleucia, on the Tigris, afterwards Antiochia on the Orontes.

Seleucus I. Nicator (312-281), founder of the kingdom. Antiöchus I. Sotēr (281-261). Antiöchus II. Theos (261-246). Seleucus II. (246-226). Seleucus III. (226-222). Antiöchus III. the Great (222-187). Defeated at Magnesia (190) by the Romans, Antiöchus was compelled to accept a peace, which struck the kingdom of the Seleucidæ from the roll of the great powers.

The following states separated themselves from the Syrian realm of the Seleucidæ, and did not belong to the Hellenistic system of states.

278. a. The confederacy of the Galatians (p. 39) in Asia Minor, between Bithynia, Phrygia, Lycaonia and Cappadocia, founded by Gallic tribes, who, during the wars of the Diadochi, had ravaged Macedonia and Greece, crossed the Hellespont and in 278 settled in Asia Minor. They consisted of the three tribes of Trocmi, Tectages and Tolistoboi (each under four Tetrarchs) with the three capitals Tavia, Ancyra and Pessinus. In the first century before Christ, Deiotarus became king of all Galatia, which Augustus made a Roman province.

250. b. The Parthians (p. 29) who under the Arsacidæ (250 B. C. to 226 A. D.) conquered all lands between the Euphrates and the Indus, and formed a dam, in the east, first against the Hellenistic and afterwards against the Roman power.

167. c. The Jews under the Maccabees (p. 17).

The two following countries were never dependent on the empire of the Seleucidæ.

a. Pontus, which had, it is true, submitted to Alexander the Great, but was recognized as independent under its own kings of Persian descent (of the Achæmenidæ it was claimed, p. 25), by the victors at Ipsus (p. 77). The last kings were Mithridates VI. the Great, and his son Pharnaces (see Roman History, Fourth Period, p. 129).

b. Armenia, although kings of Armenia first appear after the battle of Magnesia (190).

3. The kingdom of Pergamon under the Attalidæ, Capital, Pergamus in Mysia.

Founded by Philetærus (283-263) who had been appointed governor by Lysimachus. Eumenes I. (263-241). Attalus I. (241-197). Eumenes II. (197-159), founder of the library of Pergamus. Attalus II. (159-138). Attalus III. (138-133), who bequeathed the kingdom to the Romans.

4. Bithynia. Capital, Nicomedia.

Founded by Nicomêdes I. (277-250?). Zeilas (250-228?). Prusias I. (228-183), with whom Hannibal took refuge. Prusias II. (183-149). Nicomêdes II. (149-91). Nicomêdes III. (91-75), who bequeathed the kingdom to the Romans.

5. Macedonia under the descendants of Demetrius Poliorcetes. Capital, Pella.

Antigonus Gonatas (277-239). Demetrius II. (239-229). Antigonus Doson (229-220). Philip V. (III), (221-179) defeated by the Romans at Cynoscephalæ (197). Perseus (179-168). After the battle of Pydna (168) Macedonia became a dependency of Rome, in 146 it was made a Roman province (p. 122).

6. The island of Rhodes (Ῥόδος), since the battle of Ipsus (301) an independent state; since the second century (B. C.,) dependent ally of the Romans ; made a province by the Emperor Vespasian, 71 A. D.

7. The Greek cantons, under the lead of Athens, made a futile attempt, immediately after the death of Alexander the Great, to throw off the Macedonian yoke. From the city of Lamia in Thessaly, in the neighborhood of which the war was principally waged, it was known as the 323-322. Lamian War.

The Greeks were at first successful under Leosthēnes, and defeated Leonnātus, but were defeated by Antipāter and Cratērus at Crammon, south of the Penēus. The cantons submitted one after another. The Athenians were compelled to receive a Macedonian garrison in Munychia and to give up their democratic constitution. (Phocion and Demādes, the political leaders). Citizenship was regulated by a property census. Demosthenes fled and took poison on the island of Calauria (Argōlis). During the war between Cassander and Polysperchon (p. 76) the democratic party regained its supremacy in Athens, and Phocion was executed ; later, however, Demetrius of Phaleron, the political companion of Phocion, became under Macedonian supremacy, the ruler of the Athenian commonwealth (317-307). In the course of the wars of the Diadochi Demetrius Poliorcetes gained possession of Athens several times and made the Acropolis the scene of the greatest debauchery (307-295). The last attempt to throw off the Macedonian yoke and regain its old importance in Greece was made by Athens under Glaucōn and Chremonīdes in 263 B. C. but it was defeated after a three years' war and continued to be tributary to the Macedonians. Thenceforward Athens had no political influence in Greece ; it retained, however, its autonomy as regarded its municipal administration, and continued to be the seat of culture and learning.

Thessaly, during this period, was a Macedonian province ; Epirus was for a time a separate state, afterwards it was allied with Macedonia. Most of the cantons of central Greece and Peloponnesus became allies, more or less dependent, of the Macedonian sovereigns. The complete subjugation of Greece by Macedonia was prevented by the 280. Ætolian League founded about 280, and the Achæan League which was renewed at the same time.

The latter grew to considerable power and acquired the hegemony in Peloponnesus after it was joined by Sicyon (251) which was freed from its tyrants by Arātus, and by Corinth (243), which Arātus had freed from the Macedonian garrison.

Jealous of this hegemony the Ætolian League and Sparta, which had completely lost her ancient simplicity of life, and was in the hands of a wealthy oligarchy, joined forces against the Achæan League. The young king Agis IV. paid with his life for his attempt to induce a reform of the Spartan state (241 ?). A similar attempt made by King Cleomēnes III. had better success, though for a time only : he caused the ephors to be surprised and put to death, banished eighty oligarchs, and established a reformed constitution. Cleomēnes conquered Argos and Mantineā, and waged successful war against the Achæan League. Arātus sought aid against Sparta from the Macedonian king Antigōnus Doson, and delivered the Acropolis of Corinth into his hands.

The Spartans were defeated in the 221. Battle of Sellasia (in Laconia).

Cleomēnes escaped by flight and died in Egypt (220). The Macedonians entered Sparta, restored the oligarchy and forced upon the Spartans an alliance with the Achæan League, now under Macedonian Supremacy. The latter was immediately afterwards involved in a war with the Ætolian League, during which the Spartans took sides against the Achæans, and Peloponnesus was horribly ravaged (220-217).

About this time the Ætolian League formed an alliance with the Romans against Philip V. (III.), of Macedonia, who was allied with Hannibal. (First Macedonian war, see Roman history, third Period, p. 116).

Philopœmen, who has been called "the last of the Greeks," became Strategus of the Achæan League in 207, and defeated the Spartans under their tyrant, Machanidas, in the 206. Battle of Mantinea, and slew the tyrant. In the second Macedonian war (see Roman history, p. 118) the Achæan League likewise joined the Romans against Philip V. (III.), who, after the battle of Cynoscephalæ (197), was forced to abandon the hegemony of Greece. The Romans proclaimed the freedom of all the Grecian cantons, but they gave support everywhere to that party which devoted itself to the advancement of Roman interests, and caused themselves to be frequently appealed to as arbitrators.

After the death of a second Tyrant of Sparta, the cruel Nabis, Philopœmen humbled the Spartans again, and forced them to reënter the Achæan League, but was soon after taken prisoner and put to death in a war against the Messinians, who had revolted at the instance of Deinocrates (183). After the death of Philopœmen, decline of the power of the Achæan League, which made a final exertion in the so-called Achæan war against the Romans, which ended with the Defeat of the Greeks at Leucopetra, on the isthmus, and the 146. Capture and destruction of Corinth.

The Corinthians were sold as slaves; a part of their land was given to Sicyon; the rest became the property of the Roman state. The remaining Greek cantons were treated with kindness, and for the most part retained their own administration and jurisdiction, but were subject to the Roman governor of Macedonia. It was not until later (27) that Peloponnesus and Central Greece seem to have become a Roman province under the name of Achaia.

§ 3. ROMAN HISTORY.

GEOGRAPHICAL SURVEY OF ANCIENT ITALY.

(See Kiepert, Atlas Antiquus, Tab. VII., VIII., and IX.)

Italia was first used as the general name of the larger part of the peninsula, which is traversed by the Apennines and extended to the Macra and Rubicon, since the middle of the third century before Christ; as applied to the whole peninsula, as far as the Alps, Italia was first employed in scientific usage by Polybius (about 150); it was not used officially and in a political sense, until after the time of Augustus. It was divided into Upper Italy, Central Italy, and Lower Italy.

I. Upper Italy, traversed by the Padus (Po), and the Athēsis or Atāgis (Adige, Etsch), and containing the lakes, Lacus Verbānus (Lago Maggiore), Lacus Lariūs (L. di Como), and Lacus Benācus (L. di Garda), comprised the following three districts which, before Augustus, were not reckoned a part of political Italy: 1. Liguria, Vercellæ (Vercelli), Taurasia, later Augusta Taurinorum (Torino, Turin), Genoa (Genōva); 2. Gallia Cisalpina, also called togata, in distinction from transalpine Gaul, which was known as Gallia braccata, divided by the Padus (Po) into: a. Gallia transpadana, Comum (Como); Mediolānum (Milano, Milan); Ticinum (Pavia), on the Ticinus, a branch of the Po; Cremōna, on the Po; Mantua, on the Mincius, a branch of the Po, near which was the village of Andes, the birthplace of Virgil; Verōna, on the Athēsis. b. Gallia cispadana: Piacentia (Piacenza), at the junction of the Trebia and the Padus, Mutina, (Modēna), Parma, Bononia (Bologna), Ravenna, in ancient times a seaport. 3. Venetia: Patavium (Padua), birthplace of Livius, Aquileia.

II. Central Italy, lying between the little rivers Macra and Rubicon in the N., Silārus and Frento in the S., was usually divided into six districts: Etruria, Latium, Campania, on the Mare Tyrrhēnum, or Infērum; Umbria, Picenum, Samnium, on the Mare Adriaticum or Supērum. The Tiber, running from N. to S., divided Etruria on the right, from Umbria and Latium on the left bank. The name of Samnium is, however, more correctly applied to the southern inland district of Central Italy, so that the Sabellic tribes, who were related to the Samnites and Picentes, formed geographically a separate seventh group, under which were included the Vestini, Marrucini and Frentani, extending to the Adriatic coast, and the inland districts of the Sabines, Peligni, and Marsi.

1. Etruria, inhabited by the Etruscans (Rasenna), or Tuscans, in twelve communities under kings or Lucumos. These formed a confederacy, whose federal constitution seems to have been exceedingly loose. The most important places in Etruria were, from N. to S.: Pisæ, Volaterræ, Arretium (Arezzo), Cortōna, Perusia (Perugia, west of which Lake Trasimenus), Populonia, on the coast, Clusium (Chiusi), Volturni, Tarquini, Falerii, Cære, Veii.

2. Latium. In the smaller district of the Latini: Roma, on the left bank of the Tiber (a part of the modern city, Trastevere and Borgo, is on the right bank, but the principal part of the city is still on the left bank), traditionally said to be built on seven hills (montes: Capitolinus, Palatinus, Aventinus, Caelius, Esquilinus; colles: Viminalis, Quirinalis).¹ On the southern summit of the Mons Capitolinus the Capitolium with the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus, and the Tarpeian Rock; on the northern summit, separated from the southern by the Intermontium, the Arx with the temple of Juno Moneta. At the foot of the Capitol, the Forum Romanum (the market-place), consisting of the Forum proper, and the Comitium, with the speakers' platform (Rostra, named from the prows of the ships from Antium) between the two. In the last century of the republic the forum was surrounded by temples and basilicas (e. g. Basilica Julia). The imperial forums were not open places, but masses of buildings and columned porticos. The Palatinus with the palaces of the emperors; E. of this, the Amphitheatrum Flavium (Colossæum, for 80,000 spectators). N. from the Capitolinus to the Tiber lay the field of Mars, Campus Martius, during the republic an open field used for military practice, athletic sports, and political gatherings, after Cæsar and during the imperial period covered with splendid buildings, now the centre of the modern city. The buildings on the right bank of the Tiber did not belong to the Urbs proper. They were situated partially on the Mons Janiculus, partially on the Mons Vaticanus, where the Vatican and the church of St. Peter now stand; eastward stood, by the Tiber, the Mausoleum Hadriani, where the Castle of St. Angelo now stands. Finally must be mentioned the island of the Tiber. Sixteen great artificial roads ran from Rome in various directions: Via Appia and Via Latina to the S., Via Valeria to the E., Via Flaminia to the N., Via Aurelia to the W., etc.

Ostia, the harbor of Rome, on the left bank of the Tiber, existed at the time of the kings; under the emperors a second harbor, Portus, on the right bank of the Tiber. Laurentum, Lavinium, Ardæa, Suessa Pometia, Aricia (on the Via Appia), Velitræ not far distant, Alba Longa on the slope of Mt. Albanus, near the lake of Albania, Tusculum (near the present Frascati), Gabii, Tibur (Tivoli) on the Anio, a branch of the Tiber; Fidenæ, north of Rome, south of the brook Allia.

In the land of the Æqui, Præneste (afterwards a Latin city again). In the land of the Hernicæ, Anagnia. In the land of the Volscii, Fregelle, Arpinum, the birthplace of Marius and Cicero; on the coast, Antium and Tarracina (Anxur), south of the Pomptine marshes. In the land of the Aruncii: Fornicæ, Minturnæ, on the Liris (Gari-gliano); Suessa (Aurunca), near the Mons Massicus and the Ager Falernus (famous wines).

3. Campania, traversed by the Volturnus (Volturno), with the mountains Gaurus and Vesuvius near Naples. Two bays separated from one another by a rocky isthmus: Sinus Cumanus (Bay of Naples), and Sinus Pæstanus (Bay of Salerno). Along the coast: Liternum; Cumæ (Κύμη, founded by a colony from Chalcis in Eubœa in 1050 ?); Misœnum near the promontory of similar name; Puteoli (Puzznoli); Baiæ near lake Lucrinus, famous as a watering place; Parthenope or Palæopolis, the oldest part of Neapolis (Νεάπολις, Napôli, Naples); Herculanœum and Pompeii, buried in 79 A. D. by lava and ashes from Vesuvius; Salernum on the Sinus Pæstanus, the chief city of the Picentes who had been transferred thither. Inland: Capîa (not the modern Capua, but Santa Maria Maggiore), with an immense amphitheatre; Nola.

4. Umbria. On the coast: Ariminum (Rimini), Pisaurum, Sena Gallica (Sinagaglia). Inland: Sentînum, Iguvium, Spoletium.

5. Picenum. Ancona on the coast; Asculum Picenum.

6. Samnium (in the wider sense, see p. 81). In the land of the Sabini: Amiternum, birthplace of Sallust; Cures, Reate. In the land of the Pæligni: Corfinium; Sulmo, birthplace of Ovid. In Samnium proper: Bovianum; Æsernia; Beneventum (Benevento), former Malventum; Caudium, in the neighborhood of the Caudine Pass (Furculæ Caudinæ).

III. Lower Italy, also called Greater Greece, Magna Græca (Ἑλλάς ἡ μεγάλη), was divided into four districts: Apulia, Calabria in the east, Lucania and Bruttium¹ in the west.

1. Apulia: Luceria, A(u)scûlum Apûlum, Cannæ, Venusia, birthplace of Horace, near Mt. Vultur. 2. Calabria: Brundisium (Brindisi), the port of departure for Greece; Tarentum (Τάρας, see p. 51). 3. Lucania: Pæstum (Posidonia, Ποσειδωνία), with notable ruins of temples; Metapontum; Heraclæa (Ἡράκλεια). 4. Bruttium: Sybâris (Σύβαρις), destroyed in 510, by the Crotonians; Thurii afterwards built in its neighborhood (see p. 64); Croton (Κρότων), not far from the promontory of Lacinium; Locri Epizephyrii (Λοκροὶ Ἐπιζεφύριοι); Rhegium (Ῥήγιον, i. e. rent, from ῥήγνυμι, the present Reggio). Consentia (Cosenza on the river Busento).

Italian Islands.

Sicilia (Σικελία), separated from Italy by the Fretum Sicûlum (Strait of Messina), formerly called Sicania, also Trinacria, with its three capes, or promontories: Pelorum in the north, Pachynum in the south, and Lilybæum in the west. On the eastern coast from north to south: Messâna (formerly Zancle, p. 51), Tauromenium (Taormina), Catâna (Catania) at the base of Ætna, Syracusæ (Συράκουσαι, Siragossa, see p. 51), at the time of its greatest extent comprising five cities: Ortygia, situated on an island, and hence also called Nasos, which now forms the whole city, with the spring of Arethusa, Achradina, Tycha, Neapolis, and Epîpolæ, at first a suburb.

On the south coast: Camarina, Gela, Agrigentum (Ἀκράγας, now Girgenti), between Gela and Agrigentum the promontory of Ecnomus, not far from the mouth of the (southern) river Himēra; Selinus (Σελινόυς). On the west coast: Libybæum, Drepanum, Eryx. On the north coast: Panormus (Πάνορμος, now Palermo, see p. 19), Himera, Mylæ. In the interior of the island: Henna.

Sardinia (Σαρδῶ): Caralis (Cagliari).

Corsica (Κύπρος): Alalia, later the Roman colony of Aleria. Of the smaller islands the following are noteworthy: 1. Melita, now Malta, and Gaudos, now Gozzo, south of Sicily. 2. The Insulæ Ægates, on the west of Sicily, not far from the promontory Libybæum. 3. The Insulæ Æoliæ (now the Liparian islands) the largest, Lipāra, north of Sicily. 4. Capræ, now Capri, and Ænaria, now Ischia, at the entrance to the Bay of Naples. 5. The Pontian islands, Pontia, Pandataria. 6. Ilva, now Elba.

RELIGION OF THE ANCIENT ROMANS.¹

The Romans possessed an ancient religion entirely distinct from that of Greece. It was a common inheritance of the Italians, though probably early receiving Etruscan and Grecian elements. In the last centuries of the republic the theogony of Greece was imported into Roman literature, and to some extent into the state religion. At a still later time, under a policy of tolerance, all forms of faith and superstition were represented in the great capital.

The religion of the Romans was a polytheism, but their deification of nature was not so detailed, nor were their deities so human as was the case among the Greeks. Their faith had a sterner aspect, the practical side of religion was more natural to them than the poetic side. They honored and utilized their gods, but they wove few fancies about them.

The great gods were: Jupiter, god of the sky, "father of gods and men;" Juno, his wife, goddess of maternity; Minerva, goddess of intellect, presiding over the arts; Mars, god of war, the most representative of the Italian divinities; Bellona, goddess of war; Vesta, patron of the Roman state, goddess of the national hearth; where burned the sacred fire; Ceres, Saturnus, goddess and god of agriculture; Ops, goddess of the harvest and of wealth; Hercules, god of gain, presiding over the sanctity of contracts; Mercurius, god of traffic; Neptunus, god of the sea.

Venus seems not to have been one of the original Italian divinities. She first appears as a goddess of agriculture, but was soon identified with Aphrodite, the Grecian goddess of love. Of the lesser gods there were many, watching over every act of individuals and of the state, and over every stage of growth and development. Such were Tellus, Silvanus, Terminus, Quirinus, Janus, the god of the beginning and end, represented with a double face. (Gate of Janus in the comitum, open in time of war, closed in time of peace). Lares and Penates, presiding over the family and the home, Sol, Luna, etc.

Worship. The worship of the Romans consisted of a round of ceremonies, — prayers, sacrifices, games, — of strictly prescribed form, with the object of securing the good-will, averting the anger or ascertaining the intentions of the gods. In private life these ceremonies were performed in the family and were conducted by its head, the pater familias; in matters affecting the whole people, the state, which was a larger family, conducted the worship. In early times the king presided at the ceremonies. Under the republic a rex sacrificulus was appointed to perform those religious acts which were formerly the exclusive right and duty of the king.

The state maintained at public cost : 1. "Colleges of sacred lore" having general supervision over religion and all matters connected therewith. The most important were: The college of Pontifices, four in number (afterwards nine and sixteen), the highest religious power in the state. With them rested the decision as to which days were suitable for the transaction of business, public or private, and which not (dies fasti et nefasti). Hence they controlled the calendar, whereby they, with the augures, became important instruments in the hands of the government. The pontifices also decided upon the action made necessary by the auguries. At their head stood the pontifex maximus, who appointed the rex sacrificulus, the flamines and vestales. College of Augures, originally four, then nine and sixteen, who consulted the will of the gods, as revealed in omens, by the observation of the flight, cries, and manner of feeding of certain birds. College of Fetiales, twenty (?) in number, presiding over the relations between the Romans and other peoples. They conducted the conclusion of treaties, acted as heralds, and performed the ceremony of declaration of war, by throwing a blood-tipped spear into the hostile territory.¹ Duumviri Sacrorum, having the charge of the Sibylline books. The haruspices exercised the art of interpreting the will of the gods from the examination of the entrails of slaughtered victims. They were an Etruscan institution.

2. Colleges of officiating priests: Flamines, who presided in various temples with chapters of assisting priests. Salii, or dancing priests, of Quirinus and Mars, the latter having charge of the sacred shields of Mars (ancillæ). Vestal Virgins, guardians of the sacred fire of Vesta, six maidens who had taken the vow of virginity. Luperci, Fratres Arvales, etc.

Besides the observance of sacrifices and the offering of prayers, the priests had charge of conducting various public games: Lupercalia, (Feb. 15th), Feræ Latinæ, Saturnalia (Dec.) and others.

Ethnographical Sketch of Italy.²

The racial composition of ancient Italy closely resembled that of Greece. There are some traces of long-headed paleolithic peoples especially in Liguria. The Neolithic period found in Italy a long-headed people, practising inhumation, known as the Liguri or Ibero-Liguri in Northern Italy. These were, in all probability, of Mediterranean stock.

At the end of the Neolithic period there appeared a new race in Northern Italy (especially in Lombardy) — round-headed Alpines from beyond the mountains. Further waves covered the eastern part of Northern Italy and, toward the end of the bronze age, certain groups of the same stock crossed the Apennines, entering Tuscany and Latium. These were the Italici, whose name was later applied to all the inhabitants of the peninsula by the Greeks in the south. They were divided into the Latin and the Umbro-Sabellian tribes. The Latins occupied the western lowlands (Latium), the Umbro-Sabellians spread over the eastern part of Central Italy (Umbrians, Picentes, Sabines, Marsi, Hernici, Volsci). A main division of this group, the Samnites, occupied the mountain region which was named after them and drove back the Iapygians (see below). From the Samnites several tribes branched off; so the Campanians, called after the plain (Campanus) which they settled along the Tyrrhine Sea.

The Etruscans, whose origin is not certain, were probably from Asia Minor or the Ægean region. A race of sea-rovers, they arrived in Italy by 1000 B.C., and settled the west coast from the Bay of Naples almost to Genoa and much of the hinterland. They may have been of long-headed Mediterranean stock.

Other peoples in Italy were: the Veneti situated in the lowlands to the north of the Po between the Alps and the Adriatic, who were probably of Illyrian origin; the Iapygians in the extreme south-east, probably also an Illyrian people; and the long-headed Iberians in Sardinia and Corsica.

The whole of Upper Italy was occupied by Celtic tribes (towards the end of the 5th century B.C.) who gradually forced the Etruscans and Umbrians southward.

Besides all these migrations into Italy from the north by land, colonization of no mean extent began very early on the part of the Hellenes, in Sicily and Lower Italy, by sea. The Dorians, Chalcidians (i. e. Ionians), and Æolians were principally engaged therein.

Roman History can be divided into five periods.

753(?)–509(?) I. Mythical time of the kings.

509–264. II. Development of the constitution by struggles between Patricians and Plebeians. Subjugation of Italy proper (Central and Lower Italy), down to the beginning of the Punic wars.

264–146. III. Epoch of the Punic wars, and beginning of the universal rule of Rome, down to the destruction of Carthage and Corinth.

146–31. IV. Firm establishment of the universal supremacy of Rome, by the conquest of the East, Spain, and Gaul. Epoch of the civil wars, down to the beginning of the absolute rule of Octavian, in consequence of the battle of Actium.

31 B. C.—476 A. D. V. Sway of the Roman Cæsars, down to the fall of the Roman Empire of the west.

The last period extends into Mediæval History.

FIRST PERIOD.

Mythical Epoch of the Kings (753–509).

Foundation of Rome according to the Roman legends King Numitor of Alba Longa, the descendant of Æneas, who had settled in Latium with some Trojan refugees, was deprived of his throne by his brother Amulius, who put his son to death, and caused his daughter Rea Silvia to become a vestal virgin, in order that the line of Numitor should perish. The twins, Romulus and Remus, the sons of Rea Silvia and Mars, the god of war, were, by command of the king, thrown into the Tiber, then overflowing its banks. Their cradle being caught by the roots of a fig-tree, the children were rescued from drowning, were suckled by a she-wolf, and brought up by the royal shepherd Faustulus. As they grew up, Romulus and Remus led other shepherds on the hunt and in forays for booty. At the festival of the Lupercalia, they were surprised by robbers; Romulus was taken prisoner, brought before Numitor, and accused of having plundered his fields. Numitor recognized his grandsons. The latter thereupon attacked the usurper Amulius at the head of their band, slew him, and placed the rightful king, their grandfather Numitor, again on the throne of Alba Longa. With the king's permission, the twins founded a city on that place on the bank of the Tiber where they had been exposed. (Festival of Palilia or Parilia, April 21, celebrated as the anniversary of the foundation.) In a quarrel as to who should give his name to the city, Remus was killed. Romulus, being now the only king, called the city after himself, Roma.²

Surmises about the real origin of Rome. The results of modern scientific investigations leave not the least doubt that the Roman story of the foundation of the city is not historical, but an invention, having not the slightest basis of fact. It is perfectly clear that in reality Rome and the Romans did not derive their name from the founder of the city, but that, on the contrary, the name Romulus was formed by the inventors of the legend from the name of the city and the people.³ All tribal heroes are of divine origin; that those of the Romans should be sons of Mars, the god of agriculture and of war, needs no explanation. The legend of the exposure of the twins and of their miraculous preservation and recognition bears a striking resemblance to the story of the youth of Cyrus (p. 25). The fabulous descent from the Trojan Æneas ascribed to the family of the founder of Rome was an invention of ¹ According to Varro's era 753, according to Cato's 751; but to change years of the city into years before Christ, 754 or 752 must be used as the minimum. Both dates belong to the conventional chronology. See pp. 88 and 89.

Grecian writers (Stesichōrus in the sixth century, Timæus in the third century, B. C.). The tale of the building of Rome by emigrants from Alba, under guidance of two princes of divine birth, was a naive attempt to explain the growth of a city in the barren and unhealthy Roman Campagna by connecting it with the common metropolis of Latium.

Nothing can be considered historical except that Rome was, as regards the greater part of its population, a Latin settlement. The city was founded, or rather gradually arose, at a wholly unknown time and under wholly unknown circumstances. The settlement was formed very near the border of Latium, and just at the head of navigation (for small vessels) of the Tiber, the natural highway of commerce for Latium, without regard to the sterile character of the immediate neighborhood. This gives probability to the supposition that Rome in its earliest days "was a border trading-post of the Latins."¹ Not that Rome was ever a mercantile city, after the manner of Corinth and Carthage; it was merely a trading village, where the imports and exports of Latium, which was essentially an agricultural district, were exchanged.

Its early importance was probably due in large part to the fact that it controlled a very important fording place on the Tiber on a main route of trade and travel.

Of the three tribes or townships (Gauen) which seem to have united to form Rome (the Ramnes (identical with Romani), the Titi(ens)es, and the Lucēres), the first was certainly, the third in all probability, Latin; the second was, it is true, Sabine, but it was soon completely blended with the Latin elements, as the Roman language shows.

753-716. Romulus, warrior king. Establishment of a retreat on the Capitolinus. Appointment of 100 Senatores or Patres (fathers), whose descendants are called Patricians. The three centuries of knights: Ramnes, Titi(ens)es, and Lucēres. Rape of the Sabine women; war with the Sabines following, their king, Titus Tatius, seized the fortress on the Capitol through the treachery of Tarpeia. Battle between the Romans and Sabines interrupted by the Sabine women, who had been carried off. Union of the Romans and Sabines in one double state under the common rule of Romulus and Tatius, until the latter's death. War of Romulus with Fidenæ and Veii. Romulus is translated during a thunder-storm, and henceforward worshipped as the god Quirinus.

of Cures, elected, after a year's interregnum, by the Romans from among the Sabines. Peaceful king; arranges the religious services of the Romans according to the advice of the Camēnas (prophetess) Egeria, his consort. Temple of Janus. Appointment of the five Pontifices, the first of whom is the Pontifex Maximus, the Flaminius, Fetiales, the four Augures, the four vestal virgins, afterwards increased to six.

673-641. Tullus Hostilius, warlike king. War with Alba Longa; contest of the Horatii and Curatii decides in favor of Rome, to which Alba is obliged to submit. War with Veii and Fidenæ; treachery of the dictator of Alba, Mettius Fuffetius, who is torn in pieces. Destruction of Alba Longa; the inhabitants are transferred to Rome.

641-616. Ancus Marcius, grandson of Numa, at the same time peaceful and warlike ("et Numæ et Romuli memor"). Development of the institution of the Fetiales. Successful war with four Latin towns, the inhabitants of which are settled on the Aventine. For this reason Ancus Marcius is represented in the traditional story of the kings of Rome, as the founder of the class of the plebeians.¹ Fortification of Janiculum, construction of a bridge of piles (pons sublicius) over the Tiber.

Foundation of the harbor of Ostia.

616-578. Tarquinius Priscus, who with his wife Tanaquil emigrated from the Etruscan city of Tarquini, and for whom Grecian descent from the Bacchiadæ of Corinth was afterwards invented. He became guardian of Ancus' son, and was elected to the throne. Commencement of the construction of the temple of Jupiter on the Capitoline hill. Construction of the cloacæ. The Senate increased to 300 members; the number of equites doubled. Circus Maximus. Successful wars with the Sabines, Latins, and Etruscans. After the murder of Tarquinius by the sons of Ancus, becomes king through the cunning of Tanaquil. He was the son of the slave woman Ocrisia and a god, was educated like a prince by Tanaquil in consequence of the utterance of an oracle, and became the son-in-law of Tarquinius. Wars with Veii. Rome joins the Latin league. Construction of the wall of Rome. Establishment of the census and the division of the centuries (p 92). Servius Tullius murdered by his son-in-law, 534-510. Tarquinius Superbus, represented by tradition as a cruel despot. Tarquinius Superbus (i. e. the haughty) subjugates the Latin league, conquers Suessa Pomertia, completes the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus, and gains possession of the city of Gabii by the deceit and treachery of his son Sextus. Tradition ascribes to him the acquisition of the Sibylline books. Embassy of Titus and Aruns Tarquinius, the king's sons, to the oracle at Delphi. They are accompanied by their cousin, L. Junius Brutus, who represents himself as feeble-minded, in order to protect his life against the cruelty of the king; a story which was invented to explain the name of Brutus. Siege of Ardæa. The rape of Lucretia, wife of L. Tarquinius Collatinus (i. e. from Collatia), by the king's son, Sextus, leads to the expulsion of the Tarquins and the abolition of monarchy. The insurrection is headed by L. Junius Brutus, whom the legend makes Tribunus Celerum, although he was commonly considered an imbecile. Over the body of Lucretia, who died by her own hand, he called the people to arms, and incited the army against the king, who found the city gates closed upon him, and went into exile (Livius, I., 57-60).

578-534. Servius Tullius

Historical Facts of the Epoch of the Kings.¹

There is no doubt that the constitution of the oldest Roman state was a patriarchal monarchy; and that, after the new settlement had become an independent community, the highest power in Rome was exercised by a line of sovereigns elected for life (rex, from the same stem as regere, to govern).

But neither the number nor all the names of the traditional kings, nor yet the deeds ascribed to the reign of each, still less the chronology of their reigns, can be considered historically authentic. The artificiality of the first four reigns, which are alternately warlike and peaceable, is self-evident. Doubtless the extension of the Roman territory and Rome's hegemony over the Latin league was not acquired without severe contests and brilliant deeds of arms; but the story has come down to us in a fabulous form and has been arbitrarily revised. The destruction of Alba, the ancient metropolis of Latium, is an historical fact; the contest of three Roman against three Alban brothers, their cousins, is probably only a personified designation of a war between two closely related towns, with similar political divisions.

As regards the last three reigns, it can be considered historical that the royal family of the Tarquins was of Etruscan origin; that under its rule Rome made an important advance in power and civilization; that the division of the people into classes, the erection of the so-called Servian wall, portions of which are still in existence, and the construction of the first cloacæ date from their reigns.

At the commencement of the actual history of Rome there is found to exist a sharp division of the population into Patricians, or citizens with full political rights, and Plebeians, or free inhabitants without political rights (like the Lacedæmonian Periæci and the Athenian Metæci; see pp. 50 and 52). The traditional legend gives no explanation of this important fact, but only two hints at one, and those contradictory.² The citizens having full rights are evidently the descendants of the original settlers, the victors and later conquerors. Since, according to Roman usage, marriages of equals in rank conferred the rights of citizenship on the children, those having such rights called themselves Patricii, i. e. "Children of the fathers." The people who were not included in these families, but stood under their protection, who were compelled to have a protector (Patrōnus), were distinguished by the name Clientes (from cluēre). Their descendants, increased by the former citizens of Latin towns conquered in war, formed gradually a second Roman community, whose members were not citizens. These were called the Plebeians, the Plebs (or plebes, connected with pleo, plenus); i. e. the masses, the great mob. As the majority of the population of conquered cities were compelled to enter the plebeian class, whether they were settled in or near Rome or remained in their old homes, it is incorrect to imagine the plebs composed of poor people entirely; there were from the beginning many wealthy and respected families among them.

² See page 88 the reign of Romulus, and p. 89, that of Ancus Marcius. Comp. Mommsen, Hist. of Rome, Book I. chap. 5.

Under the oldest constitution of Rome, which is commonly called, from the legend, the Constitution of Romulus, the Patricians alone formed the municipality and the military force, the populus (connected with populari, to ravage), since they alone performed military service. They were divided into curiæ, districts, at first 10 in number, after the union of the Tities and Lucæres with the Ramnes 30 (p. 88), each curia being divided into ten families or gentes. The assembly (populus) of the citizens or patricians, called by the king when he had an announcement or an inquiry to make, formed the comitia curiata. To this body citizens under sentence had the right of appeal for pardon (provocatio); only, however, with the consent of the king. The comitia elected the king, who, after election, exercised absolute power, having to consult the community only when changes of the existing law or the commencement of an offensive war were in question. The Senate (council of the elders, seniores, senatores) was an advisatory body, named by the king, but representing the gentes after a manner.

This oldest form of the community was essentially altered by a reform conducted during the reign of the last dynasty, and which tradition has coupled with the name of Servius Tullius. Military service and payment of the tributum was thereby made obligatory on all land-owners, whether they were citizens or merely inhabitants of the class of metœci. Every freeholder between seventeen and sixty years of age was now liable to service. The cavalry, composed of citizens, continued as before, but there was added to it a force of double its strength, which consisted wholly, or in great part, of plebeians. The wealthiest land-owners were drawn upon to furnish the cavalry. No regard at all was paid to political or class differences in making up the infantry, but the kind of armor to be furnished by the warriors was regulated in accordance with a property classification. This is the

It appears from the number of centuries (i. e. companies) in the different classes, that the division of the land at that time was such that more than half the farms contained 20 jugera or more, and a farm of that size was considered the standard.

In the five classes : 168 centuries of foot-soldiers, each of 100 men = 16,800 men ; i. e. 4 legions of 4200 men each, 2 legions *juniore*s (first levy, 17-46 years old, for service in the field) and 2 legions *seniore*s (second levy, 47-60 years old, for garrison service). To be added are 3 centuries of fabri (pioneers), tubicines and cornucines (musicians), 2 centuries accensi velati (unarmed substitutes), 2 centuries proletarii and capite censi, making, with the cavalry, 193 centuries. As the population increased the number of centuries was not enlarged, but the separate divisions were strengthened by the addition of new recruits, without doing away entirely with the standard number.

This new military body, arranged in classes and centuries, was henceforward consulted by the king in regard to offensive wars as the army had been when divided into curiæ. This was at first the only privilege which the new citizens shared ; all other rights were reserved to the comitia curiata, which consisted exclusively of patricians. It was not until later (at the beginning of the Republic) that the new arrangement of the community acquired political importance, and that a new popular assembly, the comitia centuriata, developed out of the new military organization. The reform ascribed to Servius had originally a purely military character. It gave the Plebeians at first scarcely any rights, but only burdens ; it opened the way, however, whereby they became true citizens. The inhabitants who were not land-owners, be they clientes or foreign metæci, were henceforward distinct from the land-owning plebs. The inhabitants who owned no land were called, after the money which they had to pay for protection, æerarii.²

For purposes of conscription the city and township were divided into four wards (Tribus), so that each legion contained the same number of recruits from each ward. Every 4, later every 5 years a new census was taken, which closed with a sacrifice for purification (lustrum), whence in later times lustrum denoted a space of five years.

SECOND PERIOD.

Struggles between Patricians and Plebeians, Subjugation of Italy Proper, to the Beginning of the Punic Wars (510-264).

510 (?). Expulsion of the Tarquins, Rome a Republic.

According to Roman tradition, the consuls for the first year of the republic were 509 (?). Lucius Junius Brutus and L. Tarquinius Collatinus.

The latter, it is said, being related to the exiled royal family, soon fell under suspicion, and was replaced by L. Valerius Poplicola, the first Consul suffectus, to whom tradition ascribes the lex Valeria de provocatione (Ne quis magistratus civem Romanum adversus provocationem (p. 91) neceret neve verberaret). On the same authority, the first dictator (p. 94) was Titus Lartius (501, against the Sabines). The Grecian historian Polybius calls the consuls of the first year

We know absolutely nothing which is historically authenticated about the details of this revolution. This alone is certain, that the arbitrary rule of the last king brought about his expulsion and the banishment of the whole gens Tarquinia. (The family sepulchre has been discovered in Cære, in Etruria). The fear lest the commonwealth should be transformed into a tyranny seems to have united the patricians and plebeians for a short time.

We are better informed about the nature of the constitutional change, since on this point inferences can be drawn from the institutions which we find in existence in historic times. The change in the constitution was, as far as this is possible in a revolution, conservative in character. The sovereign reigning during life was replaced by two rulers holding office for a year, taken from the patricians. They were called at first Praetores, Judices, or Consules; later, the latter name only was applied to them.² They exercised, generally, regal power: Imperium (i. e. sovereignty in war and peace); auspicia publica (i. e. supplication of the gods in behalf of the state); convening the popular assembly and the senate; taking the census; appointment of senators and the two patrician quæstors. The latter, whose office was established during the time of the kings, exercised the functions of criminal police, and soon acquired the administration of the state treasury under the supervision of the consuls. The consuls were assigned 12 lictors as a public indication of their official power.

² The derivation of consul and praetor is doubtful. Consul denotes either "administrator of the state" (qui consulit reipublicæ), or merely colleague. Praetor denotes "general" (qui præit exercitui, like the German Herzog), or one who presides over the state (qui præit, præest reipublicæ). See Marquardt Mommsen, Röm. Alterthümer, II. p. 71 f.

According to the *lex Valeria de provocatione*¹ (509), all citizens had right of appeal from sentences of death pronounced by the consuls, which were not delivered according to military law, to the people, even against the will of the consuls; and this appeal was not to the old "populus," composed of patricians, but to the comitia centuriata, the assembly of the new military and political community founded by the Servian constitution (p. 92).

The comitia centuriata acquired, moreover, in consequence of the violent alteration of the constitution, the right to elect the consuls, or rather, according to old Roman interpretation, the right of designating them to the consul who presided over the election, who thereupon appointed them (creare). The comitia centuriata acquired also the right of accepting or rejecting bills laid before it, but the six patrician centuries of equites retained the important right of voting first on any proposed measures.

The Senate, formerly consisting of patricians exclusively, was now enlarged, or rather brought up to its legal number, by the admission of plebeians from the equites, i. e. the wealthy. Hence the formula: Patres [et] conscripti.

The nature of the changes which the comitia curiata (p. 91) underwent in consequence of the revolution is much disputed; it is certain only that it soon sank into complete insignificance. According to the view which is most commonly received, it retained at first the right of approving the elections or resolves of the comitia centuriata, a privilege expressed by the formula patres (i. e. patricii) auctores fiunt.² Others understand the expression patres to apply to the senatores, and claim the right of approval mentioned above for the Senate.³

At a time of special danger the consuls were replaced by an extraordinary official, the dictator, or magister populi, who was not elected, but appointed by one of the consuls (dictatorem dicere) without the participation of the citizens. (Practically, however, the Senate commonly played an important part in the selection.) As soon as danger was over the dictator resigned his office (dictatura se abdicare), which he could not hold longer than six months in any event. The dictator appointed his magister equitum (master of the horse); the sign of his power, which was thoroughly royal, was 24 (?) lictors. Appeal from his decisions was allowed only in cases where it had been permitted against the king (p. 91).

³ According to Mommsen (Hist. of Rome, I. 264), all new citizens, that is, all land-owning plebeians were in consequence of the revolution (510) admitted to the comitia curiata, and the old body of citizens, or the patricians, thereby lost the right of debating and deciding for political purposes, in an assembly apart from the rest of the citizens. This opinion is opposed by other scholars, who maintain that plebeians were first admitted to the comitia curiata toward the end of the Republic. Mommsen thinks that the right of approval belonged to the smaller, purely patrician senate, while the larger senate, increased by the addition of plebeian conscripti, was, during the first years of the Republic, an advisory council for the consuls.

509. According to the Roman legend a conspiracy of young patricians was discovered in Rome, which purposed the restoration of the monarchy. Brutus puts his son to death.
508. Unsuccessful war of the Romans against the Etruscan king Porsena of Clusium. The Romans were defeated, and compelled to purchase peace by a surrender of territory and complete disarming. Roman story of Horatius Cocles, the brave defender of the bridge over the Tiber, of the heroic courage of Mucius Scævola (i. e. left-handed ; the well-known story is probably only an attempt to explain the name), and Clælia, in Livius II. 9-13. When the Etruscans advanced further into Latium they were defeated by the Latins and their allies from lower Italy before Aricia, and could not maintain themselves on the left bank of the Tiber. In consequence of this Etruscan defeat, Rome seems to have freed itself from the disgraceful peace imposed upon it, and to have gradually regained its former powerful position.

496 (?). Tradition of a great victory of the Romans over the Latins by the small lake Regillus, near Tusculum, won by the dictator, Aulus Postumius, with the aid of the Dioscuri (Livius II. 19).

The inner history of the Roman community for this period deals with two contests, one political and one social. I. Contest of the patricians, who gradually developed into an hereditary nobility, against the new citizens, or plebeians. The latter, who could, it is true, become senators (conscripti), but were excluded from the offices of state and from the priesthood, aimed at complete political equality. Since the offices of state in Rome, as among the ancients generally, were administered without pay (hence, honores, officers of honor), it was essentially the wealthier plebeian families alone who were interested in this contest. II. The social contest between the well-to-do property-owners and the owners or renters of small farms, who were growing poorer, or had been deprived of their possessions.

The use of the ager publicus, i. e. the public land, acquired by conquest (comprising both cultivated land and pasture), belonged legally to the patricians only. In fact the senate made exceptions in favor of the rich plebeian houses which had become members; the small plebeian land-owners and renters were strictly excluded from the privilege. Very seldom, on occasion of new conquests, a distribution of land was made among the poor plebeians, but the greater part of the state domain was leased to the patrician land-owners for a moderate rent, which was, probably, hardly ever regularly collected, and these estates were soon treated as private property. Gradually the tillage of the large farms was given over to slaves, and the plebeian tenants were thereby driven from their holdings. The plebeian owners of small peasant holdings sank into a condition of the greatest misery, through frequent military service, taxation, excessive interest on loans, and the cruel Roman law of debt, which placed the person and property of the debtor in the creditor's hands. In consequence of this there were repeated uprisings and refusals to perform military service, which, in 495, was overcome only by the appointment of a dictator. Finally, when the patricians refused to grant the promised alleviations, and continued their ill treatment of those who became their slaves through debt (nexi), the plebeian soldiers in the victorious army, as they were returning home, turned aside, under the leadership of plebeian military tribunes, to a small hill on the Anio (later called Mons Sacer), and threatened to found a plebeian city in that fertile region (three miles from Rome). This is the so-called 194 (?)¹ Secession of the Plebeians to the Sacred Mount (secessio plebis in montem sacrum), which compelled the patricians (Menenius Agrippa, fable of the belly and the members) to make sincere concessions. After abrogation of the oppressive debts, 494 (?). Creation of the tribunate (tribuni plebis) and the plebeian ædiles.

The tribunes of the people (at first 2 (?), then 5, finally 10), were always chosen from the plebs.² They were inviolable (sacrosancti). They had the right of protection (jus auxilii) for every plebeian against injustice on the part of an official. This privilege developed into an extensive right of intercession (jus intercessionis) against every administrative or judicial act, with the exception of the imperium militare, — that is to say, against the dictator and against the consul when he was more than a mile from the city. From the first the tribunes of the people exercised judicial functions, convened the assemblies of the plebeians, and proposed criminal sentences for their consideration. Later (448), the tribunes were admitted to the senate, where, by their veto, they could deprive any resolution of the senate (senatus consultus) of its legislative force, and reduce it to a mere expression of opinion (senatus auctoritas). The two ædiles of the people (ædiles plebis) assisted the tribunes, and superintended the business of the markets. Their name was probably derived from the temple (ædes) of Ceres, where they preserved the official document which decreed the establishment of the plebeian magistracy.

During this time (according to some authorities, not until later) occurred the establishment of the important comitia tributa. In this assembly the citizens voted according to wards or tribus; not, however, the four wards of the Servian constitution (p. 92), but according to a later (perhaps 495) division into 20 tribus, to which was added the Crustumian tribus (494), making 21, and the number gradually rose to 35. It is probable that, down to the time of the legislation of the decemvirs, plebeians only, after that time, however, the whole body of land-owning inhabitants, both patricians and plebeians, voted in the comitia tributa.³ In this comitia

² It is commonly assumed as probable that up to the lex Publilia (472) the tribunes were elected in the comitia centuriata, and approved by the comitia curiata. According to the testimony of Dionysius (IX. 41) and Cicero (pro Corn.), they were chosen by the curiata; according to Mommsen's view (p. 94, note), this denotes that they were at first elected by the plebeians assembled by curie.

each tribus had one vote, which was decided by the majority of voters in the tribus. Compared with the comitia centuriata, therefore, the ascendancy of the wealthy was done away with, as was also the privilege, enjoyed by the nobility, of throwing their votes first.

493. In the consulate of Spurius Cassius, renewal of the eternal alliance between Rome and the Latin league on a basis of equality. Only gradually did Rome acquire again the hegemony over the Latins. Continual disputes with Etruscans, Sabines, Æqui, Volscians. Continuation of the contests between patricians and plebeians; the institution of the tribunate proving to be the organization of civil strife and anarchy. An attempt was soon made to abolish the tribunate by the patrician

491. Cn. (C.?) Marcius, called Coriolanus (from the storm of Corioli), who, during a famine, proposed to grant the plebeians grain at the expense of the state, only on condition that they gave up the tribunate. When summoned by the tribunes before the comitia tributa, Coriolanus declined to appear; being banished in his absence, he went to the Volseians, and, according to the story, led their troops against Rome, but, at the rebuke of his mother, Veturia, and the entreaties of his wife, Volumnia, gave up the war against his native city (Livius, Veturia II. 40).

487. The Hernici invaded the Roman territory. Being defeated by the consul Aquillius, and, in the next year, by the consul Spurius Cassius, the 486. Hernici joined the Latin league.

486. Spurius Cassius Viscellinus (Vecellinus?), consul for the third time, brought forward the first agrarian law. He proposed to divide a part of the public lands among needy plebeians and Latins; the rest to be actually leased for the profit of the public treasury. The patricians and wealthy plebeians joined forces against Spurius Cassius; the lower classes were dissatisfied that the Latins should also receive land and abandoned him. After the close of his term of office he was sentenced and executed.

479. Withdrawal of the gens Fabia and their

477. destruction by the Etruscans at the brook Cremera.

473. Murder of the tribune of the people, Gnæus Genucius, who had ventured to call two consuls to account.

471. Law carried by the tribune of the people, Volero Publilius, to the effect that the plebeian magistrates should, in future, be elected by the comitia tributa (lex publilia: ut magistratus plebei comitiis tributis creentur, p. 96).

463. Plague in Rome and throughout Italy.

462. Motion of the tribune of the people, C. Terentilius Arsa, for the appointment of a body of ten men to reduce the laws to a written code. Violent opposition of the patricians.

460. Surprise of the Capitol by Herdonius at the head of some political refugees (Livius III. 15).

Renewal of civil discord. In order to satisfy the plebeians, the number of tribunes of the people was raised from 5 to 10 (457); in the following year the Mons Aventinus was divided into building lots, which were distributed among the poor citizens. Dictatorship of L. Quinctius Cincinnatus, who rescued an army which had been surrounded by the Æqui (Livius III. 26). A compromise was reached in regard to the codification of the laws, whereby three ambassadors were sent to Greece to bring back copies of the Solonian laws and others (454). After their return

451. Decemvirs, a body of ten men, were chosen from the patricians (Decemviri consulari imperio legibus scribundis), and the consulate, tribunate, and right of appeal were for the time suspended. The code of laws drawn up by the decemvirs was accepted by the people, engraved on copper tables, and set up in the forum. As an appendix seemed necessary,

450. Decemvirs were appointed again, three being plebeians, who added two more tables. Henceforward the law of the city and county of Rome, according to which the consuls were to exercise their judicial functions, was known as the laws of the twelve tables (Leges duodecim tabularum). By their exposure the patrician administration was henceforth subjected to the control of public judgment. Instead of giving place to the regular magistrates after the completion of the two supplementary tables the decemvirs remained in office during the succeeding year (449). An attempt of the moderate aristocracy, headed by the Valerii and Horatii, to compel the abdication of the decemvirs, was unsuccessful. The latter, under Appius Claudius, the head of the extreme party of the nobles, acquired the preponderance in the state. At first the people submitted and acquiesced in a levy for the war against the Sabines and Volscians. The oppression of the decemvirs, especially of Appius Claudius: murder of the former tribune of the people, Siccius Dentatus, and the attack on the liberty and honor of the betrothed of the former tribune L. Icilius, Virginia, whom her own father Virginius stabbed in the forum, brought about an uprising (Liv. III. 44 foll.). The plebeian soldiers occupied the Aventine and the Sacred Mount. Valerius and Horatius managed a compromise, according to which the decemvirs abdicated. Appius Claudius and Spurius Oppius disembowelled themselves in prison, the others were sent into exile. It is impossible to decide what part of this romantic story is historical. It seems certain that the consulate and tribunate were reestablished. The power of the nobility was further weakened by the

448. Laws of the consuls Valerius and Horatius (leges Horatiæ): 1. The resolves (plebiscita) of the comitia tributa were given equal force with those of the comitia centuriata (ut quod tributim plebs jussisset populum teneret). 2. Every magistrate, including therefore, the dictator, was obliged, in future, to allow appeals from his decision (ne quis ullum magistratum sine provocazione crearet, qui creasset, eum jus fasque esset occidi). 3. Recog- nition of the inviolability of the tribunes of the people, and extension of the same privilege to the ædiles (ut qui tribunis plebis, ædilibus nocuisset, ejus caput Jovi sacrum esset). About the same time (447) two quæstors were appointed whose peculiar charge was the military treasury (making in all 4 quæstors, see p. 93); they were patricians, but were appointed by the comitia tributa, wherein both patricians and plebeians voted henceforward, if not before (p. 96). In 421 the quæstorship was opened to the plebeians. Moreover, the tribunes of the people acquired the right of taking auspices, and were admitted to the senate, though at first required to occupy a bench near the door.

445. Law of the tribune Canuleius legalizing marriage between patricians and plebeians (lex Canuleia de conubio : ut conubia plebei cum patribus essent). The children inherit the rank of the father. The motion brought forward by this tribune that the consuls might be chosen from the plebeians (ut populo potestas esset, seu de plebe seu de patribus vellet, consules faciendi), was violently opposed by the nobility. A compromise was effected, and it was decreed that instead of consuls should be appointed, and that to this office plebeians could be elected. At the same time creation of a new patrician office, that of censor. The two censors were elected in the comitia centuriata, at first for 5 (4 ?) years, after 434 for 18 months, but every fifth year only, so that the office was vacant $3\frac{1}{2}$ years out of every five. Functions of the censors: 1. Taking the census every 5 (4 ?) years (after every lustrum), and compiling the lists of citizens and taxes; appointment of senators (lectio senatus) and the equites (recognitio equitum). 2. Preparation and publication of the budget, management of the state property, farming the indirect taxes (vectigalia), superintendence of the public buildings. 3. Supervision of the public morality (regimen morum). The duties and privileges included under the latter head gave the office great moral and political importance in the next century (Notatio censoria).

444. military tribunes (6) with consular power (tribuni militum consulari potestate)

439. Spurius Mælius, a rich plebeian, who, during a famine, distributed grain at a low price, was accused of aiming at royal power, and was slain by C. Servilius Ahala, the master of the horse of the octogenarian dictator, L. Quinctius Cincinnatus.

the history of which, like that of the previous wars with the Etruscans, has been much ornamented by tradition. The long continuance and obstinacy of the war with Veii is proved by the fact that then for the first time the campaigns were not interrupted during the winter. The result was, that the citizens who served in the army now for the first time received pay from the public treasury (i. e. out of the taxes on the public lands).¹ Capture and destruction of Veii by the dictator, M. Furius Camillus. The fall of Veii marks the beginning of the decline of the Etruscan power, which was hard pressed at the same time by the Latins in the south, Celts (Gauls) from beyond the Alps in the north, and from the sea by the Sicilian and Italian Greeks, especially the Syracusans, whose attacks had endured upward of a century.

391. Camillus went into exile in consequence of a complaint of injustice in the division of the booty from Veii.

Latium invaded by the Gauls in consequence of Roman ambassadors having taken part, in the war of the Etruscans of Clusium, against the Gauls. The Gauls demanded that the ambassadors (the three Fabii) should be delivered to them, to which the senate agreed. The proposal was, however, rejected by the citizens.

390 (July 18). Battle of the Allia, a brook, which falls into the Tiber eleven miles north of Rome. Utter defeat and rout of the Romans on the right bank of the Tiber, whereby the city was left defenceless. Abandoned by the citizens (the Mons Capitolinus alone continued to be occupied), Rome was taken, plundered, and burnt by the Gauls under their Brennus, i. e. military ruler. Slaughter of the senators. Unsuccessful attempt to surprise the Capitol. The geese of Juno. M. Manlius Capitolinus. After a seven months' siege of the fortress, the withdrawal of the Gauls was purchased with gold. Legend (a later invention) of an expulsion of the enemy by a victory of Camillus, who surprised the haughty Brennus (Væ victis!) in the forum, while the gold was being weighed (!). Return of the inhabitants. The plan of emigrating to Veii broken up by Camillus. Hasty, but irregular, reconstruction of the city, which soon regained its old power, after the Æqui, the Volscians, and the Etruscans, who had taken up arms again, had been defeated by Camillus.

Equalization of the old orders. Origin of the new nobility.

Recommencement of the civil contests against the patricians: 1, by the plebeian aristocracy to get admission to the consulate; 2, by the poor, indebted plebeians to obtain a reform of the laws of debtor and creditor, and a share of the public lands. The exertions of those tribunes who were friendly to the poorer classes were often neutralized by the opposition of their colleagues who represented the interests of the plebeian aristocracy. The patrician M. Manlius Capitolinus, who had released plebeian debtors at his own expense, was accused of aiming at royal power, declared guilty of high treason, and thrown from the Tarpeian rock (384). A compromise was finally agreed upon between the plebeian aristocracy and the plebeian commons, whose results were seen in the

376. Laws proposed by C. Licinius and Lucius Sextius, tribunes of the people (rogationes Liciniae). The first two were designed to secure the poorer classes a material alleviation; the third to give the plebeian aristocracy the long-wished-for equality with the patricians.

I. Relief of the debtors by the deduction of interest already paid from the principal; the rest to be paid within three years in three installments (ut, deducto eo de capite quod usuris pernumeratum esset, id quod superesset triennio æquis portionibus persolveretur).

II. No one should possess more than 500 jugera of the public lands (ne quis plus quam quingenta jugera agri publici¹ possideret).

III. Abolition of the tribuni militum consulari potestate. One, at least, of the two consuls must be chosen from the plebeians (ne tribunorum militum comitia fierent consulumque utique alter ex plebe crearetur).

After a long contest, and after the appointment of Camillus to the dictatorship had failed to accomplish anything, 367. The Licinian laws were passed.

366. L. Sextius Lateranus, colleague of the tribune Licinius, first plebeian consul. At the same time one of the three great colleges of priests (decemviri [formerly duoviri] sacris faciundis) was opened to the plebeians.

In order to retain at least the administration of the judicial department in the hands of their order, the patricians procured the establishment of a new patrician magistracy, the prætorship. The prætor (since 243, one prætor urbanus, and one prætor inter cives et peregrinos; since 227, four; since 197, six prætors) had the jurisdiction (dare sc. iudicium, dicere, sc. sententiam, addicere, sc. rem), and was the vicegerent of the consuls during their absence. At the same time a new ædile was appointed, called, to distinguish him from the plebeian officer of that name, the curule ædile; this office was, however, soon (probably since 364; certainly since 304) made accessible to the plebeians, and patrician and plebeian curule ædiles were elected for alternate years. The duties of the two ædiles curules were: 1. to manage the ludi Romani; 2. to supervise the markets and the street-police, and to preside in the police courts connected therewith.

Although after the passage of the Licinian laws the patricians continued their opposition to the political equalization of the orders, and even succeeded several times in electing two patrician consuls in open violation of the third Licinian law, all public offices were, nevertheless, opened to all Roman citizens, in rapid succession: the dictatorship 356 (the office of magister equitum before the adoption of the Licinian laws 368), the ensorship actually 351, legally 338, the prætorship 337, the colleges of pontifices and augures (the number of members in each being increased to nine) 300, by the lex Ogulnia. The patrician order thereupon ceased to exist as a legally privileged caste, and continued only as a social order or rank.

A new nobility (optimates, nobiles) was gradually developed in political life, composed of those patrician and plebeian families which had for the longest time retained possession of the chief public offices (summi honores). These families regarded every citizen who obtained office, but did not belong to their set, as an upstart (homo novus). The new nobility could not, however, separate itself so sharply from the common people as the patrician order had done, but increased its ranks constantly from the most promising portion of the lower classes.

Through the equalization of the plebeian aristocracy with the patricians, the office of tribune, which was generally in the hands of the most distinguished plebeian families, lost, for a time at least, its revolutionary and anarchic character. The tribunes of the people soon obtained not only seats and votes in the senate, but also the right to convene it. Growing importance of the senate, which from this time on was the principal executive body governing the state. Since the establishment of the republic the senators had represented both orders (p. 94). They acquired their membership neither by the accident of birth, nor by the direct choice of the people. The censors (p. 99) filled vacancies in the senate principally from the numbers of those citizens which had occupied the office of quæstor (p. 99) or a higher office. Their age was at least 30 years; probably a property qualification was soon required. Being appointed for life, but subjected every four (5) years to a new lectio of the censors, who could expel unworthy members, the Roman senators were independent of a fickle public opinion. To the wise and energetic conduct of the senate Rome chiefly owed the great growth of her power which took place in the near future.

As formerly, the comitiæ exercised the rights of sovereignty proper, especially the comitia centuriata and the comitia tributa, in which all citizens, patricians and plebeians alike, were included (p. 96), while the right of approval vested in the patrician comitia curiata (or the narrower patrician senate, p. 94) became an empty form. Here belong two of the three laws of the plebeian dictator, Publius Philo (leges Publilicæ), of the year 338: 1. A vote of the comitia tributa shall have the force of law without having been approved by the comitia curiata (ut plebiscita omnes Quirites tenerent). 2. Laws presented to the centuries shall be approved beforehand (ut legum, quæ comitiis centuriatis ferrentur, patres ante initum suffragium auctores fierent). 3. One ensor must be a plebeian (ut alter ubique ex plebe censor crearetur). The same Publius Philo became the first plebeian prætor in 337.

In the year 312 the censor Appius Claudius included the inhabitants of Rome who were not freeholders in the tribes which they preferred, and in the centuries according to their property. This far-reaching and actually revolutionary change in the comitia centuriata and tributa was altered in a conservative sense by the censor Q. Fabius Rullianus (Maximus) in the year 304. As regards the comitia tributa, those freemen who were not freeholders, and those freedmen (libertini) whose property in land was valued at less than 30,000 sesterces (about $1500), were divided among the four city wards (tribus urbanae), which now became the last in rank instead of the first. The country wards (tribus rusticæ), the number of which had by the year 241 risen from 17 to 31 (making the whole number of the tribes 35, p. 96), were reserved for freemen who were freeholders, and for freedmen having larger landed properties. In the comitia centuriata, where the wealthy members had already acquired many privileges, equality of the freemen who were and those who were not freeholders was secured; but the freedmen, with exception of those of the first two classes, were entirely shut out from the centuries.¹

The Licinian laws had naturally only ameliorated, not radically cured, the desperate condition of the poor and indebted plebeians. The law of the consul Pœtelius (lex Pœtelia), passed in 326 or 313, secured to every insolvent debtor who should transfer his property to the creditor his personal freedom (ne quis æris alieni causa nectatur, utique bona tantummodo obnoxia sint). By these and other ameliorations, and by the ever-increasing foundation of colonies of citizens and division of public lands among the poor, in consequence of successful wars, the social question was for a short time forced into the background.

At this time occurred the alteration in the Servian constitution of the army.² Division of the new legion into 30 maniples, each containing 3 centuries. Arrangement in order of battle in three lines (hastati, principes, triarii). The assignment of arms according to property classification was abolished. Long lances (hasta) were reserved for the third line, the first and second line receiving in their stead the pilum, a short spear, adapted both for thrusting and hurling. A short cut and thrust sword was used by all.

367-349. Four wars with the Gauls who had permanently settled in upper Italy (henceforward known as Gallia Cisalpina), and thence made frequent inroads into central Italy. In the first war single combat between T. Manlius Torquatus and a gigantic Gaul; in the second, the first triumph of a plebeian consul. The fourth war was ended by a great defeat inflicted upon the Gauls in the Pomptine region by the consul M. Furius Camillus, the younger. Single combat of M. Valerius Corvus with a Gaul.

362. Story of a chasm opened in the forum closed by the sacrifice of M. Curtius.

362-358. War with the Hernici and the revolted Latin cities (especially Tibur), ending in the renewal of the old league between Rome on the one part and the Latins and Hernici on the other; whereby both people were more strictly subjected to the Romans than before.

358-351. Wars with the Etruscan cities Tarquinius, Cære, and Falerii (victory of C. Marcius Rutilus, the first plebeian dictator, 356), which led to the reduction of the whole of southern Etruria under Roman supremacy.

348. (First ?) treaty of commerce between Rome and Carthage,³ the text of which has been preserved by Polybius (III. 22).

350-345. War with the Volscii, who were defeated in 346 at Satricum, and the Aurunci. The power of both peoples was completely broken. The Roman legions forced their way southward without stay. This great development of Rome's power brought about the 343-266. wars with the Samnites, the other Italians, and the Greek cities of Italy.

Result : Subjugation of all Italy to the Rubicon and Macra, under the supremacy of Rome.

343-341. First war with the Samnites.

Cause: The Sidici in Teanum and the Campanians in Capua, both Samnite tribes who had emigrated from their home, asked aid of the Romans against their relatives, the Samnites of the mountains, who had formed a confederacy in Samnium proper, whence they continually ravaged the plain (Campania), with new swarms.

According to the Roman tradition,¹ their armies gained three victories in Campania over the Samnites : victory of M. Valerius Corvus on Mount Gaurus (near Cumæ) ; victory of A. Cornelius Cossus, after his army had been rescued by P. Decius Mus, a military tribune ; finally, victory of both Roman armies at Suessula. The war was ended by a treaty, whereby Rome received Capua, the Samnites Teanum. The Samnites were induced to conclude this treaty by a war with Tarentum, the Romans by the 340-338. Great Latin War.

The Latins rebelled against the hegemony of Rome and demanded complete equality with the Romans. One consul and half the senate were to be Latins. Capua (in spite of the opposition of the optimates) and the Volscii were allied with the Latins.

Victory of the (Roman and Samnite?) armies over the Latins and Campanians in the neighborhood of Vesuvius under the consul T. Manlius Imperiosus. Execution of the young son of the consul, who against his father's command had fought with the Latin commander and defeated him. P. Decius Mus sacrificed his life for the safety of his army. Decisive battle at Trifanum (between Minturnæ and Suessa) ; victory of the consul Manlius over the Latins and Campanians.

Dissolution of the Latin League, which became a mere religious association for the celebration of festivals. Isolation of the Latin cities from one another. Commercium and connubium between them were prohibited. Most of the cities received Roman citizenship without suffrage, i. e. they became subjects. Several were obliged to cede land, which was divided among Roman citizens ; others were converted into Roman colonies (p. 109), e. g. Antium. The orator's stand in the forum Romanum was ornamented with the bows of the old ships of this city (hence rostra). The Roman power in the territories of the Volscii and in Campania was strengthened by the settlement of colonies of Roman citizens. Capua and other cities became dependent Roman communities (p. 109).

326-304. Second war with the Samnites and the other Italians.

Cause : Encroachments of the Romans on the Liris, especially the transformation of Fregellæ into a Roman colony, and the capture of Palæopolis (twin city of Neopolis), by Q. Publilius Philo, the first pro-consul.

Alliance of the Romans with the Apulians and Lucanians and, in the course of the war, with the Sabellian cities south of the Volturnus (Nola, Nuceria, Herculaneum, Pompeii), who at first sided with the Samnites.

The Romans had the advantage in the first years of the war, and crossed Samnium to Apulia, plundering as they went ; but in 321 the consuls Sp. Postumius and T. Veturius, hastening from Campania to the assistance of the Apulian city Luceria, were surrounded by the Samnites under Gavius Pontius in the Caudine Pass (furculæ Caudinæ), near the present Arpaia, and compelled to capitulate, swear to a treaty of peace, and give 600 Roman equites as hostages. The whole Roman army was sent under the yoke. The Roman senate refused to approve the treaty, and delivered the consuls to the Samnites, who refused to receive them.

The Samnites conquered Luceria in Apulia and Fregellæ on the Liris. By desperate exertions the Romans got the upper hand again. In 319 the Roman consul L. Papirius Cursor reconquered Luceria, released the Roman hostages, and sent the Samnite garrison under the yoke. The war went on during the succeeding years with changing fortune ; nevertheless, the Romans subdued their revolted allies and subjects, and punished the leaders in the revolt with death. They defeated the Samnites at Capua, drove them out of Campania completely, and reconquered Fregellæ. Settlement of new colonies (p. 109). Construction of a great military road from Rome to Capua, through the Pomptine marshes, the Via Appia, part of which still remains. (Begun under the censor Appius Claudius, 312).

After 312, when the 40 years' peace with the Etruscans expired, the Etruscan cities took part in the war against Rome. Soon the whole of Etruria, which was still independent, was in arms against the destroyer of Italian liberty. Siege of the Roman border fortress, Sutrium. The victorious advance of the consul Q. Fabius Rullianus through the Ciminian forest, and his victory at the Vadimonian lake (310) caused the powerful cities of Perusia, Cortona, Arretium, to withdraw from the coalition against Rome, and effected after 308 a provisional truce throughout Etruria. The Umbrians, Picentini, Marsians, Frentanians, Palignians, who had joined the Italian coalition, continued the war, and were ultimately joined by the Hernicans. The fortune of war for a short time favored the Samnites and their allies, but the Romans soon acquired a decided ascendancy. L. Papirius Cursor defeated the Samnites in a great battle (309). Nuceria, the last Campanian town in alliance with the Samnites, was attacked by the Romans by land and sea, and forced to surrender. First appearance of a Roman war fleet. The consul L. Postumius invaded Samnium from the Adriatic Sea ; another Roman army advanced from Campania. A decisive victory of the Romans and the capture of Bovianum (305), the capital of the Samnite league, ended the war. The Samnites begged for peace, and with their Sabellian allies obtained a renewal of the old treaties and equality with Rome.

Foundation of numerous Roman colonies and several military roads; the Hernican league was dissolved; the Volscians and Æquians were obliged to receive Roman citizenship without suffrage. Construction of two great military roads from Rome: the northern (later called Via Flaminia) extended to Narnia (Nequinum); the southern (later Via Valeria) extended by way of Carsioli to Alba Fucientia (i. e. on lake Fucinus), the key to the territory of the Marsi.

298-290. Third war against the Samnites and the other Italians.

Cause: The Samnites succeeded in bringing men of their party into power throughout Lucania, and concluded a league with the Lucanians in order to risk a final struggle for the independence of Italy. New rising among the Etruscans.

The consul L. Cornelius Scipio (whose sarcophagus, with an old Latin inscription,¹ discovered in 1780, is still to be seen in the Vatican Museum) forced the Lucanians to abjure their alliance with Samnium. 297, victory of Rullianus at Tifernum; victory of P. Decius Mus at Maluentum. In 296 the desperate exertions of the Samnites enabled them to place three armies in the field: one to defend their own country, one for Campania, while the third was conducted by its commander Gellius Egnatius through the Marsian and Umbrian lands to Etruria. This prevented the Etruscans from concluding the peace which they had negotiated with Rome and conjured up the old coalition of the Italians, which was now joined by Gallic tribes. Great preparations in Rome. The consuls Q. Fabius Rullianus and P. Decius Mus advanced to Umbria with 60,000 men, where in 295 the decisive battle of Sentinum was fought, and by the devotion of P. Decius Mus (Livius, X. 28) after a long contest ended in favor of the Romans. Dissolution of the army of the coalition, the Gauls scattered, the Samnites returned to Samnium, the Umbrians submitted, the Etruscans asked for peace in the next year (294). The war lasted in Samnium four years longer with varying fortune. In 293 the Samnites suffered a severe defeat at Aquilonia from L. Papirius Cursor and Spurius Carvilius. In 292 the Samnites gained their last victory under the command of Gavius Pontius the younger.

Finally the Samnites concluded peace with the consul M'. Curius Dentatus, as it seems, without ceding territory; but the Romans

¹ This inscription, which it is conjectured from linguistic reasons, was engraved some time after the death of Scipio, was:—

Cornélius Lucius Scipiō Barbātus
Gnaivōd patrē prognātus fortis vir sapiēsq̄ue quovīs fōrma virtutē parissimā (parissima) fuit thereby gained a chance to strengthen their power in the rest of Italy.

This was accomplished by the foundation of new colonies which should serve as checks on the Italians, especially Minturnæ and Sinuessa in the territory of the Auruncians, Hatria in Picenum, Venusia in Apulia. The Sabines were obliged to become subject to Rome, after a short and feeble resistance. At this time, after the Samnite wars, the 286 (?). Hortensian law (lex Hortensia) was passed. Thereby it was settled that all decrees of the comitia tributa should be binding on all citizens. This was accomplished by the dictator Hortensius after a dangerous uprising of the plebeians, who had been unable to come to terms with the opposite party in regard to a reduction of debts, and had withdrawn to the Janiculus (last secessio plebis). About this time questions of peace and alliance began to be submitted to the comitia tributa.

By the lex Mænia the second Publilian law (that the curiæ, or the narrow patrician senate, should assent beforehand to the resolves, see p. 102) was extended to the elections which took place in the comitia centuriata. Nevertheless, the real importance of the public assemblies was declining; they became more and more instruments in the hands of the presiding officers. After a short truce in Italy, in consequence of the peace with the Samnites, there broke out a 285-282. war between Rome and a new Italian coalition.

Cause: The inhabitants of Thurii being attacked by the Lucanians and Bruttians, sought help from the Romans. Alliance of the Lucanians and Bruttians with the Etruscans, Umbrians, and Gauls of northern Italy. The annihilation of a Roman army at Arretium by Senonian mercenaries of the Etruscans was terribly avenged by the Romans. The Gallic tribe of the Senones was in part slaughtered, in part driven from its home in Umbria. A victory of the Romans over the north Italians and their Gallic allies by Lake Vadimonium (283), and another at Populonia (282), inclined the Gauls to peace. After a victory of the consul C. Fabricius over the Lucanians at Thurii the non-Dorian Greek cities joined the Romans. Locri, Croton, and Thurii received Roman garrisons. This advance of the Romans led to the 282-272. War with Tarentum.

Special cause: Old treaties with Tarentum prohibited Roman ships of war from passing the promontory of Lacinium. A Roman war fleet on its way to the Umbrian coast anchored in the harbor of Tarentum. The people, incited by demagogues in the assembly, attacked the vessels, and captured five, whose crews were either put to death or sold into slavery. A Roman embassy which demanded reparation in Tarentum was insulted.

A Roman army advanced into the Tarentine territory. The Tarentines called to their assistance Pyrrhus, king of Epirus, a renowned general and leader of mercenaries, who had long meditated the plan of conquering for himself and the Hellenic nation a new empire in the west. Pyrrhus at first sent Milon with 3000 Epirotes to Tarentum (281); he himself landed in Italy, the following year, with an army of 25,000 men (Epirotes, Macedonians, Greeks, etc.) and twenty elephants. The war between Pyrrhus and the Romans was a contest of an army of mercenaries against militia, of a military monarchy against the government of a senate. Strict discipline maintained by the king in Tarentum; the theatres were closed, the death penalty imposed on evasion of military service. Great preparations at Rome; even the proletarii, generally free from military service, were enrolled. One Roman army was sent to Etruria, the main army to lower Italy. In the

280. Battle of Heraclea, near the Siris, the Romans were defeated, after a struggle whose result was long doubtful, by the phalanx and the elephants. Great losses of Pyrrhus. The Bruttians, Lucanians, and Samnites joined the king. The offer of peace made by Pyrrhus to the Romans through Cineas was haughtily rejected by the senate. Speech of the blind consular Appius Claudius. Pyrrhus advanced as far as Anagnia in Campania, but there halted and returned to lower Italy, as two Roman armies took the field against him, and the allies of the Romans remained faithful. Roman embassy (C. Fabricius) sent to Pyrrhus to treat for an exchange of prisoners. In the following year the two armies, each numbering with the allied troops 70,000 men, met in the bloody in Apulia, which lasted two days, and in which Pyrrhus was victor, but again suffered enormous loss.

279. Battle of A(u)sculum,

The Syracusans, who, since the death of Agathocles (289, p. 21), had been hard pressed by the Carthaginians, called for aid upon Pyrrhus, who gladly gave heed to the request, but left a garrison in Tarentum. Offensive and defensive alliance of Rome and Carthage (279); a Carthaginian fleet appeared off the coast of Italy, but soon returned to Sicily. The Romans' conduct of the war in Italy was at first feeble, owing to their great losses, but they soon captured all the cities on the south coast excepting Tarentum and Rhegium. After two years' absence (p. 21), Pyrrhus again landed in Italy. He started to assist the Samnites, who were hard pressed by the Romans, but was completely defeated in the 275. Battle of Beneventum.

1300 prisoners and 4 elephants fell into the hands of the victors. Despairing of success against Rome, Pyrrhus returned to Epirus, leaving a garrison in Tarentum. Not until after the death of Pyrrhus, which took place in 272 at Argos, did Milon surrender the city and fortress of Tarentum to the Romans, on condition of free departure. The Tarentines were obliged to deliver up their arms and ships, and destroy their walls, but retained their own municipal administration.

After the fall of Tarentum, subjugation of the Lucanians, Samnites, and Bruttians. All were compelled to cede portions of their territories and to receive colonies (see below). In 270 capture of Rhe- gium, which had been for ten years in the hands of Campanian mutineers, who were now punished with death. In 268 the Picentini were defeated and a large number of them transferred to Campania. The subjugation of Italy to the Rubicon and Macra was completed by the defeat of the Sallentini in Calabria, 266. As regards the relation of the conquered towns to Rome we must distinguish:

I. Municipal cities (municipia), i. e. communities having Roman citizenship without suffrage and with no claim to a public office at Rome (sine suffragio et jure honorum). They had the burdens but not the privileges of Roman citizens. Some places were permitted to keep the administration of their municipal affairs under officials of their own choosing; in others the municipal constitution was entirely abolished.

II. Colonies (coloniae), i. e. Roman strongholds and fortresses. Many conquered towns had to cede a part of their land, which was then divided among poor Roman citizens, who retained all their rights of citizenship, and thenceforward formed the ruling class in the colonies, like the patricians, while the old population was reduced to inhabitants having no political rights. The Latin colonies are to be distinguished from the Roman colonies; the former owed their establishment to the Latin League, but had been further developed after its dissolution, in that the senate distributed lands among Latin or Roman citizens, who renounced their jus suffragii et honorum. In the municipalities, as in the colonies, the jurisdiction was in the hands of a prefect (præfectus iuri dicundo) appointed by the prætor urbanus (p. 101).

III. Allies (socii, civitates fæderatæ), whose relation to Rome was regulated by treaty, who had for the most part their own administration and jurisdiction, and were freed from service in the legion, but were obliged to furnish auxiliary troops or ships.

THIRD PERIOD.

Punic Wars. From the Beginning of Rome's universal Empire, to the Destruction of Carthage and Corinth.
(264-146).

264-241. First Punic War. Contest over Sicily.

For the earlier history of the Punic people (Carthaginians) see p. 16, etc.

Cause of the war: The ill-feeling which had long existed between Rome, the first land power, and Carthage, the first sea power, of the west, and which had only been waived for a moment during the attack of Pyrrhus, who represented the Hellenic states which were hostile to both powers (pp. 21 and 108). Since 311 the Romans had endeavored to form a fleet of war. About this time establishment at Rome of two commanders of the fleet (duumviri navales), later (267) of 4 quæstors of the fleet (quæstore classici).

Special cause: The Mamertines, i. e. men of Mars, formerly Campanian mercenaries in the pay of Agathocles (p. 21), had seized the city of Messana and put the male population to death. They were besieged by king Hiero II. of Syracuse. Part of their number sought aid from the Carthaginians, another part from the Romans. The Roman senate hesitated; the assemblies resolved to grant the assistance asked (265). A Roman fleet, consisting principally of the ships of the south Italian allies, and the advance guard of the army, arrived in Rhegium. Meanwhile the Mamertines had admitted Carthaginian ships to the harbor and received a Carthaginian garrison in the citadel. The Roman advance guard crossed the strait, occupied Messana, and drove the garrison from the citadel. The Carthaginians declared war.

264. A Carthaginian fleet besieged the Romans in Messana. The consul Appius Claudius Caudex crossed the strait with the main body of the army and relieved Messana. Unsuccessful attempt to take Syracuse. The consul returned to Italy, leaving a garrison in Messana.

263. Two Roman armies crossed to Sicily. Victory of the consul M. Valerius Maximus, called Messalla, over the Carthaginians and Syracusans. Hiero, king of Syracuse, deserted the Carthaginians and joined the Romans, who advanced to the south coast of Sicily.

262. Agrigentum captured by the Romans after defeat of a Carthaginian army under Hanno, advancing to its relief. The Romans resolved to construct a large fleet. They built the first five-decker¹ (pentēris) after the model of a stranded Carthaginian ship.

260. First naval expedition of the Romans against Lipāra, with 17 ships, had an unfortunate end, the whole squadron with the consul Cn. Cornelius Scipio being captured by the Carthaginians. Immediately afterwards, however, 260. First naval victory of the Romans under C. Duilius at Mylæ, west of Messana. Boarding bridges. Special honors paid to Duilius. Columna rostrata in the Forum. The war was continued in the following years with changing fortune; the Carthaginians under Hamilcar maintained themselves in the western portion of the island.

257. Drawn battle at sea, off the promontory of Tyndaris.

The Roman senate decided to attempt a landing in Africa. A fleet of 330 ships under the consuls M. Atilius Regulus and L. Manlius Volso sailed for the southern coast of Sicily, where, at the mouth of the Himera, the troops were taken on board. A Carthaginian fleet of 350 vessels attempted to stop the expedition, but in the great

256. Naval battle of Ecnomus (south coast of Sicily)

it was completely defeated. What was left of the Carthaginian fleet took up position before Carthage to protect the city. The Roman consuls landed to the east of the city at Clupea and laid waste the Carthaginian territory. Manlius returned to Italy with half the army; Regulus remained with 15,000 men. The Carthaginians being defeated sued for peace. Regulus demanded the cession of Sicily and Sardinia, surrender of prisoners and all vessels of war except one.

¹ Not the first ship of war; the Romans had long had vessels of war and three-deckers, see pp. 105, 107, 109.

and acknowledgment of Rome's supremacy. Stung by these insolent demands, the Carthaginians resolved upon most energetic preparations, and levied troops in Greece, whence numerous bands of mercenaries, and among them the Spartan Xanthippus, went to Africa. The Carthaginian army being thus greatly strengthened (the elephants numbered 100),

255. Regulus was defeated at Tunes and captured. A part of the Roman army escaped to Clupea. The senate at once sent a fleet to Africa, which, after gaining a naval victory over the Carthaginians at the promontory of Hermes, took on board the Roman army, which was surrounded at Clupea; but on the return voyage three fourths of the ships were lost in a storm. The Carthaginians reopened the war in Sicily, landing in Lilybæum under Hasdrubal, son of Hanno. The Romans built a new fleet.

254. Capture of Panormus by the Romans. In the following year (253) the Roman fleet crossed to Africa and laid waste the coast. On the return voyage from Sicily to Italy it was almost annihilated by a storm. The Roman senate declined to continue the naval warfare. On land the Romans gained the over Hasdrubal under the consul Cæcilius Metellus, who at his triumph in Rome exhibited over 100 elephants.

251. Victory of Panormus

The story of the embassy of Regulus to Rome falls in the period subsequent to this victory. It is, like the story of the cruelties inflicted upon him by the Carthaginians, probably an invention of a later time. The Romans renewed the naval war. They besieged Lilybæum in vain. The consul P. Claudius Pulcher in the defeated by the Carthaginians. Capture of a great number of Roman ships. After two more Roman fleets had been destroyed by storms on the south coast of Sicily, the Romans, for the second time, abandoned naval warfare.

248-242. Campaign by land on the south side of Sicily. The Carthaginian general Hamilcar, called Barak or Barcas (i. e. lightning) not only defended himself for 6 years successfully against the Romans, first on Mt. Eircte (Monte Pellegrino, near Palermo), then on Eryx, but also annoyed the Italian coasts by privateers. Through the contributions of rich patriots at Rome, a new fleet was finally built entirely at private cost. With this fleet the consul C. Lutatius Catulus won the decisive

241. Victory at the Ægæan Islands

Peace: I. The Carthaginians gave up all claims to Sicily. II. They paid 3200 talents ($4,000,000) war indemnity in ten years. The larger western part of Sicily became the first Roman province; the smaller eastern¹ part continued under the supremacy of Syracuse, which was allied with Rome.

241 (?). In this period, probably, occurred the democratic reform of the constitution of the centuries, concerning the details of which but little is known with certainty. Only this is clear: that the right of first vote was taken from the centuries of equites and that henceforward the century which should cast the first vote (centuria prærogativa) was determined by lot. It is probable that the centuries from now on formed a subdivision of the wards (tribus). It is further probable that the number of centuries was increased; perhaps an equal number of centuries (i. e. voting bodies) was established for each class (p. 92), and in this manner the preponderance of the first class was abolished.¹

238. The Romans made use of an insurrection of the mercenaries and Libyan subjects against Carthage to extort from the Carthaginians the cession of Sardinia. This island was at a later time united with the island of Corsica (formerly Etruscan, afterwards conquered by the Romans) to form one province. For the present the Romans were satisfied with the occupation of the coasts.

229-228. War with the Illyrians of Scodra, brought about by the piracies and acts of violence committed by these tribes, and their refusal to make the reparation demanded by the senate. A Roman fleet of 200 ships soon brought the Illyrian pirates to terms, and compelled the queen Teuta, the guardian of her son, to accept the following conditions: release of all Grecian cities from her sway, abandonment of piracy, limitation of navigation, and payment of a tribute. The Greeks attested their gratitude to the senate by admitting all Romans to the Isthmian games and the Eleusinian mysteries (p. 45). The lasting result of the war was the firm establishment of Roman superiority in the Adriatic Sea and supremacy over Corcyra, Apollonia, Epidamnus, and some neighboring tribes. In 219 the renewal of the war led to the subjugation of a part of Illyria by L. Æmilius Paullus.

225-222. Subjugation of Cisalpine Gaul brought about by a dangerous invasion of the Gallic tribes inhabiting the plains of the Po (except the Cenomani) joined by numerous bands of transalpine Gauls. The Celts entered Etruria 70,000 strong and advanced upon Rome. The Romans sent two consular armies against them, which were reinforced by a third. Surrounded by these forces the Gauls were defeated and annihilated in the south of the mouth of the Umbro. The consul C. Atilius Regulus fell, 10,000 Gauls and one of their military leaders were captured, nearly all the rest fell or killed themselves. The Romans entered Gallia Cispadana, and the inhabitants, the Boii, submitted. The Romans crossed the Po, with severe losses (223), and defeated the Insubres. After two more victories in the following year (222) the consul Cn. Scipio captured Mediolanum, the capital of the Insubres, and Comum. To strengthen their power the Romans founded the fortresses of Placentia, Cremona, and Mutina. The military road to Spolegium was extended across the Apennines to the Adriatic Sea, and along the coast to Ariminum (Via Flaminia). Further measures for the firmer establishment of their power in Cisalpine Gaul were interrupted by the Causes : Envy of the Romans, excited by the new prosperity of Carthage, springing from her recent acquisitions in Spain, and the efforts of the party of the Barcæ to take revenge on Rome.

225. Battle of Telamon,

218-201. Second Punic War.¹

Special causes : The conquests of Hamilcar Barcas in southern and western Spain (236-228) being successfully pursued after his death by his son-in-law Hasdrubal, the Romans concluded a treaty with the Grecian cities Zacynthus or Saguntum, north of Valencia, and Emporice, now Ampurias, at the foot of the Pyrenees, and compelled the Carthaginians to promise to neither attack these cities nor cross the Ebro with the purpose of making further conquests. After the murder of Hasdrubal (221) the army chose the son of Hamilcar Barcas, Hannibal, then 28 years old, for their general. In order to make war unavoidable even against the will of the Carthaginian government, Hannibal conquered and destroyed Saguntum (219) after a brave resistance of the inhabitants for eight months. A refusal to deliver up Hannibal as demanded by a Roman embassy in Carthage was followed by a declaration of war on the part of the Romans.

The plan of the Romans to land their main army in Africa, while a second army should engage the Carthaginian troops in Spain, was thwarted by

218. Hannibal's daring expedition to Italy

by land.² Leaving a sufficient number of troops in Spain, Hannibal crossed the Pyrenees with 50,000 foot, 9000 horse, and 37 elephants, traversed Gaul not far from the coast by way of Narbo (Narbonne) and Nemausus (Nîmes). The Roman consul P. Cornelius Scipio, who had stopped at Massilia on the voyage to Spain, heard of Hannibal's march, but his attempt to prevent the Carthaginians from crossing the Rhodanus (Rhône) with a division of his army came too late ; the Carthaginian army had already passed the river above Avenio (Avignon). Cavalry skirmish. The Roman consul sent his brother Cn. Scipio with the main part of the army to Spain, while he himself returned with a small force to northern Italy (Pisæ). Hannibal marched up the Rhône to Vienna, then turned eastward through the territory of the Allobroges and Centrones, where he forced a way with great loss, crossed the Alps, still fighting, by the pass of the Little St. Bernard, and after indescribable exertions and severe losses reached the valley of the Dora Baltea with about 26,000 men and a few elephants. In upper Italy a small Roman army was engaged with the revolted Gauls. Hannibal defeated the consul Scipio, who had gone on before with the cavalry and light-armed foot soldiers, in the

218. Cavalry engagement on the Ticinus, a northern branch of the Po. The wounded consul was rescued by his seventeen-years-old son, the future "Africanus." Reinforced by the Gauls, Hannibal defeated in the

Dec. Battle of the Trebia, a southern branch of the Po, the other consul, Tib. Sempronius Longus, who had been hastily recalled from Sicily before the commencement of his African expedition, and now commanded the united Roman armies; the remnant of the Roman force threw itself into the fortresses Placentia and Cremona.

In northern Italy Hannibal organized the national insurrection of the Cisalpine Gauls; over 60,000 joined his army. In Rome two new consular armies were placed in the field for the next campaign. One under Cn. Servilius took the Via Flaminia to Ariminum in Umbria, the other under C. Flaminius the Via Cassia to Arretium in Etruria, to meet a possible attack by the Carthaginians. After Hannibal had released without ransom all prisoners belonging to the Roman allies, and by their influence had incited all Italy to desert Rome, he crossed the Apennines, and marched, unexpectedly to the Romans, through the swampy regions about the Arno. Severe losses. Hannibal himself lost an eye. By this march he flanked the Roman defensive position. The consul Flaminius followed him in all haste, and allowed himself to be decoyed by Hannibal into a narrow pass. In the 217. Battle of Lake Trasimene, between Cortona and Perugia, the Roman army was partly slaughtered, partly made prisoner (in all 30,000 men). Terror at Rome. Preparations for the defence of the city, destruction of the bridges over the Tiber. Appointment of Q. Fabius Maximus as dictator. Hannibal, however, did not march upon Rome, but passed the fortress of Spoletium after an unsuccessful attempt to surprise it, traversed Umbria across the Apennines to Picenum and the Adriatic Sea. There he rested his army, reorganized it after the Italian system, and established communication with Carthage by sea. Then he advanced southward. His hope that the Sabellian tribes would join him was not fulfilled; most of the cities closed their gates upon him.

After the dictator Q. Fabius Maximus had united his 2 new legions with the army of Ariminum, he followed, at a discreet distance, the Carthaginian army, which went through Samnium to Apulia, and passed by Luceria to Arpi. Fabius avoided a pitched battle (hence his nickname Cunctator, delayer), but tried successfully to weaken the Carthaginian army by numerous skirmishes. Hannibal crossed the Apennines again, and went through Samnium to Capua, which he tried in vain to seduce from Rome. The dictator followed and obstructed the Carthaginian march on the Volturnus, where Hannibal gained the pass by a stratagem only (Livius, XXII. 16). After he had severely harried the Sabellian tribes, Hannibal returned to Apulia.

Meantime the military conduct of Fabius Maximus had so displeased the Roman populace that they entrusted one half the army to the independent command of M. Minucius, master of the horse, who had had a fortunate skirmish with the Carthaginians, as a second dictator.¹ The new dictator attacked Hannibal, but was defeated, and only saved from complete annihilation by the first dictator, Fabius Maximus.

The consuls for 216 were the veteran general L. Æmilius Paulus, elected by the optimates, and the incompetent C. Terentius Varro, elected by the popular party for the purpose of taking the offensive against Hannibal with an army of 86,000 Romans and allies. On the day when he had the decisive vote in the council of war, Varro imprudently attacked the Carthaginians, who held an advantageous position. The Romans suffered in the 216. Battle of Cannæ (in Apulia, on the Aufidus), the most terrible defeat they ever experienced; 70,000 fell (among them more than eighty men of senatorial rank and the consul L. Æmilius Paullus); the rest were captured or dispersed. Varro, with a small troop, escaped to Canusium.

In the same year the legion which had been sent to Cisalpine Gaul was almost entirely destroyed. The secession of Capua, the Samnites, Lucanians, and many cities of lower Italy from the Roman alliance was the immediate consequence of the battle of Cannæ.

Admirable conduct of the Roman senate. The time of mourning for the families of the fallen was limited to thirty days. Hannibal's ambassadors, who offered to exchange prisoners, were refused entrance to the city. A new army was formed by a levy of the youngest men and all who could bear arms, even slaves; they were armed in part out of the ancient spoils from the temples. M. Claudius Marcellus, who had approved himself in the Gallic war, was placed in command of the new army, which joined the remnants of the army of Cannæ. A second army was conducted by the dictator M. Junius. The Romans successfully defended Naples, Cumæ, and Nola.

Carthage formed an alliance with Philip V. (III.) of Macedonia, and Hieronymus, the grandson and successor of Hiero, of Syracuse. Hannibal went into winter quarters at Capua.

215. The fortune of war turned in favor of the Romans. Q. Fabius Maximus, Tib. Sempronius Gracchus, the consuls, and M. Claudius Marcellus, pro-consul, led three Roman armies. In the

215. Battle of Nola,

Marcellus defeated Hannibal, who retired to Apulia. Hannibal was obliged to assume the defensive, since, with the exception of 4000 men, he received no support from Carthage. The dispatch of reinforcements from Spain was prevented by the successful 218-211. War of the Romans against the Carthaginians in Spain.

The Romans, under P. Scipio and Cn. Scipio, defeated Hasdrubal, Hannibal's brother, on the Iberus (Ebro), crossed this river, and penetrated the Carthaginian territory as far as the Bætis (Guadalquivir). There they defeated the Carthaginians in two encounters at Illiturgi and Intibili, and maintained themselves in southern Spain, until 212, in spite of varying fortune. At the same time they were pressing the Carthaginians in Africa through their ally, Syphax, king of western Numidia. The alliance with Philip of Macedon likewise brought no help to Hannibal. The was successfully conducted by the Romans with scanty forces. The irresolute Philip did not dare to fulfil his promise to Hannibal of landing in Italy. In 211 the Romans brought about a league of Grecian states against Philip, under the lead of the Ætolians, which was joined by Illyrian and Thracian chiefs, and even by King Attalus of Pergamus. The war was, on the whole, unfavorable to Philip. In 206 peace was concluded between Philip and the Romans, against the wishes of the latter; but it was, nevertheless, accepted by the senate.

The alliance with Syracuse proved also of no use to Hannibal, as the 214-210. War in Sicily (Siege of Syracuse) was decided by Marcellus in favor of the Romans. After the destruction of the Carthaginian army of relief under Hamilcar, by defeat and disease in the swampy lowlands of the Anapus, 212. Syracuse was captured and plundered, in spite of a brave resistance (Archimedes).

In Italy Hannibal gained possession of Tarentum through treachery (212), and laid siege to the citadel of that city by land and sea. Death of Tib. Sempronius Gracchus in Samnium. Hannibal advanced to Campania and compelled the Romans to raise the siege of Capua, after which he defeated two Roman armies in Lucania and Apulia, but retired to Tarentum. The Romans again laid siege to Capua.

In Spain the war took an unfavorable turn for Rome in this same year, 212. Both Scipios were defeated and killed by the Carthaginians and their ally, Massinissa, son of the king of eastern Numidia (king himself in 208). The Romans were driven back over the Ebro.

211. Hannibal attacked the Roman army before Capua. He was repulsed, and in order to force the Romans to raise the siege he marched through Samnium to the territory of the Æqui on the later Via Valeria, past Tibur, across the Anio, directly upon Rome, and encamped a mile from the city (Hannibal ante portas!). Finding the Romans prepared for defence, he retired, after ravaging the neighborhood, to lower Italy, without having gained his end.

211. Capua surrendered to the Romans, who visited a terrible punishment upon the city. Fifty-three citizens were beheaded, many sold into slavery; the community was deprived of the right of self-government. Hannibal's attack on Rhegium and on the citadel of Tarentum having miscarried, his Italian allies abandoned him, and tried to make their peace with the Romans.

210. P. Cornelius Scipio, son and nephew of the brothers who fell in Spain, and now 25 years old, was sent to Spain with proconsular powers (Livius, XXVI. 18).

In Italy Hannibal gained a victory over the proconsul Cn. Fulvius at Herdonea. In Sicily the Romans captured Agrigentum, slaughtering the Carthaginian garrison and selling the populace as slaves, and reduced the whole island under their power. In Spain Scipio crossed the Ebro (209) and conquered New Carthage.

209. M. Marcellus, having been defeated in an encounter with Hannibal, at Canusium, gained a victory over him in a second battle on the following day. Q. Fabius Maximus captured Tarentum; 30,000 Tarentines were sold as slaves. Hannibal retired to Metapontum.

208. Marcellus fell in a cavalry skirmish at Venusia. Great exhaustion of Rome and its allies in consequence of the war in its own country, now in its tenth year.

In Spain Scipio (208) pressed victoriously southward, but fought a drawn battle at Bœcula with Hasdrubal, and was unable to prevent him from crossing the Pyrenees on his way to his brother Hannibal.

Arrived in upper Italy (207), Hasdrubal was successful in inciting the Cisalpine Gauls to arms. Great preparations in Rome (23 legions) to prevent his union with Hannibal, who was advancing to meet him through Lucania and Apulia. The consul M. Livius Salinator was sent against Hasdrubal, the consul C. Claudius Nero against Hannibal. Drawn battle at Grumentum in Lucania, between Nero and Hannibal; the latter broke through the enemy, marched to Apulia, and encamped by Canusium. Nero, who had followed him, left a part of the army to watch Hannibal, while with the rest he joined his colleague by means of forced marches. The two consuls defeated Hasdrubal in the bloody 207. Battle of Sena gallica, not far from the river Metaurus. Death of Hasdrubal. On receipt of the news of this defeat (the Romans threw the head of Hasdrubal among the Carthaginian pickets), Hannibal retired to Bruttium. In Spain victory of Scipio at Bœcula over Hasdrubal, son of Gisgo.

206. After completing the expulsion of the Carthaginians from Spain by the capture of Gades (Cadiz), and after concluding a secret alliance with Massinissa, P. Cornelius Scipio returned to Rome. For the following year

205. Scipio was elected consul, and made preparations in Sicily for an African expedition. Mago, the youngest brother of Hannibal, landed at Genoa with the remnants of the Spanish army of the Carthaginians, and called the Ligurians to arms. At once, the Romans levied three armies against him.

204. Scipio landed in Africa. Massinissa, who had been driven from his throne by the Carthaginians, and by Syphax, husband of Hasdrubal's daughter Sophonisbe, now their ally, joined Scipio.

203. Scipio defeated Hasdrubal, son of Gisgo, and Syphax by a night attack, and threatened Carthage. Unsuccessful negotiations for peace. The Carthaginians recalled Hannibal and Mago from Italy. The latter died on the passage. Hannibal embarked at Croton, having previously massacred the Italian soldiers who refused to accompany him. After fruitless personal negotiations between Scipio and Hannibal the

202. Decisive battle of Zama was fought, wherein the Carthaginian army was defeated and annihilated. Hannibal escaped to Hadrumentum.

201. Scipio granted the Carthaginians peace on the following conditions: 1. Surrender of their Spanish possessions and of all Mediterranean islands still under their control. 2. Transfer of the kingdom of Syphax to Massinissa. 3. Payment of a yearly tribute of 200 talents ($250,000) for fifty years. 4. Surrender and destruction of all ships of war except ten. 5. No war to be undertaken without the permission of Rome. P. Cornelius Scipio, who received the cognomen of Africanus, celebrated his triumph in Rome with a splendor never before witnessed (Syphax).

The Italian allies of Hannibal were in part sentenced to cede large portions of their territory, in part reduced to subjects of Rome, deprived of their independence and their right to bear arms (peregrini dediticii). Foundation of numerous Roman colonies in Lower Italy.

In consequence of another general rising of the Cisalpine Gauls and the Ligurians, 200–191. Upper Italy was again subjugated after a severe struggle. Although the peoples of Transpadane Gaul retained their tribal constitutions they soon became, with few exceptions, completely Latinized. This took place still more quickly among the Cispadane Gauls after the leading tribe, the Boii, had been almost exterminated in war. Numerous colonies were in part founded, in part reorganized. Via Æmilia from Ariminum to Placentia.

Spain was regarded as a Roman province after 205. It was divided into: 1. Hispania citerior, later Tarraconensis; and 2. Hispania ulterior, or Bætica and Lusitania. The country was, however, during this period, and a part of the next, commonly in a state of war. In 195 the consul, M. Porcius Cato, gained a great victory over the Spaniards, and decreed a universal disarmament. The insurrections soon began again. A victory of the prætor L. Æmilius Paullus (189), and another, still more important, gained by the prætor, C. Calpurnius, over the Lusitanians (185), induced quiet for a time in Hispania ulterior. The victories of Q. Fulvius Flaccus (181) and Tiberius Gracchus (179–178) partially subdued the Celtiberians of Hispania citerior.

200–197. Second Macedonian War.

Cause: A Macedonian force of mercenaries sent, as the senate maintained, by king Philip, had fought at Zama against the Romans. King Attalus of Pergamus, the inhabitants of Rhodes and Athens besought assistance from the Romans against King Philip V. (III.) of Macedonia, who, in alliance with Antiochus III. was warring with Egypt and also grievously troubling the supplicants.

In the autumn of 200 the Romans landed at Apollonia, in Illyria, under P. Sulpicius Galba. The Roman fleet guarded Piræus and threatened Eubœa. Philip was repulsed before Athens, and driven from Central Greece. The Romans, who were joined in 199 by the Ætolians and afterwards by the Achæans, carried on the war with varying fortune, but without result, until (198) the consul, T. Quinc- tius Flaminius, took command of the army. He subdued Epirus, got into the rear of Philip's strong position, and defeated the king in the 197. Battle of Cynoscephalæ (Κυνὸς κεφαλαί, in Thessaly).

Peace: Philip was obliged to give up the hegemony of Greece, and in general all possessions outside of Macedonia proper, and to pay 1000 talents ($1,250,000) in ten years. He was to maintain no more than 5000 soldiers and five ships of war, and not to carry on war beyond his own borders without the consent of Rome. During the Isthmian games, T. Quinctius Flaminius proclaimed, under general rejoicing, the decree of the Roman senate declaring the Greek states free and independent. The majority joined the Achæan league. The Romans limited, without destroying, the power of Nabis, tyrant of Sparta, hoping thus to counterbalance the Achæan league.

195. At Carthage a democratic reform of the constitution was carried out by the influence of Hannibal. The oligarchs defamed Hannibal before the Roman senate, which demanded that he be delivered to the Romans. Hannibal fled to the East.

192-189. War with Antiochus III., of Syria.

Cause: Interference of the king of Syria in Grecian affairs, and of the Romans in Asiatic politics; reception of Hannibal at the court of Antiochus.

Antiochus, deceived by the Ætolians who had fallen out with Rome, and promised to join him with all the Greek cantons as allies, began the war, without listening to the advice of Hannibal, by landing in Thessaly on the Gulf of Pagasæ, whence he went to Eubœa. Most of the Greeks, especially the Achæan league, remained true to the Romans, who were also joined by Philip of Macedon, Eumenes of Pergamus, and Rhodes. Antiochus occupied the pass of Thermopylæ. Landing of the consul, Manius Acilius Glabrio, in Epirus (191) and march to Thessaly. The former consul, M. Porcius Cato, conqueror of the Spaniards, who served as military tribune in the Roman army, surprised the Ætolians on the mountain path of Ephialtes, while the consul captured the pass itself and scattered the army of Antiochus, who escaped to Chalcis with a few soldiers, and there took ship for Ephesus. The Romans besieged the Ætolians in Naupactus; their fleet, under C. Livius, defeated that of Antiochus at Chios. In the following year (190) a fleet from Rhodes defeated a fleet of the king, under the command of Hannibal, at the mouth of the Eurymedon, and somewhat later the Roman fleet, with that of Rhodes, won a naval victory at Myonnesus.

A Roman army, nominally under the command of the consul, L. Cornelius Scipio, but really under his brother, P. Cornelius Scipio Africanus, marched through Macedonia and Thrace, crossed the Hellespont, and defeated Antiochus in the

- 190. Battle of Magnesia on the Sipylus, not far from Smyrna, whereupon the king concluded peace in the following year : 1. Surrender of all European possessions, and of his Asiatic possessions as far as the Taurus. 2. Payment of 15,000 Eubœan talents ($19,125,000) within twelve years. 3. Surrender of Hannibal, who, however, escaped. This peace struck the kingdom of the Seleucidæ from the list of great powers. The Roman senate having resolved, for the present, not to acquire any immediate possessions in Asia, divided the ceded territory among its allies, Eumenes of Pergamus, and Rhodes, and proclaimed itself the protector of the Greek cities of Asia against the Galatians (189, Expedition of Cn. Manlius Volso), and regulator of the political relations of Asia. In Greece the Ætoliæ were conquered and subjugated, the other cantons retained, for the present, their independence. Internecine quarrels continued among the Greeks, and the Roman senate was in all cases appealed to as arbitrator. Philip of Macedonia received but scanty remuneration for his services in the war against Syria.

183 (?). Death of Hannibal. He poisoned himself at the court of Prusias, king of Bithynia, by whom he saw himself betrayed. Death of his conqueror, P. Cornelius Scipio Africanus, at Linternum, whither he had retired after he and his brother, Lucius, had been accused by M. Porcius Cato of having been bribed by Antiochus.

180. The lex annalis of the tribune, L. Villius, established, besides a military service of ten years, a fixed age for all the curule offices : ædiles, 37 years ; prætor, 40 ; consul, 43. Since the first Punic war the expenses of the great games were no longer borne by the public treasury, but by the ædiles, which at once closed the office to all who were not men of property. The higher offices of state, and the position of senator, became more and more decidedly privileges of the nobility (p. 102).

171–168. Third Macedonian war. Destruction of the Macedonian monarchy.

Cause : The plan of Philip V. (III.), to revenge himself on the Romans, and to regain the old borders of Macedonia, was carried forward by his son and successor, Perseus, the murderer of his brother Demetrius, who favored Rome. King Eumenes of Pergamus informed the senate of the preparations of Perseus.

During the first three campaigns, weak and unsuccessful conduct on the part of the Roman generals, combined with injustice and cruelty against the allied Achæans and Epirotes, who were thereby forced to actual desertion. At last L. Æmilius Paullus, son of the consul who fell at Cannæ (p. 115), obtained the chief command. He restored discipline in the Roman army, drove back the Macedonians, and defeated Perseus in the 168 Battle of Pydna.

Sept. 11,000 Macedonians were captured, 20,000 perished. Perseus fell into the power of the Romans (in Samothrace). Splendid triumph of Æmilius Paullus. The spoils brought to Rome were so immense that henceforward the citizens were relieved from the tributum.

Dissolution of the kingdom of Macedonia, which was transformed into 4 confederacies dependent upon Rome, neither the right of emigration nor of intermarriage (commercium et connubium) being allowed them. Genthius, king of Illyria, who had been an ally of Perseus, being soon conquered (168), that country was divided into 3 tributary districts with federal constitutions. Epirus was cruelly punished, 70 towns being plundered and destroyed, 150,000 Epirotes sold as slaves. The Greek cantons, friend and foe alike, were reduced to the condition of subject clients. 1000 Achæans of high standing, among whom was the historian Polybius, were carried to Rome for examination (167), and detained without trial 16 years in Italian cities under surveillance. The old allies of the Romans, Eumenes of Pergamus and Rhodes, who had attempted to hold the position of mediators during the war, were chastised and all the possessions of the latter on the mainland taken away. In a war which broke out between Syria and Egypt the senate interfered as guardian of both powers. The Roman ambassador, C. Popillius Lænas, arrogantly and insultingly ordered Antiochus IV., king of Syria, to retire from before Alexandria. He drew a line around the king with his staff, and bade him decide before he stepped from the circle. (Polybius, xxix. 27.)

149-146. Third Punic War.

Cause: The Carthaginians, whose commerce and maritime power had begun to increase, having been unable to procure from Rome any reparation for several losses of territory which they had sustained at the hands of Massinissa, finally took up arms themselves. The Roman senate, on the instigation of M. Porcius Cato ("Ceterum censeo Carthaginem esse delendam") declared this a breach of the peace.

Two Roman armies landed at Utica. Humble submission of the Carthaginians, who at the command of the consul delivered up their war-ships and weapons. But when ordered to abandon their city and make a new settlement ten miles from the sea, the Carthaginians resolved on a desperate resistance. With the greatest sacrifices on the part of all the inhabitants of Carthage, without regard to rank, age or sex, new equipments were provided. Weapons were manufactured day and night. A new fleet was built in the inner harbor. An attack of the Romans was repulsed. Siege of Carthage.

147. P. Cornelius Scipio Æmilianus (son of Æmilius Paullus, adopted son of P. Cornelius Scipio Africanus (Major), assumed the command. He shut off the city completely on both the land and sea side.

146. Capture and destruction of Carthage.

Street fight lasting six days, and a conflagration which lasted seventeen days.

The remaining inhabitants were sold into slavery. The coast land from the river Tusca, opposite the island of Galatha (Galita), to Thenæ, on the Syrtis minor, was made a Roman province under the name Africa, with the capital at Utica. The rest of the country fell for the present to the allied kingdom of Numidia. Splendid triumph of Scipio, who received the name of Africanus (Minor).

148-146. Fourth Macedonian War.

against Andriscus, who gave himself out as Philippus, brother of Perseus (Pseudo-Philippus), and incited the Macedonians to rise against the Roman rule. He was defeated in two battles and captured by Q. Cæcilius Metellus. Macedonia became a Roman province (146).

146. Achæan War.

Cause : Return of 300 Achæans from Italy, after an imprisonment of 16 years (p. 121). The anti-Roman party was thereby strengthened in all cities. Incited by Critolaus and Dicæus, the Achæan league began war with Sparta, with whom the Romans took sides. The senate pronounced the dissolution of the League.

Victory of Metellus over Critolaus at Scarphea in Locris. Dicæus summoned all who could bear arms together on the Isthmus, and armed 12,000 slaves. He was defeated by the consul L. Mummius in the 146. Battle of Leucopetra.

Corinth, the chief city of the Achæan league, was occupied by Mummius without a blow. The art treasures were sent to Rome, and the inhabitants were sold as slaves. The territory of the city was in part given to Sicyon, in part transformed into Roman public land.

Corinth destroyed at the command of the senate.

The other Greek cities were, for the most part, mildly treated, and allowed to retain their autonomy (their own administration and jurisdiction), but in such a way that they were subordinated to the governor of Macedonia and had to pay tribute to Rome. Not until later (p. 80), it seems, did Greece become a Roman province with the name Achaia.

At the close of this epoch Rome possessed eight provinces 1. Sicilia (241). 2. Sardinia (238), with Corsica. 3. Hispania citerior (205). 4. Hispania ulterior (205). 5. Gallia Cisalpina (191?), 6. Illyricum (168). 7. Africa (140). 8. Macedonia (146), and Greece (Achaia).

The first four provinces were at first governed by prætors, so that, counting the prætor urbanus and the prætor inter cives et peregrinos (p. 101) who always stayed in Rome, there were six prætors elected every year. Later, however, it was decreed that all six (after Sulla, 8) prætors should remain in Rome during their year of office, 4 (6) to preside over the standing courts (quæstiones perpetuæ). Of these the first, for cases of extortion (de repetundis), was established in 149 by the lex Calpurnia; to this were added down to the time of Sulla (p. 132) courts having jurisdiction over fraud in obtaining office (de ambitu), over high treason (de maiestate), over embezzlement (de peculatu). Sulla created courts for the trial of cases of murder and poisoning (de sicariis et veneficiis) of forgery of wills and of counterfeiting (de falso).

For the year succeeding their year of office the prætors went as pro-prætors to the provinces which had fallen to them by lot. The proprætors received, as a rule, however, only those provinces which were considered quiet, and which could be administered without any considerable military force. Those which were still the scene of warfare were assigned to one of the consuls in office, or to a proconsul, the consul of the preceding year having his term of command prolonged for the prosecution of the war (imperium prorogare) or an ex-consul (vir consularis) or an ex-prætor (vir prætorius) being appointed proconsul. Thus the provinces were at a later period distinguished into proconsular and prætorial.

The organization of a province was commonly entrusted to the general who had conquered it, and a commission of ten senators. Many cities in the provinces retained their own jurisdiction and municipal government (civitates liberæ), in consequence of a treaty concluded with the Roman people (foedus, hence civitates fœderatæ), or of a law (lex) or decree of the senate (senatus consultum). The taxes of the provinces were generally let to tax-farmers (publicani), mostly Roman citizens of the equestrian order (ordo equester) many of whom also did business in the provinces as bankers (negotiatores).¹

In 153 the term of service for the consulate began in January for the first time, and this soon became the rule. Especially noteworthy in this epoch is the practical disappearance of the dictatorship. The last dictator with military power was appointed after the battle of Cannæ (216), and the last nominated for municipal business was in 202. After this, in times of peculiar danger, the senate conferred dictatorial power on the consuls, by the formula: "The consuls shall take measures for the public good according to their discretion." (Videant consules ne quid detrimenti respublica capiat), which somewhat resembles a modern proclamation of martial law or state of siege.

FOURTH PERIOD.

143-133. Numantine War.

Continuance of hostilities in Spain. War in Lusitania against Viriathus, 147-139, ended only by the latter's murder. The war in northern Spain centred around the fortified city of Numantia,² which was vainly besieged by Metellus, and then by several incapable generals, who utterly neglected the discipline of the army. Finally P. Cornelius Scipio Æmilianus Africanus (Minor) received the command. He restored discipline, and, after an investment of fifteen months' duration, starved the city into submission. Desperate defence.

133. Surrender and destruction of Numantia.

Scipio Æmilianus received the surname of Numanticus. After the fall of Numantia all Spain, excepting the mountain tribes of the north, was reduced under Roman government.

135-132. First servile war.

Insurrection of the slaves in Sicily, who were terribly ill-treated, under the Syrian Eunus, who called himself king Antiochus,

and fought a long time successfully against the Roman armies, maintaining himself in Henna and Tauromenium, but was finally captured and executed, together with a great number of the insurgents.

133-121. Civil disturbances under the Gracchi, excited by the political and social reforms urged through revolutionary means by the brothers Tiberius Gracchus and Caius Gracchus.

Constant increase in the number of great estates worked by slaves (Latifundia). The number of slaves in Italy was immensely increased by the successful wars, and by a most extensive slave trade, especially with eastern Asia. The order of free peasants and renters was thereby greatly reduced, while there was formed in the capital a numerous rabble without property or occupation, who lived on bribes and gifts of grain. Bad government of the optimates (p. 101). Family cliques which took exclusive possession of all public offices and places in the senate.

Tib. Sempronius Gracchus (163-133), son of the plebeian consul of the same name (through his mother, Cornelia, grandson of the victor of Zama, p. 118), when tribune of the people proposed the reënactment of the Licinian agrarian law (p. 101) which had long been forgotten, with this alteration, that besides the 500 jugera, 250 jugera of public land should be allowed for every two sons, and that damages should be paid for all buildings erected on land which had to be given up. Opposition of the tribune M. Octavius, who had been gained over by the senate, and whom Tib. Gracchus caused to be deposed by an unconstitutional popular decree. The agrarian law was accepted by the people; its execution was entrusted to Tib. Gracchus, his father-in-law Appius Claudius, and his brother C. Gracchus.

133. Death of Attalus III., king of Pergamus, who left his kingdom and his treasures to the Romans.

Tib. Gracchus proposed in the popular assembly, contrary to the common usage, according to which the senate had the disposal of this inheritance, to divide the treasures of Pergamus among the new land-owners, in order that they might procure the necessary equipment.

Preparation of further popular laws of political tendency; shortening of the time of military service; extension of the right of appeal, etc.

Tib. Gracchus tried, contrary to the constitution, to secure the election to the tribunate for the following year. The election was forcibly stopped by the senate. Tib. Gracchus and 300 of his followers were killed by the optimates, armed with clubs and chair-legs, and led by the consul, P. Scipio Nasica.

129. After the defeat of Aristonicus, a pretender to the throne of the Attalidæ, by Perperna, Pergamus became a Roman province under the name of Asia.

133-129. The division of the public lands was partially carried out as decreed. The struggle between the democracy and the optimates continued. The leader of the latter party, P. Scipio Æmilianus, husband of Sempronia, the sister of the Gracchi, who had successfully opposed the proposals of the democratic tribune, C. Carbo, found dead in his bed (murdered?).

125. The democratic consul, M. Fulvius Flaccus, who had unsuccessfully proposed to give the right of citizenship to all Italians, was sent by the senate, which wished him out of the way, to assist the Massiliotes against the Gauls, by whom they were hard pressed. He laid the foundation of Roman supremacy in Transalpine Gaul. The immediate purpose of this occupation was the establishment of communication by land, between Italy and Spain. In 123 the proconsul, Sextius, founded the colony of Aquæ Sextiæ (Aix). Gallia Narbonensis, so called after the colony Narbo Martius founded in 121, a Roman province. In 123 the Balearic Islands were subjected to Rome.

123. Caius Sempronius Gracchus, for two years quæstor in Sardinia, returned to Rome against the will of the senate, and was elected tribune of the people.

Surpassing his brother in talent, force of character, and passionate energy, C. Gracchus not only took up again the latter's social reforms, but also brought forward, one after another, a series of proposals looking to a revolutionary alteration of the constitution. Had they been completely adopted, these innovations would perchance have substituted for the existing aristocratic republican government the rule of one man under the form of a democracy. Whether C. Gracchus desired such a power for himself is, however, very doubtful. By the regular distribution of grain, at the expense of the state, C. Gracchus attempted to make the proletarii of the capital his willing tool in coercing the comitæ. He was able to secure in 122 his election to the tribunate for the second time.

The lex judiciaria transferred the jury-duty from the order of senators to that of the equites, and made the preëxisting separation between these two parts of the Roman aristocracy still more abrupt.

The designation, "ordo equester," which belonged originally to those citizens only who actually did cavalry service, had been gradually extended to all who, in consequence of having property to the amount of at least 400,000 sesterces, were liable to such service. Since 129 the senators were obliged, according to law, on entering the senate, to leave the centuries of equites. Hence "equites" denoted especially the members of the aristocracy of wealth, who were not members of the senate; yet the young men of senatorial families continued to serve regularly in the centuries of equites.

Encroachments of C. Gracchus on the administrative privileges of the senate by means of resolves of the popular assembly. The lex provocatio reenacted. Colonies sent out by decrees of the people instead of by decrees of the senate. C. Gracchus himself established the colony of Junonia on the site of Carthage.

The absence of the all-powerful tribune from Rome was utilized by the senate, to secure him a dangerous opponent in the person of the tribune, M. Livius Drusus. The proposals of this tribune, in the interests of the lower classes, were constantly approved by the senate, with the view of undermining the popularity of Gracchus.

122. The motion of C. Gracchus and his colleague, M. Fulvius Flaccus, to grant the Latins all the rights of citizenship, and the other Italians Latin rights, was defeated by the united opposition of the senate and the lower classes of the capital. C. Gracchus was not elected tribune for the following (third) year.
121. Civil strife in the city, occasioned by a murder committed by one of the supporters of Gracchus. The democratic party occupied the Aventine, which, being poorly defended, was stormed by the optimates. C. Gracchus and M. Fulvius were slain, along with several hundred of their supporters. Of the prisoners about 3000 are said to have been strangled in prison.¹ Restoration of the power of the senate, and the former condition of things. After M. Livius Drusus had removed the ground rent, and repealed the law prohibiting the alienation of assignments of public land, and thereby given the optimates opportunity to repurchase their confiscated lands, a decree of the people, 111, converted all public lands in possession of citizens into the private property (not subject to taxation) of those who had formerly enjoyed the usufruct.

111-105.² Jugurthine war.

Cause: Micipsa, Massinissa's eldest son, had decreed in his will that after his death his sons, Hiempsal and Adherbal, should reign over Numidia in common with his nephew and adopted son, Jugurtha. Quarrels of the kings. Attempt to actually divide the kingdom. Jugurtha murdered Hiempsal and expelled Adherbal, who sought protection in Rome. A commission of the senate, which was bribed by Jugurtha, arranged a division of the kingdom entirely in Jugurtha's favor. The latter attacked Adherbal anew, defeated him, and besieged him in Cirta, his capital. Without heeding the intervention of the Roman senate, Jugurtha captured Cirta, and put to death Adherbal and the whole male population of the city, including many Italians. Indignation at Rome, and, finally, at the instance of the tribune, C. Memmius, declaration of war against Jugurtha.

Jugurtha bought from the consul, L. Calpurnius Bestia, a peace, which the senate, upon the motion of Memmius, refused to ratify. Invitation of the king to Rome. Jugurtha appeared in the city upon guarantee of safe conduct, and gained partisans for himself by his money. When, however, he connived at the murder of Massiva, a third grandson of Massinissa, in Rome itself, he was banished from the city, and the war was renewed.

- 110-109. The war was unsuccessfully conducted by the Romans. Jugurtha defeated a Roman army, sent it under the yoke, and dictated a peace which was repudiated by the senate.
109. Q. Metellus, entrusted with the command, defeated Jugurtha on the river Muthul. The Romans occupied Numidia with two armies, one under Metellus, the other commanded by his legate C. Marius (son of a day laborer from the vicinity of Arpinum).

² Concerning the chronology of this war, see Mommsen, III. p. 153, note.

108. After fruitless negotiations, another Roman victory. Jugurtha withdrew to the oases of the desert and induced the nomads of those parts (Gætulæ) to take up arms against the Romans. Pursued into the desert, he joined forces with his father-in-law, Bocchus, king of Mauritania.
107. Marius, in spite of the opposition of the aristocrats, received the consulate and chief command. He conquered the Gætulians, repulsed a combined attack of Jugurtha and Bocchus at Cirta, entered into secret negotiations with Bocchus through
- 106-105. his quæstor, L. Cornelius Sulla, and secured the delivery of Jugurtha into his hands. The captive king was led in triumph at Rome and died of hunger in prison. Numidia was divided between Bocchus and Gauda, the last living grandson of Massinissa.

113-101. War against the Cimbri and Teutones.

- The Germanic, or, according to others, Celtic, tribe of the Cimbri (Chempho, i. e. warriors ?) made their way from the north into the Alpine regions, defeated at Noreia, in Corinthia, the consul Cn. Papirius Carbo, turned afterwards westward towards the Rhine, which they crossed, and defeated a Roman army under M. Junius Silanus, who had hurried to the aid of the Allobroges. Helvetian bands pressed into Gaul, and 107. defeated the consul L. Cassius Longinus on the Garonne. The Cimbri traversed Gaul in various directions, defeated and annihilated two large Roman armies under Q. Servilius Cæpio and Cn. Mallius Maximus at Arausia (Orange) on the Rhône. Terror at Rome. Violent proceedings of the democratic leaders against the incapable generals of the optimates. Cæpio, Maximus, and others condemned.
- 104-100. Marius elected consul five times in succession.

The Cimbri meantime had crossed the Pyrenees and were wandering aimlessly about among the Spanish tribes. Defeated by the Celtiberians, they recrossed the Pyrenees, traversed western Gaul, and gave Marius time to reorganize the Roman forces in the Provincia Narbonensis (Provence). Defeated by the Belgians, the Cimbri united with the Germanic tribes of the Teutones and with Helvetian tribes (Tougenes and Tigorini). These three peoples resolved to enter Italy in two separate bands. The greater part of the Cimbri and the Tigorini were to invade Italy from the north, while the Teutones with the Ambrones, the best among the Cimbri, and the Tougenes were to force their way into Italy through southern Gaul (102). Marius attempted to intercept the latter band. By his position at the junction of the Isère and the Rhône, he covered the two military roads which at that time alone connected Gaul and Italy (Pass of the Little St. Bernard, and the shore road). Futile attempt of the barbarians to storm the Roman camp. They passed the camp on their way down the Rhône. Marius, following them, defeated and annihilated their army in the

102. Battle of Aquæ Sextiæ (Aix in Provence, see p. 125). The king of the Teutones, Teutobod, was captured. Thereupon

Marius crossed the Alps to the assistance of his colleague Catulus, whom the Cimbri, having reached Italy by way of the Brenner Pass, had discomfited upon the Adige and driven behind the Po. The two consuls, having joined forces, advanced across the Po and annihilated the Cimbri in the

101. Battle of Vercellæ (in campis Raudii). Triumph of Marius, who was hailed by the multitude, "the third Romulus," "the second Camillus."

At the time of the Cimbrian war occurred the complete abolition of the Servian military organization, according to which military service was principally a tax on property, but which had already been several times altered. This had also long been the principle upon which the military service of the Italian allies was regulated. Hereafter the system of a citizen levy was supplemented by a recruiting system, principally of course from the idle and lazy portion of the population, and by a system of reinforcements, whereby cavalry and light-armed troops were drawn henceforward from the contingents of subject and vassal princes. A separate military order was formed, which was distinct from the civil order and opposed to it. The organization of the army, the strength and divisions of the legions (henceforward 6000 men in 10 cohorts), also underwent important changes.

- 103-99. Second servile insurrection (in Sicily) under Tryphon and Athenion, which was put down by the consul, Manius Aquilius, after a hard struggle.

100. Marius, for the sixth time consul, aiming at the royal power, joined the leaders of the people, the prætor C. Servilius Glaucia and L. Appuleius Saturninus, with the purpose of overthrowing the constitution. Saturninus, having gained the tribunate by murder, procured by violent means a division of lands among the veterans of Marius. The consul Q. Metellus went into voluntary banishment. The murder of C. Memmius, who had been nominated consul for the year 99, led to an actual contest in the forum between the optimates and the popular party. Saturninus and Glaucia being betrayed by their accomplice, Marius, were killed, with many of their followers.

99. Q. Metellus recalled to Rome. Marius, hated by both parties on

98. account of his equivocal conduct, went for a time to Asia.

91. Three bills brought forward by the tribune M. Livius Drusus:

1. Reform of the judicial department (lex judiciaria), which restored to the senate the places on the juries which had been taken from it, at the same time enlarging the senate by the addition of 300 equites. 2. A new division of lands (lex agraria). 3. Bestowal of the right of citizenship on the Italians (de civitate sociis danda). The first two proposals were adopted by the comitiæ, but declared null and void by the senate; as he was on the point of bringing the third before the people, Drusus was assassinated.

The disappointment of the Italian allies who had fixed their hopes upon Livius caused the revolt of nearly all the Italians excepting the Latins, most of the Etruscans and Umbrians and some southern cities, and led to the 91-88. Marsian or social war.

The Italians formed a federal republic under the name Italia, governed by a senate of 500 senators from all Italian tribes. The capital was Corfinium. They appointed two consuls and twelve prætors.

The terrible danger reconciled for the moment the parties at Rome, and caused the adoption of energetic measures : repeated levies of citizens, and enrollment of freedmen in the army. The best generals of both parties offered to serve under the consuls.

90. At the seat of war in the north, Marius fought against the Marsians and the other Sabellian tribes, for the most part, successfully. The Roman consul, Rutilius, fell; Cn. Pompeius Strabo, defeated at first, was afterwards victorious. At the southern seat of war (Campania, Samnium, Lucania), the allies got so decidedly the better of the Roman consul, L. Julius Cæsar, in spite of the dashing forays of Sulla, that the Etruscans and Umbrians, in the north, who had before remained faithful, were encouraged to revolt. In order to prevent this a law was passed Granting the right of citizenship to the Latins and to all districts among the above peoples which had remained faithful (lex Julia).

89. Successful conclusion of the war in the north. Superiority of the Roman arms in the south, especially under Sulla.

By the lex Plautia-Papiria Roman citizenship was given to all Italians who applied for it ; they were, however, included in 8 tribes only which were especially designated. The towns of Cisalpine Gaul which had municipal organizations received Latin rights (lex Pompeia).

88. By this concession the war in the south was also in the main brought to a close.

88-84. First Mithridatic war.

Cause : Mithradates or Mithridates VI., king of Pontus (120-63), had extended his power over the eastern shore of the Black Sea (Colchis) and along the Cimmerian Bosphorus (Crimea, and southern Russia). Kingdom of the Bosphorus. He had conquered Paphlagonia and Cappadocia and had provoked the interference of the senate by his encroachments on the client cities of Rome in Asia Minor. Already had Sulla, who was then proconsul in Cilicia, in 92, taken arms against him, and reinstated a king in Cappadocia. A second expulsion of this king, and quarrels of Mithridates with the king of Bithynia, who was supported by the Roman consul M. Aquilius, led to war.

88. Mithridates defeated Nicomedes, king of Bithynia, on the Amnias, a branch of the Halys, defeated the Roman generals, Oppius, Cassius, and Aquilius (the latter being cruelly put to death), and drove them out of Asia Minor. The Grecian cities of Asia joined him, and upon an order issued from Ephesus, put to death in one day all the Italians within their walls (80,000, or according to others 150,000).

Sulla, the consul for 88, was on the point of starting for Asia to attack Mithridates, when there broke out the 88-82. Civil war between Sulla (optimates) and Marius (democrats).

Direct cause : the revolutionary proposals of the tribune P. Sulpicius, which were carried by the most violent means, and particularly designed to secure the division of the new citizens, Italians and freedmen, among all the 35 tribes (ut novi cives libertinique in omnes tribus distribuarentur).

88. The populace under the control of demagogues deprived Sulla of the chief command and gave it to his opponent Marius, with proconsular power. Sulla marched with his army from Nola upon Rome and took the city by storm. Sulpicius and eleven other outlaws were killed upon the flight. Marius escaped by way of Minturnæ to Africa.

Sulla restored the old order of voting in the centuries as it had existed under the Servian constitution, but had been given up in 241 (p. 112), and decreed that in future the popular assemblies should not vote upon any measure which had not previously passed the senate.

87. An optimate, Cn. Octavius, and a democrat, L. Cornelius Cinna, were elected consuls. Sulla, as proconsul, took the command in the Mithridatic war.

During Sulla's absence Cinna endeavored to renew the laws of Sulpicius by violence. After a bloody struggle in the forum he was driven out by the optimates. He formed an army in Campania of armed bands of dissatisfied Italians, liberated slaves, etc., and uniting with the aged Marius, who had returned from Africa, with Q. Sertorius and Cn. Papirius Carbo, advanced upon Rome, which was compelled to surrender. Revolutionary reign of terror in the city. Five days' slaughter at Marius' command of all optimates who had not fled (among others L. and C. Cæsar, M. Antonius, P. Crassus, Q. Catulus), confiscation of their property, plundering and outrages of the armed bands.

86. Marius (for the 7th time) and Cinna, consuls ; Sulla deposed in his absence. Death of Marius, over seventy years old. L. Valerius Flaccus was made consul in his stead and appointed by the popular party to the command of the Mithridatic war.

87-84. Tyrannical government of Cinna at Rome, regardless of the newly restored democratic constitution.

Meantime the outlawed Sulla was conducting the war against Mithridates. The latter had sent his general Archelaus with an army and fleet to Greece, where most of the cities joined him at once, particularly Athens under the government of Aristion.

87. Sulla landed with 30,000 men in Epirus, advanced to Bœotia, drove Archelaus and Aristion out of the country and besieged the former in Piræus, the latter in Athens. He defeated an army of relief from Pontus, and after a tedious siege captured March. Athens. Sulla defeated Archelaus, who had voluntarily evacuated Piræus, gone by sea to Bœotia, and joined the reinforcements sent by Mithridates, in the

86. Battle of Chæronea and in the next year in the

85. Battle of Orchomenus, after which he went into winter quarters in Thessaly. In the following year Sulla, supported by a fleet of ships, collected from Asia Minor and Syria by Lucullus, marched through Macedonia and Thrace, crossed the Hellespont to Asia, and through the mediation of Archelaus concluded

84. Peace with Mithridates in Dardanos. I. Evacuation of the Roman province of Asia, restoration of all conquests made by Mithridates, and reinstatement of the kings of Bithynia and Cappadocia. II. Mithridates surrendered 80 ships of war and paid 3000 talents. After the conclusion of peace, Sulla turned his attention to the Roman army of the democratic party which had gone to Asia in 86 under the consul Flaccus, and, after his murder, had fought successfully under Fimbria (victory over the younger Mithridates at Miletopolis). A part of the army having gone over to Sulla, Fimbria committed suicide, whereupon the rest of his army joined Sulla. After leaving these troops behind (milites Flaviani, two legions) under Licinius Murena, and inflicting upon the Grecian cities of Asia Minor the immense fine of 20,000 talents ($25,000,000), which Lucullus was to collect, Sulla sailed from Ephesus to Piræus, went by land to Patrae, and thence by sea to Italy.

83. Sulla landed with 40,000 men in Brundisium. After the death of Cinna (84), during a mutiny in Ancona, where he intended to embark against Sulla, his colleagues Carbo, the younger Marius, and Sertorius were the leaders of the democratic party; nevertheless for the year 83 neither of them, but instead two incapable men, L. Scipio and C. Norbanus, were elected consuls. Sulla, who upon landing was joined by the 23-year old Cn. Pompeius with an army of volunteers, formally guaranteed their rights to the Italians and marched against the consuls. He conquered Norbanus on Mt. Tifata and opened negotiations with Scipio, in the course of which the entire army of the latter went over to Sulla.

82. Sulla rested for the winter in Capua, and fought during the following year against the younger Marius and Carbo, who had been appointed consuls. At Sacriportus Sulla defeated Marius, who retired to Præneste, where he was surrounded by a division of the army under Q. Ofella. Sulla perceived this, and passed rapidly through Rome to attack the democrats in Etruria, whither also a part of his army under Metellus, Pompeius, and Crassus had already forced its way from Picenum and Umbria and were pressing Carbo hard. On receipt of the news that strong Samnite bands were advancing to the relief of Præneste, Sulla went back to Latium, prevented the relief of Præneste, and repulsed an attack of the Samnites upon Rome (Nov. 82). More than 3000 prisoners were slaughtered at Sulla's command. Præneste surrendered, the younger Marius was put to death by his slaves at his own command. The party of Marius in northern Italy had already been completely defeated at Faventia. Carbo and Sertorius fled. Sulla took terrible vengeance upon the conquered cities and towns of Italy. The party of Marius in Spain was defeated at a later time by C. Annius and Valerius Flaccus; in Sicily and Africa it was defeated by Pompeius, whom Sulla allowed to triumph, and saluted with the surname of Magnus.

82. Sulla had himself appointed dictator in Rome for an unlimited time, for the sake of reorganizing the commonwealth (dictator reipublicæ constituendæ, a power analogous to that of the decemvirs).

Reactionary Reign of Terror. Proscription lists of the evil minded (lex de proscribendis malis civibus). The number of the outlawed, on whose death a reward was set, and whose property was confiscated amounted to 4700. Allotments of lands to the veterans of Sulla and establishment of military colonies with full right of citizenship in the territories of cities of the hostile party, whose right of citizenship was abrogated. Liberation of 10,000 slaves belonging to the proscribed citizens, and bestowal upon them of the right of citizenship (the so-called Cornelians).

83-81. Second Mithridatic War, conducted by the proprætor Murena (p. 131), who occupied Cappadocia, which Mithridates, in spite of the peace, had not completely evacuated, and invaded Pontus, where he was defeated by Mithridates and obliged to withdraw. The war ended in a treaty which was a renewal of the first peace.

Attempt at a conservative aristocratic reform of the government in Rome, by a series of laws originated by Sulla (leges Corneliæ). Reorganization of the senate which had suffered severely from the proscriptions of the civil wars. It was now enlarged in an unprecedented manner by the addition of 300 members to be chosen by the comitia tributa. Admission to the senate became a prerogative of the quæstorship. Henceforward 20 quæstors were annually elected by the comitia tributa. Abolition of the censors' privilege of revising the roll of the senate every five years, and consequently introduction of the irremovability of the senators. Thus the senate, for a short time, was indirectly chosen by the people, and acquired a representative character. The places in the juries which C. Gracchus had transferred to the equites (p. 125) were restored to the senate. The privileges of the senate were further increased; it acquired, in particular, the right of prolonging the term of office of proconsuls and proprætors, and of removing them. The comitice lost the power of electing the priests, which had been given them in 104, the priestly colleges receiving again the right of filling their own vacancies. On the other hand Sulla gave up the Servian order of voting, the restoration of which had been attempted in 88. Powers of the tribunes of the people reduced, misuse of the right of interpellation punished with heavy fines, the right of the tribunes to initiate rogations subjected to the approval of the senate; it was also decreed that acceptance of the tribunate conveyed incapacity for accepting higher offices. Reorganization of the department of justice, increase of the perpetual courts (quæstiones perpetuæ). Henceforward 8 prætors. Criminal legislation (lex de sicariis, de falso, etc.).

81. Sulla permitted the election of consuls, but continued to conduct the government under the title of dictator. For the year

80. He caused himself and his companion in arms, Q. Metellus, to be elected consuls, and so bridged the way to constitutional government.

79. Sulla voluntarily abdicated the dictatorship and retired to private life.

78. Death of Sulla, probably in consequence of a hemorrhage.¹

78-77. Attempt of M. Emilius Lepidus (consul with Q. Lutatius Catulus, 78) and the Marian M. Junius Brutus, to violently overthrow the work of Sulla. Lepidus, on his way from Etruria to Rome at the head of an army, was defeated on the Campus Martius by Catulus; defeated a second time at Cosa, he fled to Sardinia, where he fell sick and died. Brutus was forced by Pompeius to surrender at Mutina, and was afterwards put to death.

80-72. War against Sertorius, who in 83 had been allotted Lusitania and Spain as his province. He had been driven out (82) by Sulla's generals, and, after leading a roving life as an adventurer along the coasts of Spain and Africa, returned to Lusitania. Here this party leader, alike distinguished as statesman and general, had founded an independent sovereignty. Q. Metellus and even Cn. Pompeius waged for a long time unsuccessful war against him. He formed an alliance with Mithridates, but was murdered, in 72, by his subordinate Perperna. The latter was defeated and executed by Pompeius.

73-71. War of the Gladiators and (third) Servile War.

Bands of gladiators who had escaped from a gladiatorial school at Capua occupied Vesuvius under command of two Gauls and the Thracian Spartacus, and from this vantage-ground plundered and burned throughout the neighborhood. Reinforced by numerous slaves they grew to an army, and defeated four Roman armies in succession. Spartacus, who wanted to leave Italy, was forced by his companions to remain. He marched upon the capital. Terror in Rome. The prætor M. Licinius Crassus received the chief command. The insurgents refrained from attacking Rome and wandered about Italy ravaging and plundering. Crassus defeated them in two battles, in the second of which, on the Silarus, Spartacus fell, fighting valiantly. The remnants of the bands were annihilated by Pompeius, who was returning from Spain.

In 70 the consuls M. Licinius Crassus and Cn. Pompeius Magnus restored to the tribunate the privileges which it had lost under Sulla (p. 132). The Aurelian law (lex Aurelia), passed during their consulate, repealed the enactment of Sulla that the jurors should be taken exclusively from the senators; henceforth one third should be senators, two thirds men of the equestrian census (of these one half should be taken from the so-called tribuni-ararii). Already, in 72, the privilege of the censors, of revising the roll of the senate, which Sulla had abolished, had been restored (p. 132), and probably five years became again the length of the censors' term of office. 64 senators were expelled from the senate by the censors Gellius and Lenulus.

78-67. War against the pirates.

The result of the neglect of the Roman marine since the destruction of Carthage, and of the oppression of the Roman governors in Asia was a constant increase of piracy. There gradually grew up an organized pirate-community, whose principal seats were Crete and Cilicia. The pirates controlled the entire Mediterranean as far as the columns of Hercules, and captured the vessels which were conveying grain to Rome.

78. War had been waged with the pirates since 78, at first under the proconsul of Asia, P. Servilius, who destroyed many pirate cities, and in the year 75 took possession of Isauria, Pamphyliæ, Pisidia, for Rome, under the name of Cilicia, and afterwards

74. under the prætor M. Antonius, who possessed most extensive powers, but accomplished little, and in 71 died at Crete after being defeated by the Cretans.

68. Metellus after a long contest, subdued Crete (province since 67), whose inhabitants lived for the most part, upon piracy. As piracy still continued,

67. Pompeius received, on the motion of Gabinus (lex Gabinia), for three years unlimited command over the whole Mediterranean and its coasts for fifty miles inland; the public treasures and resources of all the provinces and client states were placed unconditionally at his disposal. In three months Pompeius, in two short campaigns, completely cleared first the western, then the eastern, Mediterranean of pirates, captured 3000 vessels, put to death 10,000 pirates, destroyed their fortresses, captured 20,000 men, and settled them in the interior of the country. (Construction of Pompeopolis in Cilicia.)

74-64. Third Mithridatic war.

Cause: Strained relations between the Romans on the one side, and Mithridates of Pontus and his son-in-law, Tigranes of Armenia, on the other. The latter took possession of the kingdoms of Cappadocia and Syria. When Nicomedes III., of Bithynia, likewise son-in-law of Mithridates, bequeathed his kingdom to Rome, and Bithynia was made a Roman province, Mithridates declared war and occupied Bithynia.

74. The conduct of the war was entrusted to the two consuls L. Lucullus, who was to enter the kingdom of Pontus through Phrygia, and M. Aurelius Cotta, who sailed with the fleet for the Propontis. Mithridates defeated the latter by land and sea at Chalcedon and laid siege to Cyzicus, which was relieved by Lucullus, who hastened from the south.

73. Mithridates was forced to retreat with great loss. Lucullus as proconsul conducted the war successfully at sea; then took the offensive on land, crossed the Halys (Kisil Irmak), traversed Pontus, defeated Mithridates at Cabira, and drove the king completely out of his kingdom. He took refuge with his son-in-law, Tigranes, while Lucullus, after a tedious siege, cap-

72-70. tured the trading cities Heraclea, Sinope, Amisus, and occupied Armenia Minor.

Without waiting for authority from the senate, Lucullus opened war upon Tigranes, crossed the Euphrates into Armenia proper, defeated Tigranes in the famous 69. Battle of Tigranocerta, captured that city, and then turned against the two kings who had now joined forces. Lucullus forced the passage of the Euphrates (68) by a second successful encounter with the enemy, crossed the river here in its upper course for the second time,¹ marched through the Armenian plateau toward Artaxata, the residence of Tigranes, but was compelled by a mutiny among his soldiers (P. Clodius, brother-in-law of Lucullus) to begin a retreat over the Tigris to Mesopotamia, long before he had reached Artaxata.²

Lucullus took Nisibis by storm, but was obliged to cross to the right bank of the Euphrates again to rescue a division of the army which had been cut off (67). Meantime Mithridates returned to Pontus and defeated a Roman force under Triarius at Zela (Ziela). New mutinies in the army of Lucullus, who was at the same time informed that he was slandered at Rome, that he had been recalled, and the consul M. Acilius Glabrio appointed in his stead. Glabrio went to Asia, but in consideration of the difficult position of affairs, did not assume command. Lucullus conducted the Roman army by a masterly retreat back to Asia Minor.

Mithridates, having not only reconquered Pontus, but also commenced to ravage Bithynia and Cappadocia, a law was passed at the instance of the tribune of the people, C. Manilius (Cicero's oration, pro imperio Cn. Pompeii, or pro lege Manilia), entrusting

66. Cn. Pompeius with the command in Asia with unlimited powers.

Unfriendly meeting of Lucullus and Pompeius at Danala in Galatia. After concluding a treaty with the Parthians, whom he guaranteed possession of Mesopotamia, Pompeius opened the campaign partly with new troops, drove Mithridates out of Pontus, and defeated him in the 66. Battle by night on the Lycos (Yeshil Irmak), near the future Nicopolis in Armenia minor.

Abandoned by Tigranes, Mithridates fled to Colchis. Pompeius followed as far as the Phasis, returning then to Armenia, where his ally, the king of the Parthians, had meantime made an inroad. At Artaxata Tigranes gave himself up to Pompeius, who permitted him to keep Armenia proper for his own kingdom, but took from him all his conquests, Syria, Phœnicia, Cappadocia, and imposed upon him a fine of 6000 talents.

65. After an expedition northward, where he fought successfully with the Caucasian tribes, Pompeius for the second time abandoned the pursuit of Mithridates, who had taken refuge in the Tauric Chersonese (Crimea), and went to Pontus, and thence to Syria.

64-63. Organization of the Roman possessions in Asia, under Pompeius. New Provinces: 1. Pontus, comprising Bithynia (already treated as a province since 74), the coast of Paphlagonia, and the western part of Pontus proper, along the coast. The rest of the kingdom of Mithridates was given to vassal kings. 2. Syria, comprising at first only the coast from the gulf of Issus to Damascus, afterwards considerably enlarged. 3. Cilicia, reorganized by Pompeius, although it had been a province in name since 75. It included Pamphylia and Isauria (p. 134). These Asiatic provinces were much cut up, and surrounded by: (a) territories of autonomous cities; (b) princely and priestly sovereignties under Roman supremacy. The most distinguished of the vassal kings of Rome in the east were the king of Cappadocia, and Deiotarus, king of Galatia (p. 78). In Palestine, after the capture of Jerusalem and the Temple, Pompeius restored Hyrcanus, who had been driven out by his brother, as high-priest and civil governor, but made him tributary to Rome.

63. Mithridates, who had busied himself with gigantic schemes of a land expedition to Italy, killed himself at Panticapæum, in the Tauric Chersonese, in consequence of the revolt of his son, Pharnaces. Upon receipt of this news Pompeius returned to Pontus. He confirmed Pharnaces in possession of the kingdom of the Bosphorus.

61. Return of Pompeius to Italy. He dismissed his army at Brundisium, and entered Rome as a private citizen. Magnificent triumph, lasting two days.

66-62. Conspiracy of Catiline.

Union of the democrats and the anarchists. Leaders of the democrats: M. Crassus and C. Julius Cæsar (born 102?, son-in-law of Cinna, outlawed by Sulla, afterwards pardoned, 67 quæstor in Spain, 65 ædile, 63 pontifex maximus). Leader of the anarchists: L. Sergius Catilina, ex-prætor, one of Sulla's executioners. The democrats dreaded the reconciliation of Pompeius, whose military dictatorship was the work of their own hands, with the optimates. Hence they sought to overthrow the existing government before the return of Pompeius, by a violent revolution, while the anarchists, in part proletarians, in part young men of honorable families who were sunk in debt, hoped for plunder and confiscation of property.

The first conspiracy, in 66, according to which the consuls for 65 were to be murdered, and Crassus made dictator, and Cæsar, master of the horse, failed of execution through the indecision of some participants. At the close of the year 64, it was again renewed for the purpose of securing the election of L. Catilina and C. Antonius (also a former follower of Sulla) at the consular elections for 63, by the influence of Cæsar and Crassus, who were to remain in the background. Antonius alone was, however, actually elected; his colleague for 63 was M. Tullius Cicero, a favorite lawyer and orator, belonging to no party unreservedly (born 106, 75 quæstor in Sicily, 70 prosecutor of Verres, 69 ædile, 66 prætor urbanus). The latter resigned beforehand to Antonius, who was deep in debt, the lucrative governorship of Macedonia, thereby detaching him from the conspirators.

Formation of an insurgent army in Etruria, under C. Manlius, a comrade of Catiline; at Rome organization of the conspirators, who, at a given signal, were to fire the city, and thereby produce universal confusion. Plan of Catiline to murder his competitors at the consular election for 62, and the consul, Cicero, who would preside over the election. Cicero, informed of this by his spies, denounced the conspiracy in the senate, appeared on the day of the election surrounded by numerous armed guards, and defeated the election of Catiline. The latter's plan of having Cicero surprised and murdered in his own house was also betrayed and failed.

63. Nov. 8. First speech of Cicero against Catiline delivered in the senate.

Catiline left the city, and betook himself to the army of Manlius in Etruria.

Nov. 9. Second speech of Cicero against Catiline, to the people. The accomplices of Catiline, Lentulus, Cethegus, Gabinus, Statilius, and Cæparius, were taken into custody on the strength of written proofs of guilt obtained by Cicero.

Dec. 3. Third speech of Cicero against Catiline, to the people.

Dec. 5. Fourth speech of Cicero against Catiline, in the senate. Decree of the senate that the traitors be strangled in prison without trial and sentence (Cæsar opposed the resolution; Cato's speech determined the vote), executed by the consul Cicero. Cicero greeted as pater patriæ.

The consul Antonius was entrusted with the conduct of the war against Catiline. His lieutenant defeated Catiline at Pistoria (62). Catiline and 3000 of his followers fell on the field.

62. Cæsar administered the prætorship in Rome. A part of his large indebtedness having been paid by Crassus, he went for

61. the year to Hispania Ulterior, as proprætor, where he laid the foundation of his military fame, and where he found means to discharge his debts. He returned bearing the honorary title of "imperator," but refused to triumph, in order that he might become a candidate for the consulship. The refusal of the senate to grant the allotment of lands requested by Pompeius for his veterans, led to a complete break between Pompeius and the government, and resulted in the so-called a reciprocal agreement of the three statesmen Pompeius, Cæsar, and Crassus. They secured the election for the next year of 59. Cæsar as consul.

As his colleague, the optimate M. Bibulus, and the senate opposed the proposals brought in by Cæsar for an agrarian law, especially in the interests of Pompeius' veterans (lex Julia de agro campano: ut ager campanus plebi divideretur), and the ratification of the organization of Asia, these measures were submitted to the popular assemblies and passed by them, without the approval of the senate. Violence offered Bibulus and M. Porcius Cato. Bibulus did not dare leave his house again during his year of office. Intimate friendship and close family ties between Cæsar and Pompeius. Cæsar's daughter, Julia, 23 years old, given to Pompeius in marriage. On the motion of P. Vatinius, tribune of the people, Cæsar received by a popular decree the government of Gallia Cisalpina and Illyricum for 5 years, with extraordinary powers. At Pompeius' motion the astounded senate added Gallia Narbonensis (p. 125) to Cæsar's province. A. Gabinius, a friend and military companion of Pompeius, and L. Piso, father-in-law of Cæsar, were elected consuls for the following year. The execution of the agrarian law was entrusted to Pompeius and Crassus. Before Cæsar departed for his province,

58. The absence of Cato and Cicero from Rome was procured by P. Clodius, tribune of the people, who had secured this office at the sacrifice of his patrician rank by hasty adoption into a plebeian family. Cato was appointed by a popular vote to take possession of the kingdom of Cyprus, which had been left to Rome by will. Cicero was driven to flight by the decree, "Whoever shall have caused the execution of a Roman citizen without legal sentence shall be punished with outlawry" (lex Clodia: ut qui civem Romanum indemnatum interemisset ei aqua et igni interdiceretur), and then banished by a second lex Clodia to a distance of 400 Roman miles from Rome. Clodius caused Cicero's house on the Palatine to be burned, and his Tusculan and Formean estate to be ravaged.

58-51. Conquest of Gaul by Cæsar.

Results of Cæsar's eight years of brilliant warfare, and its meaning in the history of the world.

1. Annihilation of the Celts, as a nation, for whose lasting Romanization Cæsar opened the way.

2. Creation of a dam which for four centuries protected the Romano-Hellenic civilization against destruction by the German barbarians.

3. Enlargement of the boundaries of the old world, not only by the immediate conquest, but also through the information obtained by Cæsar's expeditions to Britannia and Germania.

4. Acquirement of the means for accomplishing the change, now become necessary, of the Roman republic into a monarchy: the veteran legions and troops of the allied states, who had become attached to their general and expert in war.

58. Victory of Cæsar over the Helvetians, who had invaded Gaul, at Bibracte,¹ and over the German prince Ariovistus, N. E. of Vesontio (Besançon) in the vicinity of Mühlhausen in Alsace² (Cæsar, Bellum Gallicum, I.).

57. Subjugation of the Belgii. Annihilation of the Nervii in Henegau by a terrible battle on the Sambre, not far from Bavay (B. Gall. III.). In the southeast, occupation of Octodurus (Martigny), to secure the Alpine pass of the Great St. Bernard.

56. Subjugation of the Veneti in Armorica (Bretagne) by Cæsar, after hard fighting on land and sea, and of the Aquitani by his lieutenant P. Crassus, son of the triumvir. In the north-east, successful war with the Morini and Menapii (B. Gall. III.).

¹ On the site of the modern Autun, according to v. Göler; two miles west of Autun according to Napoleon III. (Vie de Cæsar.)

55. Cæsar drove the Germanic tribes of the Usipetes and Tenchteri back across the Rhine. Passage of the Rhine on a bridge of piles, between Coblence and Andernach. After a stay of fifteen days on the right bank, Cæsar recrossed the stream. (B. Gall. IV.)

First expedition to Britain with two legions. Departure from two ports, one of which was Itius portus, E. and W. of Cape Grisnez, landing between Dover and Deal, probably at Walmer Castle.¹ (B. Gall. IV.)

54. Second expedition to Britain, with five legions. Cassivelaunus, leader of the British Celts. Cæsar crossed the Stour and the Thames (between Kingston and Brentford), while Cassivelaunus attacked the Roman camp where the ships lay. Retreat and embarkation of Cæsar after he had received hostages. (B. Gall. V.)

53. Insurrection of the Eburones under Ambiorix, and of other tribes. Cæsar crossed the Rhine a second time. (B. Gall. VI.)

52. General insurrection of the Gauls under the Arvernian, Vercingetorix. Siege and capture of Avaricum (Bourges) by Cæsar, occupation of Lutetia Parisiorum (Paris) by Labienus. Unsuccessful siege of Gergovia, near Clermont in the Auvergne; Cæsar, compelled to retreat, united with Labienus. Siege of Alesia (Alise Sainte-Reine at Semur in the Dép. Côte d'Or, between Châtillon and Dijon) by Cæsar, while the Roman army was in turn surrounded and besieged by the insurgent army of relief; after a hard fight, complete victory of Cæsar. Vercingetorix forced to surrender himself. He was executed at Rome, five years later (B. Gall. VII.).

51. Completion of the subjugation of Transalpine Gaul (cruel punishment of the insurgents). Ten legions located in detachments throughout the country held it in obedience to Cæsar.

While these magnificent feats of war were placing the older military fame of Pompeius in the shade, the latter was trying unsuccessfully to master the anarchy at Rome. Leader of the ultra-democrats, the former tribune, P. Clodius (pp. 135, 138). In opposition to him the recall of M. Tullius Cicero was procured in 57, by the efforts of the tribune T. Annius Milo. In the same year M. Porcius Cato returned to Rome. The aristocratic reaction opposed the armed bands of Clodius, which patrolled the streets and forum, with the armed bands of Milo. The attempt of the republicans in the senate to free themselves from the influence of the rulers, and the resolution to revise the agrarian law passed during the consulate of Cæsar, resulted in a renewal of the alliance of the three statesmen.

In 56 a meeting of the triumvirs Cæsar, Pompeius, and Crassus, and their followers (200 senators) took place in Luca. In consequence of agreements there concluded, the election of Pompeius and Crassus as consuls for 55 was carried by the use of force. A decree of the people (lex Trebonia) then assigned to Pompeius the government of both Spains for five years, and to Crassus that of Syria, while Cæsar's command in Gaul was prolonged for five years more, and the payment of those troops which he had recruited on his own authority was assumed by the state. The Roman aristocracy was obliged to submit to these decrees.

After the close of his year of office as consul Crassus went to Syria in 54, where he undertook in 53 an expedition against the Parthians. He suffered a terrible defeat at Carrhæ in Mesopotamia, and was shortly after killed by the Parthians during an interview with one of their satraps. Pompeius remained in Rome, and delegated the administration of his provinces to his legates.

In 52 Clodius and Milo happening to meet on the Via Appia, a fight sprang up between their followers, during which Clodius was wounded, and then, at Milo's command, put to death. Clodius' corpse was carried to the Curia Hastilia, near the forum in Rome, and there burnt, together with the building. To put an end to the disturbances of the mob which followed this event, Pompeius was appointed "consul without a colleague" by the senate, and clothed with dictatorial power. Trial of Milo, who was condemned by the jurors, in spite of Cicero's oration¹ in his defence, to be banished. Cicero proconsul in Cilicia. Breach between Cæsar and Pompeius, whose connection had been previously weakened by the death of Julia (54). Pompeius selected his new father-in-law, Metellus Scipio, for his colleague in office, caused his governorship in Spain to be prolonged for five years, and deprived Cæsar of two legions, urging the importance of the Parthian war, which a victory had already ended.

Pompeius openly reassumed the leadership of the republican aristocracy (lex de vi et ambitu). Cæsar remained leader of the democracy, which under a constitution without representation led of necessity to monarchy. Demand of the senate that Cæsar should resign his command before the expiration of the term which had formerly been granted him. Refusal of the senate to permit Cæsar to stand for the consulship during his proconsulship, as had been allowed by the citizens. This brought about the 49-46. Civil war between Cæsar and Pompeius.

The senate declared Cæsar a public enemy (hostis) should he not disband his army within a given time. The tribunes of the people who favored Cæsar fled to him at Ravenna.

49. Cæsar, with one legion, crossed the brook Rubicon, the boundary of his province, and thereby opened the civil war. Great consternation at Rome. Pompeius, who had only commenced his preparations, and the greater part of the senate, fled to Brundisium. Cæsar, reinforced by a second legion which had overtaken him, marched through Umbria, Picenum, where Domitius, at Corfinium, was obliged to surrender, and Apulia to Brundisium, to which he laid siege, after a third legion of veterans had joined him, and he had levied three new legions. Pompeius succeeded in conveying his troops, by two expeditions, to Greece, before the capture of the city. Cæsar, unable to follow him from lack of vessels, commenced the construction of a fleet, and went to Rome. There he quieted the apprehensions of a return of the horrors of the first civil war. Magnanimous behavior toward his foes (Cæsar, Bell. Civ. 1-33).

¹ Not the one which we have. This was written for the occasion, but the tumult and fear prevented its delivery.

49. Cæsar went by land to Spain to subdue Pompeius' legates, Spring. leaving Trebonius to besiege Massilia. The legates of Pom-

49. peius, Afranius and Petreibus, were compelled to surrender at Aug. Ilerda (Lerida), N. of the Ebro, and their army was disbanded (Cæsar, Bell. Civ. I. 34-37).

Varro, who commanded in Hispania ulteriora, threw himself into Gades (Cádiz), but most of the cities joining Cæsar, he capitulated. On Cæsar's march back to Italy, Massilia, which was suffering from starvation, surrendered on being threatened with a storm (Cæsar, Bell. Civ. II. 1-22). Meantime Cæsar's legate Curio had reduced Sicily to subjection. He then crossed to Africa, where he was at first victorious at Utica, but was afterwards defeated at the Bagradas by Juba, king of Numidia, who had declared for Pompeius, and fell in the battle (Cæsar, Bell. Civ. II. 23-44).

Cæsar, during his absence, was proclaimed dictator at Rome by the prætor M. Æmilius Lepidus (on the authority of a new lex de dictatore creando), but abdicated the office after eleven days, and had himself appointed consul, with P. Servilius, for the year

48. while that part of the senate which had participated in Pompeius' flight to Greece prolonged the term of office of Pompeius and all the officials of the previous year.

Cæsar landed in northern Epirus, at Oricum, not far from the promontory of Acroceraunia, with a part of his army. The transports which returned for the rest of the troops were mostly captured by the fleet of Pompeius; and the coasts of Italy being sharply watched, Cæsar was placed in a situation of great difficulty, as M. Antonius was able to transport the second half of the army only after several months. His army being at last united, Cæsar inclosed the army of Pompeius at Dyrrhachium by a long chain of military posts. Daily skirmishes, for the most part favorable for Cæsar. At last however, Pompeius broke through Cæsar's line. Cæsar, defeated and compelled to retreat, went to Thessaly, whither Pompeius followed him, leaving Cato in Dyrrhachium. In the Thessalian plain was fought the 48. Decisive battle of Pharsalus.

Aug. 9. Cæsar, with about 22,000 men, defeated and completely scattered the army of Pompeius, which had more than twice that strength; 20,000 men laid down their arms. Pompeius fled to the coast, and took ship for Egypt by way of Lesbos. At the command of the minister of the young king, Ptolemæus, he was murdered upon landing. Cæsar followed Pompeius and landed in Alexandria with 4000 men (Cæsar, Bell. Civ. III.).

Especial honors paid to Cæsar in Rome (consulate for five years, tribunate for life, dictatorship for one year). Cæsar having taken it upon himself, at Alexandria, to decide between the ten-year old Ptolemæus and his followers and his sixteen-year old sister Cleopatra, there broke out the so-called an uprising of the whole population of Alexandria, supported by the Roman army of occupation, which had been in garrison there since the restoration of the king Ptolemæus Auletes (55). Cæsar, besieged in the royal palace, was in the greatest danger, from which only his reckless daring rescued him. He caused the Egyptian fleet to be set on fire, whereby the famous library of Alexandria (p. 77) was also burned. Cæsar, with the help of an army of relief which arrived from Asia, defeated the Egyptian army on the Nile. The young king Ptolemæus was drowned on the flight. The government was given to Cleopatra and her younger brother, under Roman supremacy, and a Roman garrison was left in Alexandria. Cæsar went to Asia Minor, and in a five days' campaign (veni, vidi, vici) ended the son of Mithridates (p. 136), who had occupied Pontus, Armenia Minor, and Cappadocia. Cæsar defeated him at Zela and forced him to fly. Pharnaces fell in battle against a revolted governor. Arrangement of the Asiatic relations. Deiotarus, who had fought against Cæsar at Pharsalus, lost the greater part of his kingdom.

48-47. Alexandrine war,

47. War against Pharnaces,

Return of Cæsar to Rome. After he had subdued a mutiny of the tenth legion, he undertook the

47-46. War in Africa against the adherents of Pompeius, Sextus Pompeius, Scipio, Cato, Labienus, Petreibus, king Juba. Cæsar landed at Hadrumetum, where he was in great danger, since the larger part of his force did not arrive till later in consequence of a storm. After several unimportant encounters Cæsar defeated and annihilated the republican army, which far outnumbered his own, in the

46. Battle of Thapsus,

during and after which 50,000 of the enemy were slaughtered by Cæsar's embittered soldiers. Scipio killed himself on the flight, Cato committed suicide in Utica, Petreibus and Juba agreed to kill one another, in a personal contest. Juba struck Petreibus down; and being himself but slightly wounded, had himself killed by one of his slaves. Labienus and Sextus Pompeius escaped to the latter's brother, Cn. Pompeius, in Spain.

A part of Numidia was united with the province of Africa by Cæsar; the rest was given to Bocchus, king of eastern Mauritania.

Return of Cæsar to Rome, where he celebrated four triumphs, for Gaul, Egypt, Pharnaces, Africa. Entertainments for the people, splendid games, distribution of gold and grain. Cæsar was appointed dictator for 10 years, and censor without a colleague, under the title præfectus morum, for 3 years. Correction of the Calendar, by an extraordinary intercalation of 67 days in the year 46; thereafter there was a solar year of $365\frac{1}{4}$ days (a leap-year every four years without exception).

46-45. War against the sons of Pompeius,

Cnæus and Sextus, and the rest of the Pompeian party. Although repulsed before Corduba by Sextus Pompeius, Cæsar by great exertions defeated both brothers in the

45. Battle of Munda, north of Ronda, between Cordova and Gibraltar, in which he was obliged to lead the legions against the enemy in person. Over 30,000 Pompeians were slain, and among them Labienus, Varus, Cn. Pompeius; Sextus escaped.

After Cæsar had returned to Rome he caused the senate to appoint him at first (45) consul for 10 years, afterwards (44) dictator, and censor for life. Since 48 he had borne the new official title Imperator, which denotes the possessor of the imperium, the concept of civil and military official power.¹ This included full control of the finances and the military power of the state, and also the right of coining money with the portrait of the ruler of the state. As præfectus morum (censor) Cæsar had the right of enlarging the senate; as pontifex maximus he possessed the control of religious affairs; as possessor since 48 of a power resembling that of the tribunes, he had the initiative in legislation, and was the inviolable (sacrosanctus) protector and representative of the people. Accordingly the position and powers of the new democratic monarch were almost exactly analogous to those of the old Roman kings.

The people retained, nevertheless, at least in form, a share of the sovereignty, all laws affecting the constitution requiring, as under the republic, to be ratified by the comitiæ, which were, however, easily controlled. The senate became again, what it had been under the kings, an advisory council only. Cæsar brought the number of members up to 900 and increased the number of quæstors from 20 to 40. Election to this office, it will be remembered (p. 132), admitted the holder to the senate. The democratic monarch, however, exercised to the utmost his right of appointing senators, and thereby gravely offended the nobility. Ex-centurions, Spaniards, Gauls, sons of freedmen, etc., found through him admission to the senate. The monarch had an extensive right of nomination at the elections of magistrates.

Restoration of the old royal jurisdiction exercised by decision of the monarch alone, from whose sentence there was no appeal, — a right which, of course, was but rarely exercised (trial of Ligarius and of Deiotarus). In general the ordinary judicial system was retained. Prætors increased to 16.

Reorganization of the military system. Creation of legati legionis pro prætore, appointed by the emperor. Reform of the financial administration. The system of tax-farming was exchanged for the imposition of direct taxes. Allotment of the Italian domains, particularly among the veterans. Wide-spread colonization in the provinces with the view at once of Latinizing the provinces, and of diminishing the number of proletarians in the capital. Commencement of magnificent buildings in Rome. New system of provincial administration for the protection of the provinces against the extortions of the governors. Sumptuary laws. Criminal legislation. Arrangement of the relations of debtor and creditor.

Project of a war against the Parthians, to revenge the Roman defeat under Crassus (p. 140) and add to the security of the eastern boundary of the empire. Conspiracy of some 50 republican aristocrats against Cæsar's life (M. Junius Brutus, C. Cassius Longinus, C. Trebonius, Decimus Brutus, Tillius Cimber, etc.).

44. Assassination of Cæsar during a session of the March 15. senate, which on that day was held by chance in a hall in the theatre of Pompeius. Cæsar fell, pierced with 23 wounds, at the foot of a statue of Pompeius.

For a moment the senate took the reins of government again, and decreed that Cæsar's laws should continue in force, and offered an amnesty to his murderers. But the populace of the capital, incited by the funeral oration of M. Antonius, violently assaulted the conspirators. The leaders of the conspirators departed for the provinces which the senate had assigned them: M. Brutus to Macedonia, Cassius to Syria, Decimus Brutus to Gallia cisalpina.

In Rome M. Antonius (consul with Dolabella), having possession of Cæsar's papers, assumed an uncontrolled power under pretext of executing the will of the dictator, and caused Macedonia, the province of M. Brutus, to be assigned to himself with five of the six legions which Cæsar had dispatched thither for the Parthian war. Dolabella received Syria, the province of Cassius, while the provinces of Crete and Cyrene were assigned to M. Brutus and Cassius. Antonius, moreover, procured from the popular assembly the province of Gallia cisalpina, which the senate had refused him. In the hope of balancing the usurped power of Antonius, the senate entered into negotiations with the eighteen-year-old C. Octavius, Cæsar's grand-nephew and adopted son, henceforward known as C. Julius Cæsar Octavianus. The latter, who was beloved by his soldiers, took command of two legions. Antonius, endeavoring to eject Decimus Brutus from his province of Gallia cisalpina, there broke out the so-called 44-43. War of Mutina.

As was advocated by Cicero in the Philippics, Hirtius and Pansa, consuls for 43, and the young Octavianus as proprætor, were sent against Antonius, who was besieging Decimus Brutus in Mutina (Modena). Pansa died at Bononia of a wound received in the first encounter; Hirtius fell as victor in the

against Antonius, who was now declared an enemy of the state

(hostis). While Decimus Brutus followed him to Gallia cisalpina, Octavianus, now sole commander of the army which was originally the army of the senate, marched to Rome, and extorted his appointment to the consulship, the repeal of the amnesty extended to the conspirators, and their sentence (lex Pedia). This accomplished, he took the field, in appearance, against Antonius, with whom he already had had secret negotiations. Meantime Decimus Brutus was abandoned by his troops, captured upon his flight, and put to death at Antonius' command. At a meeting near Bononia,

43. The Second Triumvirate was formed

Nov. avowedly for the "Organization of the State" (triumviri reipublicæ constituendæ) by Antonius, Octavianus, and Lepidus, the former magister equitum of Cæsar. This new assumption of power was ratified by a decree of the people for a period of five years. New proscriptions; several hundred senators and 2000 equites outlawed and their property confiscated. Murder of Cicero. The triumvirs began 43-42. War against the republican party and crossed to Greece, where they were opposed by M. Brutus, who, despite the senate's decree, had taken possession of his province, and C. Cassius, who had defeated Dolabella in Syria and driven him to commit suicide. In the

42. Battle of Philippi

in Thrace, Antonius, who commanded the right wing, defeated the left wing of the republican army under Cassius, while Brutus with the right wing of the republicans drove back Octavianus. Hearing a false report of the defeat of Brutus, Cassius caused one of his slaves to put him to death. Brutus, being defeated by Antonius in a second battle, killed himself.

Antonius ravaged the provinces of Asia and Syria, and then followed Cleopatra (p. 142), whom he had ordered to meet him at Tarsus, to Egypt. Meantime Octavianus, in Italy, was carrying out the promised allotments of land among the veterans. Quarrels between himself and the followers of Antonius led to the so-called between Octavianus and Lepidus on the one side and Lucius Antonius, the brother, and Fulvia, the wife of the triumvir, on the other. L. Antonius was compelled to surrender in Perusia. Octavianus, now supreme ruler of Italy, assumed the administration of Gaul and Spain, while Lepidus was put off with the government of Africa. Another civil war threatened, but was avoided by a compromise, which the death of Fulvia facilitated. Antonius married Octavia, the sister of Octavianus. The administration of the empire was divided between the triumvirs, so that

40. Octavianus received the west, Antonius the east, and Lepidus Africa.

39. In the following year, however, the triumvirs were obliged to make terms with Sextus Pompeius, who had created a naval empire, with Sicily as the base, and had cut off the grain supplies from Rome. By the treaty of Misenum Sextus Pompeius received Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica (?) and Peloponnesus, with the promise of a reimbursement for the loss of his paternal property.

Antonius went to the east, where he lived for the most part with Cleopatra in Egypt. He carried on, however, a war with the Parthians, at first through his legate Ventidius (39), and afterwards in person (36), but without much success. New quarrels led to the between the triumvirs and Sextus Pompeius. Octavianus, abandoned by both his colleagues, was obliged to conduct the war alone at first, and suffered great loss at sea. A difference between Octavianus and Antonius was made up at a meeting in Tarentum, and Octavianus gave Antonius two Italian legions for the Parthian war, while Antonius placed 100 ships at the service of Octavianus against Sextus Pompeius. By means of this reinforcement, Octavianus got the upper hand of Sextus, especially since M. Vipsanius Agrippa commanded his fleet. Sextus Pompeius, defeated by Agrippa at Mylæ, fled to Asia and died in Miletus. In the mean time, Lepidus, who had landed in Sicily, demanded this island for himself. Abandoned by his men, he was forced to surrender to Octavianus, who permitted him to retain the dignity of Pontifex Maximus, and sent him to Circeii. The administration of Africa was assumed by Octavianus.

35-33. Campaigns of Octavianus against the Alpine tribes, the Dalmatians, and the Illyrians. Antonius defeated Artavasdes, king of Armenia, captured him, and led him in triumph at Alexandria.

New disputes between Octavianus and Antonius. The latter presented Cleopatra with Roman territory, and sent his wife Octavia, the sister of Octavianus, papers of separation. Octavianus procured a popular decree removing Antonius from his command and declaring war upon Cleopatra.

31-30. War between Octavian and Antonius, also called Bellum Actiacum.

During the long delay of Antonius and Cleopatra in Ephesus, Athens, and at Patrae in Achaia, Octavianus completed his preparations and transported his army to Epirus. His fleet of 250 ships, under the command of Agrippa, defeated the fleet of Antonius and Cleopatra, which outnumbered it, in the

31. Battle of Actium,

Sept. 2 Cleopatra fled before the battle was entirely decided, and was followed by Antonius. The army of Antonius surrendered to Octavianus without a blow.

30. Octavianus went to Asia, where he entered upon his fourth consulship, returned for a short time to Italy by sea to repress a revolt, and then returned to his troops and marched through Syria to Egypt. Antonius, abandoned by his troops, killed himself on hearing a false report of Cleopatra's death. The latter, when convinced that Octavian spared her only that she might grace his triumph in Rome, poisoned herself. Octavianus made Egypt a Roman province. Octavianus sole ruler, after the manner of Cæsar (p. 143).

29. Octavianus celebrated three triumphs in Rome, and the temple of Janus was closed for the third time in Roman history.¹

31-14. Cæsar Octavianus Augustus.

The surname Augustus (the Illustrious, the Sublime), which was given Octavianus by the senate in 27 B. C., is the name by which, as sole ruler of the Roman world, he is most commonly known; it also became, like Princeps,³ Cæsar, Imperator (p. 143), the title of the Roman sovereigns. In later times Cæsar became a peculiar designation of the appointed successor of a reigning Augustus.

Augustus reduced the senate to 600 members and made a high census (one million sesterces) the necessary condition of admission. The consular office was retained in name, but was sometimes held for a series of years by the imperator; sometimes granted, as a special distinction, to some one else for a short time (two months). The præfectus urbi, having police and criminal jurisdiction, and the præfectus prætorio, commander of the standing body-guard of nine (afterwards ten) prætorian cohorts, became the most important officers. Division of Rome into 14, of Italy into 11, regiones.

B. C. 27, new division of the provinces into senatorial, comprising those quiet provinces which could be administered without an army (Africa, Asia, Achaia, Illyricum, Macedonia, Sicilia, Creta, with Cyrenaica, Bithynia, Sardinia, Hispania Bætica), and imperial, including those where an army was maintained, and which were administered by legates in the name of Augustus (Hispania Tarraconensis, Lusitania; the four provinces of Gaul: Narbonensis, Lugdunensis, Aquitania, and Belgica; Germania superior et inferior, Mæsia, Syria, Cilicia, Cyprus, Ægyptus).⁴ Aerarium and Fiscus.

C. 17, and designated as his successors. Agrippina (the elder) married Germanicus, son of Drusus, and became the mother of the younger Agrippina, the mother of Nero (p. 150). Agrippa Postumus, almost an idiot, was adopted, but afterward banished to the island of Planasia. Julia (the younger) was also banished. Tiberius, son of Livia by her first husband, Tiberius Claudius Nero, was adopted by Augustus, A. D. 4.

29. Mæsia subjugated (made a province in 16 B. C. ?).

27–25. Expedition of Augustus against the Cantabri and Astures, the operations against whom he was obliged, on account of sickness, for the most part to leave to his legates.

25. Expedition to Arabia, without results, conducted by C. Ælius Gallus, prefect of Egypt. Subjugation of the Alpine tribe of the Salassi. Foundation of Augusta Prætoria (Aosta).

23. Augustus caused the senate to confer upon him for life the dignity of the tribunate, and the proconsular imperium in general.

22 and 21. Successful war against the Ethiopians, conducted by Petronius, the successor of Gallus in Egypt.

20. Campaign of Augustus against the Parthians, whose king Phraates, upon hearing of the arrival of Augustus in Syria restored the Roman standards which had been taken from Crassus. Tigranes was reinstated in the kingdom of Armenia by Tiberius.

19. Subjugation of Spain completed by the conquest of the Cantabri and Astures.

15. After the subjugation of the tribes from the northern boundary of Italy to the Danube, Rætia was made a Roman province, along with Vindelicia (Augusta Vindelicorum, now Augsburg) and Noricum.

12-9. Starting from the left bank of the Rhine (Germania superior and Germania inferior, which had been constituted provinces in 27), Drusus undertook four campaigns in Germany proper, and led the Roman armies to the Weser and the Elbe. Drusus died upon the way back.

8-7. Tiberius, the brother of Drusus and his successor in the command, after he had subjugated Pannonia (12-9), compelled a portion of the Germanic tribes on the right bank of the Rhine to recognize the supremacy of Rome.

Birth of Christ (four years before the commencement of our era?).

6-9. An attack made by Tiberius upon the Suevian kingdom of Marbod was interrupted by an insurrection of the Illyrian and Pannonian tribes, which were reduced to subjection only after a severe contest.

10. Pannonia (the S. W. portion of Hungary) made a Roman province.

9(?). Three Roman legions under Quintilius Varus annihilated in the Teutoburg forest, by Arminius (Hermann?), a leader of the Cherusci, and husband of Thusnelda.

Lex Papia Poppæa and Lex Julia directed against celibacy.

14. Augustus died at Nola, in the seventy-sixth year of his age.

14-37. Tiberius (Claudius Nero), step-son of Augustus, by whom he had been adopted, a suspicious despot. The (formal) right of ratifying laws transferred from the comitæ to the senate. The law against high treason (de maiestate) was extended to include the most trivial offences offered the sovereign. Rewards given to informers (delatores).

Revolt of the legions on the Rhine, quelled by Germanicus, son of the elder Drusus, and of the legions in Pannonia quelled by the younger Drusus, son of Tiberius (Tacitus, Annales. I. 16-49).

14-16. Three expeditions under Germanicus against the Germans. On the third attempt, which was made by sea, Drusus landed at the mouth of the Ems, and crossed the Weser. Roman victory in the battle on the Campus Idistaviso (according to Grimm, Idisiaviso, "meadow of the elves") over Arminius, between Minden and Hameln. In spite of the success of the Roman arms the right bank of the Rhine remained free (Tac. Ann. II. 5-26).

17. Germanicus recalled from Germany, through the envy of Tiberius, and sent to the East, installed a king in Armenia, made Cappadocia a Roman province, and died (19) in Syria (of poison, administered by Piso?).

23-31. Rule of the abandoned Sejanus, Tiberius' favorite. By uniting the prætorian cohorts in one camp near Rome, Sejanus laid the foundation of the future power of the prætorians.

23. Sejanus poisoned Drusus, son of Tiberius.

27. Tiberius took up his residence in Capreæ (Capri).

29. Banishment of the elder Agrippina († 33). — Livia †.

31. Trial of Sejanus, who was executed in company with many others (accomplices in the conspiracy?). Macro succeeded Sejanus in the favor of Tiberius.

37-41. Caligula (properly, Gaius Cæsar Germanicus), youngest son of Germanicus, called by the soldiers Caligula (bootling), a cruel, half-crazy tyrant (oderint, dum metuant!). Self-adoration. Bridge over the bay of Puteoli. Childish expedition with an immense army to the coast of Gaul (39-40), which ended with the collection of mussels (spolia oceani). After his murder the prætorians proclaimed as imperator his uncle, son of Drusus, younger brother of Germanicus, a weak-minded, vacillating prince, ruled by miserable favorites (the freedmen Narcissus and Pallas) and his wives: 1, the shameless Messalina, and, after he had caused her to be killed, 2, the ambitious Agrippina, daughter of Germanicus (Tacitus, Annales, XI. and XII.).

41-54. Claudius (Tiberius Claudius Nero),

43. Commencement of the conquest of Britain under the command of A. Plautius and his legate, T. Flavius Vespasianus; the southern part of Britain became a Roman province (Tacitus, Agricola, 13, 14; Ann. XII. 31-40).

During Claudius' reign the following provinces were incorporated: in Africa, Mauretania, Tingitana, and Mauretania Cæsariensis (42); in the east Lycia (43), Thracia (46), Judæa, which had been a dependent kingdom 41-44, became in 44 a province again.

Agrippina persuaded Claudius to adopt L. Domitius, her son by Cn. Domitius (he took the name of Nero at his adoption), and to appoint him his successor in place of his own son by Messalina, Britannicus, whose sister Octavia was the promised wife of Nero. As Claudius showed signs of repenting of the adoption of Nero, Agrippina poisoned him.

54-68. Nero (Nero Claudius Cæsar Augustus Germanicus), proclaimed imperator by the prætorians, was for the first five years of his reign under the guidance of the præfectus prætorio Burrus and his teacher L. Seneca, who prevented the influence of his mother Agrippina from becoming predominant. Law against informers.

With Nero's passion for the freedwoman Acte, and afterwards for Poppæa Sabina, the opposition between himself and his mother grew stronger and stronger, and the list of his crimes began. He poisoned (55) his step-brother Britannicus, whom his mother had threatened to make imperator, had Agrippina put to death (59), drove from him his wife Octavia, whom he afterwards executed (62), and married Poppæa Sabina. Excesses and mad cruelty of Nero. He appeared in public as chariot-driver in the races, actor, and singer. Crawling servility of the senate (Tac. Ann. XIII.-XVI.).

61. Revolt in Britain, suppressed by Suetonius Paulinus.

58-63. War with the Parthians and Armenians. After the capture and destruction of Artaxata, Domitius Corbulo forced King Tiridates of Armenia to acknowledge the supremacy of Rome.

64. A fire of six days' duration, followed by another lasting three days, destroyed a large part of Rome (set by Nero's command, in order that he might rebuild the city more beautifully?). Nero accused the Jews and the communities of Christians of setting fire to the city.

64. First persecution of the Christians.¹

Re-building in Rome, on a large scale. The palace of Nero (domus aurea) occupied the entire Palatine and extended to the Esquiline.

65. Conspiracy of Piso discovered (Seneca †).

68. Revolt in Gaul (C. Julius Vindex) and in Hispania citerior, where the governor Sulpicius Galba, then 73 years of age, was proclaimed and acknowledged imperator. Nero fled and killed himself on the estate of one of his freedmen in the neighborhood of Rome.

68-69. Galba (Servius Sulpicius Galba),

June-Jan. whose avarice soon gained him the hatred of his soldiers (Tac. Hist. I.), and who became the victim of the revolt of

69. Otho (Marcus Salvius Otho Titianus),

Jan.-Apr. once a favorite of Nero's (Tac. Hist. I. II.) The legions on the Rhine had already proclaimed as imperator

69. Vitellius (Aulus Vitellius),

Apr.-Dec. who defeated Otho in the neighborhood of Cremona, entered Rome and made the city the scene of his senseless gluttony and extravagance. (Tac. Hist. II., III.)

69-96. The three Flavian emperors.

69-79. Vespasianus (Titus Flavius Vespasianus) proclaimed imperator through the influence of Licinius Mucianus, governor of Syria, at first in Alexandria, afterwards by his own legions and those of Syria in Palestine, where he was conducting the war against the Jews who had been in revolt since 66. Vespasianus transferred the military command to his son, Titus, and went to Rome, after a long stay at Alexandria, to find that his adherents had already put Vitellius to death. Restoration of discipline in the army and order in the finances. Reorganization of the senate.

69-71. Revolt of the Batavians under Julius (Claudius?) Civilis (Tac. Hist. IV.), one of their leaders of royal descent. The insurgents at first declared that they took up arms not against the Roman empire, but against Vitellius, and for Vespasianus. Thus they gained the assistance of a large part of the Roman soldiers in those parts. Claudius Civilis repeatedly defeated the Romans, and, reinforced by Germans from the other side of the Rhine, thirsting for booty, he advanced far into Gaul. A great part of the Gallic tribes joined him, and for a moment he dreamed of founding an independent Gallic Empire. When once Vespasian's power in Rome was secure, however, Cerealis, favored by the quarrels which had broken out between the allied Batavians, Gauls, and Germans, put an end to the revolt, and again reduced all Gaul under the Roman supremacy.

70. Capture of Jerusalem by Titus (p. 18). Triumphant arch of Titus in Rome. Erection of the Amphitheatrum Flavium (Colosseum).

78. Agricola, father-in-law of the historian Tacitus, made preparations for the complete subjugation of Britain. Vespasianus was succeeded by his son,

79-81. Titus (Titus Flavius Vespasianus), called, because of his admirable qualities, amor et delicia generis humani. Punishment of informers.

79. Eruption of Vesuvius. Herculaneum buried by mud, Pompeii by ashes and mud. Death of the elder Plinius, the leader of the Roman fleet at Misenum.

80. Fire and plague in Rome. Titus was succeeded by his brother, 81-96. Domitianus (Titus Flavius Domitianus),

a cowardly, cruel despot. He undertook a campaign against the Chatti (83), but returned without having seen a foe, notwithstanding which he celebrated a triumph. During his reign the construction of the Roman boundary wall between the Rhine and the Danube was commenced. It was guarded by soldiers, who were settled upon public land along its course (agri decumates).

81-84. Successful campaigns of Agricola in Britain, whereby the Roman power was extended as far as Scotland. Agricola recalled by Domitian through envy.

86-90. Unsuccessful wars against the Dacians. Domitian bought peace of Decebalus by a yearly tribute.

93. Death of Agricola (poisoned by order of Domitian?). Cruel persecution of the Jews, Christians, and philosophers.

96. Domitianus murdered by the freedman Stephanus, the empress, who was in fear of her own life, and the præfectus prætorio, Petronius Secundus, being cognizant of the crime.

96-192. Nerva and his adopted family.

96-98. Nerva (Marcus Cocceius Nerva), a senator 64 years of age, was raised to the throne by the murderers of Domitian. He repealed the law of treason, recalled the exiles, and reduced the taxes. He adopted and appointed as his successor governor of the province of Germania inferior, born in the Roman colony of Italica in Spain, the first occupant of the throne of the Cæsars who was not an Italian. Excellent ruler and general. Magnificent buildings in Rome (Forum Traianum) and throughout the empire.

98-117. Trajan (Marcus Ulpius Traianus),

101-102. First war against the Dacians, in consequence of Trajan's refusal to pay the tribute promised by Domitian. Trajan crossed the Danube, captured the fortress of the king Decebalus and forced him to make peace and cede a portion of his territory.

105-107. In the second war against the Dacians Trajan built a stone bridge across the Danube (at Turnu Severinu), crossed the stream, defeated and subdued the Dacians. Decebalus killed himself. Magnificent games at Rome, wherein 10,000 gladiators are said to have appeared.

Dacia, that is Wallachia, Moldau, Eastern Hungary, and Transylvania (Siebenbürgen), made a Roman province. Settlement of numerous colonists in Dacia, from whom the present Roumanians derive their descent. It would be more correct to say their language only, the Roumanian or Daco-Romanic, which prevails in Wallachia, Moldau and a part of Transylvania. The column of Trajan at Rome completed in 113.

The governor of Syria took possession (105) of the region E. and S. of Damascus and of Judea to the northern end of the Red Sea, as the Roman province of Arabia.¹

114-116. Wars of Trajan with the Parthians. Chosroës, nephew of the Parthian king, driven from Armenia. Armenia, Mesopotamia, Assyria, including Babylonia, made Roman provinces.

Trajan, favored, as it seems, by internal troubles in the Parthian monarchy, conquered Seleucia and Ctesiphon on the Tigris, and sailed down the river to the Persian Gulf. Trajan, having appointed a king over the Parthians, started upon his return, but died at Selinus (Trajanopolis) in Cilicia.

117-138. Hadrian (Publius Ælius Hadrianus), adopted by Trajan (?). A lover of peace, an excellent administrator, learned and vain. Hadrian abandoned the new provinces of Armenia, Mesopotamia, and Assyria, so that the Euphrates formed the eastern boundary of the Roman empire. He restored quiet in Mæsia, and strengthened his power by the execution of those who conspired against him.

121. Hadrian began his progress through all the provinces of the empire, with a visit to Gaul.

Magnificent buildings : in Rome the Moles Hadriani, on the site of the present Castle of St. Angelo, and the double temple of Venus and the goddess Roma, and the Athenæum ; in Athens, the city of Hadrian (the Olympieum completed). Magnificent villa at Tibur (Tivoli).

In Britain a wall of defence was built against the Picts and Scots. Collection of the edicts of the prætors (edictum perpetuum) commenced by the jurist Salvius Julianus.

132-135. Revolt of the Jews on account of the foundation of the colony of Ælia Capitolina (p. 18).

Hadrian had adopted, during a fit of sickness, L. Ælius Verus, and appointed him Cæsar (p. 147) ; but as Verus died before him he adopted T. Aurelius Antoninus under the condition that the latter should adopt in place of a son his nephew, the young M. Annius Verus, under the name of Marcus Aurelius, and L. Commodus Verus, the son of the deceased Cæsar, Ælius Verus.

138-161. Antoninus Pius (Titus Aurelius Antoninus Pius).

Peaceable reign, during which the borders were, however, vigorously defended against the attacks of the barbarians. Antoninus had his adopted son, M. Aurelius, educated by philosophers of the Stoic school.

161-180. Marcus Aurelius (Marcus Aurelius Antoninus), a wise and active sovereign, highly educated (pupil of Cornelius Fronto), a Stoic philosopher. Until 169 he reigned in common with his brother by adoption, the dissipated Lucius Verus.

162-165. War against the Parthians under the command of L. Verus, who, however, soon gave himself up to dissipation in Antiochia, while his legatees carried on the war with success, conquered Artaxata, appointed a king in Armenia, and burned Seleucia and Ctesiphon. A part of Mesopotamia was again made a Roman province.

166. Plague and famine in Italy.

166-180. War with the Marcomanni and Quadi. Marcus Aurelius fought with various fortune against the barbarians, who constantly made new attacks. During a short peace with the barbarians, conquest of the rebel Avidius Cassius in Syria, 175. Triumph in Rome, 176. The senate erected an equestrian statue in his honor, which still adorns the Capitol. Before he had succeeded in making the boundaries of the empire along the Danube secure, he died in Vindobona (Vienna). He was succeeded by his degenerate son who bought peace of the Germans at the price of a tribute, entrusted the government for the most part to the præfectus prætorio, abandoned himself to his inclination for dissipation and cruelty, and was finally murdered by his intimates.

180-192. Commodus,

193-234. Emperors for the most part appointed by the soldiers.

193. Pertinax, strict and economical, murdered after three months by the prætorians, who placed on the throne in his stead

193. Didius Julianus, who, among all competitors, promised them the largest present. The Illyrian legions proclaimed

193-211. Septimius Severus, who was recognized by the senate and maintained himself against the other pretenders (Pescennius Niger in the East, Clodius Albinus in Gaul). Successful campaigns in Mesopotamia. Improvements in the administration of justice through the jurist Papinianus. In 208 expedition to Britain against the Scots. Restoration of the Roman wall, which had been partially destroyed. Septimius Severus died in Eboracum (York). His son, murdered his half-brother and co-regent Geta along with thousands of his adherents, among whom was Papinianus. By the Constitutio Antoniana Roman citizenship was conferred upon all inhabitants of the provinces, for the sake of the higher taxation which could then be imposed.

211-217. Caracalla (Antoninus Bassianus)

Systematic plundering of the provinces, unsuccessful wars against the Goths (wrongly called Getae) in Dacia, cruel treatment of the inhabitants of Alexandria. Plundering expedition against the Parthians. Murder of Caracalla. His successor, purchased peace from the Parthians. The soldiers proclaimed as emperor the fourteen-year-old 218-222. Elagabalus (the form Heliogabalus is a corruption), priest of the sun at Emesa in Syria, who was put forward as the son of Caracalla. He gave himself up to the most infamous debauchery; the government was conducted by his mother and grandmother. He adopted his cousin, the young Bassianus Alexianus, who succeeded to the throne after the murder of Elagabalus by the prætorians, under the name of 222-235. Severus Alexander.

217. Macrinus,

Excellent ruler, advised by the jurists Domitius Ulpianus and Julius Paullus. His strictness with the soldiers led to several mutinies, in one of which Ulpianus was murdered.

226. In consequence of the dissolution of the Parthian monarchy of the Arsacidæ and the foundation of the new Persian empire of the Sassanidæ by Artakshatr (Artaxares, corrupted into Artaxerxes, new Persian, Ardeshîr), a descendant of Sassan, a new war broke out in the East, which Severus Alexander carried on, according to the Roman historian Lampridius, with success; according to the Grecian Herodian, unsuccessfully. At all events there seems to have been an armistice in 233. After the murder of Severus Alexander on the Rhine the soldiers raised to the throne a Thracian of extraordinary size and strength. Expedition across the Rhine; German townships laid waste. Meanwhile the legions in Africa proclaimed the senator, 237. Gordianus I., then eighty years old, emperor. He appointed his son, Gordianus II., co-regent. They were both defeated by the præfect of Mauretania: the son fell in the battle, the father put himself to death.

235-238. Maximinus Thrax,

The senate at Rome, which had already taken sides against Maximinus Thrax, elected the senators Pupienus Maximus and Cælius Balbinus, Augusti, to whom was added, at the people's demand, the thirteen-year-old grandson of Gordianus I. Maximinus Thrax was killed by his own soldiers at the siege of Aquileia. The prætorians at Rome murdered the two imperators appointed by the senate, Pupienus and Balbinus, so that the young was left sole imperator. A new war with the Persians (241). The young imperator married the daughter of the veteran Misitheus (Timesitheus), whom he made præfectus prætorio, and whose guidance he followed. After the death of his father-in-law Gordianus was murdered by the new præfectus prætorio, 244-249. Philippus Arabs, whom he had been obliged to accept as co-regent in 243 at the demand of the soldiers. Peace with Persia. Philippus returned to Rome (became a Christian in secret?).

248. Celebration of the thousandth anniversary of the foundation of Rome.

Revolt of the Mæsan and Pannonian legions, which proclaimed one of their officers imperator.

249-251. Decius, whom Philippus sent to quell the mutiny, was compelled by the legions to assume the title of imperator. He defeated and killed Philippus in the battle of Verona.

250. General persecution of the Christians.

Martyrdom of Fabianus, bishop of Rome. Decius defeated the Goths, who were plundering Thrace, but fell in battle after he had followed them across the Danube. The legions elected who soon had his co-regent, Hostilianus, son of Decius, put to death. Destructive pestilence in almost all parts of the empire. Gallus was deposed by the conqueror of the Goths,

251-253. Gallus,

253. Æmilianus, who after four months was killed by the soldiers. He was succeeded by 253-260. Valerianus, the general of the legions in Gaul and Germania. He appointed his son, Gallienus, co-regent, and both carried on the war with the German bands, who were constantly making new inroads, especially the Franks in Gaul, the Alamanni, who invaded northern Italy but were driven back at Mediolanum, and the Goths on the Danube. Unsuccessful expedition of Valerianus against the Persians; defeated at Edessa, he was captured, and at the age of seventy carried about as the slave of King Artaxerxes. His reign and that of his son, 260-268. Gallienus, was disturbed by the appearance of a great number of pretenders to the throne, and by the invasions of the barbarians, particularly of the Goths, who came in ships from the Black Sea. Confusion throughout the empire; the so-called "time of the thirty tyrants." Two pretenders only maintained themselves for any length of time, Tetricus in Gaul and Spain, and Odenathus (of Palmyra) in Syria. The latter wrested Mesopotamia from Persia, and was recognized by Gallienus as co-regent for the East. After the murder of Odenathus (267) his consort, Zenobia, ruled in Palmyra. Gallienus laid siege to Mediolanum, which had been occupied by the pretender Aureolus, and was there murdered by contrivance of the latter. Aureolus was put to death by whom the soldiers raised to the throne. He defeated the Alamanni and the Goths, and was succeeded by 270-275. Aurelianus.

He concluded peace with the Goths by the sacrifice of the province of Dacia. The Danube was henceforward the boundary of the empire; the greater part of the Roman colonists were transported to Mæsia, a part of which was now called Dacia (Aureliana). Aurelianus repulsed the Alamanni and Marcomanni, who had made an inroad into Italy (victory on the Metaurus), and began the erection of a new wall around Rome, which included the enlarged imperial city (271, completed in 276). He defeated Zenobia in two battles, at Antiochia and at Edessa, subdued Syria, besieged and destroyed Palmyra, captured Zenobia, and reconquered Egypt (273). Having thus subdued the East, he turned against Tetricus in Gaul, whom he defeated and captured at Chalons (274). Aurelianus, rightly called "Restorer of the universal Empire" (Restitutor Orbis), was murdered on an expedition against the Persians. At the request of the army the senate elected the senator imperator. He defeated the Alani, who had invaded Asia Minor, but died after three months. His brother Florianus, who attempted to secure the succession, was defeated by who drove back the Franks, Burgundians, Alamanni and Vandals, entered Germany, and strengthened the wall between the Rhine and Danube (p. 152). He enrolled a large number of Germans as mercenaries in the Roman army, and employed the soldiers in draining swamps and building canals and roads, for which reason he was murdered by them. The præfectus prætorio, 282-283. Carus, succeeded. He appointed his sons Carinus and Numerianus Cæsars, and afterwards Augusti, conquered the Sarmatians, and perished (struck by lightning?) on an expedition against the Persians, after having captured Ctesiphon.

275. Tacitus

276-282. Probus,

284. Numerianus, who had accompanied his father to the East, was murdered by his father-in-law.

284. Carinus, who had remained in the West, fought at first with success against 284-305. Diocletianus, who had been proclaimed emperor by the soldiers. Carinus was ultimately murdered by his own troops. Diocletian, who created an oriental court at Nicomedia in Bithynia, and thence ruled the East, entrusted the administration of affairs in the West to the brave Maximianus, as his co-regent or Augustus, who took up his residence for the most part in Mediolanum (Milan).

292. Diocletian appointed two more Cæsars: 1. Constantius Chlorus, who was obliged to divorce his wife Helena and marry the step-daughter of Maximianus, received the government of Gaul, Britain, and Spain, and dwelt commonly in Augusta Trevirorum (Trier), while Maximianus was appointed to the government of Italy and Africa. 2. Galerius, who became Diocletian's son-in-law, and received the government of Illyricum, including Macedonia and Greece.

296. Diocletian subdued the revolt of Egypt. Constantius suppressed a revolt in Britain. Galerius fought against the Persians, unsuccessfully in the first year, but in the second (297) he gained an important victory, and extended the frontiers to the Tigris again. Maximianus suppressed an insurrection in Africa. Constantius defeated the Alamanni.

303. General persecution of the Christians, which Constantius discouraged in his province.

305. Diocletian abdicated and retired to Salonæ in Dalmatia, after he had obliged Maximianus also to resign his dignity.

Constantius and Galerius were raised to Augusti. At the desire of Galerius, the claims of Constantinus, son of Constantius, and of Maxentius, son of Maximianus, being passed over, Severus and Maximinus were appointed Cæsars, the first receiving Italy and Africa, the second Syria and Egypt.

306. After the death of Constantius in Britain, his son (by Helena), Constantine, assumed the administration of his father's provinces, Gaul, Spain, and Britain, with the title of Cæsar. He fought successfully with the Franks and Bructeri. Meanwhile the prætorians at Rome chose Maxentius emperor, whereupon his father, Maximianus, reassumed the dignity he had unwillingly resigned. The empire had thus six rulers, three Augusti and three Cæsars.

307. The Cæsar Severus, having been created Augustus by Galerius, went to Italy to attack Maxentius, but was deserted by his soldiers and put to death at Ravenna. Galerius appointed Licin- ius co-regent and Augustus in his stead, and Constantine therefore assumed the same title, so that there were now six Augusti in the empire.

310. In the struggle that followed, the aged Maximianus was captured in Massilia and put to death by command of Constantine. Galerius died of disease (311).

War between Maxentius and Constantine. The latter issued edicts in favor of the Christians. Maxentius was defeated at Turin

312. and at Saxa rubra, four miles from Rome, by Constantine (Hoc signo vinces!), and perished by drowning as he attempted to cross the Tiber.

Constantine became the protector of the Christians, but remained up to his death a catechumen.

313. Alliance between Constantine and Licinius, who married Constantine's sister. Constantine took the field against the Franks, Licinius against Maximinus, who was defeated, and killed himself in Tarsus; so that now 313-323. Constantine and Licinius were the only rulers in the empire, the former in the West, the latter in the East. In 314, however, they were embroiled in conflict. Licinius, defeated in two encounters, was obliged to cede Illyricum, Macedonia, and Achaia to Constantine.

323. Second war between Constantine and Licinius. The latter, defeated at Adrianople and Chalcedon, surrendered in Nicomedia, and was executed (324) by Constantine's command.

323-337. Constantine (the Great) sole ruler.

Christianity recognized by the State and favored at the expense of paganism.

325. First general (œcumenic) Council of the Church at Nicæa, in Bithynia. Arianism, i. e. the doctrine of Arius ('Apeios), formerly a presbyter in Alexandria, according to which Christ was not of the same nature, but of like nature only (ὁμοιοεὖς), with God the Father, was rejected, and the doctrine of Athanasius of Alexandria, according to which Christ was of the same nature (ὁμοούσιος, consubstantialis) with God the Father, was declared a dogma of the Church by the Symbolum Nicænum.

330. Constantine selected Byzantium (Nova Roma, Constantinopolis) for the capital. The empire was redistricted. The four great prefectures, Oriens, Illyricum orientale, Italia, Gallia, were divided into 13 dioceses, these into 116 provinces.¹ New hierarchy of officials, 7 superior court offices. Council of state (consistorium principis). New arrangement of the taxes.

Cruelty of Constantine in his family. His eldest son, Crispus, and one of his nephews executed through the plots of his wife, Fausta, who was herself put to death.

Constantine, before his death, divided the administration of the empire among his three sons as Augusti, and two nephews as Cæsars. After his death, in Bithynia, the two Cæsars were put to death by Constantinus. The three sons of Constantine redivided the empire at Constantinople.

337-340. Constantinus II. received the West (the prefectures of Italia, Gallia, and a part of Africa).

337-361. Constantius received the East, the prefecture Oriens.

337-350. Constans received the prefectures of Illyricum orientale and a part of Africa.

Constantius carried on a long and indecisive war with the Persians. Constantinus II. attacked his brother Constans, and fell at Aquileia. In 350 Constans also died, so that Constantius, after the conquest of the usurper Magnentius (353), again united the whole empire. Julianus, a cousin of the emperor, who was appointed Cæsar, fought successfully with the Alamanni and Riparian Franks, and assigned the Salian Franks lands in northern Gaul. Constantius died on an expedition against who had been proclaimed Augustus by the legions. He is known as the apostate (apostata), because he was an adherent of the heathen philosophy and abandoned Christianity, hoping to bring about a reaction in favor of the heathen cult, which he wished restored in a purified form. Julianus defeated the Alamanni and the Franks, restored the fortresses which had been erected against them along the frontier, and defeated the Persians at Ctesiphon, but died of a wound on his return. The soldiers raised the Christian

363-364. Jovianus,

to the throne. He ceded the greater part of Mesopotamia to the Persians. Christianity reinstated in the privileges which Constantine had granted. After the sudden death of Jovianus the legions raised 364-375. Valentinianus I.

to the throne. He appointed as co-regent first his brother, 364-378. Valens, an Arian, who governed the East from Constantinople, and afterwards, for the West, his son, 367-383. Gratianus, who, upon his father's death, acknowledged as co-regent for the administration of the West his four-year-old half-brother,

375-392. Valentinian II., who had been proclaimed imperator by the soldiers.

375. Beginning of the migrations of the Teutonic tribes (p. 170).

378. After the death of Valens at Adrianople in battle against the West Goths, Gratianus created the heathen co-regent, and entrusted him with the administration of the East. Theodosius became a Christian after his recovery from a severe illness, fought successfully against the West Goths, but was obliged to accept them as allies (federati) in their abodes in Mæsia and Thrace. Gratianus fell in battle against the emperor proclaimed by the legions in Britain, 383-388. Clemens Maximus, whom Theodosius recognized as co-regent under the condition that he should leave Italy in the hands of the young Valentinian II. In 387 Maximus drove Valentinian from Italy. He fled to Theodosius, who, returning with him, captured Clemens Maximus at Aquileia, and executed him.

379-395. Theodosius

390. Insurrection in Thessalonica, cruelly punished by Theodosius (7000 executions). On this account bishop Ambrosius of Milan, eight months later, excluded the emperor from Christian communion, until he had done penance.

392. After the murder of Valentinian II. by Arbogastes, and after the new emperor, Eugenius, whom Arbogastes set up, had

394. fallen at Aquileia in battle with Theodosius, and Arbogastes had put himself to death, the whole empire was, for the last time, reunited under

394-395. Theodosius.

After his death the division of administration into an eastern and a western section, which had existed for a hundred years, became a permanent division of the empire.

395-1453. Arcadius received the Eastern empire, also called the Byzantine or Grecian empire. Imperial vicar, Rufinus. Capital Byzantium or Constantinople. The 395-476. Western empire, capital Rome, Ravenna imperial residence after 402, under 395-423. Honorius.

Guardian and chancellor, the Vandal Stilicho, murdered in 408 by command of Honorius to whom he had been defamed. After the death of Honorius the usurper

424. Joannes reigned for a short time, but was finally overthrown with the assistance of the Eastern empire and the six-year-old

made emperor, the government being conducted at first by his mother Placida, sister of Honorius, in his name. Valentinian was murdered by who married Eudoxia, widow of Valentinian, but was killed shortly before the capture of Rome by the Vandals (p. 173).

455. Petronius Maximus,

The throne was usurped by 455-556. Avitus

who was soon deposed by Recimir, a military leader of the German mercenaries in the Roman army. Recimir placed upon the throne

457-461. Majorianus, whom he afterwards deposed in favor of 461-465. Libius Severus, after whose deposition (?)

465-467. Recimir conducted the government without the pretence of an imperial figure-head until 467 when he placed upon the throne, who was succeeded by 472. Olybrius.

467-472. Anthemius

Recimir and his sovereign dying this year, the Eastern court interposed and placed on the throne of the West, who was succeeded by 473-475. Julius Nepos, also by appointment of the emperor of the East. In 475 Orestes, a leader among the mercenaries, placed his son

473. Glycerius

475-476. Romulus Augustulus upon the throne, who, combining in his name that of Rome's first king and first emperor, became the last of the imperial line in the West, being deposed by military leader of the Heruli and Rugii, who made himself ruler (not king) of Italy, and was recognized by the Eastern emperor Zeno as patricius of Rome and prefect of Italy (p. 173).

476. Odovaker (Odoacer),

§ 4. TEUTONS.

Geography: The Teutonic race has occupied three regions in Europe.

I. Germany comprises Central Europe, the slope from the Alps N. to the sea. It may be roughly bounded as follows: N. German Ocean, Baltic; E. a vague line indicated by the Vistula, and the Carpathian Mts.; S. the Alps; W. the Rhine. This region falls into three physical divisions: 1. The broad and lofty chain of the Alps divided into the Swiss Alps on the W. and the Tyrolese Alps on the E., whose deep valleys fostered the rise of small independent communities (p. 245). Mont Blanc (14,748 ft.), Monte Rosa, Jungfrau, etc., Lake Geneva, Lake Constance, Lake of Lucerne (Vierwaldstättesee), etc. 2. A broad upland extending two thirds of the way from the Alps to the sea, and embracing the present Württemberg, Bavaria, Bohemia, Sax- ony, Saxon duchies, Hesse, etc. 3. A low plain reaching to the sea, and including the present Holland, Hanover, Prussia, etc. Modern Germany comprises 2 and 3. The peninsula of Denmark has belonged, in historic times, politically to Scandinavia and Germany.

Through the middle of Germany a range of low mountains extends from S.E. to N.W. from the Jura in France to the Carpathians in Hungary. This range, known to the Romans as Hercynia silva, includes the Jura, Vosges, Schwarzwald (Black Forest) Taunus, Thüringer Wald, Erz Gebirge, Riesen Gebirge, Sudetes, and forms an arc whose convex side is turned toward the W. and N. The valley of the Danube S. of this range, and the depression on its northern base extending from the Lahn to the middle Elbe (the old commercial route between Frankfort o. M. and Leipsic), are the two natural roads which give the East access to western Europe. Other mountain groups: Bohemian Forest, forming the S.E. border of Bohemia, Harz, N. of the Frankfort road. Rivers: S. the Danube, flowing into the Black Sea; N. the Rhine, with its branches Neckar, Main, etc., Ems, Weser, Elbe, flowing into the German Ocean; Oder, Vistula flowing into the Baltic.

The Roman provinces Rætia, Vindelicia, Noricum, Pannonia, occupied the Alps and the southern bank of the Danube. Germania superior and inferior were Galic provinces on the left bank of the Upper and Lower Rhine. To Germany proper, which was never a province of the empire, the Romans applied the name, Germania magna.

II. Scandinavia, the great peninsula jutting W. and S. from the north of Europe.

III. The British Isles. See pp. 40 and 176.

Ethnology: I. The Teutons belonged to the Baltic or Nordic, the northern of the three "races" into which European peoples are divided. Predominately long-headed, blond and blue-eyed. They were centred at an early date on the great grassy plain of Russia (c. 2600 B. C.); from there they gradually dispersed over northwestern Europe. Their historic expansion, once so greatly stressed by historians in dealing with the Roman Empire, was probably due in large part to the relative infertility of eastern Europe and the pressure of the Huns who moved westward due to the desiccation of the Caspian area. It was a gradual rather than a sudden movement. Thus the Celtic tribes who had early occupied the valley of the Danube and Bohemia were only dispossessed by the invading Germans after a long and slow process. Whether the Teutons entered Germany in two bands, is not clear; certain it is that from a very early time a radical difference has existed in language and customs among the Germans, whereby they are divided into High Germans, inhabiting the inland plateau, and Low Germans, dwelling on the coast.

The Romans divided the Germans (Germani)¹ either into two sections, the Suevi and the non-Suevi (Cæsar), or into three branches which were named after the sons of "Mannus, the son of the earth-born god Tuisco," Istævones, Ingævones, Hermionones. The former division is thought to correspond to that of High (Suevi) and Low Germans ; the latter answers territorially to the fusions of tribes which later formed the Franks, Saxons, and Thuringians. Of the separate tribes may be mentioned: I. Non-Suevi: Istævones, Ubii, Usipii, Tencterii, Sugambri, Marsi, on the right bank of the Rhine where we find later the Alamanni and Riparian Franks ; Ingævones, Batavians, Frisians, Saxons, Chauci, Cimbri, along the coast from the Rhine to the right bank of the Elbe. II. Suevi, Chatti, in Hessen, Cherusci on the Upper Weser, Hermunduri in Thuringia, extending as far as the Danube (these three were included under the Herminones), Marcomanni in Bohemia (see below), Quadi on the Danube, Semnoncs, the centre of what seems to have been a very loose political organization of the Suevi, between the Elbe and Oder, Langobardi, Rugii in the northeast toward the Vistula, Burgundiones on the Oder, Guttones (later Goths) extending beyond the Vistula, Vandali, Alani (?).

In Denmark dwelt the Saxons, Angles, and Jutes, until the fifth century A. D., when a large part of these tribes migrated to England, and their place was taken by Danes from the islands on the E.

II. Scandinavia was occupied by Finnish tribes (Sitones), from the N., and by invading Germans from the S. at an unknown time : Gautæ (Goths), Sueones (Swedes) in Sweden ; Northmen in Norway.

III. British Isles. See pp. 40 and 176.

Religion : The religion of the Teutonic race was a pantheistic nature worship. I. Germans : Beyond the unsatisfactory passages in Cæsar (Bell. Gall. VI. 21) and Tacitus (Germania 9, 10, etc.), all our knowledge of the ancient religion of the Germans before the introduction of Roman civilization and of Christianity is derived by inference from later sources, or from the younger but much fuller mythology of Scandinavia. Among the great gods (Ases) of the Germans were : Woden (Odin in the north), the "all-father" ; Donar (Thor), his son, at once the storm-god, and the god of agriculture ; Zio or Thiu (Tyr) also a son of Woden, god of war ; Fro (Freyr), god of love ; Paltar (Baldur), god of justice ; Nerthus or Hertha (Frau Bertha), the earth ; Frauwa (Freya), sister of Fro ; Friga (Fria), wife of Woden ; Helia (Hel) goddess of the lower regions. Below the Ases were the Giants, the Nornes or fates, the Walkyres or messengers of the gods. In the realm of lower mythology the German imagination was remarkably fertile. Fairies, cobolds, elves, nixes, abounded, and still live in children's tales, and the many popular fancies which the modern study of folk lore has revealed.

The Germans had no corporation of priests like that of the Druids, though the priests and priestesses of certain divinities stood in high honor. Their worship consisted in the repetition of formal invocations, and in the offering of sacrifices, prisoners being often immolated to the gods. Woods and trees were held in special reverence and often devoted to the performance of worship beneath their branches. Certain days were set apart for the worship of certain deities, whose names have come down to us in the names of the days of the week. Tuesday (Thiu'sdag), Wednesday (Woden'sdag), Thursday (Thor'sdag, Donnerstag), Friday (Freya'sdag). Some of the customs of these recurring festivities were afterwards impressed into the service of Christianity. Such was the decoration of trees with flower-wreaths and candles, now a part of Christmas rites,¹ and such the colored eggs in a "hare's nest," now an Easter custom, but originally an offering to some heathen divinity. Divinations by flight of birds, neighing of horses, throwing sticks, etc.

II. Scandinavia : The faith of the northern Teutons was one of the most remarkable of the heathen religions, and one of the last in Europe to yield to Christianity. After being long transmitted by hearsay the northern mythology was first committed to writing in the poem of the Elder Edda in the twelfth, or as some scholars hold, in the thirteenth century. The poem is supplemented by the commentary known as the Younger Edda, written by Snorri Sturluson (1178-1241).

In the beginning existed the All-Father. In chaos (Ginungagap) he created two worlds, Niflheim, the ice-world, in the north, and Muspelheim, the fire-world, where sat Surt with the flaming sword, in the south. Midway of the two their opposing influences produced the giant Ymer, who became the progenitor of the evil race of frost-giants (Hrymthurses). Ymer was fed by the milk of the cow Audhumbra, who licked the ice-blocks and set free the god Bure, to whom a giant's daughter bore three sons, Odin, Vile, and Ve. These three slew Ymer, in the deluge of whose blood perished all the frost-giants, save two, who became the ancestors of a new race of frost-giants. Of the body of Ymer the gods formed the universe, the earth, the sky and the stars. Dwarfs were the earliest inhabitants of the earth. Afterwards the first man and woman were created from two trees.

The universe thus formed comprised nine worlds. Of these the highest was Muspelheim, in whose highest part was Gimle, the abode of the blest. Below Muspelheim was Asaheim, or Godheim, where dwelt the great gods (Asa) in their capital, Asgard, with its lofty halls, the fairest of which was Valhal, the hall of Odin. Below Godheim was Mannaheim, or Midgard, the earth, a disk of land surrounded by the ocean and held together by the Midgard-serpent which lay at the bottom of the ocean, its tail between its jaws. Across the ocean was Jotunheim, the world of the giants, whose one purpose was the annoyance of mankind, on which account they were perpetually at war with man's defenders, the gods of Godheim. Below the earth was Helheim, the world of the dead, and, lowest of all, Niflheim, with the fountain Hvergelmer. Bifrost, the bridge between Godheim and Mannaheim. Gjallar-bridge between Helheim, Jotunheim and the worlds above.

These worlds were, in the fancy of the north, surrounded and united by a mighty ash-tree, Yggdrasil, with three roots reaching to Godheim, Jotunheim, and Niflheim.

The great gods were Ödin and his sons : Thor, Vali, Haimdall, Vidar, Baldur, Braga, Tyr, Hödur, besides Aller, Forsete, and Njörd,

Frøyr, sea gods, and Loke. Of the goddesses the chief were Frigga, wife of Odin, Freyja, goddess of love, Saga, goddess of history. Above all the gods were the Nornes, or fates. Below the gods were elves, trolls, witches, etc. Exploits of the gods. Especially famous were the dealings of Thor with the giants. After the creation followed a golden age when all was well in Godheim, but after a time evil crept in personified as Loke. Death of Baldur, killed through the contrivance of Loke by his brother Hödur with a sprig of mistletoe, Frigga having bound all other created things not to hurt Baldur. Loke's children were the Fenris-wolf, chained until the coming of Ragnarok, the Midgard-serpent, and Hel. Binding of Loke. Finally comes the end of the world, Ragnarok, the Twilight of the Gods. Battle of the Asa-gods with the Midgard-serpent, Loke, and the Fenris-wolf, who have broken their chains. The good and the bad alike perish in the combat. Surt consumes Yggdrasil and the whole world in flames. Vidar, Vale, Hödur, Baldur, and the sons of Thor survive. A new earth and a new heaven are created.

According to the belief of the Northmen, all good men and all who died in battle crossed over the bridge Bifrost (the rainbow) to Valhal, where they spent their days feasting and fighting, until Ragnarok when they passed to Gimle. Cowards and evil-doers were punished in Helheim, and after Ragnarok in Naostrand.¹

Civilization : It is probable that the Germans had not completed the transition from a pastoral to an agricultural people, when they arrived in central Europe. They were certainly in a low stage of civilization when they became known to the Romans, a stage not unlike that reached by the most advanced of the American Indians, the Iroquois. Cities were unknown to them ; they seem to have settled for the most part each individual apart, each tribe separated from the other by a broad strip of mark-land.² Orders : 1. Nobles, who derived their descent from the gods, but were entitled to no political privileges because of their nobility. 2. Freemen, that is, land-owners, men born to arms, the work upon whose land was done by their bondmen; out of this class developed later the lower nobility. 3. Freedmen (liti, lassen), or half-freemen, renters bound to military service, but excluded from the ownership of land, from the popular assembly, and from the courts. 4. Servants or bondmen, in part serfs bound to the soil (glebæ adscripti), in part actual slaves. The latter two classes formed the majority of the population.

Custom of comradeship (gasindi leudes), out of which the feudal system developed after the occupation of the Roman provinces and the division of land among the faithful (fideles), and under the influence of the Christian religion. Feudal superior (suzerain). Vassens, vassals, or men ; fief (feudum or beneficium), held on tenure of service, distinct from allodium, property in fee simple.

² Whoever desires to become involved in that most hopeless of all historical questions, the social and political organization of the ancient Germans, is referred to Waitz, Verfassungsgeschichte, where references will be found.

History: I. The date of the first arrival of Teutons in Europe is wholly unknown. Pytheas of Massalia, who visited the amber coasts of the Baltic about 350 B. C., met with German tribes. From that time on only the bare introduction of the word Germani in the Roman annals for 225 B. C. hints at any knowledge of the Teutons until the close of the second century B. C., when the tribes of the Cimbri and Teutones left their homes at the base of the Danish peninsula (driven from them by a flood?) and, after humiliating the Roman arms in Gaul, found their death on the fields of Aquæ Sextiæ and Vercellæ (102, 101, B. C., p. 127). The terrors of the invasion died away, but the Romans did not come again into contact with the Germans until Cæsar's invasion of Gaul brought on a contest with the Suevian prince Ariovistus which ended in the latter's defeat (58 B. C.). Subjugation of the Germans on the left bank of the Rhine. Cæsar's two expeditions across the Rhine (58, 55, p. 139).

Under Augustus, systematic attempt to subjugate Germania magna. Conquest of Rætia and Noricum by Drusus (15), of Pannonia and Vindelicia. Expeditions of Drusus from the Rhine: 1. With the fleet on the Ems (12); 2. Against the Cherusci on the Weser, foundation of the citadel Aliso (11); 3. Along the Main to the Werra and Elbe (9). Legend of the "white woman." Death of Drusus. His successor Tiberius, reduced all the tribes between the Rhine and the Elbe to submission and began the active construction of fortresses and colonies. The folly of Tiberius's successor, Varus, alienated the Germans and led to revolt. Under Arminius, one of the nobles of the Cherusci, three Roman legions were annihilated in the three days' battle in the *Teutoburg Forest*¹ (9 A. D.?). Augustus gave up the hope of subjugating the Germans, and later emperors did not revive it. Expeditions of Germanicus in revenge for the Teutoburg massacre, 14, 15, 16. Thenceforward the Romans were contented with maintaining their borders against the free tribes, and with colonizing the land south of the Main and the Danube. Line of fortifications from Aschaffenburg, on the Main, to Regensburg, on the Danube (Pfahlgraben, Teufelsmauer). Along this line Roman soldiers were settled on land for the rent of which they paid a tenth of the produce, hence agri decumates. Foundation of colonies: Curia Rætorum (Chur) in Rætia; Juvenum (Salsburg) in Noricum; Vindobonum (Vienna) in Pannonia; Augusta Vindelicorum (Augsburg), Castra regina (Regensburg) in Vindelicia. Active intercourse between Rome and Germany. Germans served both as privates and as officers in the Roman army (so Arminius). Traffic in amber.

Of the internal affairs of the free Germans we are but scantily informed. In the first century B. C. a portion of the Hermunduri, the Marcomanni, had invaded Bohemia, driven out the Celtic Boii (who took refuge in Pannonia, where they were gradually exterminated by the Roman arms) and established a state which, under Marbod (Maroboduus), grew to formidable proportions. Intended expedition of Tiberius against Marbod frustrated by the Pannonian revolt (8). Feuds between the German tribes fostered by the Romans. Arminius expelled Marbod from his kingdom, but was himself murdered under suspicion of aiming at supreme power. The Cherusci, Hermunduri and Bructeri were nearly exterminated in internecine strife. Revolt of the Batavians under Civilis (p. 151). War of Marcus Aurelius with the Marcomanni (p. 154).

In process of time a change came over the political organization of the Germans. The multitude of small tribes disappeared and we find in their stead a smaller number of more extensive tribes. At the same time the Slavs began to press upon the eastern Germans and urge them westward. The Germans increased in power and population, and became better and better trained in the arts of war and political intrigue as they came more and more into intimate connection with Rome. The provincial armies were largely German; German officers rose to high distinction and great influence in Rome. So Rome grew weaker and her foes stronger until at last the impulse of the invading Huns in the east set all the tribes in motion.

II. Scandinavia: Northern annalists present an historical Odin, probably no less mythical than Odin the god. According to these tales (which, like some other mythical history, may have greater historical value than the present credits them with), Odin was the leader of the Asas who dwelt in Asia between the Black Sea and the Caspian. Attracted to the falling fortunes of Mithridates, he was driven from his kingdom by Pompeius. He conducted the Asas westward to Scandinavia where he subdued Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and gave these countries to his sons; Denmark to Skjold, Sweden to Yngave, Norway to Sæming. Odin ended his days in Sweden.

The history of Scandinavia as far as ascertained belongs to the next period, and will be found on pages 207–09.

III. British Isles. For the history of the Teutonic invasion of England see p. 176.

§ 5. SLAVS AND LITHUANIANS.

The Slavs were closely related to the Celts, especially at the period of the Wandering of Peoples. They are certainly a round-headed or Alpine race. Their westward migration followed that of the Teutons.

The Slavs were known to the late Roman geographers under the name Venedæ (hence Wends) as inhabiting the region beyond the Vistula, which bore the general name of Sarmatia, from the nomadic Sarmatians who inhabited it, interspersed with the Slavs, from whom they differed in language and descent.

In the fifth century A. D. the Slavs occupied the country between the Baltic and the Black Sea, between the Carpathians and the Don. They dwelt in the steppes of Russia as far north as Novgorod on the Volga, and their westernmost limit lay between the Vistula and the Oder. In the sixth century the Slavs began to extend themselves south and west, a movement which resulted in the permanent occupation of Bohemia and of the Balkan peninsula, while their settlement extended east to Tyrol. In 623 A. D. temporary formation of a Slavic monarchy of great extent under Samo in Bohemia, which endured thirty-five years. The conquests of the Slavs came to an end with the seventh century, and the separate kingdoms of Poland, Bohemia, Russia, were gradually formed.

Of the religion of the Slavs little is known with certainty, owing to the diversity of nomenclature among the various divisions of this wide-spread people, and to the lack of trustworthy authorities. Among the Slavs of the Baltic, who had a class of priests and built temples, occur the names Svatorit or Seantovit, god of light or of the air, with a temple at Arkona; Triglath, the three-headed god, worshipped in Pomerania (Stettin); Radigost, Rugevit or Ranovit (in Rügen), Jarovit, all gods of war; Zcerneboh, "the black god," an evil deity. The Russians worshipped Khors, Volos, or Veles, god of the herds (St. Blaise); Koupalo, god of the harvest; Jarylo, god of generation; Stribog, god of the winds; Lada, goddess of love and passion. The gods were worshipped by offerings of fruit and animals, seldom by human sacrifices.

The Slavs were a pastoral and agricultural people. All inhabitants of the same district were kinsmen, bearing a common name, living under the rule of an elected elder, and holding property in common. A union of such districts formed a tribe; a union of tribes formed a people.

The Lithuanians play no part in history before the thirteenth century. In the wider sense the name includes the Letts and the ancient Prussians, who were known to the Romans as Æstui. In the narrower sense it is limited to the inhabitants of the region between the Memel and the Finnish Esthonians. They were apparently Nordic in racial composition, but spoke a pure Indo-European tongue akin to Sanskrit.

II. MEDIÆVAL HISTORY.

FIRST PERIOD.

FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE MIGRATIONS OF THE NORTHERN TRIBES TO THE TREATY OF VERDUN¹ (375-843).

§ 1. MIGRATIONS OF THE NORTHERN PEOPLES.

Habitations of the Germanic tribes in the fourth century A. D.

Alani, whose German descent is, however, not certain, on the lower Volga; East Goths in southern Russia; West Goths in Dacia (eastern Hungary, Roumania); Vandals in Pannonia (southwestern Hungary); Suevi in Moravia, Bohemia, and Bavaria; Burgundians on the Neckar and the Rhine, with Worms as their capital (compare p. 164); Alamanni (or Alemanni) on the Rhine, between the Main and the Alps, partly along the Roman boundary wall (agri decumates); Riparian Franks on both sides of the lower Rhine (capital at Colonia Agripina); Salic Franks on the mouths of the Rhine (in Meergau, "district on the sea," the Meruwe, hence Merovingians);² Saxons from the Elbe almost to the Rhine; Thuringians south of the Saxons; Lan-gobards on the lower Elbe.

The peoples which appear in the so-called migrations of the peoples were generally heterogeneous armed bands under the command of a leader or king chosen for his military prowess (Heerkönig).

375. Beginning of the migration of the Teutonic tribes.

Period of migrations and invasions.

The Huns, a Mongolian race, crossed the Volga.

The Huns, joined by the Alani, whom they had defeated, fell upon the East Goths (king Ermanaric or Hermanric, of the family of the Amali), and, in union with these, upon the West Goths. That part of the West Gothic race which had remained heathen took refuge in the Carpathians; the Christians,³ and those who were just on the point of accepting Christianity (in the form of Arianism), were allotted habitations in Mœsia by the emperor Valens. Disputes with the Roman officials at the passage of the Danube (Fridigern, leader of the West Goths) led to war, and the Goths advanced, ravaging as they went.

² According to other scholars the name was a patronymic.

³ A Gothic bishop (Theophilus) took part in the council of Nicaea (325). Wulfila (Ulphilas), bishop of the West Goths (348-381), translator of the Bible; cf. Dahn, Die Könige der Germanen, VI. 41.

378. Battle of Adrianople. Valens defeated and slain. His successor, Theodosius, made peace with the West Goths, who, for pay and the gift of a dwelling-place, were to protect the frontiers of the Roman Empire as fœderati.

Alaric, leader of the West Goths, belonging to the family of the Balthi (i. e. "bold") enraged at not receiving pay from Arcadius, laid waste Macedonia, Illyria, and Greece (395), and advanced into Peloponnesus. Stilicho, magister utriusque militiæ of the Western Empire (p. 161), came to the assistance of the Eastern court. Landing with an army at Corinth he surrounded the West Goths, but allowed them to escape. Alaric went to Illyria, and compelled the court at Byzantium to recognize him as dux in Illyricum orientale.

401. Alaric's first invasion of Italy. After a victory at Aquileia he crossed the Po. Stilicho hastened from Rætia to meet him.
402. Drawn battle at Pollentia. Alaric made another attempt to advance southward, but was compelled to return to Illyria by disease, hunger, and desertion.
- 404-406. German bands under Radagais invaded Italy, but were defeated by Stilicho at Fæsulæ, and annihilated by continued fighting and by hunger.
- 406-409. Bands of Vandals, Suevi, and Alani left the regions along the Danube, crossed the Rhine, sustained great loss in contests with the Franks, and finally (409) invaded Spain.

Foundation of Teutonic monarchies in Roman territory.

The Salian Franks gradually occupied northern Gaul. The Burgundians settled (406-413) on the middle Rhine (Worms).

408. Stilicho murdered by the command of the emperor Honorius (p. 161).

Alaric's second invasion of Italy. He besieged Rome, but retired on receipt of a ransom. The court at Ravenna refusing to grant Alaric's request that the Goths should be assigned lands for a permanent settlement in northern Italy, Alaric again advanced upon Rome, and forced the senate to appoint Attalus, prefect of the city, emperor. Alaric besieged Honorius in Ravenna without success, quarrelled with Attalus, whom he deposed, and advanced for the third time upon Rome.

410. Capture and sack of Rome by Alaric. Alaric went to Lower Italy with the intention of crossing to Sicily, and thence to Africa, but died at the close of 410, at Cosenza, and was buried beneath the Busento.

- 410-415. Athaulf, brother of Alaric's wife, led the West Goths to Gaul, though whether in fulfilment of a treaty with Honorius to resist the Romans, who had forced their way into the province, or of his own accord, is uncertain. He carried with him the sister of Honorius, who was detained as a hostage in the Gothic camp, and married her in Narbonne (414). The proposed treaty with the imperial court was not, however, concluded. Athaulf, hard pressed by the imperial general Constantius, went to Spain, conquered Barcelona, and was murdered (415). After the murder of his successor, Sigric, 415-419. Walja became king of the West Goths. He concluded a treaty with Honorius, and fought for Rome against Vandals, Alani, and Suevi. He received a grant of southern Gaul under Roman supremacy. Walja was the founder of the 429. King Genseric (Geiseric) conducted the Vandals and a portion of the Alani to Africa, at the invitation, as the story goes,² of the Roman governor Bonifacius. The latter was slandered at court by Aetius, and accused of treason, but, making his peace with Placidia, the mother and guardian of the Emperor Valentinian III., he fought unsuccessfully against Genseric, who, after a short peace with the Romans (435), conquered Carthage (439).

415-507. West Gothic (Visigothic) kingdom of Tolosa, with its capital at Tolosa (Toulouse), which soon became independent.¹

429-534. Kingdom of the Vandals in Africa. Capital, Carthage (S. Augustinus, bishop of Hippo Regius † 430).

440. The Vandals, having created a great naval power, plundered the coasts of Sicily and lower Italy, by their fleets.

443. The Burgundians settled on the upper Rhône and on the Saône; the Alamanni extended themselves over the Roman province of Germania superior (hence called Alsace), and also occupied a part of Switzerland, east of the Burgundian territory.

449. The Angles and Saxons, long known as pirates along the coasts of the German Ocean, and having settlements on the coast of Flanders (*litus Saxonicum*³), were called in by the Britons, after the withdrawal of the Roman legions from Britain, to assist them in repelling the robber tribes of the northern mountains, the Picts and Scots. The Saxons and Angles crossed to Britain (according to tradition, the first bands were led by Hengist and Horsa), and founded in the course of time 8 states: Kent, Sussex, Wessex, Essex, East Anglia, Mercia, Deira, Bernicia. The last two were later united to form Northumbria (north of the Humber); hence the number of states was then 7 (heptarchy).

The Britons for the most part migrated to Wales, and to Armorica in Gaul, which was hence called Bretagne (Brittany).

³ See, however, p. 38.

451. Attila (Etzel, "Scourge of God"), king of the Huns (in his train armed bands of Germanic peoples, whom he had subjugated, East Goths, Gepidæ, etc.), invaded and ravaged Gaul. He besieged Orléans in vain.

Battle on the Catalaunian fields (near Châlons-sur-Marne; the battle-field itself was at Troyes). Attila defeated by Aetius, the Roman governor of the small district around Lutetia, which alone remained in possession of the Romans, and the West Goths (with the aid of auxiliaries from the Franks, Burgundians, etc.). Theodoric I., king of the West Goths, fell in the battle.

452. Attila went to Italy, destroyed Aquileia. Venice founded by Italian fugitives. Rome saved by Bishop Leo (?). After the death of Attila (453) the monarchy of the Huns fell asunder.

Not only the German tribes which had been subjugated by the Huns became free (the Gepidæ were the first to shake off the yoke); the Slavic peoples also regained their liberty. During the following centuries these latter tribes extended themselves throughout the eastern parts of Germany.

455. Rome, after the murder of Valentinian III., by Maximus, plundered for 14 days by the Vandals, who had been called in by Eudoxia, widow of Valentinian.

The Vandals controlled the entire northern coast of Africa as far as Cyrene, and the islands of the western Mediterranean.

476. Odothakar (Odoacer), leader of Herulian and other German bands in the pay of Rome, became ruler in Italy, after the deposition of the last emperor of the West (p. 162).

There was no conquest of the western empire by Odothakar, but the line of Emperors in the West came to an end in consequence of domestic revolution, and thereby the last bond was broken which had united the provinces, long since occupied by the barbarians, who, however, had usually nominally recognized the supremacy of the Imperator or Augustus in Ravenna.

486. Battle of Soissons. The Merovingian Chlodwig (Chlodowech, Clovis, 481-511), leader of the Salic Franks, defeated the Roman governor Syagrius, the successor of Aëtius.

Kingdom of the Franks in northern Gaul. Chlodwig by cruelty and deceit made himself sole ruler of all the Franks.

500. Chlodwig, king of the Franks, attacked the Burgundians, to revenge himself on Gundobad, the uncle of his wife Chlotilde, for the murder of her father, defeated them at Dijon, and made them tributary to the Franks.

507. Chlodwig defeated the West Goths at Vouillé, or Voulon,¹ on the Clain, a branch of the Vienne, in the vicinity of Poitiers.

The West Goths, assisted by the East Goths, defeated the Franks at Arles, and maintained their control of Septimania (the coast between the Rhône and Pyrenees).

Theodoric the Great united a part of southern Gaul to the kingdom of the East Goths, and undertook the government of that part which the West Goths retained, as well as of the Spanish possessions of that people, as the guardian of their king, his grandson Athalaric, a minor (son of Alaric II.), and retained it till his death (526), which first severed the connection of the two Gothic kingdoms.

507 (526)–711. West Gothic (Visigothic) Kingdom in Spain, with its capital at Toledo.

526. After the death of Theodoric, his daughter Amalasuntha became regent in the East Gothic kingdom for her son Athalaric. The latter died young (534), and his mother associated with herself as co-regent her cousin Theodahad (Theodat), who murdered her, thereby causing

- 535–555. War between the East Goths and the Eastern Empire.

- 533–534. Belisarius, general of Justinian, Emperor of the East (527–565), destroyed the Vandal power in Africa.

Decay of the kingdom of the Vandals after the death of Genseric (477). Hilderic deposed by Gelimer, whom Belisarius captured.

Brilliant campaign of Belisarius against Vitiges, king of the 540. East Goths, whom he carried captive to Constantinople. Belisarius, after he had declined the Italian crown, offered him by the East Goths, was dispatched by Justinian against the Persians.

During his absence the East Goths, under their new king Totila, reconquered the greater part of Italy.

- 544-549. Belisarius, sent again to Italy, fought with varying success, but with increasing fame, against Totila. He recaptured Rome. After Belisarius had been again recalled, Rome was a second time taken by Totila.
552. Narses, the successor of Belisarius, defeated Totila at Taginæ or Busta Gallorum. Totila fell on the field.
553. The last king of the East Goths, Teja, fell in the battle of Mons lactarius (near Vesuvius).
555. Narses destroyed the kingdom of the East Goths. Exarchate.
- 568-774. Kingdom of the Langobards (Lombards) in Italy. Alboin.

Alboin, with the help of the Avars (on the lower Danube), destroyed the kingdom of the Gepidæ and married Rosamunda, the daughter of the king of the Gepidæ. At the head of his Langobards, with the aid of Saxons and Slavs, he conquered Italy as far south as the Tiber. Capital of the kingdom of the Langobards, Pavia (Papia). The Langobards conquered almost the entire Exarchate of the Byzantines, who retained only Venice, Ravenna, Naples, and Calabria. Rome (ducatus Romæ) became gradually independent under its bishops. (Patrimonium Petri.)

After Alboin had been murdered by Rosamund, because, as the story goes, he attempted, during a carouse, to force her to drink from her father's skull, his successor Cleph pushed his conquests to lower Italy, where independent Langobardian duchies, like Beneventum, were established. After an interregnum of ten years his son Authari was recognized as king. Through the influence of his wife, Theodelinde, a Bavarian princess, the conversion of the Langobards to Christianity was begun.

Among the successors of Authari the following deserve mention: Rothari, in whose reign the famous code of laws of the Langobards appeared (644); Grimoald, duke of Beneventum, who violently usurped the throne and completed the conversion of the Langobards; Liutprand (717-744), who made further additions to the code of the Langobards; and Aistulf (750-756), whose attempt to conquer Rome was frustrated by Pipin, king of the Franks (p. 184).

585. Kingdom of the Suevi in Spain united with that of the West Goths, who, like all the barbarians that had adopted Arianism, were converted to the Roman Catholic church (587).
- 590-604. Gregory I. (the Great), bishop of Rome. Beginning of the Papacy (Pápa, Πάππας, i. e. father, formerly the title of every Christian bishop, soon applied exclusively to the successor of St. Peter).

§ 2. TEUTONIC KINGDOMS IN BRITAIN.

From the first invasions to the supremacy of Ecgberht 449 (?)–828.

Roman Britain.

Political divisions: 1. Britannia prima, S. of the Thames and the Severn (Cantii, Regni, Belgæ, Atrebates, Durotriges, Dumnonii). 2. Britannia secunda, Wales (Silures, Demetæ, Ordovices). 3. Flavia Cæsariensis, between the Thames, Severn, and Humber (Trinobantes, Caytieuchlani, Iceni, Dobuni, Coritavi, Cornavii). 4. Maxima Cæsariensis, between the Humber and the Tyne (Parisii, Brigantes). 5. Valentia, between the Tyne and the Forth (Otadeni, Gadeni, Selgovæ, Novantæ).

Fortifications: In the N. wall of Agricola (81) or Lollius Urbicus, between the Friths of Forth and Clyde; wall of Hadrian (122) between the Solway Frith and a point on the opposite coast near Newcastle-on-Tyne (replaced in the third century by the wall of Severus). In the S. the strongholds Burgh Castle, Reculver, Richborough, Lydney, Pevensey, along the Saxon shore. (Compare the Cinque Ports.)

Towns: Camulodunum (Colchester), Glevum (Gloucester), Lincoln (Lincoln), Deva (Chester), Eburacum (York), Londinium (London).

Roads: Watling Street from Kent to the Forth, Hermin Street from Sussex coast to Humber, Foss Way from Cornwall to Lincoln, Ikenild Street from Caistor to Dorchester.¹

The Teutonic Invaders.

After the withdrawal of the Roman legions (about 410) the Britons suffered severely from the ravages of the Scots (Irish) on the W. and the Picts (Gaels) on the N., which they resisted unaided for several decades. About the middle of the fifth century the Britons were overwhelmed from another quarter. Bands of Low Germans from the coast of Europe, west of the Baltic, whose piratical expeditions had long been the terror of southeastern Britain, began to settle in the island and conquer themselves homes and kingdoms. That they came at first to aid the Britons against their other foes is not impossible; but little faith, however, can be placed in the story of Vortigern and Rowena.

The invaders came principally from three Teutonic tribes: Jutes, inhabiting the northern part of Denmark (Jutland); Angles or Engæ from modern Schleswig, south of the Jutes; Saxons, a more numerous people, living south of Schleswig along the Elbe and westward on the coast. Of the Jutes and Saxons only a portion emigrated; the Angles seem to have gone en masse.

Religion: The new settlers were pagans, sharing the faith of the continental Germans (p. 164). Each man was priest in his household, and political rulers exercised also priestly functions for the regions under their control.

Civilization : The invaders were rude warriors, cultivators of the soil, but fond of the hunt and still more fond of war. They settled in villages, the dwellers in each village being kinsmen, who often gave their family name to the place of their abode. In each village all were united by a bond of mutual protection and responsibility. Around the house-lots and garden-plots, which were for the most part practically private property, extended the common land, the "mark," comprising tilled land, pasture and woodland, which also served to isolate one village from another. The people were divided into four orders: athel, nobles; ceorl, free landowners; laets, tenants owing service to their landlords; slaves, generally captives taken in war. Whether either of the invading tribes were under kings at home is unknown; their leaders during the invasion were war-chiefs, ealdormen, whose power was frequently prolonged and concentrated by the military necessities of their new conditions, until it became royal and they took the title of king. Each village had its governor and its council, the latter composed of all freemen in the village; each aggregate of villages (the hundred) had its governor and council; the aggregate of hundreds which made up the tribe had its king and its great council (witan), which elected the king, generally out of some one noble family, and was consulted by him. The witan was in theory composed of all freemen in the tribe, but it soon became practically limited to the more wealthy and powerful among them. Each ealdorman, perhaps every man of note, had a personal following of companions (thegns), who had devoted themselves to his service and were supported by him. The development of monarchy caused a corresponding development of this institution. Powerful men were proud to be thegns of the king, and thus the number and power of the king's military household constantly increased.

Jutes (Kent).

- 449 (?)¹ Landing of the chiefs Hengist and Horsa in Thanet (then an island). Gradual conquest of the country between the Thames and the Andredsweald (p. 40). East and West Kent.

South Saxons (Sussex).

477. Ælle, a Saxon ealdorman, with his sons Cymen, Wlencing, and Cissa, landed at Cissanceaster and conquered the region S. of the Andredsweald.
491. Storm of Anderida. Massacre of the inhabitants.

¹ The date is variously given, but 449 is the year most commonly accepted. I have followed throughout the conservative scholars. The ultra-skepticism which would limit our knowledge of the 5th and 6th centuries in Britain to what can be guessed from the condition of things there in the 7th, 8th, and 9th centuries seems to me to be based on hypercriticism.

West Saxons (Wessex).

A more important settlement was that begun by the Saxons, under the ealdormen

495. Cerdic and Cynric, on the southern coast, W. of the Andreds-weald. The formation of the country directed their line of extension W. and N., thus bringing them into contact with the great body of western Cymry.

517. Cerdic and Cynric assumed the royal title.

At the beginning of the second decade of the sixth century the Saxon advance was so sternly checked that fifty years elapsed before it was again resumed. Battle of Mons Badonicus (520). The Cymric traditions of Arthur,¹ king of the Silures, to whom this repulse of the pagan invaders is attributed, are probably founded in truth.

Cynric (534-556) conquered modern Berkshire. Ceawlin (556-591 [3]) raised Wessex to such power that later years entitled him the second Bretwalda of Britain (the first being Ælle). The meaning of this title is not clear. By the 577. Battle of Deorham Ceawlin extended his power to the Severn and separated the Cymry of Cornwall (Devraint) from those of West Wales.

East Saxons (Essex).

During the latter half of the fifth century Saxons settled north of the Thames. Sack of Camulodunum. Establishment of a small kingdom under the shadow of the great forest which then reached to the Wash (Ercenwin, 527?).

Middle Saxons (Middlesex).

A small division of the East Saxons, dwelling about London.

East Angles (East Anglia).

While the East Saxons were making their settlements, Angles were occupying the region to the N., between the sea, the great fens about the Wash (Uffa, 575?), and the forest. Norfolk, Suffolk.

North Angles (Northumbria).

Deira. Early in the sixth century settlements of Angles north of the Humber. Conquest of central Yorkshire.

Bernicia. At the same time other Angles were settling along the Frith of Forth, where they may have found a Junish colony already established. Under Ida, "the flame bearer," as the Cymry called him, the Angles pushed their conquests to the Esk.² Bernicia thus comprised the Lowlands of Scotland, a region which still contains the purest type of the Teutonic conquerors of Britain. Saxon and Gael.

² The stubborn resistance of the Cymry here as well as in the south has been attributed to Arthur.

Middle Angles (Mercia).

Early in the sixth century scattered bands of Angles occupied the present counties of Lincoln, Nottingham, Leicester, Warwick, and Northampton. The small kingdoms and lordships thus founded (Lindesfaras, Gains, Magesetas, Hwiccas) were at a later time united in the great kingdom of Mercia (Cridda, 582?).

Thus Britain south of the Firth at the close of the third quarter of the sixth century was divided between Cymry and Teutons by a line drawn nearly N. and S. midway of the breadth of the land. Teuton and Celt, pagan and Christian, faced one another throughout the length of the island. While the Germanic invaders effected a thorough military conquest, they did not exterminate the Celts physically, so that England to-day is probably as much Celtic as Teutonic in racial composition. Also many Celtic customs and institutions were maintained, especially in regard to landholding, a matter of importance in the development of the manor and village community.

Wars of the invaders among themselves.

588. Formation of the kingdom of Northumbria by the enforced union of Bernicia and Deira under Æthelric, king of Bernicia.

590-616. Supremacy of Æthelbert, king of Kent, afterwards called the third Bretwalda, over Essex, East Anglia, Middle Britain. His wife was the Catholic Christian princess Bertha, daughter of Charibert, king of the Franks.

597. Arrival of Augustine, legate of Pope Gregory the Great. Conversion of Kent. Quarrel between the British church and Augustine (date of Easter, form of the tonsure). Conversion of the East Saxons. Laws of Æthelbert. An attempt to convert the East Angles led to the revolt and

About 610-617. Supremacy of Rædwald, of East Anglia, over Middle Britain. He was afterwards called the fourth Bretwalda. In the N. Æthelfrith of Northumbria defeated the Cymry of Strathclyde in the great 607. Battle of Chester, and extended his realm to the sea, cutting off Strathclyde from Wales, as Wales had been severed from Cornwall by the battle of Deorham (p. 178). Æthelfrith defeated and slain in the battle of the Idle by Rædwald, who had taken up the claims of Eadwine, son of Ælla, formerly king of Deira.

617-633. Supremacy of Eadwine of Northumbria, called the fifth Bretwalda. His overlordship was more comprehensive than that of any of his predecessors, since, after the conquest of Wessex (526), it included all Teutonic Britain except Kent. Conversion of Northumbria (627). Revolt of the Mercians under Penda (627-655), who, in alliance with Cadwallon of Wales, defeated Eadwine in the battle of Heathfield (633). Death of Eadwine.

633-655. Supremacy of Penda of Mercia over Middle Britain, Essex, and East Anglia.

635. Defeat of Cadwallon by Oswald of Bernicia, in the battle of the Heavenfeld. Conquest of Deira.

635-642. Supremacy of Oswald of Northumbria, afterwards called the sixth Bretwalda, over Wessex, Sussex, Essex, Kent. Conversion of Northumbria (where many people had relapsed into paganism) by Irish (not Roman) missionaries. Conversion of Wessex. In the contest over East Anglia Oswald was defeated by Penda, and slain in the

642. Battle of the Maserfeld. Penda's sovereignty extended over Wessex, East Anglia, Deira.

655. Battle of the Winwæd. Penda defeated by Oswiu, brother of Oswald, and his successor in Bernicia, and slain.

655-659. Supremacy of Oswiu of Northumbria, called the seventh Bretwalda, over all Teutonic Britain except Wessex, Kent, and Sussex.

659. Revolt of Mercia under Wulfhere. Henceforward the kings of Northumbria were sovereigns of merely local power.

Rivalry between the Irish missionaries and Rome. A council convened by Oswiu, decided in favor of Rome. Theodore of Tarsus, archbishop of Canterbury (609), undertook the organization of the English church.

688-726. Ine, king of Wessex. Conquest of Kent (694). Wars with the Cymry of Cornwall (710). Laws of Ine, the oldest West Saxon code. Abdication of Ine (726).

Willibrod, missionary to the Frisians. Boniface (Winfrith), apostle of the Germans. Wilfrith, bishop of York. Cuthbert, of Lindisfarne. Benedict Biscop, abbot of Wearmouth. Cædmon. Bæda (672-735); Historia ecclesiastica gentis Anglorum.

733-752. Supremacy of Æthelbald of Mercia over all England S. of the Humber.

752. Battle of Burford (Oxfordshire). Defeat of Æthelbald of Mercia by the West Saxon, Cuthred.

Henceforward Teutonic Britain remained divided between the three great kingdoms, Northumbria, Wessex, Mercia.

756. Strathclyde subjected to Northumbria by Eadberht.

755-794. Offa, king of Mercia.

Conquest of Oxfordshire from Wessex (777?). Conquest of the Welsh kingdom of Powys, W. of the Severn. Offa's Dyke from the mouth of the Wye to that of the Dee. Friendship between Offa and Charles the Great. Laws of Offa.

789. First recorded landing of Northmen in Britain on the coast of Devonshire.

802-837. Ecgbert, king of Wessex, being elected to succeed Beorhtric after thirteen years' exile spent in the kingdom of the West Franks. Cornwall made tributary. Defeat of Beornwulf of Mercia, at the battle of Ellandune (825). Submission of all England S. of the Thames, and of Essex. Ecgbert overlord of Mercia and Northumbria (828). Submission of Wales (828).

All England south of the Forth, with the possible exception of Strathclyde, united under Ecgbert.

834. The Northmen ravaged Sheppey. Ecgbert defeated by the Danes.

836. Battle of Hengestesdun. Victory of Ecgbert over Welsh and Danes. Death of Ecgbert (837). (See p. 203.)

§ 3. THE KINGDOM OF THE FRANKS UNDER THE MEROWINGIANS. (See p. 173.)

511. After the death of Chlodwig the first division of the kingdom of the Franks. According to this division, which was not strictly territorial, the four sons of Chlodwig, Theoderic I. (Thierry, 511-533), Chlodomer (Chlodomer, 511-524), Childebert I. (511-558), Chlotar I. (Clotaire, 511-561) ruled the kingdom from the four court-camps of Metz, Orléans, Paris and Soissons.

530-532. The kingdom of the Thuringians conquered by the eldest of the brothers (Theoderic). The two younger brothers subjugated the Burgundians.

The northern part of Thuringia, as far south as the Unstrut, fell to the Saxons, the allies of the Franks in the war. The southern part (to the Danube) became Frankish territory, but the name of Franconia was given to the region south of the Thuringian forest; the district between the Unstrut, the Thuringian forest, and the Saale continued to be called Thuringia.

Acquisition of Provence (536) and the supremacy over Swabia and Bavaria on the fall of the kingdom of the East Goths.

558-561. The whole Frankish kingdom again united under Chlotar I., who outlived his three brothers. After his death

561. A second division of the kingdom among the grandsons of Chlodwig, Guntram (561-593), Charibert I. (561-567), Sigibert I. (561-575), and Chilperic I. (561-584), into four, later (567) into three parts: Austrasia, with the capital at Rheims, and a population chiefly German; Neustria, with the capital at Soissons; Burgundy, with Orléans as capital; in both of which later divisions the mass of the population was Romano-Celtic or Romance.¹

Family divisions and wars full of horrors. Feud of Brunhilde (Brunichildis) of Austrasia, a daughter of Athanagild, king of the Visigoths, and Fredeunde (Fredegundis) of Neustria († 597), slave, and afterwards wife, of Chilperic I.

613. Second union of the entire kingdom of the Franks under Chlotar II. of Neustria, great-grandson of Chlodwig. Brunhilde captured, tortured, and dragged to death by a wild horse.

Origin of the power of the maiores domus (Hausmeier, mayors of the palace), who were at first superintendents of the royal household, afterwards leaders of the feudal retainers (leudes). The race of the Pipins (afterwards called Carolingians), of pure German blood,¹ acquired an hereditary claim to the office of major domus, in Austrasia first, and afterwards in Neustria.

622-678. Third division of the kingdom of the Franks (interrupted, however, by several temporary unions) into the two parts into which it had meanwhile separated :

1. Austrasia (principally German), separated by the Schelde from 2. Neustria (Romance, northern France to the Loire, not reckoning Bretagne which was independent) and Burgundy. The duchies of Aquitania and Vasconia (Guyenne and Gascogne), between the Loire and the Pyrenees, were almost independent. (See p. 183.)

§ 4. MOHAMMED (MAHOMET) AND THE CALIPHATE.

622. Mohammed's flight (Hegira) from Mecca to Medina.

16 July. Mohammed (i. e. he who is greatly praised), born at Mecca, 571, of the family of Hashem, a merchant, husband of the wealthy Chadija, acquainted from his journeys with the Jewish and the Christian religions, proclaimed himself a prophet among the tribe of the Koreishites. Islam (i. e. a submission to the will of God consequent on belief). One God (Allah) and Mohammed his prophet. Moslems (the believers). Victories of Mohammed in Arabia (629) ; preparation for conquests in Syria. Mohammed died 632.

Caliphs (i. e. successors) :

632-634. Abu-bekr, father-in-law of the prophet. Collection of the Koran (Qúran), later enlarged by the transcription of an oral tradition, the Soona. Separation of the believers into Soonees, who recognized this addition, and Sheeah, who rejected it, and regarded Ali, the son-in-law of Mohammed, as his only rightful successor. Wars with the Eastern Empire and the Persians.

634-644. Omar, founder of the Arabian supremacy in the East. He assumed the title of Emir-al-Mumenin ("Prince of the faithful"), which was afterwards borne by all the caliphs. Conquest of Syria (Damascus 635), Palestine, Phœnicia. Destruction of the empire of the Sassanidæ (the New Persians) by the battle of Nehavend (641). Conquest of Egypt by Omar's general Amroo. Capture of Alexandria.

644-656. Othmann (Osman). Conquest of northern Africa. Capture of Rhodes. Murder of Othman during an insurrection.

656-661. Ali, husband of Fatima, Mohammed's daughter, not universally recognized. Muawwiyah proclaims himself caliph in Syria. After bloody civil wars and after the murder of Ali, the Sooneite 661-750. Ommiads obtained the caliphate.

The caliphate was made hereditary.

About 700 the governor Musa completed the conquest of Byzantine Africa as far as the Atlantic Ocean. The Berbers, who accepted Islam, together with the inhabitants of Punic, Greek, and Roman descent, became amalgamated with the Arabians under the name of Moors. Tarik,¹ one of Musa's generals, crossed from northern Africa to Spain, and in the 711. Battle of Xeres de la Frontera (plains of the Guadalquivir) destroyed the kingdom of the Visigoths.

From this time on there coëxisted in Spain: 1. the province of the caliphate, which became, at a later date (756), the separate caliphate of Cordova; 2. the Christian kingdom of Asturia, founded by Pelagius, afterwards the kingdom of Leon.

The Arabians penetrated the passes in the country of the Basques and invaded Gaul. Here a limit was set to their conquests by the 732. Battle between Tours and Poitiers, where they were defeated by Charles Martel.

Under the last of the Ommiads the caliphate reached its greatest extent, embracing southwestern Asia from the Gulf of Arabia and the Indus to the Mediterranean and the Caucasus, the entire northern coast of Africa, a great part of the Spanish peninsula, and in southern France the county of Narbona, besides Sardinia, Corsica, and the Balearic Isles.

In the caliphate declining vigor; constant wars with the followers of Ali. Abul Abbas, great-grandson of an uncle of the prophet, overthrew the last Ommiad caliph, Merwan II.

750-1258. Rule of the Abbasides. Residence at Bagdad.

Treacherous murder of all the Ommiad princes (90).

One only,

Abd-er-Rahman, escaped to Spain, and founded there the

756. caliphate of Cordova. (See p. 209.)

§ 5. KINGDOM OF THE FRANKS UNDER THE CAROLINGIANS.

(See p. 182.)

687. Pipin of Heristal, major domus (mayor of the palace) of Austrasia, became by the victory of Testri (not far from St. Quentin) over the major domus of Soissons (Neustria) sole major domus of the whole kingdom of the Franks, and called himself in future dux et princeps Francorum.

Eudes, duke of Aquitaine, defeated by the Arabian invaders, sought help from Charles, the son and successor of the major domus Pipin of Heristal.

732. Battle between Tours and Poitiers. Victory of ¹ From him comes the name Gibel or Jebel-al-Tarik (Gibraltar), i. e. mountain of Tarik, near which he landed. It would appear that the story of Tarik's having been summoned by the Visigothic count Julian, is mythical. Cf. Dahn, Kön. d. Germ. V. 227.

Charles Martel (major domus 714–741) over the Arabs.

751.¹ With Pipin the Short (741–768), Charles Martel's son, the Carolingians became kings of the Franks.

The last king of the Merovingian line (les rois fainéants), Childeric III., was deposed with the consent of Pope Zacharias and placed in a monastery. Pipin was raised upon the shield on the field of Mars at Soissons, as king of the Franks. In 754 Pope Stephen III., who had come to France to seek help, anointed Pipin and his sons Charles and Karlmann as kings of the Franks. For the future Pipin styled himself "king by the grace of God."

In requital of this service Pipin drove back Aistulf, king of the Langobards, who was threatening the Pope (p. 175). Gift of the Exarchate of Ravenna and the Pentapolis (Ancona, Sinigaglia, Fano, Pesaro, Rimini), the territory of Bologna and Ferrara, to the Pope, and thereby the first foundation of the Papal States. Pipin patricius of Rome, that city not being included in the gift to the Pope.²

Bonifacius (the Anglo-Saxon Benedictine monk Winfried, named Bonifacius by Pope Gregory II.), the apostle of the Germans (about 680–754). He preached Christianity in the country of the East Franks, in Thuringia, Hesse, and Friesland. Bishop since 722, archbishop since 732 without a settled bishopric, he brought all newly founded bishoprics and monasteries into strict dependence upon the Papal chair. In 742 Concilium Germanicum, recognition of the Pope as head of the Church. In 748 Bonifacius became the first archbishop of Mainz; in 754 he was killed by the heathen Friesians.

768–814. Charles the Great (Charlemagne), since the death of his brother Karlmann (771), sole ruler. Karlmann's sons took refuge with Desiderius, king of the Langobards, whose daughter Charles had married, but afterwards rejected.

773–774. Destruction of the kingdom of the Langobards.

The Pope having refused to crown the sons of Karlmann, Desiderius occupied the Pentapolis and threatened Rome. Charles came to the assistance of the Pope, ex officio, as patricius of Rome. Capture of Pavia after a six months' siege, during which Charles had visited Rome and renewed his alliance with the Pope. Desiderius placed in a monastery. Charles, king of Italy, by which is meant the kingdom of the Langobards, northern and central Italy. The larger part of southern Italy remained in the possession of the Eastern Empire.

772–804. War with the Saxons.

The country of the Saxons was divided as follows. Westphalia, on the Sieg, Ruhr, and Lippe, and on both sides of the Ems ;

¹ See the proof in G. Richter, Annalen d. deutschen Geschichte im Mittelalter, I. p. 216.

Engern, on both sides of the Weser as far as the Leine ; Eastphalia, as far as the Elbe ; Northalbingia, N. of the lower Elbe to the Eider.

The Saxon war was resolved upon in the assembly (May-field) at Worms (772).

772. Capture of the Eresburg, destruction of the Irminsul. 775. Capture of Sigiburg. Subjugation of the Saxons W. of the Elbe. The Saxons destroyed the Eresburg, but were subjugated anew, 776-777. First May-field in the land of the Saxons, at Paderborn. New insurrection of the Saxons upon receipt of the news of Charles's defeat in the Pyrenees, 778; subdued by the army of the east Franks and Alamanni. 779, Charles gained a victory at Bocholt on the Aa. 780, Submission of the Saxons ; acceptance of Christianity.

After a new and general revolt headed by Widukind or Wittekind, and a defeat of the Frankish army, Charles took the field in person with success. 782, Slaughter of 4500 Saxons on the Aller. 783, A new and terrible uprising, the result of this massacre. Charles victorious first at Detmold, then on the Hase. 785, After a two years' resistance Wittekind submitted and became a Christian.

778. Wars of Charles in Spain.

Conquest of Saragossa. Return by Roncevaux, and defeat of the Frankish rearguard. Death of the hero Roland, margrave of the Breton coast, a pretended nephew of Charles, whose deeds are celebrated in a series of romances. The *Spanish mark*¹ was of later foundation, and was strengthened by Ludwig, son of Charles (801).

788. Abolition of the duchy of the Bajuvarie (Bavarians), after the second revolt of duke Tassilo.

Wars with the Northmen (the common name of the Germans of the Scandinavian north), and with the Slavs. Charles defeated the Wiltzi and advanced to the Peene (789).

791-799. War with the Avars (who had aided Tassilo, duke of Bavaria) conducted principally by Charles' son Pipin. 796. Storm of the King's Ring (the chief camp of the Avars) between the Danube and the Theiss. The country between the Enns and the Raab was annexed to the Frankish empire and occupied by German colonists, especially by Bavarians. (Soon after, complete ruin of the kingdom of the Avars.)

800. Charles revived the office of Emperor of the West.

Pope Leo III., ill-treated by the relatives of his predecessor in an insurrection, and expelled from the city (799), sought Charles' camp at Paderborn. Restored by Charles to Rome, he crowned him emperor on Christmas-day, 800.

793-804. New revolts among the Saxons particularly in the N., led to a war with the Danes, with whom the Saxons had taken refuge. Gottfried, king of Denmark, invaded the Frankish mark; his ships harassed the coasts of the German Ocean.

808. The Danes, defeated by Charles, the eldest son of the emperor, retired beyond the Eider.

810. The emperor was obliged to take the field against Gottfried in person. The Danish king was murdered by his own servants. Peace with his successors. Saxony north of the Elbe remained a part of the Frankish kingdom. Boundaries of the kingdom: Ebro, Raab, Eider, Garigliano. The Wends were again subjugated.

Charles resided in Aachen in Austrasia (Aix-la-Chapelle) principally on account of its warm springs, or in the County Palatine on the Rhine, at Ingelheim, or in Nymwegen. Capitularii, imperial rescripts. Assemblies composed of all men of rank, both churchmen and laymen ("in quo placito generalitas universorum maiorum, tam clericorum quam laicorum conveniebat"). Levy of troops (Heerban). Governors of counties (Gaugrafen), counts of the border districts (comites marchie, Markgrafen), imperial messengers (missi regis, Sendgrafen), who made periodical circuits in different parts of the empire, heard complaints and reported the same with other observations and suggestions to the emperor. The Anglo-Saxon scholar Alcuin, the Langobard Paul, son of Warnefrid (Paulus Diaconus), called to the imperial court, where intellectual pursuits were favored and shared by the emperor. Schools for the education of the clergy, at Tours and Paris. Einhart (Eginhard), the favorite secretary of Charles (author of the Vita Caroli Imperatoris). Charles the Great became the centre of the most important series of romances of the Middle Age.

786-809. In the East Charles found a friend and admirer in Haroun-al-Rashid, Caliph of Bagdad. His reign and that of his son Mamun cover the most fruitful period of science, art, and manufactures among the Arabs.

The elder sons of Charles the Great, Charles and Pipin, dying before their father, he was succeeded by his youngest son, 814-840. Ludwig the Pious. (Louis le Débonnaire).

Ludwig's nephew, Bernhard, Pipin's son, according to Charles' decree, king of Italy under the supremacy of his uncle, rebelled against the latter, was defeated, captured, and killed.

Ludwig had 4 sons: Lothar, Pipin, Ludwig, Charles the Bald (the latter by Judith, his second wife, of the noble Alamannian family of the Welfs). In 829 Ludwig substituted a new division of the empire, whereby his youngest son, Karl, received Alamannia and the royal title for the division made in 817, under which Lothar held the larger part of the empire and the imperial crown, Pipin had Aquitania, and Ludwig, Bavaria. The three elder sons at once revolted, and civil war broke out. On the Field of Lies, near Colmar in Alsace, Ludwig, the father, was deserted by his troops (833). He was taken prisoner (public penance in the church at Soissons), but soon released by his repentant son Ludwig, and replaced upon the throne (834). Pipin died in 838, and his share of the empire was divided between Lothar and Charles, which caused a new rebellion on the part of Ludwig. In 840 Ludwig the Pious died on an island in the Rhine, near Ingelheim. Ludwig and Charles in alliance defeated Lothar at Fontanetum (Fontenaille or Fontenay ?) in 841. Bi-lingual oath of Strassburg (842).

843. Treaty of Verdun. Division of the empire among the brothers as follows:

1. Lothar: Centre of the Frankish lands, i. e. Austrasia, Friesland, the Alamannian lands on the left bank of the Rhine, the greater part of Burgundy, Provence, a part of Languedoc; in general, a region bounded by the Schelde, Meuse, Saône, Rhône, in the west, by the Rhine and Alps in the east, and Frankish Italy.
2. Ludwig the German: The eastern part of the Frankish lands, i. e. all those parts of the empire lying on the right bank of the Rhine, except Friesland; the diocese of Mainz, Worms, and Speier on the left bank (in general a region lying between the Rhine and the Elbe).
3. Charles the Bald: The western part of the Frankish lands, i. e. Neustria, Aquitania, the northern part of Burgundy, Septimania, the Spanish Mark.

Lothar retained the imperial dignity which his father had given him. His kingdom, which lacked natural boundaries and comprised various nationalities, contained within itself the germ of rapid dissolution.

The Treaty of Verdun was originally merely a family contract, made without regard to national differences. In Ludwig's kingdom, however, the German element was in the majority; in that of Charles the Romance element prevailed. Thus there developed, in the course of the following centuries, from the East Frankish element the German, from the West Frankish the French nationality. The East Franks called their language, in contrast to the Latin used by the educated clergy, the deutsche, i. e. the language of the people, and gradually (since Henry I.?) those who spoke Deutsche came to be called Deutsche.¹ (See pp. 193, 201.)

226-240. Artaxerxes I. (Artahshatr), son, not of Sasan, but of Papak, probably king of Persia proper, revolted against Artabanus, the last king of Parthia (p. 30), whom he defeated and slew in the battle of Hormuz.

Contest of Artaxerxes with the Arsacid kings of Bactria and Armenia. The claim preferred by Artaxerxes to all Asia as far as the Ægean involved him in a war with Rome. Defeat of Alexander Severus, followed by peace. Subjugation of Armenia. Restoration of the religion of Zoroaster. Collection of the text of the Zend Avesta. Artaxerxes was succeeded by his son, 240-271. Sapor I. (Shahpuhri).

Wars with Rome. I. (241-244.) The Romans were suc cessful under Gordianus, but his successor, Philippus, concluded peace with Sapor, leaving Armenia in his hands, but retaining Mesopotamia. II. (258-260.) A glorious war for Persia. Nisibis, Edessa, Antioch fell into their hands, and the Roman emperor Valerianus was captured and remained a prisoner until his death (265 or 266). Defeat of Persians by Odenathus of Palmyra (p. 157). Erection of many buildings and engineering works in Persia. Mani, or Manes, a teacher of a new form of religion compounded of Christianity and Zoroasterianism (Manicheism), expelled from Persia.

Sapor was succeeded by his son, Hormisdas I. (Auhrmazdi), who reigned one year and ten days (271-272) and was followed by his brother, Varahran I. (272-275). Execution of Mani. Aid sent to Zenobia (p. 157). The murder of Aurelianus (275) put an end to his expedition against Varahran, who was succeeded in the same year by his son Varahran II. (275-292?). His reign is marked chiefly by the war with Rome (283), which was closed by the mysterious death of Carus (283-284). Revolt of Tiridates of Armenia, aided by Rome. Varahran III., son of Varahran II., reigned four months, and was followed by his brother, who after defeating his brother and rival, Hormisdas, drove Tiridates from Armenia (296). War with Rome. Galerius, at first unsuccessful in Mesopotamia, finally defeated Narses. Peace (297): 1. Persia ceded five provinces beyond the Tigris to Rome. 2. The Tigris recognized as the general boundary between Persia and Rome.¹ 3. Cession of a large part of Media to Armenia. 4. Persia surrendered to Rome her supremacy over Iberia (Georgia).

292-301. Narses,

Abdication of Narses and accession of his son, Hormisdas II. (301-309), whose reign covers little of importance. At his death the nobles set aside his son Hormisdas, and conferred the crown upon his unborn child. A boy was born, who received the name 309-379 (?). Sapor II.

During his minority the country suffered from invasions of the Arabs, but on arriving at his seventeenth year Sapor assumed the government, and inflicted a terrible punishment on Arabia. Persecution of Christians (about 325). First war with Rome (337-350). Defeat of Constantius at Singara (348). Nisibis in Mesopotamia thrice besieged by Sapor in vain (338, 340, 350). War of Sapor with Tatar tribes in the E. (351-359) and extension of Persian power in this direction. Armenia went over to Rome. Second war with Rome (359-363). Invasion of Syria. Capture of Amida after a desperate resistance. Julianus, emperor of Rome, invaded Persia, and defeated the Persians before Ctesiphon (362), but immediately began a retreat, in the course of which he died. His successor, Jovian, concluded peace with Sapor for thirty years (363): 1. Restoration of the five provinces ceded by Narses. 2. Surrender of Nisibis and Singara to Persia. 3. Rome to give up all connection with Armenia. Conquest of Armenia by Sapor. Third war with Rome (371-376), carried on without energy and concluded by an obscure peace.

The brilliant reign of Sapor was followed by a time of quiet. Artaxerxes II. (379-383.) Sapor III. (383-388.) Division of Armenia between Persia and Rome,—Persia receiving the larger part. Varahran IV. (388-399) deposed Chosroës, king of Persian Armenia, and placed his own brother on the throne (391). Varahran was murdered during a mutiny, and succeeded by his son Isdigerd I. (Izdikerti) (399-419 [420]), whose peaceful reign is remarkable for little, except a persecution of the Christians in Persia and Armenia. He was succeeded by his son, who, having put down Chosroës, a pretender to the throne, renewed the persecution of the Christians, and began war with Rome. Meeting with no success, he concluded peace (422), and agreed to stop the persecution. (Charity of Acacius, bishop of Amida, who ransomed 7000 Persian captives.) Beginning of Persia's wars with the Ephthalites (Pers. Haithal), a people dwelling beyond the Oxus, and probably of "Thibetic or Turkish stock" (not Huns). Surprise, defeat, and death of the invading Khan. The Persians crossed the Oxus and chastised the Tatars in their own territory. Varahran was succeeded by his son, 440-457. Isdigerd II., who at once declared war upon Rome, but as hastily concluded peace. Nine years' war with the Ephthalites, ending with their defeat in their own country. The attempt of Isdigerd to convert Armenia to Zoroastrianism brought on a religious war, wherein the Christians were defeated (455 or 456). Forceful conversion of Armenia. Toward the close of his reign Isdigerd was defeated by the Ephthalites. After his death civil war between his sons Perozes and Hormisdas, ending in the victory of 459-483 (?). Perozes.

419 (420)-440. Varahran V.,

Great famine in the seventh year of his reign (?). Unsuccessful war and disgraceful peace with the Ephthalites (464-465). Revolt of Armenia under Vahan, which was still unsubdued when Perozes again attacked the Ephthalites, at whose hands he suffered a severe defeat, falling in the battle. He was succeeded by his brother (?)

483(?)-487. Balas (Pers. Valakhesh or Volgases), under whom Persia probably paid tribute to Khush-newaz, the Ephthalite Khan. Pacification of Armenia. Edict of toleration. Destruction of fire-altars. Balas was succeeded by son of Perozes, who had been in hiding among the Ephthalites. Successful war with the Khazars, a people of uncertain race (Turkish or Caucasian?), dwelling between the Volga and the Don. Communistic and ascetic doctrines of Mazdak, a high priest of Zoroaster, to which many converts were made, the king being of the number. Consequent disturbances in Persia and Armenia resulting in the deposition of Kobad and the accession of his brother, 498-501. Zamasp.

487(?)-498. Kobad, (first reign)

Kobad, however, soon escaped to the Ephthalites and returned at the head of an army, whereupon Zamasp voluntarily resigned the crown.

501-531. Kobad (second reign).

Withdrawal of support from Masdak. The refusal of the Eastern Empire to fulfil its agreement to contribute to the defence of the pass of Derbend in the Caucasus, which was the usual route of the nomadic tribes in their invasions of Persia or the Eastern Empire, caused Kobad to declare war. Sack of Amida (502). An Ephthalite invasion induced peace in 507. Erection of the fortress of Daras, twelve miles from Nisibis by Anastasius, emperor of the East. Second war with the Eastern Empire (524-531), wherein the Persians, at first successful, were defeated by Belisarius in the battle of Daras (528). Kobad was succeeded by his son, 531-579. Chosroës I. Anushirwan ("The Just") perhaps the greatest of the Sassanid kings.

Peace with Rome (533): 1. Rome paid 11,000 lbs. of gold toward the fortification of the Caucasus. 2. Daras retained its fortifications, but was not to be the Roman headquarters. 3. Reciprocal surrender of recent conquests. 4. Eternal friendship and alliance, whence this peace is known as the "endless peace." It endured for seven years, at the end of which time Chosroës, jealous of the great victories of Justinian in the West, listened to the prayers of the East Goths and declared war.

540. Capture of Antioch.

Chosroës extorted ransom from the principal cities of western Asia Minor; returned home. A truce, concluded in 545, was broken in 549 by Rome, who sent assistance to the Lazi (inhabitants of ancient Colchis) in their war with Persia.

551. Capture of Petra by the Romans and Lazi.

563. Definite peace between Persia and Rome.

1. Lazica ceded to Rome. 2. Rome to make a yearly payment to Persia. 3. Exercise of their faith secured to the Christians in Persia. 4. Commercial intercourse between the empires restricted to certain roads and marts. 5. Free diplomatic intercourse. 6. Daras to retain its fortifications. 7. Disputes to be settled by arbitration. 8. Allies of either party included in the peace. 9. Persia undertook the maintenance of the Caspian Gates alone. 10. The peace was concluded for fifty years.

Successful wars with the Ephthalites and Khazars.

562. Expedition of Chosroës to Arabia, against the Christian kingdom founded there by Abyssinians early in the sixth century. Chosroës expelled the Abyssinians and left the country under the control of Saïf, leader of the native Homerites; after his murder Arabia was made a Persian province.

The expedition to India ascribed to Chosroës is doubtful. Dezabul, Khan of the Turks, who had recently subjugated the Ephthalites and entered into alliance with the Eastern Empire, invaded Persia, but met with no success.

572. Justin, Emperor of the East, declared war on Persia. Chosroës ravaged Syria. Fall of Daras (573).

Chosroës died, 579, in Mesopotamia.

Improved administration in Persia under Chosroës. Empire divided into four governments: East, Khorassan, Seistan, Kirman; North, Armenia, Azerbizan, Ghilan, Koum, Isfahan; South, Fars, Ahwaz; West, Irak, or Babylonia, Assyria, Mesopotamia. Frequent progresses of the king. Substitution of a fixed land tax for the former variable tax on produce. Tax collectors placed under the supervision of the priests. Reform in the army. Improved irrigation. Protection of foreigners. Encouragement of learning. Laws of Artaxerxes revised. Collection of the Shah-na-meh, or Book of the Kings, the basis of Firdusi's epic. Introduction of the Fables of Pilpay, and of the game of chess from India. Toleration extended to Christians. Chosroës was succeeded by his son, 579-589. Hormisdas IV. (Hormazd).

At first a wise ruler, afterwards the worst of Persian kings.

579. Invasion of Persia by the Eastern Emperor Maurice.

581. Defeat of the Persians at Constantia. The war continued with alternate defeat and victory until in

589. Persia was invaded by Arabs, Khazars, and above all by the great Khan of the Turks. He was defeated by the Persian general Bahram and fell in the battle. In the same year Hormisdas provoked a war with Rome by invading Lazica. Bahram was defeated on the Araxes. An insult offered him by the king caused his revolt and the deposition and murder of Hormisdas, who was succeeded by his son, who was at once involved in war with Bahram, who drove him from the kingdom and assumed the crown. The reign of Bahram (Varahran VI.) was short (590-591). Chosroës had taken refuge at Constantinople, and a Roman force restored him to his throne. Bahram, defeated, fled to the Turks.

589-628. Chosroës II., Eberwiz,

The second reign of Chosroës II. was marked by a wonderful increase of Persia's power, and by its sudden fall.

603-610. War with Phocas, murderer of Maurice. Capture of Daras. Syria, Armenia, Galatia, Phrygia, ravaged. Sack of Antioch. The accession of Heraclius to the throne of the Eastern Empire did not end the war.

612. Invasion of Cappadocia.

614. Capture of Damascus.

615. Sack of Jerusalem.

616. Capture of Pelusium and Alexandria by the Persian general Shahr-Barz. Submission of Egypt.

617. Fall of Chalcedon. The Persians encamped within a mile of Constantinople.

620. Capture of Ancyra and of Rhodes. Persia restored to the limits which it attained under Darius I.

So nearly had Chosroës driven Heraclius to despair that he prepared to take refuge in Carthage, but his design was prevented by the citizens of Constantinople. Thus driven to bay, the emperor formed the desperate resolve of attacking his enemy in his own country.

622. Landing of the Romans in the Gulf of Issus. Defeat of Shahr-Barz.
 623. Heraclius sailed to Lazica, and invaded Armenia. Chosroës retreated, and the Romans wintered in Albania.
 625. Battle of the Sarus. Defeat of Shahr-barz. Chosroës allied himself with the Avars, and placed two armies in the field: one against Heraclius in Asia Minor, one destined for a direct attack on Constantinople. The latter attempt failed, Constantinople held out, although attacked also by hosts of Bulgarians and other barbarians from the west.

Winter campaign of Heraclius.

627. Dec. 12. Battle of Nineveh. Defeat of the Persians. Flight of Chosroës. Heraclius advanced to Ctesiphon, but returned without assaulting the city.

Mutiny of the Persian troops at Ctesiphon under two of the king's sons. Seizure and murder of Chosroës. He was succeeded by his son,

- 628-629 (?). Kobad II. (Siroës), who concluded peace with Rome on a basis of exchange of conquests and captives. Death of Kobad (of the plague?). Usurpation of Shahr-barz, who before two months were over was murdered by his own troops. Reigns of Purandocht and Azerim-docht, daughters of Chosroës II., followed by a period of anarchy, during which nine or ten nobles held the throne successively.

- 632-641 (651). Isdigerd, grandson of Chosroës II., last Sassanid king of Persia.

His whole reign was a struggle against the growing power of the Caliphs Abu-Bekr and Omar (p. 182).

633. Expedition of Kaled (the "sword of God") to Hira. Defeat of the Persians. The whole region west of the Euphrates fell into the hands of the Arabs, who, however, suffered a temporary check by the loss of the "Battle of the Bridge." Their ravages were soon renewed, and extended throughout Mesopotamia. Great exertions of the Persians. Levy of an army of 120,000 men, which was defeated in the four days'

636. Battle of Cadesia, by Sa'ad Ibu Abi Wakas. Loss of the Durufsh-kawani, or royal standard of Persia.

637. Invasion of Mesopotamia by Sa'ad. Capture of Ctesiphon. Defeat of the Persians in the battle of Jalula.

639. Invasion of Susiana and Persia proper by the Arabs. Capture of Hormuzan, a Persian general, who, being brought before Omar, asked for a cup of water, which he hesitated to taste until assured by the Caliph that he should not be harmed until he had drunk the water, whereupon he dashed the water on the ground before the astonished Caliph, who respected his promise and spared the Persian's life.

The recall of Sa'ad emboldened Isdigerd to make a final effort. Collection of an army of 150,000 men, which was totally defeated in the

- 641. Battle of Nehavend ("victory of victories"). Fall of the Sassanid power. Persia henceforward governed by the caliphs. Isdigerd III. lived for ten years a fugitive, and was at last murdered (651).

SECOND PERIOD.

FROM THE TREATY OF VERDUN TO THE BEGINNING OF THE CRUSADES (843-1096).

§ 1. ITALY AND GERMANY. (See p. 187.)

843-875. Carolingians in Italy.

After the death of two sons of Lothar I., Ludwig the German and Charles the Bald divided Lothar's inheritance by the treaty of Mersen on the Meuse (870). The German portion (Friesland, Lotharingia or Lothringen (Lorraine), so called after Lothar II.) was annexed to the kingdom of the East Franks, the Romance portion (Burgundy, Provence) to the kingdom of the West Franks. Boundary, the Meuse.

After the death of Ludwig II., who was the eldest son of Lothar I. (875), Charles the Bald became Emperor († 877).

843-911. Carolingians in Germany.

843-876. Ludwig the German.

Wars with the Slavs, with Charles the Bald, and especially with the Northmen, i. e. the Scandinavian sea warriors (Vikings), by whose ferocious energy the west of Europe was during this epoch harassed almost beyond belief. In 845 simultaneous attack by the Northmen upon all three of the Frankish kingdoms. Ludwig the German's son, 876-887. Charles the Fat, at first in conjunction with his brothers, Karlmann († 880) and Ludwig († 882). Successful resistance to the claims of Charles the Bald on the Rhine (battle of Andernach, 876) and Italy. Charles the Fat became Emperor in 881, and in 884 was elected king of the West Franks. He united once more under one sceptre the Monarchy of Charles the Great, with the exception of cisjurane Burgundy (Dauphiné, Provence, part of Languedoc), which became a separate kingdom under Boso. Charles the Fat was deposed by East and West Franks on account of his cowardice (siege of Paris by the Northmen), abdicated the throne at Tribur (887), and died almost immediately thereafter. The East Franks elected 887-899. Arnulf of Carinthia, grandson of Ludwig the German, illegitimate son of Karlmann. He defeated the Northmen upon the Dyle (at Löwen, 891), and in alliance with the Magyars, a nomadic Finnish tribe, which had gradually made its way from the Ural region towards Europe, and under guidance of Arpad had invaded Hungary, conquered Svatopluk II. (893), the founder of the kingdom of Moravia. Arnulf went twice to Italy, and was crowned Emperor (896). His son, 899-911. Ludwig the Child (six years old), was completely under the influence of Hatto, archbishop of Mainz. Terrible devastation of Germany by the Magyars. In 908 they traversed Bavaria, Franconia, and penetrated into Thuringia and Saxony. Lewis, defeated in the neighborhood of the Lech (910), was obliged to pay them tribute. Internecine feuds in Franconia: Adalbert of Babenberg against Rudolf, bishop of Würzburg, of the family of Conrad of Hesse. Victory of the Conradines. Adalbert executed in front of his castle. Weakness of the young king. The monarchy seemed about to break up into duchies: Saxony, Franconia, Bavaria, Swabia, Lotharingia. After Ludwig's death the aged Otto the Illustrious, duke of Saxony, refused the crown, and secured the election of 911-918. Conrad I. of Franconia,

by the nobles. Invasions of Danes, Slavs, and Magyars. Conrad was constantly at war with the West Franks and with his own subjects in a vain endeavor to obtain recognition of his sovereignty, especially from Henry, son of Otto the Illustrious and duke of Saxony, since 912. Lotharingia, with the exception of Alsace, became a part of the kingdom of the West Franks.

919-1024. Kings and Emperors of the Saxon house.

In obedience to the wish of Conrad, expressed on his death-bed, and seconded by his brother, Eberhard, the Saxons and Franks elected at Fritzlar on the Eder 919-936. Henry I. the Fowler, founder of the German monarchy.

Henry compelled Burkhard, duke of Alamannia (Swabia), and Arnulf, duke of Bavaria, to acknowledge his supremacy.

924. The Magyars (Hungarians) made a new inroad. Henry concluded a nine years' truce with them, and secured immunity for Saxony and Thuringia by payment of tribute.

925. Henry regained Lotharingia.

Enlargement and better fortification of old fortresses (Merseburg) and construction of new ones (Quedlinburg, Goslar), which at a later period became cities. There was no wide-spread founding of cities by Henry himself, but in his reign the Saxons were gradually accustomed to city life and to cavalry service in war.

Successful wars with the Wends, against whom a great mark was established along the middle Elbe, out of which at a later time (after the retirement of margrave (Markgraf) Gero, 963) were formed the Altmark or Northmark, Meissen, and the Ostmark (later Mark Lau-sitz), lying between the two. Victory at Lenzen (929). Wars with the Bohemians (recognition of the duty of feudal service), and with the Danes (Gorm the Old). Creation of a mark between the Eider and Sley (934), afterwards called Mark Schleswig.

Henry refused to pay the promised tribute to the Magyars, who thereupon made a new inroad.

933. Victory of Henry over the Hungarians (on the Unstrut?).¹ Henry died in 936. He was succeeded by his eldest son by Mathilde, 936-973. Otto I., the Great, who was elected by Saxons and Franks, and crowned at Aachen by the archbishop of Mainz. Homage of the princes of all the German races (Stämme). First appearance of the four court offices: duke of Lotharingia, Chamberlain; duke of Franconia, Steward; duke of Swabia, Cup-bearer; duke of Bavaria, Marshal.

Countless swarms of Hungarians crossed Franconia (937), to invade Saxony. Defeated and pursued by Otto, they took a western direction, and ravaged France as far as the Loire.

Otto defeated the rebellious duke of Bavaria, and drove him from his duchy, and subdued a revolt of Eberhard, duke of Franconia, and his own half-brother, Thankmar, who fell in the battle on the Eresburg (938). Henry, Otto's younger brother, rebelled, and was defeated by Otto along with his ally Giselbert, duke of Lotharingia, at Birthen, on the Rhine; the rebels, with whom Eberhard made common cause, called in the assistance of the French. Eberhard fell at Andernach, Giselbert was drowned on his flight, Henry fled to France (939). A murderous assault which Henry made upon his brother after he had received forgiveness failed; Henry threw himself upon the king's mercy, received forgiveness a second time (941), and became henceforward, with his brother Bruno, archbishop of Cologne (since 953), the king's chief reliance. Otto gave Lotharingia in 944 to Conrad the Red, the ancestor of the Franco-Salic royal house, who four years afterwards became his son-in-law. Otto made his brother Henry duke of Bavaria (947).

Wars with the Wends, conducted by margrave Gero; with the Danes, under Otto himself, who advanced to Jutland (Mark Schleswig given to Hermann Billung); with Boleslav, duke of Bohemia (950), who became a vassal of the empire; and with the Hungarians, principally under the command of Henry.

948. Otto appointed his son Liudolf (by Editha) duke of Swabia.

946-950. Otto interfered in the French wars. He protected King Louis IV. against Hugo, count of France, both of whom were his brothers-in-law.

951. First expedition of Otto's to Italy against Berengar II. of Ivrea. Otto released and married Adelheid, the widow of King Lothar (of the house of Burgundy), and then nineteen years of age. Berengar submitted to Otto as his suzerain (952).

953. Liudolf, Otto's son, and Conrad, duke of Lotharingia, Otto's son-in-law, rebelled against the king.

954. New inroad of the Hungarians, who swept through Germany, ravaging as they went, to France; the rebels were in alliance with them. After a severe struggle and several fruitless attempts at reconciliation, Liudolf and Conrad submitted. They were forgiven, but deprived of their duchies. Archbishop Bruno received Lotharingia; duke Burkhard, Swabia. Bavaria, still in revolt, was subjugated by Otto and his brother Henry. New inroad of the Hungarians.

955. Victory over the Hungarians on the Lechfeld

Aug. 10. (Augsburg). Conrad fell in the battle. The Bavarian Ostmark, which was afterwards transformed into the duchy of Austria (Oesterreich), reëstablished. Victorious expedition against the Wends, whom Otto defeated on the Rekenitz.

957. Liudolf died in arms against Berengar, who was in rebellion.

961. Second expedition of Otto's to Italy, Pope John XII. having implored his assistance against Berengar. Otto hastened to Rome, where he 962. Renewed the imperial office. Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation.

While Otto was engaged in the war with Berengar in Lombardy, John XII. endeavored to free himself from the imperial protection and allied himself with Otto's foes. The emperor advanced upon Rome and captured the city; John fled. The Romans were obliged to promise never to elect another Pope without the consent of the emperor. John was deposed by a synod in Rome, and Leo VIII. elected Pope.

963. A revolt of the Romans quickly suppressed. While Otto
Nov. was again absent in northern Italy, where Berengar had, meantime, been obliged to surrender (he died as prisoner in Bamberg), Leo was expelled by the Romans, and John returned, but soon died in consequence of his dissipation. The Romans choose Benedict Pope. Otto captured Rome the second time, deposed Benedict, and reinstated Leo.

966-967. Third expedition to Italy. Otto's son, Otto II., already crowned as German king, received the imperial crown at Rome. Otto I. died at Memleben, near Merseburg. His sepulchre is in the cathedral of the bishopric of Magdeburg, which he had created.

973-983. Otto II., highly gifted, but passionate, husband of the Grecian princess Theophano.

976. Otto's cousin, Henry the Quarrelsome, duke of Bavaria, instigated a conspiracy against the emperor, was conquered and deposed. Bavaria given to Otto of Swabia, son of Liudolf. Carinthia separated from Bavaria and made a duchy. Luitpold of Babenberg received the (Bavarian) Eastmark.

978. Otto surprised by Lothar, king of France, escaped with difficulty, reconquered Lotharingia, invaded France, and besieged Paris, but without success.

980-983. Wars in Italy. The emperor crossed the Alps, to Rome,

981. advanced into southern Italy, defeated the Greeks and Sara-

982. cens at Colonne, south of Cotrone, but was afterwards defeated by them *further south on the Calabrian coast*¹ where his army was annihilated.
983. Victorious advance of the Danes and Wends; destruction of the bishoprics of Havelberg and Brandenburg. Otto II. died in Rome.

983–1002. Otto III., three years old.

- Henry the Quarrelsome's claim to the guardianship, and to the crown itself, was denied, but Bavaria, without Carinthia, was returned to him. Otto's mother, the Grecian Theophano, conducted the regency in Germany, his grandmother, Adelheid, in Italy; after the death of Theophano (991), Adelheid and Willigis, archbishop of Mainz, conducted the government until the young prince took the reins in 995. From his great intellectual endowments known as the "Wonder of the World," he was dreamy and unpractical. Three Roman expeditions.
996. On the first expedition Otto was crowned by Gregory V.
- 998–999. On the second his teacher Gerbert was elected pope as Sylvester II. Attempt of Crescentius to throw off the German yoke and restore the ancient republic. He was defeated and executed. It was Otto's design to make "golden Rome" the imperial residence and centre of a new universal empire.
1000. Journey through Germany, pilgrimage to the grave of St. Adalbert, foundation of the archbishopric of Gnesen. A widespread belief that this year would bring the end of the world and the coming of the Kingdom of Heaven led thousands of people to undertake a pilgrimage to Rome.
1001. During his third visit to Italy, revolt of the Romans. Otto died in the castle of Paterno at the foot of Soraete.

1002–1024. Henry II. (the Saint), son of Henry the Quarrelsome of Bavaria, great-grandson of Henry I., was elected king at Mainz, after his rival, Eckard, margrave of Meissen, had been murdered. Henry II. enforced the acknowledgment of his sovereignty, particularly from Hermann, duke of Swabia.

1004. First expedition to Italy against Ardoïn of Ivrea; Henry crowned king of Italy in Pavia.

- 1004–1018. Wars with Boleslav, king of Poland, who was compelled to give up Bohemia, but retained Lusatia.

Foundation of the bishopric of Bamberg (1007). Increase in the power of the church. Reform of the monasteries. Energetic enforcement of the public peace.

1014. Second expedition to Italy. Henry crowned emperor in Rome. Ardoïn gives up his resistance (died in a monastery, 1015).

- 1016–1018. Henry went to war to secure his inheritance in Bur- gundy, which had been resigned in his favor by the last king of Burgundy,¹ Rudolf III. (1016).

1022. On the third expedition to Italy, Henry fought with the Greicians in lower Italy, with the assistance of the Normans who had settled there in 1015. Henry died July 15, 1024.

1024–1125. Franconian or Salian Emperors.

Election held at Oppenheim between Mainz and Worms,—the first election in which princes of all the tribes had participated.

After hesitating a short time between the two Conrads, cousins, the princes chose the elder, the son of the Frankish count Henry, eldest son of Otto of Carinthia, over the younger, the son of Conrad, younger son of Otto of Carinthia.

1024–1039. Conrad II. (the Salian).

- 1025–1030. Revolt of the Babenberger, Ernst, duke of Swabia, stepson of Conrad, son of his wife Gisela, resulting from the conflicting claims of the emperor and of Ernst as the personal heir of Henry II., upon Burgundy (Arles). Ernst fell in battle in 1030.

1026. Expedition to Italy. Conrad crowned king of Italy in Milan, but obliged to bring Pavia and Ravenna to submission by force of arms. Crowned emperor, 1027, in the presence of Cnut the Great, king of England and Denmark, and Rudolf III. of Burgundy (Arles). The Eider made the boundary between Germany and Denmark, Schleswig, therefore, was abandoned to the Danes.

Invasion of Germany by the Poles under Miezeslav II., where they ravaged the country to the Saale, and carried 10,000 prisoners to Poland. Conrad hastened from the Rhine, and provided defences against a new inroad, but attacked the Hungarians, though without success (1030). In 1031 Conrad attacked the Poles, forced them to surrender their prisoners, and restored Lusatia to the empire. Miezeslav became the Emperor's vassal (1032).

After the death of Rudolf III. (1032), Burgundy, that is, the kingdom of Arles, which was formed in 933, by the union of cisjurane and transjurane Burgundy (p. 193), was, in three campaigns, wrested from the hands of Odo, Count of Champagne, who claimed it as heir of Henry II. and united with the empire. At a later time, however, the Romance portions of Burgundy, the lands along the Rhône, Saône, Isère, and Durance, fell to France; the Alamannian portions (Franche Comté, Switzerland) remained a part of the empire. In Italy the small fiefs were made legally hereditary, and this became the common custom in Germany. To counterbalance this tendency Conrad seems to have designed doing away with ducal offices, and making the royal supremacy immediate and hereditary throughout all German lands.

1039. died at Utrecht. His son had been crowned at Aachen in June 4th his boyhood, and now succeeded to the throne as

1039-1056. Henry III. (called "the Black"). The imperial power at its highest point.

King Henry was for a time, also, duke of Bavaria, Swabia, and Franconia. The ducal throne in Carinthia was long vacant.

1042-1044. In Hungary the king, Peter, whom Henry had reinstated at the expense of three campaigns, became a vassal of the empire. Extension of the Bavarian Eastmark to the Leitha.

Tedious wars with the unruly Godfrey the Bearded, duke of upper Lotharingia, which was at last (1049) given to the Alsacian count Gerhard, the ancestor of the house of Lorraine.¹ Godfrey went to Italy (1054), where he married Beatrice of Tuscany. Henry favored the attempt to introduce the Treuga Dei (p. 203). Proclamation of a general king's peace in the empire.

1046-1047. First expedition to Rome. Henry caused a synod to depose the three rival Popes (Sylvester III., Benedict IX., Gregory VI.), each of whom was accused of simony, and appointed a German, Suidger, bishop of Bamberg, Pope, as Clement II., who crowned him emperor (Christmas, 1046). After Clement, Henry appointed three German Popes in succession. He invested Drogo, son of the Norman Tancred of Hauteville, with Apulia.

1055. Second Roman expedition. Henry died at Gozlar, Oct. 28, 1056. He was succeeded by his son, 1056-1106. Henry IV., six years old, who had been crowned king at the age of four. Spoiled in his youth, he grew to manhood passionate but weak. His mother, Agnes of Poitou, the regent, gave Bavaria to the Saxon count Otto of Nordheim, Carinthia to Berthold of Zähringen, Swabia to her son-in-law, Rudolf of Rheinfeld. Abduction of the young king from Kaiserswert to Cologne (1062) by Archbishop Anno, who was soon obliged to share the administration of the empire with Adalbert, the ambitious archbishop of Bremen (1065). Conspiracy of the princes against Adalbert of Bremen. Imperial Diet at Tribur (1066). Adalbert banished from court for three years († 1072).

Otto of Nordheim deposed from the dukedom of Bavaria, which was given to his son-in-law, Welf, son of the margrave Azzo of Este. (The house of Welf was extinct in the male line.) Magnus, duke of Saxony, kept in confinement. Revolt of the Saxons, whom Henry had displeased by the erection of numerous fortresses in their land. Flight of Henry from the Harzburg (1073), humiliating peace, destruction of the Harzburg. Henry defeated the Saxons on the Unstrut (1075). Contest with Pope descended from a family having a small estate in southern Tuscany. He was educated at the monastery of Cluny. He had, as cardinal-subdeacon, afterwards as archdeacon and chancellor, conducted the temporal affairs of the papacy under five Popes.

Strict enforcement of the celibacy of the clergy, war against simony (Acts viii. 18), and lay investitures, whereby is meant the investiture of clergy with the secular estates and rights of their spiritual benefices by the temporal power, by means of the ring and staff.

Gregory in alliance with Robert Guiscard, duke of the Normans, and with the dissatisfied princes in Germany. Henry excommunicated (1076); suspended from his royal office by the Diet at Tribur (Oct. 1076), and the ultimate decision referred to a Diet to be held at Augsburg in February, 1077. A few days before Christmas Henry left Speier in secret with his wife, son, and one attendant; crossing the Alps under great hardship, a castle belonging to the Pope's firm friend, the powerful Matilda, marchioness of Tuscany. After three days' delay, passed by Henry in the garb of a penitent in the snow-covered castle court, Gregory admitted him to his presence, and gave him a conditional absolution.

1077. Henry humbled himself before the Pope at Canossa, Jan. 25-28. nostra,

Fortune turned in Henry's favor. Rudolf of Swabia, whom the malcontents in Germany had elected king (March, 1077) at Forchheim, was defeated and mortally wounded in the battle on the Elster (1080). Swabia given to Frederic of Hohenstaufen, Henry's son-in-law (1079).

Henry, a second time excommunicated (1080), went to Italy, captured Rome, and was crowned by Clement III., a Pope of his own creation. Gregory VII., besieged in the castle of St. Angelo, was released by the Norman, Robert Guiscard, and died (1085) at Salerno. (Dilexi justitiam et odi iniquitatem, propterea morior in exilio).

The influence of Gregory VII. had been felt in all parts of the Christian world. It was under his auspices, some have claimed at his suggestion, that William of Normandy undertook the conquest of England.

Henry was involved in a contest with a new king set up by the Saxons, Hermann of Salm, son of the count of Luxemburg. Hermann, however, abdicated in 1088, and died the same year. Submission of the Saxons upon receiving assurance that their ancient privileges should be respected.

The church was still hostile. Marriage of Matilda of Tuscany with Welf V., son of duke Welf of Bavaria.

1090-1097. Third expedition to Italy. Henry captured Mantua after a siege of eleven months, but was in general unsuccessful. Revolt of his son Conrad (1092). Henry returned to Germany in 1097, in which year the bands of the first crusaders, under Walter of Perejé and Peter the Hermit, crossed Germany. War with Conrad (died 1101), and afterwards with Henry's other son, Henry, who imprisoned his father. Flight of the emperor to Lüttich, where he died Aug. 7, 1106. He was succeeded by his younger son, 1106-1125. Henry V.

The king went to Rome, took Pope Paschal II. prisoner, and forced him to perform the coronation and acknowledge the imperial right of investiture (1111). As soon as the emperor had left Italy the Lateran Council declared the concessions invalid as having been extorted by force, and a second council at Vienna excommunicated Henry.

Wars with German princes who were in revolt, especially with Lothar of Saxony, and the archbishops of Mainz and Cologne. Victory of the Saxons at Welfesholze, near Mansfeld (1115). The war of the investiture was ended, after a long contest with Calixtus II., by the 1122. Concordat of Worms.

Election of bishops and abbots in Germany to take place in the presence of the emperor or his representatives; investiture by the emperor must precede consecration, but was to be conferred not with the ring and staff, but with the sceptre. In Italy and Burgundy investiture was to follow canonical election and consecration. Ecclesiastics holding secular benefices were bound to perform the feudal duties.

(See p. 218.)

§ 2. FRANCE.

843-987. Carolingian kings of the Franks,843-877. Charles the Bald.

His rule was limited to the neighborhood of Laon; Brittany and Septimania were independent; his supremacy in Aquitania was but nominal. Ravages of the Northmen incessant, daring, terrible. Sack of Saintes, Limoges, Bordeaux, Tours, Rouen, Orléans, Toulouse, Bayeux, Evreux, Nantes. Some quarters of Paris, even, were ravaged. Lotharingia divided between France and Germany by the treaty of Meersen (870). Ourthe, Meuse, Jura, the boundary between Germany and France. Charles wasted his energy striving for the imperial crown.

Fiefs proclaimed hereditary at the diet of Chiersi (877). Charles died on Mont Cenis, returning from an unsuccessful expedition to Italy. Rise of scholasticism. Joannes Scotus Erigena. Hincmar of Rheims. Charles was succeeded by his son, 877-879. Ludwig the Stammerer (Louis II., le Bègue).879-882. Ludwig III. (Louis III.) in the north of France.

879-884. Karlmann in Aquitaine, and over the whole kingdom after 882. The ravages of the Northmen increased in frequency and duration in spite of Ludwig's victory at Saucourt in 881 (Ludwigslied). Revolt of Boso, duke of cisjurane Burgundy (879). The heir of Ludwig II., Charles, being but five years old, the nobles chose 884-887. Charles the Fat of Germany, king, thus uniting the whole empire once more in one hand. Siege of Paris by the Northmen under Rollo (Hrolf) in 885. Heroic defence by Eudes (Odo), count of Paris. Charles, consenting to buy the retreat of the Northmen, was deposed in 887. (Died in 888 in Germany.)

The empire of Charles reduced to six clearly distinct states : Italy, Germany, Lorraine, Provence, Transjuran Burgundy (formed by the union of western Switzerland and Franche Comté, under Rudolf I., nephew of Eudes), France. In France the nobles passed over the infant Charles, and elected 888-898. Eudes, count of Paris, son of Robert the Strong. The opposition party among the nobles advocated the claims of

893-923. Charles III., the Simple, who was not generally acknowledged until after the death of Eudes. In his reign the 911 (?). Northmen gained a permanent foothold on the Seine (Normandy), under Rolf (Rollo), the first duke of Normandy, with feudal sovereignty over Brittany. Treaty of St. Claire sur Epte, near Ghisors. Baptism of Rollo under the name of Robert.

Revolts against Charles. Robert, duke of France, brother of Eudes, proclaimed king, but slain in the battle of Soissons (923). His place was filled by his son-in-law, Rudolf of Burgundy. Charles treacherously seized by Herbert of Vermandois and imprisoned (died in 929). His wife, Eadgyfu (Edwina), fled to her brother Æthelstane, king of England, with her three-year-old son Ludwig IV., hence called d'Outre Mer (Beyond Seas). Rudolf dying in 936 without issue, the nobles, Hugh the White, duke of France († 956), Herbert of Vermandois, and William Longsword of Normandy, recalled in whose reign the country was torn with civil war between the king, Hugh the White, or Great, and Otto, king of Germany (east Franks). Ludwig was succeeded by his son, who was under the influence of Hugh Capet, son of Hugh the Great. An unsuccessful attempt to acquire Lorraine brought on an invasion of France by Otto II. of Germany. Lothar was succeeded by his son, 986-987. Ludwig V. (le Fainéant), who, after a short and stormy reign, died suddenly (987), without issue. The direct line of Charles the Great was extinct. The only man who had a claim to the succession was the uncle of Ludwig, Charles, duke of Lorraine, a vassal of the emperor.

954-986. Lothar,

987-1328. Capetian dynasty, direct line.

987-996. Hugh Capet

was chosen king, but was powerless to resist the great feudal nobles, each of whom surpassed the king in military power and extent of territory (dukes of Normandy, Brittany, Burgundy, Aquitaine; counts of Flanders, Champagne, Vermandois). The royal domain reached from the Somme to the Loire, with Normandy and Anjou on the west and Champagne on the east. Paris in the centre was the capital of the new French monarchy, as Laon had been the capital of the old German kingdom. Capture of Charles the Carolingian. Gerbert, archbishop of Rheims, afterwards Pope Sylvester II. Under Hugh's son, 996-1031. Robert, the royal power was wasted to a shadow. The king, pious, weak, and absurd, was involved in domestic trouble and in constant wars with the nobles. Rising of the serfs (997). Famine (1030-1032). The Vexin on the Seine given to Normandy. Robert's son,

1031-1060. Henry I., retained scarcely a trace of power, beyond the nomination of the bishops.

Introduction of the "Truce of God" (Treuga Dei) by the clergy (at first [1041] in Guienne), whereby a cessation of all feuds was enjoined by the church during church festivals and from Wednesday evening to Monday morning in every week (only 80 days in a year available for warfare). The crown having now become hereditary, Henry was succeeded quietly by his son, 1060-1108. Philip I., whose long reign, distinguished by no deeds of his own, is remarkable for two important events: the conquest of England by the Normans (1066), and the first crusade (1096). (See p. 226.)

§ 3. ENGLAND.

(See p. 181.)

828-1066. England under the West Saxon kings.

828-837. Ecgbert, king of Wessex (p. 180), ruler of Sussex, Kent, Essex, overlord of Mercia, East Anglia, Northumbria, Wales, and Strathclyde.

Ravages of the Northmen. Pouring in swarms from the northern kingdoms of Denmark and Scandinavia, these pirates, the vikings, harassed England and the continent almost beyond belief. The English called the Northmen "Danes," although not all their assailants came from that kingdom. The Northmen were still heathens. The epoch of their invasions falls into three divisions: I. (789-866) Period of invasion and ravage without settlement. II. (866-1003) Period of settlement and conquest in various parts of the country. III. (1003-1066) Period of political conquest. The first recorded attack was in 789 (p. 180). In 834 Sheppey was ravaged. Defeat of the Danes at Hengestesdun (836).

Ecgbert was succeeded by his son Æthelwulf (837-858). In 851 the Danes took London and Canterbury; in 855 they wintered for the first time in Sheppey. Æthelwulf married Judith, daughter of Charles the Bald, king of the West Franks. He was succeeded by his son Æthelbald (858-860), who married his father's widow. On his death Judith returned to the continent and married Baldwin, afterwards count of Flanders. From this union descended Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror. Æthelbald was succeeded by his brother Æthelberht (860-866), who was followed by his brother, 866-871. Æthelred I.

Settlement of the Danes in Northumbria (romance of Ragnar Lodbrog). The Danes in East Anglia (866), in Mercia (868).

870. East Anglia conquered and settled by the Danes. Martyrdom of St. Edmund, king of the East Angles.

Sack of Peterborough and Croyland. Danes in Wessex (871). Nine battles were fought with the invaders this year. At Æscesdun the Danes were defeated by Æthelred and Ælfred his brother.

871-901. Ælfred the Great.

In the earlier years of his reign Wessex was at peace, but the other parts of England still suffered from Danish inroads. In 876 Danes settled in Northumbria, and Guthorm, Danish king in East Anglia, entered Wessex. In 877 lands in Mercia were divided among the Danes.

878. The Danes ravaged Wessex.

Ælfred took refuge in the forest. Erection of the fortress of Athelney. Defeat of the Danes at Ethandun. Treaty of Wedmore, between Ælfred and Guthorm. The Danes left Wessex, but East Anglia and a part of Mercia were given up to them. London, however, was retained by Ælfred. The country of the Danes, Danelagh, as it came to be called, now embraced the larger part of England.

880-893. Peace in Wessex.

Ælfred was a skilful warrior but no lover of war. His genius was for civil government. Revision of the laws; separation of the judicial from the executive department. Trial by jury was not introduced by Ælfred; that institution was of Norman origin, a development of principles of old Frankish law. Creation of a fleet (882). Submission of several Welsh provinces. Encouragement of learning. Bæda's Ecclesiastical History, Orosius' History, and Bæthius' Consolation of Philosophy, translated into Anglo-Saxon by Ælfred. Voyages of Othhere and Wulfhere along the northern shores of Europe undertaken at Ælfred's request. Asser. The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle probably put into shape in this reign.

The Danish war broke out again in 893 with an invasion of Kent. Defeat of the Danes at Buttington. In 901 Ælfred died. He left five children: two sons, Eadward and Æthelweard, and three daughters, Æthelflæd the "Lady of the Mercians," wife of Æthelred, ealdorman of West Saxon Mercia, Æthelgifu, abbess of Shaftesbury, Ælfthryth, wife of Baldwin II., count of Flanders, son of Baldwin and Judith (p. 203). From this union descended Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror.

901-925. Eadward the Elder.

Erection of fortresses along the Mercian frontier by Eadward and Æthelflæd. Conquest of the Five Boroughs (Derby, Lincoln, Leicester, Stamford, Nottingham) by Æthelflæd. Annexation of Mercia to Wessex. Conquest of East Anglia and Essex. Submission of Strathclyde and all the Scots (924). Eadward lord of all Britain. Wessex, Kent, Sussex, he ruled by inheritance; Mercia, Essex, East Anglia, by conquest from the Danes; Northumberland, Wales, Scotland, Strathclyde, as overlord. Eadward died in 925, and was succeeded by his son.

925-940. Æthelstan.

League of Scots, Welsh, and Danes crushed in 926. Again renewed, it was again broken up by the defeat of the allies in the 937. Battle of Brunanburh.

Æthelstan was succeeded by his brother Eadmund (940-946). Revolt of Danes and Scots. Reconquest of the Five Boroughs and the Danelagh. Cumberland given as a fief to Malcolm, king of Scots. Dunstan appointed abbot of Glastonbury. Murder of Eadmund, who was succeeded by his brother Eadred (946-955). A revolt of the Danes was crushed in 954; final submission of the Danelagh. Eadwig (955-959), nephew of Eadred, quarrelled with Dunstan, and drove him from the country. He was succeeded by his brother, 959-975. Eadgar, the under king of Mercia. Dunstan, recalled in 958, archbishop of Canterbury 959, was the true ruler. The royal power stood high. Revision of the laws. Secular priests were out of favor, and monks were installed in many of the wealthiest churches. Maintenance of a large fleet. Eadgar was followed by his son Eadward (the martyr), murdered 978.

978-1016. Æthelred II., the Unready,¹ son of Eadgar, in whose reign the political conquest of England was undertaken by the Danish sovereigns (p. 203). Danish invasions began, after a long interval, in 980. Death of Dunstan, 988. Battle of Maldon against the Danes (991), when Brihtnoth, ealdorman of the East Saxons, fell. (Song of Brihtnoth's Death.) In this year (991) the plan of buying off the Danes was adopted, 10,000 pounds being paid, which were raised by a special tax (Danegeld). In 994 Anlaf (Olaf Tryggvesson) and Swegen (Svend with the Forked Beard) ravaged Kent, and were paid 16,000 pounds. Ravages of the Northmen in 997, 998, 999, 1001, 1002, 1003, 1004, 1006, 1009, 1010, 1011, 1013, 1015.

1002. 24,000 pounds paid to the Northmen. Massacre of all (?)

Danes in England, upon one day (Nov. 13, Danish Vespers) by order of Æthelred. Swegen resolves on the conquest of England. Marriage of Æthelred and Emma, daughter of Richard I., duke of Normandy. In 1007, 36,000 pounds, in 1012, 48,000 pounds, were paid to the Northmen. Death of Swegen (1014). Election of his son Cnut (Canute) to succeed him. The Danes had now recovered all that part of England which they had acquired by the treaty of Wedmore (p. 204) in 878. Upon the death of Æthelred the Danish party in England chose Cnut king, but the English party, which centred in London, chose Eadmund Ironside (1016), son of Æthelred. He made a brave stand, and many battles were fought this year. After the defeat of Eadmund at Assandun peace was concluded. Eadmund received Wesser, Essex, East Anglia, and London; Cnut received Northumberland and Mercia. The nominal overlordship of England remained with Eadmund. After the death of Eadmund (1016) Cnut became king of England.

1016-1042. Danish supremacy over England.1016-1035. Cnut.

England divided into four governments: Wessex, under Cnut; Mercia, East Anglia, Northumberland, under Jarls or Earls. Huscarls, Cnut's personal following. Cnut in Rome (1027). Laws of Cnut (1028). Subjugation of Malcolm, king of Scots (1031). Cnut was succeeded by his sons Harold (1035-1040) and Harthacnut (1040-1042). Godwine, earl of Wessex; Leofric, earl of Mercia; Siward, earl of Northumberland. On Harthacnut's death the son of Æthelred, 1042-1066. Eadward, the Confessor, was elected king. He had been educated at the Norman court, and during his reign Norman influence was supreme at the court of England. The country was in the hands of the great earls Godwine, Leofric, Siward. In 1051, Godwine, father-in-law of the king, was exiled. Recalled in 1052 he brought about a general banishment of the French. Upon the death of Godwine his power passed to his son Harold (1053). In 1055 Harold's brother Tostig succeeded Siward as earl of Northumberland. In 1057 Harold's brother Gyrth was made earl in Norfolk and Suffolk, and another brother of Harold, Leofwine, earl of Kent and Essex. Subjugation of Wales by Harold (1063). Revolt of Northumberland (1065). Deposition of Tostig and election of Morkere, grandson of Leofric of Mercia, and brother of Edwin, then earl of Mercia. On the death of Eadward, 1066. Harold,

earl of Wessex, was elected king.

A claim to the succession was immediately advanced by William, duke of Normandy, upon three grounds. 1. The alleged bequest of Eadward the Confessor. 2. An oath taken by Harold upon occasion of his having been shipwrecked on the coast of Normandy about 1064, in virtue of which he had become William's vassal, and had promised to marry his daughter and secure him the succession after the death of Eadward. 3. The right of his wife, Matilda (p. 204). The claim being rejected, William at once prepared to assert it by arms.

Invasion of Yorkshire by Harold Hardrada, king of Norway, and Tostig, brother of Harold of England.

Sept. 25. Battle of Stamford Bridge.

Defeat and death of the invaders. William had meantime landed at Pevensey. Harold hastened south, but was defeated in the

Oct. 14. Battle of Hastings or Senlac, and fell on the field. Eadgar Ætheling, grandson of Eadmund Ironsides, was chosen king, but soon submitted, with all the chief men, to the victor. Election of William.

§ 4. THE NORTH.

(See p. 168.)

Denmark.

Northern historians of the Middle Age refer the conquest of the North to the Asas under Odin (p. 168), who gave Denmark to his son.

After him came Dan the Famous, who gave a name to the kingdom. Under Frode the Peaceful, who reigned at the beginning of our era, Denmark enjoyed a Golden Age. In the eighth century the famous battle of Bravalla was fought between Harold Hildetand, king of Denmark, and Sigurd Ring, king of Sweden, and ended in favor of the Swedes.

Thus far all is mythical. The true history of Denmark begins with Gorm the Old. It is clear, however, that the Danes had settled in two bands: one occupying the peninsula, Jutland, Schleswig, and Holstein; the other occupying the eastern islands Zealand, Fünen, etc. Both divisions, between which there was scanty intercourse, were ruled by numerous petty chiefs (smaa-kongar), among the most famous of whom was the king and high-priest of Lejre in Zealand, who was at the head of a loose confederacy of the islands. When Jutes and Angles in the fifth century migrated to Britain (p. 176), Danes from the islands seem to have taken their place in the peninsula.

Godfrey, king of Jutland, was embroiled with Charles the Great, and built a Dannevirke or line of fortresses across the peninsula. Under his successor, Hemming, the Eyder was made the boundary between Denmark and the Frankish empire.

In 822 Christianity preached in Denmark by Ebbo, archbishop of Rheims. In 826 Ansgarius, "the Apostle of the North," labored in Denmark, but without lasting results.

Gorm the Old (about 860-935), the first king of all Denmark, was a devout heathen, who persecuted the new faith until forced to refrain by Henry I. of Germany. Erection of the great Dannevirke between the Sley and the Eyder. Gorm ruled the peninsula, the islands, and Skaania and Bleking, the southern provinces of Sweden. Harold Blue-tooth (Blaatand), 935-985. War with Norway. Otto II. of Germany, in 975, forced Harold to consent to the introduction of Christianity in his kingdom. Svend Forked Beard (Tveskjæd), 985-1014. Successful revolt of the tributary Wends. Svend in England (p. 205). Knut the Great (1014-1035), king of Denmark and of England. He passed most of his time in England, which led to an attempt on the part of Ulf-Jarl to make Hardeknut king in Denmark. It failed, and Knut later had Ulf killed. In 1028 Knut was proclaimed king of Norway. Hardeknut (Hathacnut) (1035-1042) succeeded his father in Denmark. His war with Magnus of Norway ended in an agreement whereby whoever should outlive the other should inherit his kingdom. Under this treaty Magnus ruled Denmark, 1042-1047. He was succeeded by Svend Estridsen, son of Ulf-Jarl and Estride, sister of Knut (1047-1076). War for seventeen years with Harold Hardrada of Norway was brought to a close in 1064. War with the Wends. Svend raised Denmark to a position of power, which was lost under his five sons who followed him: Harold Heyn (1076-1080), St. Knut (1080-1086), Olaf Hunger (1086-1095), Erik Ejegod (1095-1103), Niels (1105-1135). (See p. 235.)

Sweden.

Sweden was the first of the Scandinavian kingdoms to attain power. According to tradition there were two races in the country besides the Finns, the Göta or Gauta (Goths) and the Svea. The Svea traced their origin to the followers of Odin. Njörd, son of Odin, was the first king of Sweden. His son, Frey Yngve, built the temple of Upp-sala, and founded the line of the Ynglingar, which ruled the Svea until Ingjald Ill-raada so angered the petty kings by his cruelty that they revolted. The king burned himself and his family, and his son Olaf fled to Norway. Ivar Vidfadme, king of Skaania, which was independent before its conquest by Gorm of Denmark, succeeded Ingjald. This was in the seventh century.

In the eighth (?) century falls the mythical battle of Bravalla, where Sigurd Ring, king of Sweden, defeated Harold Hildetand of Denmark. Sigurd's son, Ragnar Lodbrog, is even more famous in story than his father. (Tale of his capture by Ælla of Northumberland, and of his death in a pit of serpents, which his sons avenged by the slaughter of Ælla. See p. 203, where the discrepancy in date is to be noted.)

In the ninth century authentic history begins. Mission of Ansgarius (829-865) to Sweden, where his preaching met with great success. Erik Emundsson, king of Sweden (died in 885?), made important conquests in the East. At the same time bands of Swedes settled around Novgorod, subjugated the Slavs, and laid the foundation of the future empire of Russia (Varinjar, Russ.).

Olaf the Lap-king (993-1024) was the first Christian king of Sweden. War with St. Olaf of Norway. The last king of the Upsala line was Emund Gamble (the Old), who died about 1056. Stenkil (1056-1066). (See p. 237.)

Norway.

According to tradition Norway was first settled by Olaf Trætjelje of the Ynglingar line, who fled from Sweden after the death of his father Ingjald. The country was governed by numerous petty kings, and remained weak and distracted, like Sweden and Denmark, until, as in those countries, a process of consolidation set in in the ninth century. Halfdan the Black (841-863) reduced many of the petty kings to subjection, and his son, Harald Haarfager (863-930), completed the work of conquest and introduced the feudal system. Defeat of the Jarls at Hafurstfjord, 872. These changes, and the repression of free-booting which followed them, induced a great migration of the Jarls, the most famous of the vikings. Establishment of Northmen under Rolf Ganger (Rollo) in Normandy. Conquest of Dublin by Olaf in 852. Discovery and settlement of Iceland, 860-875, etc. Erik Blodüxe (930-934), Hakon (934-961), Harald Graafell, Hakon Jarl (988-995). Olaf Tryggvasson (996-1000). He disappeared at the battle of Svold, where he was defeated by Olaf the Lap-king of Sweden, Svend Tveskæg of Denmark, and Erik and Svend, sons of Hakon Jarl. The victors divided Norway between them.

Discovery and settlement of Greenland by Erik the Red (985). Vinland (America) seen by Bjarne, and visited by Leif and others, 986-1011. See p. 281.

Norway was again united under St. Olaf (II.) 1015-1030, in whose reign Christianity was introduced. Magnus the Good, son of Olaf (1035-1047), king of Denmark from 1042 to 1047. The Graagaas, or book of the law. Harald III., Hardrada, founded Opslo (Christiania), and fell at Stamford Bridge 1066 (p. 206). Magnus II. (1066-1069), Olaf (1069-1093), Magnus III. Barfod (1095-1103). Conquest of the Orkneys and Hebrides; of Dublin. Death of Magnus in Ireland. (See p. 233.)

§ 5. SPANISH PENINSULA.

755-1031. Caliphate of Cordova, founded by the last Ommiad, Abd-er-Rahman (p. 183). Most brilliant period of the Moorish civilization, in the ninth and tenth centuries. Abd-er-Rahman III., Hakem II., Almanzor, his general. The populous city of Cordova, the seat of science and arts.

1031. Dissolution of the caliphate of Cordova into a number of small states. The Morabethes or Almoravides (Yussuf), summoned from Mauretania, successfully opposed the Christians (1086), but made themselves masters of Mohammedan Spain.

Christian Kingdoms.

Asturia (Oviedo), since the conquest of the country as far as the Duero by Alfonso III. in the tenth century, called the kingdom of Leon, after the new residence, Leon.

Castile, so called from the castles erected against the Arabs, originally a county of Asturia.

Navarre, a border state in the Pyrenees: first a county under French supremacy, then independent. Sancho I. assumed the title King of Navarre (905), and subjugated Aragon, originally a Frankish county north of Navarre.

1000-1035. Sancho III. the Great, king of Navarre, and, by inheritance, king of Castile, divided at his death his kingdom among his three sons. As Leon and Castile were soon united, there existed henceforward three Christian kingdoms in Spain: 1, Castile-Leon; 2, Navarre; 3, Aragon. We must also reckon the county of Barcelona, which grew out of the Spanish mark of Charles the Great, and was independent after the time of Charles the Bald.

Wars of Ruy Diaz, called by the Arabs Cid, i. e. Lord (died 1099). (See p. 240.)

§ 6. THE EAST.

Eastern Empire.

527-565. Justinian I., emperor of the East. Belisarius. Narses (p. 175).

Codification of the law in the form known as the corpus juris civilis (Tribonianus), comprising: 1. Institutiones. 2. Pandectæ or Digesta. 3. Codex. 4. Novellæ, later additions.

Parties of the circus: Greens, Blues, Reds, and Whites. Bloody contests ("Nika," 532). The church of St. Sophia, built by Constantine (Hagia Sophia), burnt and rebuilt with great splendor.

Decline of the empire under Justinian's successors (cruelty, mutilations). A part of the Asiatic and African provinces conquered by the Persians and afterwards by the Arabs.

726-842. Contest over images. Image-breakers (εικονοκλάσται, iconoclasts) and image worshippers (εικονοδόλοι).

717-741. Leo the Isaurian. Image worship prohibited.

780-802. Irene, who out of love of power had her own son blinded, restored image worship. The accession of a woman to the imperial throne served as a pretext to legalize the transfer of the imperial crown from the East to the West.

842. Theodora fully restored image worship.

867-1057. Eastern emperors of the Macedonian line.

The empire, hard pressed by Arabs, Bulgarians, and Magyars. The emperors Nicephorus Phocas and John Zimisce, whom Theophano, widow of Romanus II. (died 962), placed on the throne, partially reconquered the provinces which the Arabs and Bulgarians had torn from the empire. (See p. 240.)

Caliphate of Bagdad under the Abbasides (750-1258).

Immediately after the reigns of Haroun-al-Raschid and Mamun (p. 186), the power of the caliphs began to decline.

935. The Emir al Omra (i. e. prince of princes) received all the secular power; the caliph remained only spiritual head of the faithful. 969, Egypt independent under Fatimites.

1058. Seljuk Turks (Togrul Bey, Alp Arslan, Malek Shah) attained the dignity of Emir al Omra. Seljuk supremacy.

1092. The empire of the Seljuks separated into a number of small sultanates (Iran, Kerman, Aleppo, Damascus, Iconium or Roum).

India.

The early history is exceedingly uncertain, and the most important events are assigned dates differing from one another by over four centuries. The Guptas, who succeeded in power the Sahs of Suráshha (60 B. C.-235 A. D.), occupied Kanauj from 319 to about 470, when they were overthrown by Tatar invaders (Huns?), and the Valabhis, who dwelt in Cutch and the northern part of Bombay, were the principal power in India, 480-722.

Actual authentic history begins with the Arabic invasions. Sind was the first province to feel the Mohammedan attack. It was conquered in 711, but in 750 a general uprising expelled the victors. About 1000-1186. Supremacy of the Sultans of Ghazni.

The next great attack was made by a Turk, Sultan Mahmud of Ghazni, (in Kabul), who invaded India seventeen times, and conquered the country to the Ganges. The decisive struggle took place at Peshawar, where Mahmud was victorious. In 1024 famous expedition to Guzerat. Destruction of the idol pillar filled with jewels. (?) Mahmud was succeeded by fourteen rulers of his house, the last of whom, Bahram, was conquered by Allah-ud-din of Ghor. Bahram's son, Khusru, founded at Lahore the first Mohammedan dynasty in India proper.

1186-1206. Supremacy of the Afghans of Ghor.

In 1186, Khusru's son was made captive by Muhammad Ghori, after which the predominance exercised by the Turks of Ghazni passed into the hands of the Afghans of Ghor. Muhammad Ghori was killed in 1206. (See p. 241.)

China.

(See p. 33.)

590-618. Dynasty of Suy, under whose energetic sway China was partially rescued from the confusion of the Three Kingdoms (p. 33).

618-907. Dynasty of Tang, founded by the usurper, Le Yuen, who, as emperor, took the name of Kau-tsu. The first part of this period down to 718 was a brilliant time for China, and the Golden Age of literature. The earlier rulers (Tai-tsung, 627-650; Kaou-tsung, 650-683; Woo How, 683-705, the wife of Kaou-tsung, who usurped the throne on her husband's death) were valiant warriors and wise rulers, who held the Tatars in check, recovered much of the former possessions of China in Central Asia, and raised the empire to a commanding position among other nations; 643, embassies from Persia and Constantinople in China.

From 718 the attacks of the Tatars increased in vehemence. From 763 to 780 their inroads were incessant.

Under Woo-tsung (841-847) temples were destroyed, monasteries and nunneries closed, and all foreign priests (Christian, Persian, Buddhist) banished. The reaction was, however, short-lived. Invention of printing.

907-960. Five dynasties (Later Leang, Later Tang, Later Tsin, Later Han, Later Chow) occupied the throne within this period, but the power of each was very limited. In Ho-nan, Sze-chuen, and other provinces independent states arose.

960-976. Chaou-kwang-yin, as emperor, Tai-tsoo, the founder of the dynasty of the Later Sung, fought with success against the Khitan Tatars, who had occupied the whole of Manchuria, establishing there the empire of Hia. Succeeding emperors were less fortunate, and paid tribute to the Tatars (976-1101). (See p. 241.)

Japan.¹

From the reign of Ojin (270-310, p. 33) to the close of the sixth century, the history of Japan is a record of quiet progress in civilization, under the influence of continental intercourse and of increasing wealth. Throughout this period, as before, the Mikados were actual sovereigns and personal commanders. The close of this epoch saw the introduction of Buddhism into Japan and its rapid spread (p. 33).

The seventh century is of surpassing interest in the history of Japan, for then it was that causes long working in silence and unseen resulted in changes subversive of the entire social and political life of the Japanese, — changes which led to the withdrawal of the Mikado from personal intercourse with his subjects behind a veil of formal etiquette and heightened reverence, and to the predominance of the military over the civil power, until the actual government of the country passed from its legal sovereign, the Mikado, into the hands of an usurping military chieftain, thus creating a long-enduring, much misunderstood system of dual government, — changes whose final outcome was a feudal system corresponding to that known to mediæval Europe, which, with its legitimate offspring, oppression, weakness, anarchy, lasted until 1868.

These changes were the following : I. The growth of a numerous court nobility of imperial, and hence of divine, descent. II. The creation of numerous offices of state which became the property of the court nobility. III. The division of the male population into an agricultural and a military class. IV. The separation of state offices into two sections, the civil and the military, and the continuance of each in the hands of one group of noble families.

I. The kugé, or court nobility, owed their numbers to the practice of polygamy, which the necessity of providing against the extinction of a divine dynastic line imposed on the Mikados. They comprise at present one hundred and fifty-five families, which form among themselves larger groups, or clans. Such clans are : the Fujiwara, the most famous of all the kugé; the Sugawara; the Taira (Heike in Chinese characters); the Minamoto (Genji in Chinese characters).

II. In 603 the requirements of a more extensive empire caused the establishment of eight great administrative departments, and of a host of smaller offices, which were filled by members of the kugé, and gradually became vested in certain families.

III. The demand of the growing empire for increased military efficiency led to the division of the whole male population into two classes : 1. the class of agricultural laborers, comprising all who were unfit for military service; they were relegated to a life of unbroken toil, and were burdened with the annual payment of a quantity of rice sufficient for the support of the 2. military class, the Samurai, which included all the bravest and most intellectual men in Japan. Relieved from the necessity of working by the tax received from the first class, and not overburdened with military duties, these men were free to devote themselves to the pursuit of literature and learning, forming the best element in the nation.

IV. The Fujiwara, increasing in power, gradually absorbed all civil offices, while the military offices were filled from the two families of Taira and Minamoto, better known as Hei and Gen. Thus did the Fujiwara become enervated by the luxury of palace life; thus did the Mikado, while his office gained in respect and reverence by its environment of titled officials, lose all real power, and sink to a mere puppet in the hands of intriguing nobles, to be installed and deposed at will; thus did both emperor and court constantly lose ground before the growing influence of those energetic families to whom were given the active duties of military command. The generals, or Shoguns, became the "Mayors of the Palace" of Japan. So originated the dual government, which was not, as foreigners long thought, a constitutional institution, whereby the civil and military functions of government were vested in the Shōgun or temporal emperor (Tycoon), and the religious functions in the Mikado or spiritual emperor, but an unconstitutional innovation, wherein a subordinate officer had usurped that authority which belonged of right to the only emperor, the Mikado, and whose position that emperor had never recognized.

The natural result of this state of affairs was the evolution of military feudalism, whose rise is considered in the next period.

794. The capital of the empire, the home of the Mikado and the kugé, permanently fixed at Kioto, near Lake Biwa.

1156. Outbreak of war between the families of Gen and Hei (Minamoto and Taira), which had previously shared the military offices in peace. (See p. 242.)

THIRD PERIOD.

EPOCH OF THE CRUSADES (1096-1270).

§ 1. CRUSADES.

Cause : The pilgrimages of the Christians to the Holy Sepulchre, where St. Helena, mother of Constantine the Great, had built a vault for the Sepulchre and the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, were interrupted after the Fatimites, and yet more after the Seljuks came to power; ill-treatment of the pilgrims.

The hermit Peter of Amiens demanded of the Pope Urban II. (1088-1099) assistance in freeing the holy places, and preached the Crusade in Italy (?) and France.¹ Councils of the church at Piacenza and Clermont in Auvergne (1095). Address by the Pope; universal enthusiasm. (It is the will of God !)

The undisciplined bands led by Peter, by the French knight Walter of Pacy, and his nephew Walter Senzaveir (the Penniless), and others, were for the most part, annihilated in Hungary and Bulgaria.

1096-1099. First Crusade. Kingdom of Jerusalem.

Leaders of the first Crusade : Godfrey of Bouillon, duke of lower Lotharingia ; his brothers, Baldwin and Eustach ; Robert, duke of Normandy, son of William the Conqueror ; Robert of Flanders ; Stephen of Blois ; Raymond IV., count of Toulouse ; Hugo of Vermandois, brother of Philip I., king of France ; Bohemond of Tarentum, son of Robert Guiscard ; his nephew Tancred. They led 200,000 or 300,000 warriors to the East. Bishop Adhemar of Puy, who was the first to take the Cross at Clermont, went with the expedition as papal legate (died 1098). No king took part personally in this Crusade.

The princes went to Constantinople, where all except Raymond did feudal homage to the emperor, Alexius Comnenus. Attack upon the territory of Kilij Arslan, Sultan of Iconium (or Roum).

1097. Nicæa surrendered to the Grecian emperor after a siege of June. several weeks' duration. Victory of the Crusaders at Doryl July 1. læum over the Sultan Kilij Arslan. Baldwin, separated from the main army, crossed the Euphrates, and conquered a principality for himself in Edessa.

1097-1098. The main army besieged Antiochia on the Orontes for nine months in vain, but finally the city was betrayed to Bohemund of Tarentum by the Armenian renegade, Firuz 1098. (Pyrrhus). Kerboga, the powerful Emir of Mossul, besieged the Crusaders, exhausted through sickness and want, in Antioch, with an immense army. Victorious sally of the Christians (the holy lance !) ; the Seljuk army defeated and scattered. Long rest of the Crusaders in Antioch and quarrels among them.

1099. Expedition along the coast toward Jerusalem. Unsuccessful siege of the fortress of Arcas. In May they advanced beyond Cæsarea. On the 7th of June the Crusaders, now numbering but 21,500 effective men, beheld the Holy City, which the Fatimites had reconquered from the Seljuks in 1098. After a five weeks' siege, 1099. Storm of Jerusalem.

July 15. Terrible massacre ; pilgrimage to the Church of the Resurrection.

Establishment of a feudal kingdom of Jerusalem, chiefly French, with vassal counties : Edessa, Antiochia, and afterwards Tripolis (Assises du royaume de Jérusalem). Three chief officers : Senechal, Connétable, Marshall. Two patriarchs, at Jerusalem and at Antiochia.

Godfrey of Bouillon, Protector of the Holy Sepulchre, defeated the Sultan of Egypt at Ascalon or Gaza. Godfrey died 1100. His brother, Baldwin I., king of Jerusalem. Acre, Triopolis, Berytus (Beirut), Sidon, conquered with the aid of Pisa and Genoa. Baldwin I. (died 1118) was succeeded by Baldwin II. (died 1131), Fulco of Anjou (died 1143), under whom the kingdom of Jerusalem reached its greatest extent, Baldwin III. (died 1162), Amalric (died 1173), Baldwin IV. (died 1184), Baldwin V. (not of age, died 1186), Vea (Guy) of Lusignan.

1147-1149. Second Crusade. Without result.

Cause : Conquest of Edessa by Emadeddin (Imad-ed-Deen) Zenki, Emir of Mossul (1144). Second conquest and destruction of the city by his son Noureddin (Noor-ed-Deen) (1146). Bernard, abbot of Clairvaux, preached the Crusade.

Conrad III. of Germany and Louis VII. of France started for Palestine ; the former from Regensburg (Ratisbon), the latter from Metz, somewhat later. Both armies passed through Hungary to Asia Minor, the German army, being far in advance, entered Phrygia, where it was almost annihilated by want and by the opposition of the Sultan of Iconium, but few regaining Nicæa. With this scanty following Conrad joined the expedition of the French army along the coast, but returned from Ephesus to Constantinople, on account of ill health. Louis and the French nobility took ship from Pamphylia for Antiochia. The common soldiery continued by land to Cilicia, and were completely annihilated by hunger and the enemy. Conrad went from Constantinople to the Holy Land by sea (1148), and in conjunction with the French made an unsuccessful attack on Damascus.

1189-1192. Third Crusade. Conquest of Acre (St. Jean d'Acre), or Ptolemaïs.

Cause : Capture of Veit (Guy) of Lusignan, king of Jerusalem, at Tiberias on the sea of Genezareth. Conquest of Acre and Jerusalem by Saladin (Salah-ed-Deen) (1187), the founder of the dynasty of the Ayoubites in Egypt. He treated the Christians magnanimously.

The emperor Frederic I., who in his youth had taken part in the second Crusade, undertook in his old age an expedition from Regensburg (Ratisbon) in the spring of 1189, passed through Hungary, spent the winter in Adrianople, crossed (1190) to Asia Minor, conquered Iconium, and went to Cilicia, where he was drowned in the Calycadnus (Seleph). His son, Frederic of Swabia, led a part of the pilgrims, many having turned back, by way of Tarsus, Antiochia, and Tyrus to Accon (Ptolemais, St. Jean d'Acre). He died (1191) during the siege of this city, which was conducted by the king Guy of Lusignan, who had gained his freedom.

Richard the Lion-Hearted (Cœur-de-Lion), king of England, but French in nationality and language, and Philip II., Augustus (French Auguste, a title of respect which was given him later), king of France, went by sea to the Holy Land (1190), — Richard from Marseilles, Philip from Genoa ; participation of Genoa, Pisa, and Venice. After a long stay in Sicily and many quarrels the two kings reached Acre, which Lusignan had already besieged for nearly two years. The city was now soon forced to surrender (July, 1191).

Philip having quarrelled with Richard, returned to France (1191). Heroic deeds (and cruelty) of Richard, who, however, was twice obliged to turn back from before Jerusalem. Armistice with Saladin. The strip of coast from Joppa to Acre given to the Christians ; pilgrimages to the holy places permitted. Richard gave Cyprus, which he had conquered in 1191, as a fief to Veit (Guy) of Lusignan (autumn of 1192), who transferred his title of "King of Jerusalem" to Henry of Champagne.

Richard on his return suffered a shipwreck at Aquileia, was recognized in Vienna, detained by Leopold, duke of Austria, at the command of the emperor Henry VI., kept a prisoner by the emperor thirteen months in Trifels (near Annweiler in the county Palatine) and in Worms, and released only upon payment of a ransom and rendering homage.¹

1202-1204. Fourth Crusade. Latin empire (1204-1261).

At the instance of Pope Innocent III. (preaching by Fulco of Neuilly) a Crusade directed originally against Egypt was undertaken by powerful French barons, assisted by Baldwin, count of Flanders, and Boniface, marquis of Montferrat. The Crusaders undertook the siege of Zara in Dalmatia, which the king of Hungary had seized, for the Venetians (Doge Henry Dandolo), partly in payment for transport. At the urgent request of Alexius, son of the Eastern emperor Isaac Angelus, who had been dethroned by his brother, a request strongly supported by Philip of Swabia, the Crusaders went to Constantinople with the Venetian fleet of 480 sail, captured the city, and replaced Alexius and his father on the throne (1203). The emperor was unable to fulfill his compact with the Crusaders. (Union of the Greek Church with that of Rome; large payments in money.) Contention, during which the city caught fire. Revolt of the Greek populace. (Isaac died.) After the murder of Alexius by the Greeks, second capture of the city, pillage, new conflagration, which consumed many works of ancient literature.

Establishment of the Latin empire (Baldwin, emperor); many coast districts and islands fell to the Venetians; the marquis of Montferrat became king of Thessalonica; French dukes in Athens, Achaia, etc. Villehardouin, historian of the expedition.

Establishment of a Greek empire at Nicæa by Theodore Lascaris, and a second, the empire of Trebizond on the coast of the Pontus Euxinus, by a descendant of the Comnenes. Michael Palæologus, of the Nicæan empire, put an end to the Latin empire in 1261.

1212. The children's Crusade. Thousands of German and French boys started for the Holy Land. Many died on the way, many were sold into slavery.

1217. Crusade of Andrew II., king of Hungary, without result.

1218-1221. Unsuccessful attack upon Egypt under John of Brienne, "king of Jerusalem."

1228-1229. Fifth Crusade. Jerusalem regained for a short time.

Frederic II., emperor of the West, who was under the papal ban

for not having fulfilled his promise of undertaking a Crusade, went to Acre by sea, and received Jerusalem (where he crowned himself), Nazareth, and a strip of land reaching to the coast, together with Sidon, from Sultan Kameel (El Kámil), on condition of a ten years' armistice. Jerusalem was lost again, and finally, 1244.

1248-1254. Sixth Crusade. Without result.

Louis IX., king of France (St. Louis), went to Cyprus and passed the winter there. In order to destroy the Saracen power in its stronghold of Egypt, he went in the spring of 1249 to Damietta and captured the city. On the expedition which he undertook in November against Cairo, Louis was defeated by the Ayoubite Sultan Toorán-sháh (Almoadan), cut off from Damietta, and captured with the entire French army (April, 1250). The execution of the treaty of peace, whereby the king was to be liberated on condition of evacuating Damietta and paying a heavy ransom, was delayed by the overthrow of the Ayoubites by the Mamelukes. Louis coasted along Palestine, fortified Acre and other cities of the coast, in the course of a residence of almost four years, and returned to France in 1254. 1268. Antiochia lost to the Mohammedans.

1270. Seventh Crusade. Without result.

Louis IX. went to Tunis, where he and the greater part of the army were carried off by sickness.

1291. Acre (Ptolemaïs) stormed by the Mamelukes; the Christians abandoned their last possessions in Palestine (Tyre, Berytus, Sidon).

The Crusades were the greatest events of the Middle Age. In spite of the excesses and cruelties of many of the Crusaders they lend to the time to which they belong an ideal, a religious character.

Results of the Crusades : 1. Increased power and authority of the Church and the Papacy. 2. Increase of the personal power of princes, owing to the reversion of many feudal holdings which became vacant. 3. Rise of independent communities, who bought their freedom from their overlords who needed funds for the pilgrimage. 4. Development of commerce. The Italian republics at the height of their power. 5. Intellectual growth resulting from the new ideas brought back from the East; especial advance in the knowledge of geography and natural history. 6. Perfection of the institution of knighthood (chivalry); the three Religious Orders of Knighthood.

1. Knights of St. John, or Hospitalers; i. e. knights of the hospital of St. John in Jerusalem, founded by merchants from Amalfi, 1070. The brotherhood was enlarged after the first Crusade (Gerhard), and converted into an order of knighthood after the manner of the Templars (Raimund Dupuis). Black mantle, white cross. The order was transferred to Cyprus (1291), to Rhodes (1310), whence they were called Knights of Rhodes. Rhodes lost, 1522; in 1526 the order received a gift of Malta from the emperor Charles V., thence called Knights of Malta.
2. Knights of the Temple or Templars (from the temple of Solomon, on whose site stood the house of the order in Jerusalem), originating in a union of nine French knights in 1118 (Hugo de Payens). White mantle, red cross. In 1291 the order was transferred to Cyprus; in 1312 dissolved by Pope Clement V. at the Council of Vienne.

- 3. The Order of Teutonic Knights, originally brotherhood of the German hospital founded in 1190, was in 1198 raised to an order of knighthood by Frederic of Swabia before Acre, during the third Crusade. White mantle, black cross. Seat of the order at Acre. Under the grand master Hermann of Salza a band of knights went to Prussia, then occupied by the heathen Wends, in 1226. Hermann of Balk, first Landmeister in Prussia, which was subjugated by bloody wars (1226-1283). In 1291 the seat of the grand master was transferred to Venice, 1309 to Marienburg, 1457 to Königsberg. The land of the order was secularized in 1525. Those knights who remained Catholic maintained possession of the German estates. Residence of the grand master at Mergentheim at Franconia. The order was dissolved in 1809. In all three orders, knights, priests, brothers in service.

§ 2. GERMANY AND ITALY.

1125-1137. Lothar of Saxony, supported by his son-in-law Henry the Proud, duke of Bavaria, of the house of Welf, whom he later appointed duke of Saxony as well, and Berthold, duke of Zähringen. Lothar fought (until 1135) against the two powerful Hohenstaufens, Frederic, duke of Swabia, and Conrad, nephew of the last emperor, Henry V. Their father was Frederic of Büren and Staufen, son-in-law of the emperor Henry IV (p. 200).

1132-1133. On his first Roman expedition Lothar was crowned by Pope Innocent II., and accepted the allodial possessions of Matilda of Tuscany as a fief from the Pope.

1136-1137. On his second Roman expedition Lothar attacked the Norman Roger II., who had assumed the title of king of the two Sicilies, and drove him for a short time to Sicily. On his return Lothar died at Breitenwang in upper Bavaria (Dec. 3-4, 1137).

Under Lothar's reign German influence made great advances in the North and East. The Danish king Magnus recognized anew the overlordship of the Emperor; Bohemia did feudal homage. The Wends were driven back, and in increasing numbers converted to Christianity. Holstein given to Adolf, count of Schaumburg, the margravate of Meissen to Conrad of Wettin, the Nordmark or Altmark, at the mouth of the Havel and on the left bank of the Elbe, to Albert the Bear, of the house of Ballenstädt or Askania (1134), who had done Lothar important service on the first Roman expedition. Albert crossed the Elbe and conquered almost the entire Mittelmark, which then received the name of Brandenburg, from its chief city.

1138-1152. Conrad III.,

elected by the party opposed to the Saxon house, without participation of the Saxons and Bavarians.

War of the Ghibellines (Italian corruption of Waiblingen, the name of a castle of the Hohenstaufens) and the Welfs, or Guelfs (cf. the genealogical table).

Conrad put Henry the Proud under the ban, and gave Saxony to Albert the Bear, and Bavaria to Leopold IV., margrave of Austria.

1139. During the changing fortunes of the war Henry the Proud died. The claims of his ten-year-old son Henry (afterwards called the Lion) to Saxony were maintained by the latter's mother and grandmother and their connection. Bavaria was claimed by Welf VI., brother of Henry the Proud. Welf advanced to the relief of the city of Weinsberg, which Conrad besieged. In the

1140. *Battle*² of Weinsberg Conrad conquered, and the city was compelled to surrender. ("The Faithful Wives of Weinsberg," poem by Bürger.)

After the death of Leopold of Austria (Oct. 18, 1141), Bavaria fell to his brother, Henry Jasomirgott,³ who married Gertrude, Henry the Proud's widow (1142). Her son, Henry the Lion, received Saxony. Albert the Bear gave up his claim to Saxony; the mark of Brandenburg, which was a fief held directly from the emperor (reichsunmittelbar), and his other possessions, which his enemies had occupied, were restored to him.

Conrad's Crusade (p. 215). Conrad, whose eldest son, Henry, who had already been elected king, died before him, appointed as his successor not his second son, a minor, but his nephew, Frederic of Swabia, who was unanimously elected by the princes. Conrad died Feb. 11, 1152, at Bamberg.

1152-1190. Frederic I., Barbarossa, one of the most heroic figures of the Middle Age.

Diet at Merseburg. Frederic settled the disputed succession to the Danish crown. Sven became king of Denmark as a vassal of the empire (1152).

Frederic's main object was to make good the imperial authority, and in particular to restore the imperial rights in northern Italy, which had become narrowed by neglect. Hence war with the powerful republican cities of Lombardy. Six expeditions to Italy.

1154-1155. First expedition. Frederic destroyed some small places which opposed him, and was crowned king of Italy in Pavia, and emperor at Rome by Hadrian IV., who had appealed to him for aid against the Romans. Arnold of Brescia, scholar of the schoolman Abelard, a popular preacher, who inveighed against the secular power of the clergy and possession of estates by the church, was condemned and burnt.

1153. Convention of Constance between Frederic and the Papal See.

1156. Henry the Lion received Bavaria again. Austria was separated from Bavaria, and raised to a duchy, hereditary in the female as well as the male line.

1157. Diet at Würzburg. Nearly all the states of the West did homage to the imperial power (Holy Roman Empire). In Besançon the Burgundian nobles submitted again to the empire. The Bohemian duke Vladislav received from Frederic the royal crown.

1158-1162. Second expedition to Italy. The Lombard cities, including Milan itself, submitted. At the diet on the Roncalian Fields the rights of the emperor were defined as against the cities. Jurisdiction in the cities transferred from the consuls to an officer of the empire, the Podesta. Prohibition of the right of private war between the cities. The Milanese revolted. Quarrel between the Pope and the emperor. Tedious war with Milan, which surrendered after a two years' siege. At the emperor's command 1162. Milan was destroyed by the inhabitants of the neighboring cities.

1159-1177. Schism in the Church. Alexander III. elected by the majority of the cardinals, Victor IV. by the minority (who favored the emperor), and recognized by the council which Frederic convened at Pavia. Alliance between Alexander III. and the Lombard cities.

1163. Third Expedition without an army. After the death of Victor IV. (April, 1164), a new anti-pope, Paschal III., was elected by the imperial party. New disturbances in Italy soon broke out.

1166-1168. Fourth Expedition. Paschal III. conducted to Rome by Frederic.

1167. Lombard League between the cities of Lombardy (Cremona, Bergamo, Brescia, Mantua, and Ferrara) and the cities of the Veronese March (Verona, Vicenza, Padua, Treviso), which had united in 1164. Union of Guelfs with Ghibellines. They rebuilt Milan, built Alessandria (so called after their ally, Pope Alexander III.), and occupied the passes of the Alps. The emperor, whose army was almost annihilated by a plague which broke out in Rome, with difficulty escaped to Germany.

In Germany a great feud had been raging since 1166 between Henry the Lion and his enemies, the archbishops of Magdeburg and Bremen, Albert the Bear, Otto of Meissen, etc. The emperor put an end to the strife at the Diet of Bamberg (1168). Henry the Lion undertook a pilgrimage to Jerusalem (1172).

1174-1177. Fifth Expedition. The emperor entered Lombardy over Mont Cenis. He besieged Alessandria in vain. Henry the Lion deserted him and returned to Germany. The emperor attacked the Lombards, but in spite of his heroic courage, at the 1176. Battle of Legnano, was completely defeated. Negotiations and armistice with Alexander III. and the Lombard cities.

1177. Reconciliation between the emperor and the Pope at Venice.
1183. The definitive peace with the Lombard cities was concluded at Constance. The emperor renounced all regal privileges which he had hitherto claimed in the towns; acknowledged the right of the confederated cities to levy armies, to fortify themselves, and to exercise civil and criminal jurisdiction. By the popular nomination the consuls acquired the rights of imperial vicars. The extension of the confederacy for the purpose of maintaining these rights was authorized. The cities agreed to maintain all just rights of the emperor, a recognition of the overlordship of the emperor, which, however, they were allowed to redeem by an annual payment.

Henry the Lion humbled in Germany. After his neglect to appear at four diets, he was put under the ban of the empire and his fiefs declared forfeited (1180). He defended himself bravely and defeated the archbishop of Cologne. Upon the approach of the emperor Henry's vassals gradually deserted him. Henry threw himself at the emperor's feet in Erfurt (1181), but was allowed to retain his allodial estates only, Braunschweig (Brunswick) and Lüneburg. Division of the old duchy of Saxony. Part of Westphalia was given to the archbishopric of Cologne. Lübeck, Hamburg, and Bremen became in the course of time free cities, owing allegiance to the empire only. The archbishop of Magdeburg and Bremen, the bishops of Halberstadt, Hildesheim, Lübeck, etc., the counts of Holstein and Oldenburg, etc., became immediate vassals of the empire.

Eastern Saxony and the ducal title were given to Bernard of Askanian, son of Albert the Bear. Otto of Wittelsbach received Bavaria. Henry the Lion was obliged to leave the country for three years. He went to the court of Henry II. of England, his father-in-law.

1184. Brilliant court festival at Mainz.

1184–1186. Sixth expedition to Italy (peaceful). The emperor gave his son Henry, who was now twenty-one, but had long 1186. been king elect of Germany, in marriage to Constance, daughter of Roger II., aunt and heiress of William II., the last Norman king of Naples and Sicily.

1190. Frederic's crusade and death (p. 215). His son, King Henry, whom he left behind as vicegerent, was obliged to take the field against Henry the Lion, who, upon the emperor's departure, had been sent out of the empire for another three years, but had since returned from England. The death of William II. of Sicily in November, 1189, led Henry to come to an understanding with Henry the Lion. In the mean time came the news of the emperor's death.

1190–1197. Henry VI., a highly educated statesman, but stern and relentless.

1191. First expedition to Italy. Henry received the imperial crown at Rome, after he had abandoned Tusculum, which had ever been true to his father, to the Romans. The city was destroyed; Frascati grew up near its site. Henry went to Naples to rescue the inheritance of his wife, Constance, from Tancred of Lecce, whom the native party in Palermo had elected king. Unsuccessful siege of Naples for three months. Sickness in the army compelled the emperor to return to Germany.

1192-1194. New war with Henry the Lion, who had not kept the first treaty. The war ended in a compromise, the conclusion of which was assisted by the liberation of the brother-in-law of Henry the Lion, Richard Cœur-de-Lion of England (p. 216), and by a marriage between Agnes, daughter of the emperor's uncle, Conrad, count palatine of the Rhine, with Henry, son of Henry the Lion.

1194. Second expedition to Italy, where Tancred had died. War with his widow and his son William. The emperor subjugated the kingdom of the two Sicilies, and punished with severity the participants in a conspiracy against himself.

1194. Henry threatened with excommunication for withholding the estates of Matilda (p. 200) from the Pope.

1196. Diet at Würzburg. Henry's plan of making Germany (united with the Sicilies) an hereditary monarchy, on condition that all fiefs should become hereditary, even in the female line, failed in consequence of the resistance of the princes and the lesser nobility.

1197. Third expedition to Italy. Henry suppressed a second conspiracy with cruel severity. In the midst of his great plans (conquest of the Eastern Empire, Crusade), he died suddenly in Messina, thirty-two years old (28 Sept. 1197). Double election in Germany.

1198-1208. Philip of Swabia, youngest son of Frederic Barbarossa.

1198-1215 (1218). Otto IV. of Brunswick, son of Henry the Lion.

1198-1215. War for the crown between the house of Hohenstaufen and of Welf. Otto IV., recognized by Pope Innocent III., was defeated by Philip and his power reduced almost to the limits of Brunswick. In the midst of preparations for a last and decisive combat Philip was assassinated at Bamberg by the count palatine Otto of Wittelsbach. Otto IV. was universally recognized and crowned at Rome by Innocent III. (1209), after having abandoned the estates of Matilda to the papal chair and made other concessions. He was soon involved in a quarrel with the Pope, however, and the latter put forward his ward Frederic, son of Henry VI., as anti-emperor (1212). Otto IV., in alliance with England, was defeated at Bouvines (near Lille) by Philip II. Augustus (1214), and returned to his own domains. Died at the Harzburg (May 10, 1218).

1212-1250. Frederic II. also king of the two Sicilies, a prince of remarkable gifts, but passionate, more Italian than German, having been born in Sicily and educated by his Italian mother. He was an energetic opponent of the spiritual supremacy, having indeed but little liking for the church ; in his hereditary estates he favored the Saracens.

1215. Frederic went to Germany, was crowned German king in Aachen, where he promised to undertake a crusade, and

1217. gave Swabia to his young son Henry, and 1220. had him elected king of Rome (the title given to the German king elect). Frederic left Germany for fifteen years. Expedition to Rome. After renewing the promises which he had formerly made to Pope Innocent III. (feudal supremacy of the papal chair over his hereditary domain, which should never be united with Germany, crusade), he was crowned by Honorius III. at Rome.

1222. The emperor's son Henry, solemnly crowned king at Aachen. His chief adviser and chancellor was Engelbert, archbishop of Cologne (murdered 1225).

1225. Frederic took as his second wife, Iolanthe, daughter of John of Brienne, titular king of Jerusalem. Promise of a crusade renewed.

1226. Diet at Cremona ; quarrels with the Lombard cities.

1227. The Crusade which had been commenced was broken up by a contagious disease. The successor of Pope Honorius III., the octogenarian Gregory IX., placed the emperor under the ban.

1227. Battle of Bornhövede. The Danes, who under Waldemar II. had extended their power over the coasts of the Baltic, were decisively defeated.

1228-1229. Crusade of Frederic II. (p. 216).

1229. Frederic drove from his dominions the papal (key) troops, who had invaded them.

1230. Peace with the Pope at S. Germano. Removal of the ban.

1230-1240. Legislation of Frederic in his Sicilian kingdom.

Regulation of feudal relations. Representation of the cities.

1234. Revolt of the young king Henry, in alliance with the lower German nobility and the Lombard cities, against his father, suppressed by Frederic with the aid of the princes of the empire and the imperial cities. Henry submitted, was kept in strict confinement, then sent to Italy, where he died, 1242. Reconciliation with the Welfs. Erection of a new duchy, Brunswick-Lüneburg, for Otto the Child. Third marriage of the emperor at Worms with Isabella, sister of Henry III. of England. Diet at Mainz. Enactment of a public peace (first publication of a law in German as well as in Latin).

1236. Victorious campaign against the Lombards. In Germany Frederic the Warlike of Austria, a follower of the rebel Henry, deposed and put under the ban.

1237. Frederic II. in Vienna, which was proclaimed an imperial city. Afterwards Frederic the Warlike received Austria and Styria again.

1237. Diet at Speier. Election and coronation of Conrad, the second son of the emperor as German king.

1237. Brilliant victory of Frederic over the Lombards at Cortenuova. Frederic's obstinacy in pressing his demands too far, prevented the complete subjugation of Lombardy. Interference of the Pope, who had claims on Sardinia, and was offended at the assumption by Frederic's natural son Enzio (an Italian corruption of Heinz), the husband of Adelisa, heiress of a part of the island, of the title of king of Sardinia.

1239-1250. War of Frederic II. with the Popes Gregory IX. and Innocent IV.

1239. Frederic accused of heresy by Gregory and excommunicated anew. Ancona conquered by Enzio.

1241. Naval victory of Enzio at Elba over the Genoese fleet which was conveying some ecclesiastics to the council at Rome. Death of Gregory. His successor, Innocent IV. (1243-1254), fled to Lyons.

Germany threatened with a Mongol invasion (p. 240).

Innocent IV. called a council at

245. Lyons, renewed the ban against the emperor, formally deposed him, summoned the German princes to a new election, and urged all subjects of the emperor to revolt. In Germany the spiritual princes elected 1246-1247. Heinrich Raspe, landgrave of Thuringia, who, though at first victorious, was defeated by Conrad, Frederic's son, at Ulm and died (1247) at the Wartburg. The house of the landgraves of Thuringia ending with Heinrich Raspe, the eastern part of that state was joined to the margravate of Meissen, while the western part became the landgravate Hessen.

1247-1256. William of Holland, second anti-king, attained no authority in Germany.

1248. Frederic, at first successful in Italy, was repulsed before Padua. His son Enzio was captured by the Bolognese in the 1249. Battle of Fossalta (died after an imprisonment of twenty-two years in a dungeon).

Treason (?) of Peter of Vineia (Vineis), Frederic's chancellor.

1250. Frederic died in Fiorentino in the arms of his son Manfred (Dec. 19). He was succeeded by his son.

1250-1254. Conrad IV. (anti-king: William of Holland) fought since 1252 for his hereditary realm only, in Italy.

1256. William of Holland fell in battle with the Frisians (twenty-seven years old).

1256-1273. Interregnum in Germany. Club-law, Faus-trecht.

Richard, Earl of Cornwall, younger son of King John (Lack-land) of England, elected by a part of the princes, and crowned at Aachen, was recognized along the Rhine only (died 1272). Alphonso X. of Castile, grandson of Philip of Hohenstaufen, son of Frederic Barbarossa, elected by the other princes, never came to Germany.

In the kingdom of the two Sicilies the brave Manfred, son of Frederic II., was at first chancellor for the minor king Conradin, son of Conrad IV., afterwards (1258) king. Charles of Anjou, brother of Louis IX. of France, to whom the Pope gave the crown, defeated Manfred, who was betrayed by his barons, at Beneventum (1266), and made himself king of Naples and Sicily. Manfred fell on the field.

Conradin went to Italy with Frederic of Baden, also called Fred-eric of Austria (being the son of the Babenberg heiress of Austria). He was defeated between Scurcola and Tagliacozzo on Lago di Celano (1268), and executed at Naples.

1282. Sicilian vespers, so called because the conspiracy broke out on Easter Monday at vesper time. Slaughter of all the French in Sicily. John of Procida. Peter of Aragon, king of Sicily, Charles of Anjou limited to the kingdom of Naples.

§ 3. FRANCE.¹

(See p. 203.)

The royal domain of the Capetians was at first limited to the duchy of France (Isle de France and Orléanais). The great vassals, who were, in the beginning, almost independent, were gradually reduced to submission in this and the following period.

1060-1108. Philip I. Quarrel with Gregory VII. First Crusade. A long reign, in which the king accomplished nothing.

1108-1137. Louis VI., the Fat, an able and good king, who had, moreover, the good sense to avail himself of the talents of Suger, abbot of St. Denis, whom he made minister. Perceptible growth of the royal power. Marriage of the king's son, Louis (VII.), with Eleanor, daughter of William of Aquitaine, heiress of Poitou, Guyenne, and Gascony.

1137-1180. Louis VII. Second Crusade (p. 215). Louis was a weak king, a favorite with the clergy, whose reign was less disastrous than might have been expected, because of the influence of Suger, who administered the kingdom during Louis' absence in the East. After his return Louis obtained a divorce from Eleanor, who married Henry of Anjou, conveying to this prince, who soon became king of England, Poitou, Guyenne and Gascony, for which Henry did homage to Louis. In this transfer lay one germ of the hundred years' war.

1180-1223. Philip II., Augustus, one of the ablest of the kings of France; unscrupulous, cold, but of great political sagacity. (Third) Crusade with Richard Cœur-de-Lion. After Philip's return in 1190 he attacked Normandy, but made little headway during the lifetime of Richard. (Erection of the Château Gaillard by Richard, on the Seine, above Rouen.)

After Richard's death (1199) Philip took up the claims of Arthur, son of Richard's brother Geoffrey, who had been passed over in Normandy in favor of Richard's younger brother John, but he was hindered from prosecuting them by his quarrel with Innocent III. in relation to the divorce which Philip had secured from his wife, Ingeborg of Denmark, in order that he might marry Agnes of Meran. Submission of Philip (1200).

After the death of Arthur (1203) Philip moved upon Normandy anew. Rejection of the Pope's claim to arbitrate between the kings. The fall of the Château Gaillard was followed by the submission of Normandy (1204). John having refused to obey the summons of Philip to appear for trial on account of the murder of Arthur, Philip declared his fiefs forfeited.

Crusade against the Albigenses, Waldenses and Cathari, rationalist sects protected by Raymond, count of Toulouse, and the viscount of Beziers and Carcassonne (1207-1244). Storm of Beziers (1207. "Slay all, God will know his own."). Conquest of the county of Toulouse by Simon of Montfort (1211-1215). Death of Simon at the siege of revolted Toulouse (1218).

War in Flanders with the feudal lords, supported by John of England and Otto of Germany. Philip, assisted by the cities, victorious in the 1214. Battle of Bouvines :

Aug. 29. Unsuccessful expedition of Philip's son Louis to England (1216).

1223-1226. Louis VIII. New crusade against the count of Toulouse, whose lands had been declared forfeit.

1229. Establishment of the Inquisition as a regular tribunal by Pope Gregory IX., inquisitors having existed since 1203 under Innocent III.

1226-1270. Louis IX., St. Louis.

During the king's minority regency of his mother Blanche, who repressed a revolt of the barons. The war with the Albigenses ended by the extermination of the sect (1244). (Sixth) Crusade of St. Louis (p. 217). Blanche regent during his absence. After the king's return, 1254, wise government. Surrender of Périgord, the Limousin and southern Saintonge to Henry of England, whereupon Henry renounced his claim to Normandy, Anjou, Maine, Touraine, Poitou, northern Saintonge. Prohibition of wager of battle. Limitation of feudal jurisdiction. Establishment of right of appeal to the king from the feudal courts in all cases. The Pragmatic Sanction attributed to St. Louis is probably a forgery, but Louis' attitude toward Rome was one of assertion of all regal rights.

During this reign the domain of the crown received the following additions : The part of the county of Toulouse between the Rhône, the sea and the Pyrenees (1229), Chartres, Blois, Sancerre, ceded by Theobald of Champagne and Navarre (1234) ; Macon, by purchase (1239) ; Perche (1257) ; Arles, Forcalquier, Foix and Cahors (1262). Second (seventh) Crusade and death of St. Louis (1270).

ENGLISH SOVEREIGNS FROM ECGBERHT TO HENRY III.

§ 4. ENGLAND.

1066-1154. Norman kings.¹1066-1087. William I., the Conqueror, completed the subjection of the Anglo-Saxons, who were robbed of their estates and terribly ill-treated. Two nationalities and two languages existed for a long time side by side in England, English, or Anglo-Saxon, and French. The king and the nobility were French Normans or Frenchmen.

The submission of 1066 was partial, Mercia and Northumbria remaining aloof.

1068. Revolt in the north, incited and aided by a Danish fleet under Swegen. Returning from Normandy William bought off the Danes, and crushed the insurgents by a masterly winter campaign. Northumberland ravaged with fire and sword.

1071. Revolt of the English under Eadwin and Morkere, which ended with the defeat and death of Eadwin, and the capture of Ely in the fens where Morkere had taken refuge with the outlaw Hereward.

1075-76. Rebellion of the Norman barons in England easily crushed. Revolt of the conqueror's son Robert in Normandy (1077-1080). Imprisonment of William's brother, Odo, bishop of Bayeux, for troublesome and intriguing conduct. A threatened invasion from Norway and Denmark averted, 1085. William met his death by accident while engaged in a struggle with Philip of France about the Verin (Sept. 9, 1087). After the revolt of 1071. the four large earldoms were abolished, and the shire became the largest political division. Sheriffs appointed by the king in each shire. William introduced feudalism in its continental form, placing Norman barons over the lands of the English nobility, who gradually sank to the position of a middle class. In 1086 the power of the barons was weakened by the exaction of an oath of fealty from all under tenants to the king direct. The same year saw the completion of the great survey whose results were inscribed in the Domesday Book, an inventory of all lands "burthened with special dues to the crown." The lower local courts were preserved, but their subordination to the king's court was strongly insisted on.

William reformed and reorganized the English Church, assisted by Lanfranc, abbot of St. Stephen at Caen, whom he appointed archbishop of Canterbury. Homage to the Pope, however, William expressly refused to render. He kept the appointment of bishops in his own hands. No papal letter could be received, no papal synod held in England, no English bishop appeal to Rome without the king's consent.

1087-1100. William II., the Red, second son of William I. obtained the English crown, while Robert, the eldest son, succeeded in Normandy. A revolt of the Norman barons in favor of Robert was suppressed by help of the English in 1090. Death of Lanfranc, 1089. Ascendency of Ranulf Flambard. Extortions of William. Formation of the New Forest.

1093. Anselm, abbot of Bec, appointed archbishop of Canterbury.

He was soon involved in a quarrel with the king on the question of investitures and on other matters. In 1097 Anselm appealed to Rome and left England.

1097. Edgar, son of Margaret (sister of Eadgar Aetheling), obtained the Scottish crown, thus closing the civil war in Scotland between the Celtic and English parties. William was found dead in the New Forest, Aug. 2, 1100 (murdered?).1100-1135. Henry I., Beauclerc, on learning of the death of William II., hastened to England and secured the crown in spite of the opposition of those barons who pressed the claim of Robert of Normandy, then returning from the Crusade. Issue of a charter, wherein the exactions and abuses of William the Red were prohibited and the "Law of Edward the Confessor" restored.

Henry married Matilda, daughter of Malcolm of Scotland, and Margaret, sister of Eadgar Aetheling. Recall of Anselm.

1101. Invasion of Robert of Normandy, with the connivance of many of the Norman barons on both sides of the Channel, ended by treaty without a battle. Punishment of the rebel barons. Robert of Belesme, earl of Shrewsbury, driven from England. In 1104 Henry invaded Normandy. Robert was defeated at the1106. Battle of Tinchebrai and kept in captivity until his death (1134). Henry took possession of Normandy.

Quarrel with Anselm in regard to investitures, ending, after the exile and return of Anselm, in a compromise (1106). Introduction of the Cistercians in England. Suppression of the great feudatories and substitution of a class of lesser nobles. Death of Henry's son William by the sinking of the "White Ship" in the Channel (1120). Marriage of Henry's daughter Matilda to Geoffrey, son of Fulk the Black, count of Anjou (1128). Normandy and Maine definitely secured by Henry. Henry died 1135.

1135-1154. Stephen of Blois, son of Adela, daughter of William I., and the count of Blois, seized the crown in defiance of the rights of Matilda and her son Henry, and was elected at London principally by the citizens. Charter of Oxford (1136). (Second) invasion of the Scots repulsed in the

at Cowton Moor in Yorkshire. Arrest of Roger of Salisbury and the bishop of Lincoln (1139). In the same year Matilda landed in England. Stephen defeated and captured at the battle of Lincoln (1141). Matilda was elected Lady of England by the clergy. Her severe and impolitic government soon alienated her followers. Finally Stephen, having been exchanged, took up the war again, which went on with varying success until 1147 when Robert of Gloucester died and Matilda left England. In 1153 Henry of Anjou landed in England to make good his claim. Without a battle an understanding was reached and Henry was recognized as the heir of the crown (Treaty of Wallingford 1153).

The reign of Stephen was one of the darkest periods in English history. His weakness, and the confusion of civil war had given the feudal nobles full liberty. Castles were erected in great numbers throughout England, and each was the home of oppression and cruelty. Stephen died 1154.

1154-1189. Henry II.

Outside of England Henry possessed: 1. Normandy and the suzerainty over Brittany, as the heir of the Norman kings. 2. Anjou and Maine, inherited from his father. 3. Poitou, Guyenne and Gascony, acquired by marriage with Eleanor of Aquitaine (1152); in all more than half of France.

The reign of Henry is the period of full amalgamation of the English and the Normans.

The accession of Henry (at 21 years of age) was welcomed as the beginning of a better time. Banishment of the mercenaries maintained by Stephen. Demolition of the castles. Resumption and restoration of estates, which was attended with difficulty, some of the new nobles requiring to be dislodged by force.

1158. First Welsh war not successful.

1162. Thomas Becket, the chancellor, made archbishop of Canterbury. Reestablishment of the exchequer, a bureau for assessing and collecting the taxes. Introduction of scutage, a commutation in money for personal service in the army permitted to the lower tenants.

1163. Second Welsh war.

As chancellor, Becket had been the king's servant and friend; as archbishop, he became at once his opponent, resisting his wishes even in financial matters; an opposition which seems to have led to the abolition of danegeld (p. 205). Becket bitterly opposed the king's reform of the ecclesiastical law relating to the punishment of ecclesiastics for criminal offenses. Henry demanded that after ecclesiastical punishment had been administered the offender should be handed over to receive the punishment of the civil law. The wishes of the king in this respect and on other points involving church and state were formulated in the

1164. Constitutions of Clarendon.

The jurisdiction of secular courts over clerical offenders was affirmed, appeal to Rome in such cases was prohibited, the election of bishops in the presence of royal officers, and with the king's consent, was insisted on, as was the investiture of the bishop or abbot elect with his secular lands by the king. At first Becket accepted the constitutions; but afterwards he withdrew his acceptance and appealed to Rome. Brought to trial and condemned on some matters connected with his chancellorship, Becket fled to France.

1165. Third Welsh war.

1166. Assize of Clarendon. Reestablishment of Frank-pledge, or mutual responsibility of the inhabitants of a village. In each shire criminals were to be presented by twelve men from the shire and four from each town (grand jury); abolition of compurgation (proof of innocence by oath of neighbors) for which the ordeal or judgment of God was substituted.

1170. Henry under threat of interdict was reconciled with Becket, who returned to England. He soon became embroiled with the king, and was murdered by four knights of Henry's court, in consequence of Henry's passionate outbreak against him (December 29, 1170).

Establishment of itinerant or circuit judges. Court of appeal, afterwards the great and privy council.

1171. Expedition of Henry to Ireland. A bull of Adrian IV. in 1157 had given this country to Henry, but no use had been made of the authority until Dermod, king of Leinster, fled to Henry, did him homage, and sought aid in his wars. Aid was sent in 1169, and in 1171 Henry went in person. Richard of Clare (Strongbow), son-in-law of Dermod, made earl of Leinster. The southeastern part of Ireland submitted to Henry.

1172. Absolution of Henry. Penance at Becket's tomb, 1174.

1173. Rebellion of Henry's eldest son Henry, and general league of French and English lords, Louis VII. and William the Lion of Scotland against the king. Defeat of Louis. Capture of William who was released only after acknowledging Henry as his suzerain (1175). Death of Henry the younger, 1183.

1181. Assize of arms. Restoration of militia service.

1189. Conspiracy of Henry's sons, Richard and John, with Philip of France. Humiliation and death of Henry II.

1189-1199. Richard I., Cœur-de-Lion.

His reign was passed almost entirely away from England. Crusade (p. 215). On his return Richard was captured by Leopold of Austria, delivered to the emperor, and detained thirteen months in captivity, being released at last for a heavy ransom. During his absence Eleanor, his mother, was regent. Persecution of the Jews. The intrigues of Philip of France and the king's brother John resulted in war in England, which was quickly suppressed after the return of Richard (1194). For the rest of his reign Richard was in France at war with Philip. Erection of the Château Gaillard on the Seine. Death of Richard before the castle of Chalus-Chabrol (1199).

During his absence England was governed by Hubert Walter, and after his resignation in consequence of a refusal of money by the great council, by Geoffrey Fitz Peter.

1199-1216. John Lackland.

John was recognized in England without opposition and secured Normandy, but Anjou, Maine and Touraine acknowledged the claim of Arthur son of Geoffrey.

1203. Death of Arthur while in John's power. Philip at once secured the sentence of John and the forfeiture of his fiefs. Normandy, Anjou, Maine, Touraine and a part of Aquitaine were at once lost to John. Henceforward John was restricted to his English kingdom. The death of Hubert Walter, archbishop of Canterbury (1205) was followed by a disputed election. A reference to Rome resulted in the election of Stephen Langton by command of Innocent III. (1207). John refused to receive him and the kingdom was visited with an interdict (1208). Moved by fear of deposition, John finally yielded, received Langton, and accepted his kingdom as a fief of the papacy (1213).

John's exactions and misgovernment had embroiled him with the barons since 1199. Refusal of the barons to follow John to France (1213).

1214. Defeat of John at Bouvines in Flanders (p. 227). On John's return negotiations were opened with the barons, but failed, and the confederated lords occupied London.

1215. Magna Charta granted by John at Runnymede.

June The provisions of this charter applied to the commons 15-23. as well as to the nobles and clergy, and directed that its benefits should reach the lower tenants.¹ Principal provisions: 1. Ratification of Henry's charter. 2. Security for personal freedom; no freeman should "be taken, imprisoned or damaged in person or estate, but by the judgment of his peers" or "by the law of the land" (Art. 39).² 3. Regulation of feudal dues and obligations. 4. Regulation of national taxation; limitation of the aid (auxilium) which could be collected without the consent of the great council to the three ancient and well known cases (ransom of the lord; knighting of his eldest son; marriage of his eldest daughter). 5. Specification of members of the great council, and of the cases for which, and manner in which it should be convened.

The charter declared null and void by the Pope. Suspension of Langton. War soon broke out; the French party among the barons, declaring the crown forfeited, bestowed it upon Louis, son of Philip of France, who in 1216 came to England. Death of John (October 19, 1216).

1216-1272. Henry III., of Winchester, son of John.

The death of John was fatal to the hopes of Louis. The English party which secured the coronation of the nine-year old Henry, though small at first soon outnumbered the French. The defeat of the French fleet off Thanet determined Louis to give up the contest and return to France. Regency of William Marshall (1216-1219). The Magna Charta was twice reissued in a modified form. After the death of William Marshall, England was governed by Peter des Roches, Pandulf, the papal legate, Hubert de Burgh, the justiciary, and archbishop Langton, who had returned and soon superseded Pandulf as legate (1221). Second coronation (1220). Third reissue of the charter (1223). Henry's personal government began in 1227, and soon involved the country in difficulties. Heavy taxation necessitated by the demands of the Pope and by the foreign policy of the king. Fall of Hubert de Burgh (1232); of Peter des Roches (1234). Marriage of Henry to Eleanor of Provence (1236).

Struggle over the money grants in the great council, which henceforward was called Parliament. Papal exactions of enormous sums of money.

Of the French possessions of the Angevines Henry had retained only Aquitaine and Gascony.

1253. Return of Simon of Montfort, earl of Leicester (son of Simon of Montfort, who had led the crusade against the Albigenses), to England from the government of Gascony. Simon soon took a prominent part in the parliamentary struggle which now assumed formidable proportions.

1258. Parliament of Oxford. The barons presented a list of grievances, the Provisions of Oxford, the reforms demanded in which were to be carried out under a commission of twenty-four barons. Permanent council of fifteen barons to meet three times a year.

1263. Outbreak of war between the king and the barons. Arbitration of Louis IX. of France (1264). Provisions of Oxford annulled. This decision resulted in a renewal of the war. The king and his son Edward were defeated in the Edward released. Arms were again taken up. In the Denmark.

The extinction of the direct line of Estridsen (p. 208) was followed by a period of confusion and wars over the succession (Erik Emun, 1134-1137, Erik Lamb, 1137-1147) until, 1157-1182. Waldemar I., the Great, was elected to the throne. Subjugation of the Wends, who had long harassed Denmark. Capture of Ancona on the island of Rügen. Suppression of a revolt in Skaania, caused by the severity of bishop Absalon. Waldemar's son was even more successful than his father, and refused to acknowledge the suzerainty of the emperor, Frederic Barbarossa, as Waldemar had done. Defeat of a naval expedition of the Wends, who received aid from the emperor, by bishop Absalon (1184); Hither Pommerania submitted, as did a part of Mecklenburg. Knut, "King of the Slavs." Expedition to Esthonia. War with the count of Holstein and other German princes. Conquest of Lübeck and Hamburg. Capture of Adolf of Holstein. Quarrel with Philip Augustus of France over his treatment of Ingeborg (p. 226). Knut was succeeded by his brother, 1202-1241. Waldemar II., the Conqueror, the first portion of whose reign forms one of the most brilliant epochs of Danish history. Adolf of Holstein released on condition of ceding all Holstein to Waldemar, who granted it as a fief to his nephew, Albert of Orlamund. Unsuccessful interference in Norway and Sweden. Conquest of Oesel and of a large part of Prussia. In return for his recognition of Frederic II. over his rivals as emperor, Waldemar obtained a cession of all conquests in Germany, north of the Elbe and the Elde (Holstein, Lauenburg, part of Mecklenburg). Expedition to Esthonia. The Danneborg, or national standard (1219). Waldemar's power fell more rapidly than it was acquired. In 1223 the king and his son were treacherously captured by Henry, count of Schwerin, and imprisoned in the castle of Danneborg, in Hanover, for three years. Waldemar obtained his release by the payment of a heavy ransom, and the renunciation of all his conquests south of the Elbe, and in the Slavic countries. Holstein ceded to Adolf the Young (1225). This renunciation was annulled by the Pope, and Waldemar tried to regain Holstein, but was defeated in the battle of Bornhöved (1227). The rest of his reign was passed for the most part in peace. He died in 1241. Of all his conquests only Rügen, some places in Mecklenburg, Prussia, Esthonia, remained to Denmark. Waldemar's code of laws. Waldemar was twice married : 1. Margrete of Bohemia, a well-beloved princess (Dagmar). 2. Berengaria of Portugal, by whom he had three sons who mounted the throne in succession. Waldemar committed the political blunder of dividing the kingdom among his sons so that the nominal king possessed only a small part of the monarchy ; Schleswig was conferred on Abel. This led to disputes, so that the following period was one of civil strife, wars of succession, murder, and exile of kings. Erik (1241-1250). Abel (1250-1252). In this reign the towns began to send representatives to the council (Danehof). Christopher (1252-1259). War about Schleswig, the king claiming that it had been granted to Abel as a personal fief, while the descendants of Abel declared that it was an hereditary fief. Conflict with the archbishop Jacob Erlandsen. Erik Glipping (1259-1286). Occupation of Schleswig. Erik Menved (1286-1319). Regency of the queen mother. Miserable condition of Denmark. The larger part of the kingdom granted out to Danish and German nobles. Christopher II. (1320-1334). The nobles and clergy extorted from the king certain capitulations, which materially weakened the power of the crown for 340 years. Confirmation of privileges of the clergy. No ecclesiastic could be tried in a secular court, neither could the tenants of ecclesiastical foundations. No bishop could be imprisoned without the consent of the Pope. The property and persons of the clergy were free from all taxation. The nobles could not be compelled to follow the king beyond the limits of the kingdom ; if they were captured in war the crown was obliged to ransom them within a year, or lose the right of holding them to military service. The king could declare war only with the consent of the nobles and clergy. No person could be imprisoned without having been tried and condemned in a local court and in the king's court, whence an appeal lay to the national Diet. Laws could be made, repealed, and amended, only upon the motion of the nobles in the annual Diet, and with the consent of the whole nation. Peasants must not be unjustly treated by the king's agents, nor compelled to carry the king's baggage beyond their own township. Commerce should be free and not burdened with extraordinary dues. War with Geert, count of Holstein, who invaded the kingdom, and with the aid of discontented nobles drove Christopher from the kingdom. Election of Waldemar, duke of Schleswig ; soon after, Christopher, by great concessions, acquired the crown again. Eight years of anarchy (1332-1340). Skaania, Halland, Bleking attached themselves to Sweden. After the death of Geert, the youngest son of Christopher, was made king, and devoted himself to acquiring, by purchase or by force, the alienated crown lands, in which he met with success. In 1359 Waldemar regained Skaania, Halland, and Bleking from the Swedish king, Magnus Smek, and affianced his daughter Margaret to Hakon, son of the Swedish king. Denmark restored to her boundaries as they had been under Waldemar I.

This success was followed by a general war with Sweden, Mecklenburg, the Hanseatic League, etc., which in spite of the sack of Copenhagen ended disadvantageously for the Hanse towns, 1363. In 1368, however, the Hansa, in alliance with Holstein, Mecklenburg, and Sweden, began war again, and in 1370 obtained from the Danish estates a treaty which secured for them the most extensive commercial privileges. In 1372 Waldemar accepted this peace of Stralsund. In 1375 Waldemar died. Passing over the claim of Albert, duke of Mecklenburg, the son of Waldemar's eldest daughter, the estates elected the son of his youngest daughter Olaf, (1376-1387), then six years of age. In 1380 Olaf succeeded his father Hakon as king of Norway, and both lands were well governed by his mother Margaret, the regent, who, after Olaf's death, 1387, was elected queen in both countries. In 1388, Sweden revolted against the king, Albert, and Margaret accepted an offer of the crown. In the battle of Falköping (1389), Albert was defeated and captured. In 1397, the three kingdoms were united by the Union of Calmar. (See p. 276.)

After the death of Stenkil (p. 208), the country was distracted by wars between the Svea and the Gauta, which lasted, with slight interruptions, for two hundred years; whereby the people suffered greatly, the free peasants disappeared, and a nobility of warriors arose which was exempt from taxation and possessed its own jurisdiction. These nobles acquired supremacy in the Diet, and reduced the power of the king to a shadow. Under Erik IX., the Saint (1150-1162), Christianity was introduced throughout the kingdom. Establishment of the archbishopric of Upsala (1163). The family of the Bonder, which began with Erik the Saint, became extinct with Erik Eriksson Læspe (1223-1250). Under this family the power of the clergy had so increased that in 1248 they were forbidden to take the oath of allegiance to the king. At the same time celibacy was introduced. The Bonder dynasty was succeeded by that of the Folkunger, which came to the throne with Waldemar (1250-1275), son of Birger Jarl, who continued until his death (1266) the actual ruler of Sweden, as he had been under Erik Læspe. Foundation of Stockholm (1255). Birger assigned his other sons large duchies in Sweden, thereby planting the seeds of future discord. In 1275, Waldemar was imprisoned by his brother Magnus, duke of Södermanland, and remained a captive until his death (1302). Magnus (1279-1290) proved a good ruler and left a prosperous kingdom to his son Birger (1290-1319). The regent Torkel governed wisely until his fall in 1306, when war broke out between Birger and his brothers Erik and Waldemar. In 1317 Birger made his brothers prisoners and starved them to death. This caused a popular revolt which expelled Birger and placed on the throne the son of Erik, Magnus Smek (1320-1363). During the regency Norway fell to Magnus, through his maternal grandfather Hakon, and Skaania, Halland, and Bleking, which belonged to Denmark, but had been pawned to Holstein, submitted to Magnus, who paid the mortgage. Magnus, after he became of age (1333) made a poor ruler. In 1360, he surrendered Skaania, Halland, Bleking to Waldemar Attadag of Denmark, and betrothed his son Hakon to Waldemar's daughter Margaret. In 1365 Albert of Mecklenburg was proclaimed king, and in the battle of Enköping (1365) captured Magnus who was released in 1371 upon making renunciation of the crown of Sweden. Albert (1365–1388) was king in name only, the power being in the hands of the nobles. In 1388 the nobles deposed the king and offered the crown to Margaret of Norway and Denmark, by whom it was accepted. At the battle of Falköping Albert was made prisoner and, after an imprisonment of six years, renounced the crown. In 1397 Sweden joined Norway and Denmark in the Union of Calmar.

After the death of Magnus Barfod in Ireland (p. 209), his three sons Ejsten, Sigurd, and Ólaf, reigned in conjunction until the death of Ejsten and Ólaf left Sigurd sole ruler. Sigurd made a pilgrimage to Jerusalem. He was followed by his son Magnus the Blind, who in 1134 was obliged to cede half the kingdom to Harald Gille, who came from Ireland and claimed to be a son of Magnus Barfod. There followed a wretched period of civil war; strife between the Birkebeverne, or national party, and the Baglerne, or clerical party, in which the former finally got the upper hand. Magnus V. (1161–1184), Sverre (1177–1202), Hakon III. (1202–1204), Guttorm the child (1204), Inge Baardsen (1204–1217).

son of Hakon III., grandson of Sverre. He crushed his rivals, weakened the power of the clergy, restored quiet to the country, and raised Norway once more to an influential position among European nations. Conquest of Iceland (1260) and submission of Greenland. Hakon died in 1262, after suffering a defeat at the hands of the Scots in an expedition which he had undertaken against Scotland. He was followed by his son Magnus Lagabæter (1262–1280) who ceded the Isle of Man and the Hebrides to Scotland. Collection and publication of a new code of laws (1264–1279). Erik Priest-hater (1280–1299). War with Denmark over the dowry of his mother, Ingeborg. War with the Hanse towns, wherein the king was worsted and obliged to grant the towns full privileges in Norway, and to join the league. Death of Margaret ("The Maid of Norway"), daughter of Erik, and granddaughter on her mother's side of Alexander III. of Scotland, while on her way to claim that crown after the latter's death. Hakon V. (1299–1319). War with Sweden and Denmark. Dying without male issue, he left the crown to his daughter's son, Magnus, king of Sweden, who ascended the throne in 1320. In 1350 Magnus bestowed the crown of Norway on his son Hakon VI. (1350–1380), who in 1362 became co-regent for Sweden. In 1363 Hakon married

Margaret the heiress of Denmark. Hakon was succeeded by his minor son Olaf (1380–1387), whose mother Margaret administered the kingdom of Norway as she had done that of Denmark, which Olaf had inherited in 1376. After Olaf's death in 1387 Margaret (1387–1412) was recognized as queen of both Norway and Denmark. The union of the two monarchies was completed by the Union of Calmar and endured until 1814. At the Union of Calmar (1397) Sweden was united with the two kingdoms. (See p. 276.)

Arabic Spain was conquered from the Morabethes or Almoravides (p. 209) by the Almohades about the middle of the twelfth century. Aragon and Catalonia (county of Barcelona) united (1137). Leon and Castile separated again (1157); finally definitely united (1230).

1206. The Mongols elected on the Amur, Temuchin, their chief. He took the honorary title Jenghiz Khan, under which, rather than under his true name, he is known in history. The Mongols conquered a part of China, destroyed the empire of the Chowaresmians, which reached from India to the Caspian Sea, and subjugated southern Russia.

Temuchin's grandson Batu made plundering expeditions through Russia, defeated the Poles and fought the Henry the Pious, duke of Liegnitz. The Mongols, although victorious, retired to the East, and ravaged Hungary. A Christian army under Wenzel, king of Bohemia, cut them off from Austria.

The greater part of the Mongols went back to Asia, but Russia was under their sway till 1480.

1258. The Mongols conquered Bagdad and destroyed the Caliphate. Their immense empire separated into Khanates, (China, Khanate of Kaptchak on the Volga, Jagatai in Turkestan, Iran, etc.) (See p. 278.)

The Afghan empire broke up after the death of Muhammad Ghorî (p. 211), and the vicegerency of the Punjab and Hindustan became an independent sultanate under Kutab-ud-dîn, sultan of Delhi (1206–1210), who was originally a slave, and founded the slave dynasty (1206–1288). He extended the Mohammedan rule as far as the Brahma-putra. Under his successors the sultanate suffered from Mongol invasions. Allah-ud-dîn, viceroy of Oude, who had made daring expeditions into the Deccan, murdered the sultan Jeld-ud-dîn, his uncle, and made himself sultan. Conquest of Guzerat. Capture of Chitor in Rajputana (1300). Conquest of portions of the Deccan. After the death of Allah-ud-dîn (1316) revolts occurred which were suppressed by the Turkish governor of the Punjab, Tughlak, who mounted the throne of Delhi, and founded a new line of sultans, who transferred their residence to Tughlakabad. Tughlak was succeeded by his son Muhammad Tughlak (1325–1351), who was obliged to purchase the retreat of the Mongols from the Punjab. A terrible famine induced him to remove the population of Delhi to Deoghur, and the misery of those who survived the journey of 700 miles induced him to send them back again. Large issue of copper coinage, followed by financial panic. Rebellions broke out everywhere, and the Mohammedan empire separated into numerous small states. Firuz-Shah (1350–1388).

1398. Invasion of Hindustan by Timûr Shah. Allah-ud-dîn had extended his power over a large part of the south, but the Hindu revolt of 1316 had shattered it. The southern part of the peninsula was comprised in the Hindu empire of Vijayanagar (Narsinga), about 1300. In 1350, on the death of Muhammad Tughlak, the Mohammedan army in the Deccan had set up a sultan of its own, whose capital was at Kulbarga. These Bahmani sultans were soon involved in a series of horrible wars with the empire of Vijayanagar. The Bahmani empire endured until 1500, when it was broken up into five kingdoms. (See p. 353.)

China.

1101–1398.

The Khitan Tatars having established themselves firmly in Leaou-tung, Hwy-tsung (1101–1126) conceived the idea of inviting the Neu-che Tatars to take the field against them; they did so and expelled the Khitan, but occupied the province themselves, and thence spread over Chili-li, Shen-se, Shun-se, and Ho-nan. Under Kaou- tsung (1127-1163) the Neu-che Tatars, or as they now called themselves, the Kins, reached to the Yang-tse-Keang.

The new empire of the Kins invited attack from the Mongol Tatars, who experienced at this period a wonderful development of power. In 1213 Jenghiz Khan invaded the Kin province of Leaou-tsung; ninety cities were razed to the ground. After the death of Jenghiz (1227) his son Ogdai (1227-1241) continued the work of conquest.

1232. Fall of the Kin dynasty, brought about by an alliance of the Mongols with the independent kingdom of Sung, in the south.

Mangu (1248-1259), son of the warrior Too-le, was succeeded by his brother, 1259-1294. Kublai Khan,

Mongol emperor. The complete fall of Sung in 1280 left Kublai lord over all China, as well as ruler of almost all the rest of Asia, excepting Hindustan and Arabia. China was never more illustrious or powerful. Visit of Marco Polo, the Venetian, to the court of Kublai. Unsuccessful attack upon Japan (1281, p. 243).

The immediate successors of Kublai were men of little note: Yuen-ching (1294-1307), Woo-tung (1307-1311). Jin-tsung (1311-1320) endeavored to blend the two races, and admitted many Chinese to official positions. After his death matters went from bad to worse, until Shun-te (1333-1368) was driven from the empire by Choo-uen-chang, the son of a Chinese laborer, who, in 1368, proclaimed himself emperor under the name of 1156-1392.

1156. The wars of Gen and Hei, which began in this year, are very famous in Japanese annals. In the first battle (1156) the Taira (Heishe) were victorious, under Kiyomori, and obtained control of the royal palace. Exiled from Kioto, the Minamoto (Genji), under the enterprising brothers, Yoritomo and Yoshitsuné, founded a power in the plain of the Koanto, with Kamakura as their capital. The death of Kiyomori (1181) was the signal for the downfall of the house of Hei. Kioto was captured by the Minamoto. The final struggle occurred in the near Shimonoséki. The Taira were utterly defeated, many perished in the fight, and the family was exterminated throughout the islands, save a few who, escaping to Kiushiu, transmitted their name to the present day.

Secure in victory, Yoritomo left the Mikado and the kugé in Kioto undisturbed, while he strengthened his power at Kamakura. Five men of his family were appointed governors of provinces, an office previously filled only by civilians. A special tax was levied throughout the empire for the support of standing garrisons in all the provinces, and these troops were under military rulers of his own race, who shared the government of the province with the civil governor, and were subordinate to Yoritomo himself. In 1192 Yoritomo was appointed Sei-i Tai Shogun, or generalissimo. He was henceforward known as the Shogun. With the death of Yoritomo (1199) fell the power of the Minamoto.

1200-1333. Supremacy of the family of Hojo. The founder of the Hojo ascendancy was Tokimasa, father-in-law of Yoritomo, who exercised absolute control over the degenerate descendants of that able Shogun. None of the Hojo ever held the office of Shogun, but, vassals of a vassal, they ruled the Shogun and the Mikado as Yoritomo had ruled the Mikado alone. The line of Yoritomo ended in 1219, when the Shogunate was transferred to the Fujiwara, who held it until 1251, when their vassal-masters handed it over to one of the sons of the reigning Mikado, in whose family it remained until 1333.

Since the conquest of China by the Mongol-Tatars, the victors had kept the subjugation of Japan steadily in view. Embassy after embassy had demanded submission and been repulsed; the last, in 1279, was beheaded.

1281. Invasion of Japan by the Mongol Tatars.

Destruction of the armada by a typhoon; defeat and massacre of the survivors upon the island of Taka.

By this repulse Hojo Tokimune won great praise; he was, indeed, a man of great capacity and good sense. After him, however, the Hojo grew more and more outrageous in their treatment of the Mikado until a revolt broke out, headed by Kusunoki-Masashige and Nitta Yoshisada, which ended in the 1333. Capture and destruction of Kamakura, and the extermination of the Hojo family.

For a time (1333-1336) the Mikado Go-Daigo (1319-1338) was monarch in fact as in name, but his weakness cost him his newly found authority.

Ashikaga Takauji, one of the leaders in the revolt against the Hojo, revolted against his new master, seized Kioto, and set up a rival Mikado who appointed him Sei-i Tai Shogun.

1336-1392. War of the Chrysanthemums, between the false Mikado at Kioto and the true Mikado at Yoshino, each displaying the imperial emblem, the chrysanthemum. Peace was concluded in 1392 under the condition that the imperial throne should be occupied by mikados taken alternately from the rival houses. The northern branch died out after a few generations.

During this period (since the establishment of the Shogun at Kioto) feudalism reached its full development. The country was divided among the soldiers of the Shogun, who held their estates as fiefs from the Shogun, to whom they owed service. Gradually the agricultural and other classes became attached to certain of these military lords, daimios, and received their lands from them as fiefs. The taxes which supported the Mikado and the court were absorbed by the daimios, and the kuge was left to abject poverty. (See p. 278.)

FOURTH PERIOD.

FROM THE CONCLUSION OF THE CRUSADES TO THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA.

1270-1492.

§ 1. GERMANY.

(See p. 226.)

1273-1347. Kings and Emperors of various houses.1273-1291. Rudolf I., count of Hapsburg and Kyburg, landgrave in Alsace, the most powerful prince in Helvetia, was elected by the three archbishops of Mainz, Cologne and Trier and the count Palatine of the Rhine, through the influence of his cousin, the burggrave Frederic of Hohenzollern.

Strict enforcement of the public peace. War with Ottocar, king of Bohemia, who had taken possession of Austria, after the extinction of the Babenberg line (1246), had reconquered Styria from the Hungarians, and had inherited Carinthia and Carniola. Ottocar was put under the ban and his fiefs proclaimed forfeited. Rudolf took Vienna, and was on the point of crossing the Danube when Ottocar agreed to a treaty (Nov., 1276), whereby he abandoned Austria, Styria, Carinthia and Carniola, but received Bohemia and Moravia again as fiefs of the empire. Ottocar however soon renewed the war.

1278. Victory of Rudolf on the Marchfeld (near Vienna). Death of Ottocar. Peace with the guardian of his son Wenzel who received Bohemia and, later, Moravia. Development of the family power of the Hapsburgs. Austria, Styria, Carinthia, given as imperial fiefs to Rudolf's sons, Albert and Rudolf. Carinthia was given to Meinhard, count of Tyrol, Rudolf's brother-in-law.

Campaigns of Rudolf in Burgundy and Swabia, particularly against Eberhard of Württemberg. In Swabia since the fall of the Hohenstaufens the most powerful princes were the counts of Württemberg, and the margraves of Baden. The ducal title in Swabia descended to Rudolf's son Rudolf, and from him to his son John (Parricida), but this title designated only authority over the Hapsburg estates in Swabia. Formation of a great number of fiefs held immediately of the empire in Swabia. Through the exertions of the archbishop of Mainz, Rudolf's son Albert was not elected his successor, but the choice fell on a relative of the archbishop,

1292-1298. Adolf of Nassau, whose reign was devoted to the attempt to establish a dynastic power by the acquisition of Thuringia and Meissen (in opposition to the brothers *Frederic*¹ and Diezmann). Adolf was deposed at the Diet of Mainz, by the influence of his former patron, the archbishop of Mainz,

¹ The title "with the bitten cheek" appears to have been a later invention; his contemporaries called this Frederic, son of Margaret, daughter of Frederic II., by the surname "the Cheerful." See Wegele, Fried. der Freidige, 1868 without the approval of the archbishops of Cologne and Trier and the count Palatine. He fell at Göllheim in personal conflict with 1298–1308. Albert I., of Austria, son of Rudolf I. who had been elected king by the opposing party. Alliance with Philip the Fair, king of France, against the Pope. Albert tried in vain to recover Holland as a vacant fief of the empire. Alliance of the three ecclesiastical electors and the count Palatine against the king, who was victorious (1301), and reduced the princes to obedience (siege of the castle of Bingen). Unsuccessful wars with Bohemia, and with Frederic and Diezmann of Meissen, who defeated the imperial army under the burgrave of Nuremberg at Lucka, not far from Altenburg (1307).

Albert was murdered by his nephew John (Parricida) between the Aar and Reuss, near the Hapsburg. His widow Elizabeth and his daughter Agnes took terrible vengeance for this murder. Through the influence of the archbishop of Trier the princes elected as king his brother 1308–1313. Henry VII., count of Lützelburg or Luxemburg, a half-Frenchman.

1309. The Swiss Cantons received from Henry VII. documentary confirmation of their immediate feudal relation to the empire.

Origin of the Swiss Confederacy.

Of the inhabitants of the cantons, those dwelling in Schwyz seem to have been, for the most part, free peasants; while in Uri and Unterwalden the majority were in a condition of servitude, as regarded either their persons or their estates. The most extensive landowners were monasteries (e. g. the Frauenmünster in Zürich), and nobles residing out of the country, like the counts of Lenzburg and those of Hapsburg. After the extinction of the former (1172), at any rate since the thirteenth century, the counts of Hapsburg exercised, under various legal titles as landgraves or advocates, full jurisdiction and presided in the assemblies. Under the imperfectly developed administration of that time, the holder of these privileges was considered the actual ruler of the country.

As early as the first half of the thirteenth century the cantons had resisted the efforts of the Hapsburgs to develop their stewardship into an actual sovereignty over them; indeed they had even attempted in part to withdraw themselves from the stewardship of the Hapsburgs. In 1231 Henry, regent for his father Frederic II. in Germany (p. 224), granted the people of Uri a charter which removed them from under the protection of the Hapsburgs and replaced them under that of the empire. In 1240 Frederic II. gave the people of Schwyz a charter which promised them an immediate tenure from the empire. After the middle of the thirteenth century, the Hapsburgs were nevertheless still in possession of their office of steward or advocate (Vogt) for the cantons. Rudolf I. seems to have recognized the charter of Uri, but not that of Schwyz. Immediately upon his death, on Aug. 1, 1291, the cantons Uri, Schwyz, and Nidwalden (which was afterwards united with the towns of Obwalden under the name Unterwalden) concluded a perpetual league. Although intended only to insure the maintenance of existing conditions, this league is to be regarded as the beginning of the Confederacy. By making shrewd use of the confusion that followed in Germany, but not without many changes of fortune (after the battle of Götlheim (p. 245) the cantons were obliged to recognize the supremacy of the Hapsburgers), the confederates in 1309 attained the object for which their ancestors had striven.

The Swiss narrative, to which the popular poetry has added many ornaments, and which condenses the facts of the gradual acquirement of an immediate relation to the empire into a short space of time, and exaggerates their effects, can no longer be regarded as historical in view of the results of modern investigation.¹ It is first found in chronicles which were written between two and three hundred years after the events, and is often contradicted by the documents.² Neither the Oath on the Rütli (1307, Werner Stauffacher, Walther Fürst, Arnold Melchthal), nor the expulsion of the bailiffs on the 1st of January 1308, is historically authenticated.

The Swiss confederacy was not formed by the exertions of three or of thirty individuals, but was the result of many historical events which united in powerfully assisting the energetic and enduring efforts of the inhabitants of the cantons to free themselves from all foreign supremacy.

As regards the story of Tell, it is now established that neither the shooting of the apple from the head of his son, nor the murder of the bailiff Gessler in the hollow way at Küssnacht can be in any way regarded as an historical event. It has been proved that among the Küssnacht bailiffs of that time there was no Gessler. The legend of the shooting of the apple occurs five times outside of the cantons, agreeing almost to the wording of the answer which the archer gives the tyrant: in Norway, in Iceland, in Denmark, in Holstein, and on the middle Rhine, and, with an altered motive, a sixth time in England. Hence it is tolerably certain that we have here to do with a common Germanic tradition. Moreover, the resemblance of the Swiss version to the elder narrative of Saxo Grammaticus (twelfth century) of the shot of Toko, the Dane, who is said to have lived in the tenth century, is so striking as to render it probable that the Swiss chroniclers had that historian before them.

Whether a man of the name of Tell ever lived in Uri is a question which cannot be answered with certainty either in the affirmative or the negative.³ It is one, moreover, which has but little interest when it is admitted that the main features of the legend are unhistorical. It is noteworthy that Tell, even in the legend, plays no part at all in the common insurrection, after the murder of the bailiff. It was not until later, when the Swiss had actually worked out their freedom, that his deed was invented, and surrounded by the halo of popular belief, his name made a symbol of Swiss energy and love of freedom. The Tell chapels and the memorial festivals are no proof that Tell was an historical personage, since the erection of the former and the establishment of the latter can be shown to date from a time when the tradition was already fully developed. The document concerning a public meeting of 1388, when more than a hundred people are said to have declared that they knew Tell, is evidently a later interpolation.

² The honor of having first used this fact after a true scientific fashion to disprove the tradition belongs to the Swiss historian Kopp (Urkunden zur Geschichte der eidgenössischen Bünde, 1835 and 1857; Reichsgeschichte, 1845-1858).

³ According to the investigations of Kopp, who examined all the archives in Uri, and Roohholz (p. 257, note), the latter is almost certainly the case.

1310. Henry's son, John, was placed on the throne of Bohemia by the national assembly, in spite of the claims of the Hapsburgers, whereby the Lützelburgers acquired a family power.

1310-1313. Henry's Roman expedition. He was crowned king of Italy in Pavia, and emperor in Rome (1312).

1314-1347. Ludwig of Upper Bavaria at war with 1314-1330. Frederic of Austria, son of Albert.

1315. Victory of the Swiss confederates in the pass between lake Nov. 15. Ageri and the mountain Morgarten over Leopold of Austria, Frederic's brother. The flower of the Austrian chivalry (1500 in number) slaughtered.

Dec. 9. Renewal of the league between Uri, Schwyz and Unterwalden at Brunnen.

1316. Recognition of the immediate dependence of the cantons upon the empire, by king Ludwig. During the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries the people generally bought off the ever diminishing rights of the landed monasteries. Rapid growth of the league of the confederates, which was joined by one after another of the remaining districts, who thus withdrew themselves from the control of the territorial lords. At the close of the fifteenth century Austria had been entirely driven out of the lands south of the Rhine. After 1340 no imperial bailiff is mentioned in the cantons, which in consequence of the weakness of the imperial power soon became republics, so that the proclamation of the independence of Switzerland in the Peace of Westphalia (1648) was only the legal recognition of a state of things which had long existed in fact.

1322. Battle at Ampfing near Mühldorf. Frederic of Austria defeated and captured (Schweppermann; the story is probably unhistoric).

1324. Ludwig gave the mark Brandenburg, which had reverted by the extinction of the Askanian line, to his son Ludwig, whom he afterwards married with Margaret Maultasch, the heiress of Tyrol and Carinthia.

1325. Frederic set at liberty upon renouncing his claim to the throne. He surrendered himself again as prisoner, was made co-regent by Ludwig, died 1330.

1327-1330. Ludwig's Roman expedition. Crowned emperor in Rome (Anti-pope Nicholas V.)

The Electoral meeting at Rense (1338) declared every legally elected German king to be thereby constituted Roman emperor, even without papal coronation.

The violent means adopted by Ludwig to increase his domestic power led, a year before his death, to the election of Charles, son of John, king of Bohemia († 1346 in the battle of Crécy). Charles was not universally recognized until after Ludwig's death.

1347-1437. Emperors of the Luxemburg — Bohemian line.

1347-1378. Charles IV.

A prince with nothing knightly in his character, but wise in statecraft, and shrewd in calculation; a scholar (he studied at Paris and Bologna, spoke and wrote Bohemian, German, Latin, French, Italian). War with the Bavarian party. In opposition to Ludwig there appeared in Brandenburg the false Waldemar (1348-1350), who was assisted by Charles.

The emperor's first care was his hereditary kingdom, Bohemia (whence he was styled by Maximilian I., "Bohemia's father, the Holy Roman Empire's arch-step-father"). The emperor in 1348 founded a university, after the pattern of that in Paris, at Prague, the first in Germany. The Bavarian party elected in opposition 1349. Günther of Schwarzburg, king of Germany, but he died in Jan. June of the same year (poisoned?).

Plague (Black Death) in Germany, and throughout nearly all Europe. Persecutions of the Jews. Flagellants.

1354-1355. Charles's first expedition to Rome. He was crowned emperor at Rome with a humiliating ceremony.

Silesia and Lower Lusatia (Niederlausitz) united with Bohemia.

1356. Golden Bull.¹ Fundamental law of the empire.

The election of the emperor was definitively intrusted to the seven electors, who had practically exercised this right for a long time;² three ecclesiastics: 1. Archbishop of Mainz (arch-chancellor of Germany); 2. Archbishop of Trier (arch-chancellor of Burgundy); 3. Archbishop of Cologne (arch-chancellor of Italy); four secular: 4. King of Bohemia (arch-seneschal); 5. Count Palatine of the Rhine (arch-steward); 6. Duke of Saxon-Wittenberg (arch-marshal); 7. Margrave of Brandenburg (arch-chamberlain). Establishment of the indivisibility and inalienableness of the electoral states, which were made hereditary in the male line and received certain regalia (privilegium de non appellando, etc.). The electoral vote went with the land.

¹ So called from the gold case which contained the seal.

² The electoral vote had been disputed between the two Saxon lines and the two lines of Wittelsbach. It was now assigned to Saxon-Wittenberg and the County Palatine, but refused to Saxon-Lauenburg and Bavaria.

1363. Austria acquired Tyrol. The heiress of Tyrol, Margaret Maultasch, who outlived her husband, the Bavarian Ludwig, elector of Brandenburg (p. 247), and her only son, Meinhard, gave her county after the latter's death to duke Rudolf of Austria.
1368. Second expedition of Charles to Italy in alliance with the Pope against the Visconti.
1373. By the treaty of Fürstenwalde, Otto the Finne (lazy), the last Bavarian margrave of Brandenburg, transferred the mark to Charles IV., in return for an annuity.

Leagues of the Cities.

The Hanseatic League. The union of several seaports and trading cities, between the Baltic and the Elbe, formed in the thirteenth century (between 1255 and 1262?), was the beginning of this league.¹ Separate alliance between Lübeck and Hamburg.

In the fourteenth century the league attained wide extent and great power. After this time the name Hansa (i. e. trade guild) was commonly applied to the league. Since 1350 over ninety cities extending from the mouth of the Schelde to Esthonia, besides many inland cities (e. g. Magdeburg, Berlin, Thorn), belonged to the Hansa. Object of the alliance: common defense, security of sea and land routes, settlement of disputes between members by arbitration, acquirement and maintenance of trading privileges in foreign countries. Capital of the league: Lübeck. Division of the league into three, afterwards four, quarters: 1. Prussian and Livonian; principal town, Dantzic; 2. Wendic, including also the cities of Mecklenburg, Pomerania, and the Marches; chief town, Lübeck; 3. Saxon; chief town, Brunswick; 4. Westphalian; chief town, Cologne. Principal trading ground, all northern Europe. Principal trading stations: Novgorod, Stockholm, Wisby (in Gothland), Bergen, Bruges, London. Ships of war (Orlogschiffe).

1361. War with Waldemar IV., king of Denmark, under the conduct of the burghermaster of Lübeck, John Wittenborg, who captured and plundered Copenhagen, but was afterwards defeated before Helsingborg, and, in consequence, beheaded at Lübeck.

1367-1370. Second war with Waldemar IV. The king compelled to fly. Copenhagen, Helsingör, and other cities conquered. A glorious and advantageous peace for the Hansa, concluded at Stralsund, ended the war.

The League of Rhine cities, founded about the middle of the thirteenth century (league of Worms and Mainz), to insure stricter enforcement of the public peace, comprised at various times more than seventy cities, not all upon the Rhine (e. g. Bremen, Regensburg, Nuremberg); both temporal and spiritual princes joined the league.

The Swabian city league concluded in 1376, particularly as a defense against the counts of Würtemberg. Eberhard the Greiner (i. e. Quarreler), also called Rauschebart. (Uhland's ballads.)

¹ Unions of German merchants in foreign countries under this name had long existed, the oldest being in London.

Associations of Nobles founded by members of the middle nobility, the imperial knights, particularly in Swabia, Franconia, and on the Rhine, to maintain their independence against the cities on the one hand and against the higher nobility, the princes of the empire, who were everywhere trying to acquire territorial sovereignty on the other. The princes of the empire were either spiritual (archbishops, three of whom were electors (p. 248), bishops, abbots), or secular (dukes, counts-palatine, margraves, burgraves). The following associations of nobles deserve mention: the Martinsvögel (named after the day of their union), the Schlegler, the Löwenbund.

1377. Beginning of the wars between the cities and the nobles.

Battle of Reutlingen. Brilliant victory of the Swabian league (Ulm, the capital) over Ulrich, son of Eberhard. The Swabian league recognized by the emperor.

1378. Death of Charles IV., after he had so divided his lands among his three sons that Wenzel received Bohemia and Silesia (Luxemburg fell to him afterwards also), Sigismund, the mark of Brandenburg, John, Lusatia. In Moravia two nephews of Charles, Prokop and Jobst, were margraves. The election to the German throne had already fallen upon 1378-1400. Wenzel, Charles IV.'s oldest son.

1381. The Swabian league united with that of the Rhine, and afterwards entered into alliance with a part of the Swiss confederacy.

1384. Wenzel proclaimed a new public peace, the so-called Heidelberger Stallung (Stallung = preserve of game, etc.), for four years, which, however, was broken after the king had returned to Bohemia.

Leopold of Austria, who, in the division of Hapsburg estates had received the western lands, attacked the Swiss confederacy in alliance with the south German nobility. In the 1386. Battle of Sempach (Arnold von Winkelried?),¹ he was defeated and lost his life. His second son, Leopold, renewed the war and was defeated in the 1388. Battle of Näfels, by the men of Glarus and Schwyz. The war with the cities broke out anew. Eberhard the Greiner defeated the Swabian cities at Döffingen, where his son Ulrich fell. Rupert, count Palatine, defeated the Rhine towns at Worms. These victories restored the superiority of the princes over the cities.

1389. New public peace for eight years proclaimed by Wenzel at the council of the princes at Eger.

Wenzel, who was hated in Bohemia for his cruelty and indolence, and had been several times made a prisoner in civil quarrels, was deposed by a section of the princes of the empire (1400). He died 1419 as king of Bohemia.

1400-1410. Rupert, Count Palatine, who was barely able to make the royal authority respected within his own party.

1401. Unsuccessful expedition to Italy. The German army was defeated at Brescia by John Galeazzo Visconti, whom Wenzel had appointed hereditary duke of Milan (1395).

1409. In consequence of the Hussite troubles (p. 252) in Prague and a change in the university statutes, all Germans, professors and students alike (5000 in number), left the university of Prague and went to Leipzig, where Frederic the Warlike of Meissen founded a university.

The council of Pisa, convened to restore papal unity (Pope Gregory XII., against Pope Benedict XIII.), elected Alexander V. as a third Pope, not having been able to induce the former two to abdicate.

1410-1437. Sigismund, brother of Wenzel, in right of his wife, daughter of Ludwig the Great, king of Hungary, margrave of Brandenburg since the death of Charles IV. Sigismund was at first elected by the votes of Trier, the County Palatine, and Brandenburg, whose vote he himself cast through his plenipotentiary Frederic, burgrave of Nuremberg. The other princes elected Jobst of Moravia († 1411). By the skillful management of his plenipotentiary, and the recognition of the successor of Alexander V., John XXIII., Sigismund gained the votes of the opposition at a second election, went to Italy, fought unsuccessfully with Venice and Milan, but induced Pope John XXIII., who was hard pressed by Naples, to summon an œcumenical council in German territory.

1414-1418. Council of Constance (Kostnitz).

At once a council of the empire and, in a certain way, a European congress, visited by Italian, German, French, English, and afterwards by Spanish prelates (5 patriarchs, 33 cardinals, 200 archbishops and bishops), and by numerous princes with imposing trains, so that at times there were as many as 80,000 strangers in the city.

The council had three objects: 1. Suppression of heresy (causa fidei). 2. Healing of the schism (causa unionis). 3. Reformation of the church (causa reformationis).¹

The party of reform secured the adoption of the plan of voting by nations, Germans, French, English, Italian, having each one common vote. Pope John XXIII., who appeared in person, was first induced to public abdication, but afterwards escaped to Schaffhausen with the help of Frederic, duke of Austria, who being put under the ban was forced to submit. Upon the motion of Gerson, chancellor of the University of Paris, the council proclaimed its superiority over the Pope, but proceeded to take up the causa fidei next. Condemnation of the doctrine of the Englishman Wiclif (1327-1384) (opposition to confession, transubstantiation, and absolution), and the chief missionary and developer of this doctrine, John Hus (a Bohemian of Czechish descent, born at Hussinec, 1369; 1398, professor; 1409, rector of the University of Prague ; since 1412 under the ban), who, relying upon a safe conduct from the emperor, had appeared in Constance. Hus burnt (July, 1415, his friend Hieronymus of Prague, 1416). After the execution of Hus, the causa unionis was again taken up. John XXIII. was deposed ; Gregory XII. abdicated voluntarily. Sigismund went to Spain to secure the abdication of Benedict XIII. During the long absence of the emperor, discussion of the causa reformationis. After Sigismund's return (1417) Benedict XIII. was deposed by the council.

It was now demanded by the party of reform that a thorough reform of the church in all its parts should precede the election of a new Pope ; the Ultramontanes (i. e. the Italians), reinforced by the Spaniards as a fifth nation, succeeded in bringing about an immediate election, so that the reform fell through. Martin V. elected Pope, Nov. 1417 (although with the condition : de fienda reformatione post electionem), dissolved the council 1418, as an agreement could not be reached. The three concordats which were concluded with the Germans, the English, and the Romans, brought about no real abolition of abuses.

At Constance in 1415 Sigismund invested Frederic burggrave of Nuremberg with the mark Brandenburg, the electoral vote, and the office of archchamberlain, as a reward for the important services he had done him (especially at his election), and the empire. The ceremony of investiture took place in 1417.¹

1423. After the extinction of the Askanian house, Sigismund invested Frederic the Warlike, of the house of Wettin, margrave of Meissen, with the electoral duchy of Saxony (Wittenberg).

1419-1436. Hussite War.

Terrible indignation of the Bohemians at the execution of Hus. His followers, the Hussites, also called Utraquists, because they demanded communion in both kinds, bread and wine (sub utraque specie), for the laity as well as for the clergy, attempted to spread their doctrine, which the council had rejected, by force. Revolt in Prague. Ziska leader of the Hussites. After the death of king Wenzel (1419), Sigismund was heir to the Bohemian throne. He was crowned in Prague, but was soon obliged to leave the country. The imperial troops were driven back as they entered Bohemia (1421). Sigismund was disgracefully defeated (1422) at Deutsch-Brod. The Hussites ravaged the neighboring countries (skillful use of gunpowder and clumsy cannon ; ramparts of wagons). The council of Basel (1431-1449) concluded a treaty with the moderate Hussites (Calixtinians), (compact of Prague 1433) ; the Taborites, whose leaders (the two Prokops) fell in battle, were defeated and annihilated at Böhmisch-Brod (1434).

1420-1460. Epoch of the greatest power of the secret tribunals of Westphalia (Vehmgerichte).

1438-1740. Emperors of the House of Hapsburg.

1438-1439. Albert II., son-in-law of Sigismund, whom he succeeded in Bohemia and Hungary as well, died after returning from an expedition against the Turks.

1440-1493. Frederic III. (IV.),¹ cousin of Albert.

the last emperor who was crowned in Rome (1452). He was powerless both in Germany and in his own lands, and involved in war with his brothers.

Aeneas Silvius Piccolomini (when Pope, Pius II.), his adviser. Civil war in Switzerland; Zürich allied with Austria (1440-1446). The troops of Zürich defeated by the confederates. Zürich besieged. At the request of Frederic, Charles VII. of France sent the Dauphin (afterwards Louis XI.), with the unbridled bands of the Armagnacs, against Basel, to raise the siege of Zürich. Heroic death of 1600 Confederates at St. Jacob (1444). Peace with France. Since their victory at Ragaz (1446) over the German troops, the Swiss confederacy was practically independent. Native kings elected in Hungary and Bohemia (1457) whom Frederic was obliged to recognize.

The reforms resolved upon in the Council of Basel (1431-1449) were abandoned by the Concordat of Vienna concluded with Pop Eugenius IV. (1446).

About 1450 John Gutenberg² practised (at Mainz) the art of printing. (Johann Fust, Peter Schöffer).

Frederic, obliged to give up parts of the duchy of Austria to his brother and his cousin, besieged by them in Vienna, and released by George Podiebrad, king of Bohemia (1462).

The marriage of Frederic's son, archduke Maximilian, with Mary, daughter and heiress of Charles the Bold, duke of Burgundy († 1477), caused several wars with France, and, after the death of Mary (1482), with the revolted Netherlands. Maximilian, however, succeeded in keeping the Burgundian inheritance for his son by Mary, the archduke Philip. Only the duchy of Burgundy (la Bourgogne, capital Dijon), fell to France.

Frederic III., involved in a war with Matthias Corvinus, king of Hungary, was driven out of Austria and restored by Maximilian (only after the death of Corvinus, 1490). Maximilian, after the extinction of a branch line, received Tyrol, which the house of Hapsburg had acquired in 1363 (p. 249), and at Frederic's death was in possession of all the Austrian lands. (See p. 300.)

² His family name was Gensfleisch; the name Gutenberg was that of his mother's patrician family. The claim brought forward in the Netherlands that Lorenz Jansson (Coster) in Haarlem was the true inventor of printing (1423) has been proved by Van der Linde to rest upon a forgery. His investigations assign Fust and especially Schöffer a much less important position than has been commonly attributed to them.

§ 2. FRANCE.

(See p. 227.)

1270-1285. Philip III., le Hardi, the Rash. A quiet reign whose troubles were mostly from outside. Sicilian Vespers (p. 226). Philip married his son, 1285-1314. Philip IV., le Bel, the Fair, with Johanna, heiress of Navarre.

Systematic introduction and development of the Civil (Roman) Law. Increased importance of parliament, from which ecclesiastics were removed in 1287; in 1302 it was fixed at Paris. (The French parliament was a court, not a legislature).

Agreement between Philip and Edward I., of England, Edward renouncing his claims upon Normandy and receiving from Philip 10,000 livres and a guarantee of non-forfeiture for the rest of his French fiefs.

1292-1293. Conflicts between English and Norman sailors; sack of La Rochelle. Edward I. of England, summoned before the court of his suzerain, sent instead his brother, earl of Lancaster, who surrendered Guienne to Philip as security for a satisfactory arrangement. Philip, hereupon, declared Edward's fiefs forfeited, by reason of his non-appearance.

1294-1297. War between France and England, carried on in Gascony and in Flanders, Philip being successful in both fields.

1299, June 19. Peace was concluded between France and England at Montreuil-sur-Mer, on the basis of present possession as regarded territory. Marriage of Edward I. and Margaret, sister of Philip IV. (see below).

1296-1304. Quarrel with Pope Boniface VIII. The strife originated in the king's need of money, owing to the growing centralization of government, which led him to tax ecclesiastical property. Bull, "Clericis laicos," forbidding the clergy to pay taxes to the secular government without consent of the Pope (1296). Philip replied by an ordinance prohibiting the exportation of money or valuables from the kingdom without the king's permission. From these extreme positions the princes gradually retreated until a reconciliation was patched up. As a private man the Pope became arbitrator between Philip and Edward, and secured two thirds of Aquitaine to France, which was, however, again transferred to England by a marriage treaty, wherein Edward was betrothed to Philip's sister Margaret, and his son, Edward (II.) to Philip's daughter Isabelle. Flanders annexed to France.

The quarrel between the king and the Pope broke out afresh in 1301. The bull "Ausculta fili," wherein the Pope asserted his supremacy over all kings, was burned by Philip's order. Remonstrance of the estates of France with the Pope (1302).

Revolt of Flanders. The French army of feudal barons was totally defeated by Flemish citizens in the 1302. July 1. Battle of Courtrai (Day of the Spurs).

Four thousand gilt spurs were captured by the victors. So many fiefs were vacated that Philip saw the royal power considerably strengthened.

Publication of the decretal "Unam Sanctam" (Nov. 18, 1302) claiming the supremacy of the spiritual power over the temporal; this was followed by a threat of excommunication. In France the last bull was seized, and violent measures taken against the Pope. On Sept. 7, 1303, Boniface VIII. was seized at Anagni by the king's adviser, Nogeret, and Sciarra Colonna, and treated with indignity. He was shortly released by a popular uprising, but finding Rome on his return in French hands, fell ill and died.

Philip recognized the independence of Flanders (1305, June 5).

Execution of the grand master, Jacques de Molai, confiscation of the lands of the templars. Annexation of Lyons, hitherto independent through the very number of her claimants, to France (1312). Death of Philip, Nov. 29, 1314.

1314-1316. Louis X. le Hutin, the Quarrelsome, through his mother heir of Navarre. His uncle, Charles of Valois, was the true ruler. Execution of Philip's minister, De Marigni. Serfs permitted to purchase their freedom. (Comme selon le droit de nature chacun doit naistre franc). Louis died June 5, 1316. His brother was appointed regent for the queen, who was with child. On the death of the queen's son, soon after birth, Philip proclaimed himself king, and to put aside the claims of Jeanne, daughter of Louis X., he decreed that on the basis of ancient Frankish law,¹ no female could succeed to the throne of France (the Salic law).

1316-1322. Philip V. le Long, the Tall,

Excesses of the Pastoureaux suppressed by force. Attacks upon the lepers and the Jews.

Acquisition of Douay, Orchies, Ryssel from Flanders. Philip died Jan. 3, 1322, and was succeeded by his brother, 1322-1328. Charles IV., the Fair,

Died January 31, 1328, without male issue. Jeanne, daughter of Louis X., received Navarre. In France, according to the Salic law, the 1328-1498 (1589). House of Valois, a younger line of the Capets, succeeded.

1328-1350. Philip VI., nephew of Philip IV.

Philip was the choice of the feudal barons, who had regained somewhat of their old power since the death of Philip the Fair, but his tyranny alienated his vassals, while his oppressive exactions hampered trade and deprived him of the hearty support of the cities. Quarrel with Edward III. of England, springing out of the claim of the English sovereign to the French crown through his mother, Isabelle, daughter of Philip IV. (see the genealogy). Alliance with Scotland. Outbreak of the 1339-1453. Hundred years War between France and England. (Froissart 1337-1410 (?), chronicler of the war.)

1346. Battle of Crécy, in Picardy.

August 26. Victory of the English. Use of cannon (?). Death of the blind king, John of Bohemia, the father of Charles IV.¹

1347. Capture of Calais (story of the intercession of Queen Philippa)

1347-1349. Black Death in France.

Acquisition of Montpellier from James of Arragon, and of the Dauphiné of Vienne from the last Dauphin, Humbert II. (who went into a monastery) by purchase. Vienne was given to Charles, son of John of Normandy, grandson of Philip. He took the title of Dauphin, and on his accession to the throne decreed that the Dauphiné should never be united with the crown. Hence Dauphin became the title of the heir of the French crown.

Origin of the practice of selling offices and titles. First imposition of the gabelle, a tax in the form of control of all salt works by the government. Death of Philip, Aug. 22, 1350; he was followed by his son, 1357-1358. Insurrection of the bourgeoisie of Paris, led by Etienne Marcel, the provost of the traders (prévôt des marchands), who entered into treasonable connection with Charles the Bad, king of Navarre. Meeting of the estates; abolition of abuses. Truce with England for two years. Murder of the marshalls of Champagne and Normandy in the regent's presence, by order of Marcel. The government in the hands of Marcel and a committee of thirty-six.

1363. Burgundy occupied by John on the death of the queen and her son by her former marriage, Philip, duke of Burgundy, passing over the claim of Charles of Navarre. The duchy was given to the king's son, Philip the Bold, founder of the Burgundian branch line of Valois. By his marriage with the heiress of Flanders, the new duke laid the foundation of the power of the house of Burgundy in the Netherlands. Return of John to captivity. He died April 8, 1364, and was followed by his son, 1364-1380. Charles V., le Sage, the Wise.

In the war between Peter the Cruel, of Castile, and his brother, Henry of Trastamara, Charles favored the latter, while the former was allied with the Black Prince. Expelled by Bertrand du Guesclin, Pedro was restored by the Black Prince (Battle of Najara, 1367). In 1369 Pedro was killed in personal combat with his brother. Reform of the coinage in France.

1380–1422. Charles VI., then eleven years old.

Quarrels of his uncles, the dukes of Anjou, of Burgundy, of Bourbon, and of Berry.

1386. Threatened invasion of England comes to naught. Revolt in Ghent under Philip van Artevelde. Crushed by Charles (De Clisson, constable) at the battle of Roosebec (1382); slaughter of the Flemings. Death of Van Artevelde.

John's son, Philip, hereupon concluded, with the consent of the queen, the Treaty of Troyes with the English (1420). Henry V. married Catharine, daughter of Charles VI., and became regent and heir of France.

Under John the Fearless (1371–1419) and his son, Philip the Good (1396–1467), the house of Burgundy reached the summit of its power. Philip made himself master of the inheritance of Jacqueline, daughter of William, count of Holland, although the emperor, Sigismund, had declared her lands to be vacant fiefs of the empire. Death of Henry V. of England (at Vincennes, Aug. 31, 1422), and of Charles VI. of France (Oct. 21, 1422). The latter was succeeded by his son, 1429. Jeanne d'Arc (more properly, Darc), born in Domremy, on the left bank of the Meuse, convinced that she was chosen by Heaven to be the deliverer of France, succeeded in obtaining from the king permission to relieve Orléans, the accomplishment of which feat (April 29–May 8) earned for her the name Maid of Orléans (La Pucelle). The English driven back. Charles VII. crowned at Rheims. Intrigues against Jeanne at the French court. Captured by the Burgundians at Compiègne (1430), she was delivered to the English, and, after a mock trial, condemned for sorcery, and burnt in Rouen (1431).

1435. The duke of Burgundy recognized Charles VII., on condition of receiving Auxerre, Macon, Peronne, Montdidier, and the towns on the Somme, and being released from feudal homage. Death of the duke of Bedford.

1436–1449. Period of inaction, utilized by Charles VII., for the introduction of reforms: establishment of a permanent tax to be levied by the king without the coöperation of the estates; abolition of the “free companies,” and institution of regular companies, the beginning of standing armies (ordinance of Orleans, 1439).

1449–1461. Renewal of the war. After some fluctuations of fortune (Talbot in Guyenne; his death, 1453) the English lost all their possessions in France except Calais.

1453. Fall of Constantinople. End of the Eastern Empire. Introduction of Grecian scholars and Grecian writers into Europe (p. 278). Death of Charles VII., July 22, 1461. He was succeeded by his son, who by his shrewdness and perfidy annihilated the power of the great barons and laid the foundation of absolute monarchy.

Revocation of the Pragmatic Sanction of Charles VII. (issued in 1438 by the council of Bourges: declaration of the rights of the Gallican church; limitation of the power of the papacy in France; appeals to Rome forbidden).

1462. Acquisition of Roussillon and Cerdagne by mortgage. Redemption of Amiens, Abbeville and St. Quentin from Burgundy.

1464. League of the Public Weal (Ligue du bien publique), a conspiracy of the dukes of Brittany, Bourbon, Lorraine, Alençon, Berry, and the count of Charolois. Battle of Montlhéry. Louis broke up the league by the concessions of the treaty of Conflans (restoration of the towns on the Somme, Normandy granted to the duke of Berry), the execution of which he evaded. Death of Philip of Burgundy; accession of his son Charles the Bold (le Téméraire). Conflict between the duke and the king. Meeting at Peronne (Oct. 1468). Storm of Liège.

§ 3. ITALY.

Milan: since the time of the emperor Henry VII. (1308–1313) under the Visconti as imperial viceroys; since 1395 as dukes. After the extinction of the line of the Visconti (1447) Milan became for a short time a republic. The condottieri Francesco Sforza, husband of a daughter of the last Visconti, who served in the pay of Milan, soon seized the power and became duke of Milan (1450).

Venice: since 697 one state under a doge (dux); from about 1000 A. D., ruler of the Adriatic, increased in power and influence throughout the period of the crusades. Participation in the so-called fourth crusade (p. 216), under the doge Henry Dandolo, then ninety-four years of age. After the crusades and the war with Genoa, which lasted 125 years, Venice was mistress of the Mediterranean and the trade with the East, during the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Acquisition of Corfu 1387, of Cyprus by gift of Catharine Cornaro, 1489. The republic at the height of its power in the first half of the fifteenth century. Constitution strictly oligarchical. 1172. Establishment of the Great Council, with 450–500 members, followed by that of the Small Council (Signoria), which limited the power of the doges still more. 1298. Closing of the Great Council. Golden book of the nobility (1315). Conspiracies — among others that of the doge Marino Faliero (executed in 1355) — led to the creation of the powerful Council of Ten. Since 1439 the three terrible state inquisitors.

Genoa, since the reëstablishment of the Greek empire in the East a powerful state, especially since the final victory over Pisa in Italy (Sardinia and Corsica); weakened by the war with Venice and by civil disturbances in the second half of the fifteenth century; subjected now to Milan, now to France.

In Florence, after long civil contests, democracy and tyranny having ruined the city in turn since 1282, the family of Medici acquired princely rank, about 1400, and brought the city to its highest point of power. Giovanni de' Medici, a rich banker, founder of the power of his family. His son, Cosimo (Cosmus), the father of his country (died 1464). Under his grandson, Lorenzo (died 1492), development of the arts in Florence. Renovation of the sciences, advanced by Grecian scholars, who had fled from the Eastern Empire before the Turks. Dante Alighieri, author of the "Divine Comedy," born 1265, at Florence, where he played an important part in the political complications, banished 1302, died at Ravenna, September 14, 1321. Francesco Petrarca, the "father of the revival of learning" (1304-1374). Giovanni Boccaccio (1313-1375), author of the "Decamerone."

The Papal States, founded by the presents of Pipin and Charles the Great (p. 184); in the twelfth century increased by the bequest of the countess Matilda of Tuscany (p. 200) and other acquisitions; since Innocent III. completely independent of the empire. Pope Boniface VIII. (1294-1303) at variance with Philip IV. of France (p. 254). His successor, Clement V. (a Frenchman), transferred the papal residence to Avignon. Residence of the Popes at

At Rome the visionary tribune Cola di Rienzi (1347, papal senator 1354). Comtat Venaissin in the thirteenth century, Avignon in the fourteenth century, became the property of the papacy.

From 1378 on there was one Pope at Rome, elected by the Italian cardinals, and one at Avignon, elected by the French cardinals, to which number the Council of Pisa (1409) added a third, until the Council of Constance restored the unity of the church (p. 251). (Great Schism, 1378-1417.)

At Naples, the house of Anjou: the elder line until 1382 (death of Queen Joan I.); the younger (Durazzo) until 1435 (death of Joan II.). (See the genealogy, p. 261.)

Sicily, 1282-1295 united with Aragon; 1295-1409 under a branch of the house of Aragon; after 1409 again united with Aragon, whose king, Alphonso V. (1416-1458), conquered Naples in 1435. After his death (1458), Naples, but not Sicily, descended to his natural son (Ferdinand I.) and his successors (—1501). (See p. 326.)

§ 4. ENGLAND.

(See p. 235.)

1272-1307. Edward I., Longshanks.

The great events of this reign were the annexation of Wales to England and the introduction of financial, legal, and legislative reforms.

Edward was returning from the (seventh) Crusade, when he heard of his accession at Capua. Devoting a year to Gascony, he reached England and was crowned in 1274.

During the barons' wars Wales had become practically independent, and Llewelyn, prince of North Wales, refused even nominal submission to Edward until 1276-1284. Conquest of Wales.

1277. Edward led an army into Wales, and forced the prince to cede the coast district as far as Conway, and do homage for the rest.

1282. Insurrection of Llewelyn and his brother David. After hard fighting, the death of Llewelyn (Dec., 1282) and the capture of David (hanged, drawn, and quartered, Sept. 1283) led to the complete submission of the country. (No "Massacre of the Bards.") 1284. Annexation of Wales to England. After this the title "Prince of Wales" was generally given to the heir of the crown.

1289. Return of the king from a three years' absence in Gascony ; punishment of the oppressive judges.

1290. Expulsion of the Jews from England (over 16,000).

1291. Death of the queen, Eleanor (daughter of Ferdinand III. of Castile). Erection of crosses along the route by which the body was carried from Lincolnshire to London ; those at Northampton and Waltham still exist.

1292. Baliol, whom Edward had decided to be the rightful heir to the Scottish throne, did homage for the fief and became king of Scotland.

After the death of Alexander III. of Scotland the crown passed to his granddaughter Margaret, the Maid of Norway, to whom Edward had betrothed his son ; but she died on the voyage from Norway (1290), and thirteen claimants for the crown appeared. The Scottish estates being unable to decide between the two strongest claimants, Baliol and Bruce, referred the case to Edward. (See the genealogy.)

1293. Hostilities between English sailors from the Cinque Ports (Dover, Sandwich, Hastings, Hythe, Romney)¹ and French mariners resulted in a naval battle. Philip IV. of France summoned Edward to Paris to answer for the occurrence. As a step in the negotiations the fortresses of Guyenne were temporarily placed in Philip's hands, whereupon he declared Edward contumacious and his fiefs forfeited.

1294. Rebellion of Madoc in Wales suppressed.

1294. War with France followed by war with Scotland, which joined France.

1296. Capture of Berwick ; massacre of the inhabitants. Defeat of the Scots at Dunbar. Baliol resigned the crown and was imprisoned. Scotch coronation stone carried to London. Scotland under an English regent.

Edward's demands for money from the clergy being refused (bull Clericis laicos, 1296), the recalcitrant clergy were placed under the ban.

In 1297 the king summoned the barons to follow him to Flanders. The resistance of the lords ended with the acquiescence of the king in the 1297. Re-issue of the Great Charter and the forest charter (Confirmatio chartarum) with additional articles, by which the right of taxation without the consent of Parliament was renounced (1301).

1298. Truce with France enabled Edward to invade Scotland. At the

the Scots under Wallace were completely defeated. Appeal to the Pope, who laid claim to the suzerainty over Scotland, — a claim which was rejected by the English lords in 1301.

1303. Peace of Amiens with France. Edward had previously married Margaret, sister of Philip IV., and betrothed his son Edward to Philip's daughter Isabella. Invasion of Scotland. Submission of Bruce and Comyn.

1305. Execution of Wallace, who had been betrayed to the English.

1306. Opposing claims of Bruce and Comyn; murder of Comyn, coronation of Robert Bruce (March 27).

- 1307, July 7. Death of Edward I., on his way to Scotland.

Legal and Legislative reforms under Edward.

1275. First statute of Westminster: a codification of previous statutes. Grant of a regular tax on exported wool, and of a fifteenth of movable property. These forms of taxation, the indirect customs duties, and the taxation of personal estate were intended to supplement the older land tax, which they gradually surpassed in importance.

Separation of the old king's court into three tribunals: Court of Exchequer, for cases where the royal revenue was involved; Court of King's Bench, with jurisdiction in all matters concerning the sovereign, and in criminal cases especially reserved for his decision ("pleas of the crown"); Court of Common Pleas, for cases between private individuals.

Development of the jurisdiction of: 1. the royal council (later the "Star Chamber"); 2. of the Chancellor, in cases where relief could not be obtained by the ordinary or "common" law. This higher jurisdiction emanating directly from the sovereign was known as equity.

1279. Statute of Mortmain (de religiosis), forbidding the alienation of land to religious bodies (whereby it became free from feudal dues) without the permission of the king.

- 1285. Statute of Winchester, regulating the militia and the preservation of public order. Conservators of the Peace (later called Justices of the Peace) appointed in every shire to execute the provisions of the statute. Second Statute of Westminster, amending the Statute of Mortmain.
- 1290. Third Statute of Westminster (Quia emptores), providing that when land was alienated the sub-tenant should hold directly of the overlord, and not of the tenant.
- 1295. Summons of the first perfect Parliament; clergy, barons summoned severally by special writ; commons summoned by writ to the sheriffs directing the election of two knights from each shire, two citizens from each city, two burghers from each borough.

1307–1327. Edward II.,

fourth son of Edward I. Peace with Scotland; Aymer de Valence, governor. Recall of the king's favorite, Piers Gaveston, a Gascon, who had been banished by Edward I. Marriage of Edward II. with Isabella of France. Gaveston soon incurred the hatred of the barons, and he was banished (1308), soon, however, to be recalled.

1310. Government entrusted to twenty-one ordainers.

1311. Ordinances of the Parliament of 1311 presented by the ordainers. Reform of abuses; punishment of favorites; appointment of great officers by and with the consent and approval of the barons; consent of the barons necessary for declaration of war; parliaments to be called every year. Execution of Gaveston (1312).

The successes of Bruce in Scotland (capture of Linlithgow, 1311; Perth, 1312; Edinburgh, 1313; siege of Stirling, 1314) produced a temporary reconciliation between the king and the barons. Edward marched to Scotland with 100,000 men, and in the 1314. Battle of Bannockburn,

June 24. was totally defeated by 30,000 foot-soldiers under Robert Bruce.

The king's new favorites, the two Despensers, father and son, were as displeasing to the nobility as Gaveston had been; in 1321 Parliament decreed the exile of the favorites. Edward showed unexpected energy; at the battle of Boroughbridge, the earl of Lancaster, the leader of the barons, was defeated and captured (executed March, 1322). Repeal of the ordinances of 1311. After an unsuccessful invasion of Scotland, 1323. Edward concluded peace for thirteen years with Bruce, whose assumption of the royal title was passed over in silence.

Isabella, sent to France in 1325 to treat with Charles IV., concerning the English fiefs in France, intrigued with Roger Mortimer and other hostile barons, and in 1326 landed in England. Capture of Bristol; execution of the Despensers; imprisonment of the king.

1327. Deposition of Edward II., in parliament; accession of his son, Edward. Edward, imprisoned in Berkeley Castle, was there murdered, Sept. 21, 1327.

1330. Edward took the government into his own hands. Execution of Mortimer. Imprisonment of the queen-mother.

The death of Robert Bruce (1329) was followed by civil war in Scotland, during which Edward Baliol seized the crown; Bruce's infant son, David, fled to France. Baliol did homage to Edward, which induced a revolt of the Scottish nobles; Baliol driven over the border. Edward hastened north; defeat of the Scots in the 1333. Battle of Halidon Hill, near Berwick (henceforward this town belonged to England). Baliol restored to the Scottish throne. Scotland south of the Forth ceded to England, and homage rendered for the remainder. Alliance between the patriotic party in Scotland and France.

1337. War with France (the Hundred Years' War). Edward claimed the French crown in right of his mother (see p. 257).

1341. Completion of the separation of parliament into an Upper House (Lords), composed of the nobility, and a Lower House (Commons), composed of the representatives of boroughs and the knights of shires. The process of separation had begun as far back as the reign of Edward I.

The responsibility of ministers established by act of parliament (revoked by the king in the same year).

1342. David Bruce returned to Scotland and recovered the throne. Scotland henceforward independent.

1346. Battle of Neville's Cross, near Durham; defeat of the Scots; capture of David II., who was retained in captivity until 1357. Battle of Crécy, p. 257.

- 1348-49. Black Death in England; more than a half of the population perished. As the visitations of the plague were especially heavy among the lower classes, a scarcity of labor and rise of wages followed, which led to the passing of the Statute of Laborers, regulating wages. In the next year (1350) laborers were forbidden to leave their own parish.

1356. Edward invaded and ravaged Scotland, but won no lasting success. Battle of Poitiers, p. 258. In 1357 David II. was ransomed.

1360. Peace of Bretigny (p. 258). Renunciation of the French crown and of Normandy, Anjou, Maine, Touraine. Cession in full sovereignty to England of Aquitaine (Gascony, Guyenne, Poitou, Saintonge, the Limousin, the Angoumois, Perigord, Bigorre, Rouergue), Ponthieu, Guisnes, Calais.

1376. The Good Parliament. Opposition of William of Wykeham and Peter de la Mare (Speaker of the Commons) to John of Gaunt. Punishment of favorites, reformation of the arbitrary royal council (Concilium Ordinarium). After the dissolution of the parliament John of Gaunt disregarded its enactments ; to William of Wykeham he opposed John Wiclif (1327-1384), who taught that the property of the clergy was at the disposal of the crown.

1377, June 20. Death of Edward III.

During this reign the crime of treason was defined by the Statute of Treason (1351); transfer of a suit to foreign courts was prohibited (1353, future Statute of Præmunire); Parliament acquired the power of impeachment; trial by jury assumed a more modern form (separation of the old jury into a jury proper, and witnesses); a poll-tax was introduced (1377); English was directed to be used in courts of law (1361). In Ireland, the Statute of Kilkenny (1367) prohibited intermarriage of the English and Irish, and supplanted the native language and customs by English.

1377-1399. Richard II.,

son of the Black Prince, twelve years old. The king was in the hands of Parliament, and his uncles, the dukes of Lancaster (John of Gaunt), York, and Gloucester, were excluded from the regency. The war with France and Scotland requiring money, a poll-tax was assessed in 1379, and again in 1380.

1381. Revolt of the peasants under John Ball and Wat Tyler; capture of London ; burning of the duke of Lancaster's palace, the Savoy. Wat Tyler killed by Walworth, mayor of London. Suppression of the revolt. Disregard of the charter abolishing serfdom, which Richard had at first granted. Villenage was, however, doomed.

1398. Quarrel between Hereford and Norfolk. The king forbade their combat, and banished Norfolk for life, Hereford for six years.

Richard made an expedition to Ireland, where the isolation of the English who were settled within the conquered district, the so-called English Pale (Drogheda, Dublin, Wexford, Waterford, Cork) had rendered them almost independent of England. During his absence 1399. Henry Bolingbroke, since the death of his father, duke of Lancaster, landed in England. Richard returned from Ireland, only to be captured, deposed, and imprisoned in the castle of Pontefract (murdered ?).

1402. A Scottish inroad under the earl of Douglas defeated at Homildon Hill. Capture of Douglas.

As Henry refused to allow the ransom of Edmund Mortimer (he being the uncle of the young earl of March, the true heir to the crown), a conspiracy was formed against him by Harry Percy (Hotspur), brother-in-law of Mortimer, to whose family the king was largely indebted for his throne, who induced his father, the earl of Northumberland, and his uncle, the earl of Worcester, to join with himself, Glendower, and Douglas, and take up arms. In the Death of Henry at Vincennes, August 31, 1422.

Use of English in the House of Commons. Sir Richard Whittington, thrice lord mayor of London.

1422–1461. Henry VI., Windsor.

Not quite nine months old at his father's death. Parliament refused to appoint a regency, and named the king's uncle, duke of Gloucester, protector, in the absence of his brother, the duke of Bedford, who was regent in France.

1423. Liberation of James I. of Scotland, after the conclusion of an agreement with the English not to assist one another's enemies.

1422–1453. War in France. Expulsion of the English. (Joan of Arc.) See p. 260.

1437. James I. of Scotland murdered by the earl of Athol and Robert Grahame.

1445. Marriage of Henry VI. with Margaret, daughter of René, titular king of Naples and Jerusalem. Henry promised to restore to René his hereditary lands of Anjou and Maine. This marriage was the work of William de la Pole, earl of Suffolk (soon made a duke), whose influence at court surpassed that of the earlier adviser, Cardinal Beaufort (died 1447). Arrest and suspicious death of the duke of Gloucester. The loss of Normandy was followed by the impeachment of Suffolk, who was banished by Henry, but seized at sea and put to death (1450).

1450. Rebellion of Jack Cade ("Mortimer").

The insurgents occupied London and murdered Lord Say, one of the ministers. The rebellion was soon suppressed, and Cade, while in hiding, was killed by Alexander Iden.

The government now passed into the hands of Richard, duke of York, grandson of the fifth son of Edward III., son of Anna Morti- mer, heiress of the claims of the third line, who returned to England from Ireland ; his power, however, was not enough to oust his rival, the duke of Somerset, grandson of John of Gaunt, and in 1452 he was induced to dismiss his army, and then forced to swear allegiance.

1452. James II. of Scotland murdered William, earl of Douglas ; defection of the Douglasses to England.

1453. Battle of Castillon in France. Death of Talbot, earl of Shrewsbury. Surrender of Bordeaux. Of all the English possessions in France Calais alone was left in their hands.

1453. Birth of Prince Edward, son of Henry VI. Insanity of Henry. The duke of York protector. Imprisonment of Somerset. The recovery of the king in 1454 was followed by the restoration of Somerset to power.

The duke of York, the earls of Salisbury and Warwick, now took up arms against Henry and his advisers.

1455-1485. Wars of the Red Rose of Lancaster and the White Rose of York (see the genealogical table).

1455. Battle of St. Albans. York victorious. Death of Somerset May 22. set ; capture of Henry. A hollow reconciliation (1458) was followed by a new resort to arms. At the battle of Bloreheath (Sept. 23, 1459), the Lancastrians were defeated. The victory was a barren one for York ; defection in his army caused him to abandon the contest and retire to Ireland. Flight of Yorkist leaders. York and his party attainted of treason by the Parliament of Coventry.

1460. Landing of the earls of Salisbury, March (afterwards Edward IV.), and Warwick, in England. In the 1460. Battle of Northampton, July 10. the Lancastrians were defeated ; capture of Henry ; flight of Margaret and her son to Scotland. The duke of York entered London and preferred his claim to the crown. Parliament decided that he should succeed Henry.

1460. Battle of Wakefield.

Dec. 30. Defeat of York by the queen and Prince Edward. York fell on the field, the earl of Salisbury and the earl of Rutland, son of York, were killed.

1461. Battle of Mortimer's Cross, near Hereford. Defeat of the Feb. 2. Lancastrians by the son of the duke of York, Edward, earl of March (now duke of York).

Feb. 17. Second Battle of St. Albans.

Defeat of the Yorkists under Warwick. Release of Henry. The earl of March, however, came to the rescue, joined the remnants of Warwick's army with his own, and entered London, where he was proclaimed king by acclamation, March 3, 1461.

1461-1485. House of York (branch line of the house of Plantagenet).

1461-1483. Edward IV.

The early part of his reign was disturbed by constant attempts of the Lancastrians to overthrow the new dynasty.

1461, March 27. Battle of Ferry Bridge. Defeat of the Lancastrians.

March 29. Battle of Towton. After a most obstinate fight Edward and Warwick prevailed, and the Lancastrians were totally defeated (said to have lost 28,000 men).

Edward was crowned (June 28), and his brothers, George and Richard, were created dukes (Clarence and Gloucester). In 1462 Margaret obtained assistance from France, and made two attempts to retrieve the Lancastrian cause, but both were unsuccessful. Henry retired to Wales; Margaret to Lorraine. A final uprising of the Lancastrians was crushed at Hedgeley Moor and at Hexham (1464).

1464. Secret marriage of Edward with Elizabeth Grey, daughter of Richard Woodville, baron Rivers, and widow of Sir John Grey, a Lancastrian. This marriage and the advancement conferred on the family of the new queen much exasperated the earl of Warwick and the other Yorkists. The dissatisfaction of Warwick was increased by the marriage of Edward's sister Margaret with the duke of Burgundy, and he intrigued with the duke of Clarence, giving him his daughter in marriage and promising him the crown. Revolt of William of Rydesdale in 1469. Execution of the queen's father, Earl Rivers. Edward became reconciled with Warwick, but a victory over the insurgents at Stamford ("Loose-coat Field") (1470) so strengthened the king that he proclaimed Warwick and Clarence traitors, and they fled to France. Reconciliation of Warwick and Margaret.

1470. Warwick landed in England, occupied London, and proclaimed Henry (who had been imprisoned since 1465) king. Edward fled to Burgundy, but returning with assistance was well received, and joined by Clarence. Re-imprisonment of Henry.

1471, April 4. Battle of Barnet.

The Lancastrians under Warwick (the king-maker) totally defeated.

May 4. Battle of Tewksbury.

Defeat of Margaret, who was captured; murder of her son Edward. Henry VI. died in the Tower May 22, the day when Edward IV. reëntered London.

1475. Invasion of France by Edward, who, in connivance with the duke of Burgundy, claimed the French crown. Subscriptions supposed to be voluntary (benevolences), without consent of Parliament, now first introduced to raise money for this invasion. The war was ended without a battle by the Peace of Pequigny (1475). Truce for seven years; payment of a large annual sum to England; ransom of Margaret; betrothal of the dauphin to Edward's eldest daughter, Elizabeth.

1478. Trial and condemnation of Clarence for treason. He was executed in the Tower. (Popular report that he was drowned in a butt of malmsey.)

1480. War with Scotland, which was ended by the Treaty of Fotheringay, wherein Berwick was surrendered to the English.

As Louis XI. now refused to consent to the marriage of the dauphin with Edward's daughter, as arranged at the treaty of Pequigny, Edward resolved on war, but died suddenly, April 9, 1483.

1483. April–June. Edward V.

Richard, duke of Gloucester, regent for the thirteen-year-old king. The king and his brother, duke of York, confined in the Tower. Richard created protector. Execution of Lord Hastings. Gloucester advanced a claim to the crown, based on the asserted invalidity of Edward III.'s marriage with Elizabeth Woodville. The claim being admitted by Parliament, Richard accepted the crown (June 26).

1483–1485. Richard III.

The new king began his reign by a progress in the north. Murder of the two princes in the Tower (Tyrell and Dighton). The Duke of Buckingham (to whose services Richard largely owed the crown), headed an insurrection in favor of Henry, earl of Richmond (great-great-grandson of John of Gaunt). Execution of Buckingham. Return of Richmond to France without landing.

1484. Confirmation of Richard's title by Parliament.

In 1485 Richmond made another attempt, landed at Milford Haven, and completely defeated Richard in the 1485. Battle of Bosworth Field, Aug. 22. where Richard was slain.

In 1471 William Caxton, printer, established a press at Westminster; in 1474, he published "The Game and Playe of Chesse," the first book printed in England. (See p. 333.)

(See p. 240.)

Spain.

The Moors in Spain were, since 1238, confined to the kingdom of Granada, where agriculture, commerce, and industry flourished.

Wars with the Christian kingdoms, occasionally in alliance with Morocco.

1492. Conquest of Granada and union of the kingdom with Castile.

The kingdoms of Castile and Aragon during this period were involved in constant wars, ever renewed and of varying fortune, with the Moors and with one another. In both kingdoms bloody wars of succession and civil wars.

Of the kings of Castile may be mentioned, in the thirteenth century Sancho IV., in the fourteenth Peter the Cruel and Henry the Bastard, the first of whom was aided, in his war with Henry for the throne, by England (victory of the Black Prince at Najara, 1367), the latter by France. Mercenary bands or free companies, under Bertrand du Guesclin. Peter defeated and killed at Montiel in 1369.

Peter III. (1276–1285) of Aragon acquired the crown of Sicily, which he bequeathed to his second son, James, while his eldest son, Alphonso III., succeeded him in Aragon. His successor, Peter IV., curbed the excessive power of the nobility of Aragon. In 1410, after the extinction of the royal family of Catalonia, a Castilian prince, Ferdinand, ascended the throne of Aragon. His grandson, Ferdinand the Catholic (1479–1516), by the marriage which he had made before his elevation to the throne with Isabella, heiress of Castile, laid the foundation for the final union of the two kingdoms.

Portugal.

The legitimate line of Burgundy became extinct (1383), and was succeeded by the illegitimate Burgundian line. Heroic age of Portugal, which now reached its greatest power. Conquests, Ceuta, Tangiers; formation of a Christian kingdom of Algarbe on the northern coast of Africa. Voyages and discoveries (p. 279), under the patronage of the Infant, Henry the Navigator (1394–1460; discovery of Porto Santo and Madeira, 1418–19; Cape Verde, 1445; Azores, 1447; Cape Verde Islands, 1455). (See p. 328.)

§ 6. THE NORTH AND EAST.

Denmark, Norway, Sweden. (See p. 240.)

Each a united kingdom from about 850 on, converted to Christianity about 1000, these three kingdoms were united by the Union of Calmar (1397). Margaret, queen of Denmark, daughter of Walde-mar IV., married Hakon VI. of Norway, and after the death of Hakon succeeded to the throne, at first for her minor son († 1387). The crown of Sweden was transferred to her by the estates of that kingdom. The union lasted (interrupted by Sweden) to 1524.

(See p. 351.)

Russia.

From 862 to 1598, under the house of Rurik, converted by Vladimir the Great 988, soon divided into many principalities, which were in theory subordinate to the Grand Prince of Kiev, but practically were tolerably independent. During the supremacy of the Mongols in Russia, which endured 250 years, there grew up a new grand principality, that of Moscow, which after the devastation of Kiev by the Mongols (1239), and its conquest by the Lithuanians (1320, p. 169), became the national centre of Russia. After a long contest the Mongol supremacy in Russia was overthrown (1480) by Ivan III., the Great, the founder of the united monarchy. Republic of Novgorod subjugated (1478). (See p. 352.)

Poland.

Under the Piasts (840–1370, Christian about 1000) involved in war with Germany, with the heathen Prussians (later with the Teutonic knights), and with Russia. The last king of this house was Casimir the Great. Short union with Hungary under Louis the Great (1370–1382). Louis' younger daughter, Hedwig, married the grand duke of Lithuania, Vladislav II. Jagello, whereby Poland and Lithuania were united under the house of Jagello from 1386 to 1572. Conversion of Lithuania. (See p. 352.)

Prussia.

Conquered in the thirteenth century by the Teutonic order (p. 218), since 1309 residence of the grand master at Marienburg. The order attained its greatest power under Winrich von Kniprode (1351–1382); beginning of a gradual decline. Defeat of the order by the Poles at Tannenberg (1410).

The energy and daring of Henry of Plauen brought about the advantageous first peace of Thorn (1411). The revolt of the Prussian nobles in the country and the cities and their alliance with Poland led to the second peace of Thorn (1466): West Prussia and Ermeland ceded to Poland; the order retained East Prussia as a Polish fief.

Hungary.

Toward the close of the ninth century Hungary was occupied by the Finnish¹ tribe of Magyars (p. 193); until 1301 under the reigning house of the Arpads. Introduction of Christianity by the duke Geisa and his son St. Stephan, the first king of Hungary (crowned 1000). Extensive immigration of Germans. Ecclesiastical division of the country into ten bishoprics; political division into seventy-two counties (Gespanschaften). Formation of a powerful aristocracy (Magnats). The Golden Bull extorted from King Andrew II. (contemporary of the emperor Frederic II.), after his return from a crusade (p. 216), is the foundation of the privileges of the Hungarian nobility.

After the extinction of the Arpads, Hungary came under the house of Anjou (1308–1382). Period of greatest power under Louis the Great (1342–1382), who in 1370, succeeded to the throne of Poland also.

Under Sigismund of the house of Luxemburg (1387–1437), beginning of the decline of the kingdom. Albert of Austria (1438–1439), and afterwards, Vladislav III. of Poland, elected king; the latter fell at Varna (1444) in battle against the Turks, whereupon Albert's minor son, Ladislav Postumus, succeeded. The chancellor of the kingdom, John Hunyadi, defeated the Turks at Belgrade (1456). After his death and that of Ladislav, Hunyadi's son, Matthias Corvinus, became king (1458–1490). After his brilliant reign Hungary was united with Bohemia under Ladislav II., of the house of Jagello, and the succession was secured to the archduke Maximilian of Austria. (See p. 300.)

Turks, Mongols, and the Eastern Empire. (See p. 240.)

Supremacy of the Osman (Ottoman) Turks, Turcoman nomads, founded in Asia Minor by Osman I., about 1300. His successors, Urchan, Murad I., and Bajazet I., extended Turkish power during the fourteenth century to the confines of Europe (Adrianople, residence of the sovereigns in 1365).

The development of the Osmanic power was temporarily checked by the Mongols under Timur Lenk (i. e. the Lame), commonly called Tamerlane or Timur the Tatar, Bajazet being defeated and captured in 1402 at Angora. One of Bajazet's successors, Muhammed II., destroyed the Eastern Empire, which had been under the rule of the Palæologi since 1261, by the 1453. Conquest of Constantinople.

Flight of Grecian scholars to Italy, where they taught in the universities, and gave the impulse to a new study of Grecian literature. (See p. 353.)

China.

In 1403 the rebellious prince, Yen, succeeded to the throne under the name Yung-lo (1403–1425), and proved an efficient ruler, carrying his arms into Tatary, and annexing Cochin-China and Tonquin to China. Under Seuen-tih (1426–1436) Cochin-China revolted. Chingtung (1436–1465) fell into the hands of the Tatars in 1450, and remained a prisoner until released by a Chinese victory in 1457. The quiet reigns of Ching-hwa (1465–1488) and Hung-che (1488–1506) were unmarked by important events. (See p. 354.)

Japan.

(See p. 243.)

Under the domination of the Ashikaga Shoguns (1336–1573), whose founder, Ashikaga-Taka-Uji, set up a rival emperor, Japan was under two dynasties,—the southern (legitimate) at Yoshino, the northern (usurpers) at Kioto; the true sovereigns, meantime, were the Shoguns at Kioto. The period is a dark one, filled with constant wars between the dynasties, and civil wars in Kioto.

It is curious to reflect that in the midst of these wretched wars Columbus was sending messengers into the interior of Cuba charged with letters to the sovereign of Japan, whereby he hoped to open communication for Spain with a monarch whose power was as limitless as his wealth. (See p. 355.)

III. MODERN HISTORY.

FIRST PERIOD.

FROM THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA TO THE PEACE OF WESTPHALIA (1492-1648).

§ 1. INVENTIONS, DISCOVERIES, AND COLONIES.

Three inventions, whose discovery belongs to the Middle Age, but which came into more common use at the beginning of the modern period, have played a very important part in the total change in society which followed. 1. The magnetic needle, probably early discovered by the Chinese, applied in navigation (compass) in the east in the thirteenth century; in the west at the beginning of the fourteenth (by Flavio Gioja?). This invention materially advanced the discoveries of the new era. 2. Gunpowder, probably introduced into Europe from Asia (China, India, Arabia). According to a tradition whose truth can no longer be maintained, invented by the monk, Berthold Schwarz, at Freiburg in the Breisgau, 1354 (?). It was first used in Europe about the middle of the fourteenth century. The new class of weapons thus introduced were at first in the highest degree imperfect, and of but little value; but their improvement gradually brought about a complete revolution in military science and art, and thereby led to the destruction of chivalry. Standing armies took the place of the feudal levies, and aided the princes to triumph over the lower order of feudal nobility. 3. Printing (p. 253), which was more widely spread after the conquest of Mainz (1462), had scattered the assistants of Pust to various lands. This invention would, however, have very largely failed of its effect, but for the improvement made at about the same time in the manufacture of Paper.

1492. Discovery of America by Columbus (Colon).
For details and the further course of discovery see page 282, etc.

1498. Ocean route to the East Indies discovered by Vasco da Gama.

After the Canary Islands, Madeira, and the Azores had been discovered by daring sailors (especially Italians) in the first half of the fourteenth century, but had since been partially forgotten, the Portuguese at the instance of the Infant, Henry the Navigator (p. 276), began in 1415 to push southward along the coast of Africa in order to find the way to India. The death of Henry (1460) interrupted the progress of discovery for a considerable time, but in 1486 Bartholomæus Diaz reached Cabo tormentoso, called by John II., Cabo da buena esperanza (Cape of Good Hope), and in 1498 Vasco da Gama landed on the coast of Malabar (Calicut, p. 353). (Martin Behaim of Nuremberg, author of the celebrated globe still preserved in that city, which shows the state of geographical knowledge just before the discovery of America (1492), was in the service of the king of Portugal.)

The Eastern trade (in silk, cotton, pearls, spices and other luxuries), had been carried on partly by land through central Asia, and partly across the Isthmus of Suez and the Red Sea, and across Arabia and through the Persian Gulf. The conquests of Islam, and especially the capture of Constantinople, had greatly diminished the number of profitable routes, so that the discovery of a new route became of great importance, especially to the maritime nations of western Europe who had been excluded from trade with the East, wherein the merchant republics of Italy, Pisa, Genoa, Venice, had grown rich and powerful. The Portuguese attempted the eastern route around Africa. Columbus found at the court of Spain patrons willing to try the experiment of a western route, at once (according to the data with which he reckoned) shorter and simpler.

The success of the Portuguese struck a mortal blow at the prosperity of Alexandria and the great cities of Italy, and secured a monopoly of the Eastern trade to Portugal for one hundred years, after which it passed into the hands of the Dutch and English.

The failure of Columbus had a still greater importance in history, disclosing a new world, where immigrants from the old should develop new political constitutions and new social conditions.

The Portuguese power in the East Indies was founded by the viceroy Almeida (1504–1509), and especially by Albuquerque (1509–1515; see p. 353).

1519–1522. First voyage around the world under Ferdinand Magalhães (Magellan), a Portuguese who had entered the Spanish service. Passage to the Pacific through the Straits of Magellan. Magalhães was killed in 1521 on one of the Philippine Islands.

§ 2. AMERICA.

It is probable that as early as 1000 the Northmen, who had occupied Iceland since 874 and had thence made settlements in Greenland (985), had not only discovered but had tried to colonize the continent of America (Vinland).¹

¹ More than a dozen claims to the discovery or attempts at the discovery of America before Columbus have been preferred by various nationalities, a brief list of which is here appended: 1. St. Brandan (565) and St. Maclovius (Malo) in the sixth century. 2. Seven Spanish bishops (714 or 734); Island of Seven Cities, also called Antillia, a name afterwards transferred to the Antilles. 3. Buddhist priests from China (458), followed by Hoei-Shin (499)

986. Bjarni Herjulfson saw the coast of Vinland, but did not land.
1001. Leif Erikson discovered Helluland, Markland, Vinland, where he built some booths.
1002. Thorvald Erikson coasted along Kjalarnes and died at Krossanness.
- 1007-1009. Thorfinn Karlsefne, under whom a colony was established which remained several years in Vinland. Birth of the child Snorri.
1011. Helge and Finnborge with Freydis, wife of Thorwald. The tragical ending of this settlement seems to have discouraged colonization; yet traces of intercourse are observable for a long time, (1121, Bishop Erik of Greenland; 1266, voyage of clergymen of Greenland to the Arctic regions; 1255, Adelhard and Thorwald Helgason; 1347, voyage of seventeen men from Greenland).

The identification of the places visited and named by the Northmen is attended with great, perhaps insurmountable difficulties. The detailed exposition of Rafn (Helluland = Newfoundland or Labrador; Markland = Nova Scotia; Vinland = Mt. Hope Bay; Kjalarness = Cape Cod; Krossanness = Boston Harbor) is hardly to be accepted; some writers place the southern limit of discovery at the southern point of Newfoundland.¹

Wherever they were made, the settlements of the Northmen in America were not lasting, and the remembrance of them had almost passed away by the fourteenth century. Although Columbus had discovered Fou-sang. (See Leland, Fou-sang, for arguments in favor of this discovery.) 4. Basques; Juan de l'Estrade (about 1000). 5. Northmen (986). 6. Ari Marson, from Limerick in Ireland (982) discovered Huitramann land (White Man's Land) or Irland it Mikla (Great Ireland). South Carolina? Florida? He was succeeded by Bjarni Asbrandson (999), and Gudleif Gudlangson (1029). 7. Arabians; Almaghrains (in the eleventh century). 8. Madoc ap Gwynedd, a Welsh prince (1170). 9. Vadino and Guido Vivalda (1281), Theodoro Doria and Ugolino Vivalda (1292), Venetians. 10. Niccolo and Antonio Zeno (1380-90). This "discovery" involves an older one made by a fisherman of "Frislanda" about 1360. 11. Cortereal, 1403. 12. Szkolny, a Polish pilot (1476). 13. Alonzo Sanchez de Helva (1484), the pilot who as some claim died in the house of Columbus, leaving his journal in the latter's hands. 14. Martin Behaim (1484). 15. Cousin and Pinzon from Dieppe (1487).

This discovery of America has been assigned to still other races by disputants over the origin of the American Indians, among which may be mentioned: Egyptians, Tyrians, Phoenicians, Canaanites, Norwegians, Chinese, Iberians, Scythians, Tatars, Jews (the Lost Tribes), Romans, Malays; there is also the theory of settlement by the inhabitants of Atlantis, and of a new creation. It is pleasant, from a patriotic standpoint, to state that it has been recently asserted that Europe was originally populated from America.

¹ Three "relics" of the Northmen have been famous in their time. 1. The Writing Rock on the Taunton River near Dighton, Mass. It was claimed that the inscription was in runes, and it has been interpreted by northern scholars to contain an account of the voyage of Thorfinn, but it seems at present that Washington's opinion of the Indian origin of the picture writing is to be accepted as correct. 2. The Old Stone Mill at Newport, R. I. The northern origin of this structure can hardly be maintained against the more probable theory of its construction by Gov. Benedict Arnold in the latter half of the seventeenth century. 3. The "Skeleton in Armor," discovered in the early part of the present century at Fall River, Mass., is now admitted to have been that of an Indian.

visited Iceland in 1477, it is not probable that he had heard of them ; it is evident, from his own writings, that he had no suspicions of the existence of a continent southwest of Iceland.¹

Christoforo Colombo (he called himself and signed himself, after he became a Spaniard, regularly Cristobal Colon), born (1435 ?, 1446 ?) at Genoa, of plebeian origin, a sailor from his earliest youth, wished to try a western route by sea to India (by which name in his day, the whole East was meant), and especially to Zipangu, (Japan) the magic island, which the Venetian Marco Polo (travels 1271-1295) had described in the book Mirabilia Mundi. Starting from the erroneous calculations of Ptolemy and Marinus concerning the size of the earth and the length of the habitable region (the Eastern Continent), Columbus made the circumference of the earth too short by a sixth, thus locating Zipangu in about the position of the Sandwich Islands. His plans having been rejected by Portugal (after the failure of an expedition secretly despatched westward to discover land), Columbus in 1486 accepted the service of the crown of Castile (Isabella). Delayed in the execution of his project by the Arabian war and the lack of money at the court, he was about to offer his services at the court of France or England, when the capture of Grenada promised the necessary means for the expedition.² Contract with Columbus, who received nobility, the hereditary dignity of admiral and viceroy, and one tenth of the income from the newly discovered lands.

1492, Aug. 3-1493, March 15. First Voyage. Departure from Palos with three small vessels on the 3d of August, from the Canaries on Sept. 6. On Oct. 12, landing on Guanahani,³ one of the Bahama islands. Discovery of Cuba (called by Columbus Juanna) and Hayti (Española, St. Domingo). Shipwreck off Hayti, foundation of the first colony (Navidad) on that island.

1493, May 3. Bull of Alexander VI. establishing the line of partition, which divided that part of the world not possessed by any Christian prince between Spain and Portugal by a meridian line one hundred leagues west of the Azores. All W. of that line to fall to Spain, all E. of it, to Portugal. This compromise between the claims of the Spaniards based on the discoveries of Columbus, and those of the Portuguese based on their discoveries in the Atlantic, was afterwards revised so that the line was extended 270 leagues further west (1494).

1493, Sept 25-1496, June 11. Second voyage of Columbus from Cadiz, with seventeen vessels and 1500 persons.

Discovery of the Lesser Antilles (inhabited by Caribs, which Columbus misunderstood, Canibs, whence Cannibals) and the island of Jamaica. Voyage along the southern coast of Cuba to within a short distance of the western end. Foundation of Isabella in Hayti (Dec. 1493), of San Domingo on the same island by Bartholomew Columbus.

² That Columbus laid his plans before Genoa is unhistorical (Peschel, 2d ed. p. 120).

³ The chief claimants for the honor of having been the first landing place of Columbus are Cat Island, Turk's Island, Watling's Island, Samana. The latter claim was first advanced, and ably advocated by Capt. G. V. Fox in his "Attempt to solve the Problem of the First Landing Place of Columbus in the New World." Wash. 1882. (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.)

1497, May-Aug. Voyage of John and Sebastian Cabot from Bristol with two vessels. Discovery of land (Prima Vista, Cape Breton Island (?), Newfoundland (?)) June 24, 1497 (not 1494). They explored the coast N. to $67\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ N. and S. for an uncertain distance, probably not so far as Florida, as has been claimed.

1497. First (alleged) voyage of Amerigo Vespucci. Discovery of the continent of South America. This voyage is doubtful, though many give it credence.

1498, May-July (?). Voyage of Sebastian Cabot; doubtful results (68° N. to 35° N. ?).

1498, May 30-1500, Nov. 25. Third voyage of Columbus. Discovery of Trinidad (July 31), the continent of South America (Aug. 1); discovery of the mouth of the Orinoco. Exploration of the (pearl) coast as far as Margarita Island. Return of Columbus to Hispaniola. Dangerous revolt of Roldan, with whom the admiral was obliged to conclude a treaty. Columbus, who was disliked by the settlers on account of his foreign birth, and his avarice, — a vice from which he cannot be absolved,¹ — was accused at court. Bobadilla, sent out as judge with especial powers, sent Columbus and his brother in chains to Spain (1500). Columbus was at once released upon his arrival and treated with distinction; he retained the dignity of admiral, but as viceroy was superseded by Ovando.

1499, May-1500, June. Voyage of Alonzo de Hojeda and Amerigo Vespucci.

Discovery of Surinam, Paria, Venezuela, and the coast of South America from 3° N. (Brazil?) to Cape Vela. This is often called the second voyage of Vespucci, but the first voyage, which he is said to have made in 1497, when he reached the continent of South America, is doubtful.

Vespucci was a learned Florentine (1451-1512) who participated in two Portuguese voyages to South America, entered the service of Castile in 1505, and filled the position of Royal Pilot from 1508 until his death, a post in which he rendered important services to science, particularly in the construction of maps. The new world was called after him, not by him, America. The originator of this name was Martin Waltzemüller (Hylacomylus) from Freiburg in the Breisgau, professor at St. Die in Lorraine (1507). The name of America spread at first only in Germany and Switzerland, and did not come into general use until the close of the sixteenth century.²

² Humboldt, Examen critique de l'histoire et de la géographie du nouveau continent; Peschel, Gesch. d. Zeitalter d. Entdeckungen, cap. XIII., Abhandlungen zur Erd- und Völkerkunde, 1877. Two attempts have been recently made to derive America from a native word: Jules Marcou, in the Atlantic Monthly (1875, March), and T. H. Lambert, in the Bulletin of the American Geographical Soc. for 1883, p. 45. According to the former, America is a corruption of the Indian name of a range of mountains in Nicaragua; the latter derives it from a native name of the empire of the Incas in Peru. The first dated map to bear the name "America" was that in the edition of Solinus of 1520 by Apianus.

1499, Dec.-1500, Sept. Voyage of Vincent Yañez Pinzon from Palos.

1500. Gaspar de Cortereal, a Portuguese, discovered Newfoundland (Conception Bay), the mouth of the St. Lawrence, and the coast of Labrador.

1501. Second voyage of Vespucci under a Portuguese commander.

1502, May 11-1504, Nov. 7. Fourth (and last) voyage of Columbus. Discovery of the Bay of Honduras, Veragua, Porto Bello. Shipwreck at Jamaica.

Columbus died in Valladolid (1506) without a suspicion that he had discovered a new continent, and in the firm belief that his discoveries were parts of Asia. His son, Don Diego Columbus, viceroy and admiral. A grandson and great grandson of the discoverer retained the hereditary title of admiral.

De Bastidas traced in 1500-1502 the coast of Panama to Pt. Manzanilla. Hojeda (1502), Vespucci (3d voyage, 1503), Juan de la Cosa (1505), etc., examined more minutely the coasts already discovered, while in the Spanish possessions the work of settlement and conquest was being pushed forward. Cruelties inflicted on the Indians of the West Indies, whose race disappeared with frightful rapidity. It is probable that more was learned of the coasts of both Americas in this period than has been divulged; the rivalry of Spain and Portugal leading to a careful secrecy regarding all discoveries. The exact historical value of the D'Este map, just made public by M. Harris, cannot be known as yet, but seems to have clearly established the fact that the coast of North America from Florida to beyond Cape Cod was well known to the Portuguese in 1502.

1504. French fishermen at the banks of Newfoundland.

1506. Jean Denys of Honfleur, and Camart of Rouen, examined (and sketched) the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

1517. Francis Hernandez Cordova rediscovered Yucatan (Cape Catoche); advanced civilization of the inhabitants (Mayas), who were under the supremacy of the Aztec empire in Mexico.

- 1519-1521. Conquest of Mexico by Hernando Cortez (1485-1547), whom Velasquez, the governor of Cuba, had appointed to the command of a small force of 600 foot, sixteen cavalry, thirteen cross-bowmen, fourteen cannon, but immediately removed. Cortez sailed against the will of the governor. Capture of Tabasco (March). Landing at St. Juan de Uloa (April 21). Negotiations with Montezuma, who ordered the invaders to leave the kingdom. Cortez, elected general by the troops, dispatched one ship to carry a report to king Charles of Spain, and beached (not burned) the rest. Foundation of Villa Rica de la Vera Cruz. In alliance with the Tlascalans Cortez marched upon Mexico, the capital of Montezuma (Montecuhcuma), who admitted him to the city (Nov. 8). Daring seizure of the king in his own house. Cortez was obliged to march against Narvaez whom Velasquez had sent to chastise him. He defeated Narvaez, and strengthening his army with the soldiers of his opponent, returned to Mexico (1520, June). Revolt of the Mexicans, storm of the temple, death of Montezuma of wounds inflicted by his subjects, who were indignant at his submission to the Spaniards. The Spaniards, leaving the city (July 1), were furiously attacked on one of the causeways through the lake and suffered terrible loss (Noche triste). Reinforced, Cortez defeated the Mexicans in a pitched battle near Otompan (July 8). Occupation of Tescuco (Dec. 31). Conquest of Iztapalapan (1521). After having built a fleet of thirteen vessels which were transported by land and launched in the lake of Mexico, Cortez laid siege to the capital. After a long investment, accompanied with an almost daily storm (May-Aug. 13, 1521) the city was taken. Capture of the king Guatemozin, who was tortured and finally executed. Submission of the country. Cortez, at first governor of New Spain with unlimited power, was afterwards restricted to the chief command of the military forces. Prosecuting the search for a western passage he discovered California (1526). Cortez returned to Spain in 1540, and died at Seville in 1547.

1524. Alleged voyage of Giovanni de Verrazzano in the service of the king of France. The letter of Verrazzano which gives the only existing account of the voyage ascribes to the writer the discovery of the east coast of North America from 34° (39°) N. to 50° N. It has been thought that many places mentioned can be identified. The truth of the whole story has been disputed, but present opinion seems to be in favor of its acceptance (?).

1524. Geographical congress of Badajos, to settle the boundary between Spain and Portugal in the eastern hemisphere, which should correspond to the line of Alexander VI. in the western; after a stormy session the council separated without reaching an agreement.

1528. Unsuccessful expedition of Pamphilo de Narvaez to Florida, under a grant of all the country between Cape Florida and the River of Palms. Occupation of Lima, the capital of the Incas (1534). Feuds between the Spanish leaders. Almagro defeated (1538) and executed by Pizarro. The latter was afterwards killed, with his brother. After toilsome marches in Florida, with no result but disappointment, De Soto led his men westward to the Mississippi, where he died (at the juncture of this stream and the Guacoya) and was buried in the stream. The remains of the expedition (311 men) reached Panuco Sept. 10, 1543. According to Dr. Kohl, De Soto reached 30° 40' N. in Georgia, and explored the Mississippi to the Ohio (38° N.)

Villegagnon now joined the Catholic church, and his defection ruined the colony ; many settlers returned to France (1557), some of the rest were murdered by the Portuguese (1558), and in 1560 the colony was entirely broken up by the Portuguese government. André Thevet, who accompanied Villegagnon, on his return to France coasted along the east coast of North America to the Bacallaos (Newfoundland), and on his return described his voyage in a gossip, untrustworthy book.

1605. Voyage of George Weymouth (who had made a trip to Labrador in 1602) to the coast of Maine. Santa Fé in New Mexico founded.

Over a hundred years had elapsed since the discovery of America, and thus far South America and Central America had alone been the scene of active and successful colonization. In North America, a few scattered Spanish settlements in the south and one French colony in the north were the only representatives of European civilization. The next few years witnessed a mighty change. England, which for all her voyages had not a foot of land in America, entered on a course of settlement and conquest which ultimately gave her the fairest portion of the New World.

English, Dutch, and Swedish Colonies in North America (1606–1638).

A. English Colonies.

1606. April 10. The patent of Sir Walter Raleigh becoming void by his attainer for treason, James I. issued a patent dividing Virginia into two parts: 1. The First Colony, embracing the country from 34° N. to 38° N. with the right to settle as far as 41° N. if they were the first to found their colony: this southern colony was granted to a number of gentlemen, residing principally in London (Richard Hakluyt), and known as the London Company. 2. The Second Colony, embracing the country between 41° N. and 45° N. with the right of settling as far as 38° N. if they were the first to establish their colony; this northern colony was granted to gentlemen residing chiefly in Bristol, Plymouth, etc., and hence known as the Plymouth Company. Each company was to become owner of the land for fifty miles on each side of the first settlement, and one hundred miles inland. The nearest settlements of the two colonies should be one hundred miles apart. The government of each colony was vested in a council resident in England and nominated by the king; the local government was intrusted to a council resident in America also nominated by the king, and to conform to his regulations. Imports from England free of duty for seven years; freedom of trade with other nations, the duties for twenty-seven years to go to the colonies. Right of coinage and of self-defense. Establishment of a Council of Virginia in England for the superintendence of both colonies.

Colony of South Virginia.

1607, May 13. Foundation of Jamestown in the southern colony by a band of one hundred colonists sent out under Christopher Newport. It included Bartholomew Gosnold and John Smith. Dissension in the council. Explorations by John Smith who was captured by the Indians, and presented to the chief, Powhatan, but in the end released (story of the rescue of Smith by Pocahontas, daughter of *Powhatan*¹). In 1607

¹ This story has been relegated to the realm of fable, on the insufficient ground that no mention of it appears in Smith's first account of his captivity.

Smith explored the Chesapeake. During the first years the colony suffered severely from extremes of heat and cold, as well as from dissensions and bad provision by the company. Laborers were scarce, the colonists being either gentlemen or criminals.

1609. Second charter of the company of South Virginia, increase of privileges and of members. Lord Delaware (Thomas West) appointed governor for life. Smith returned to England.
1610. The distress in the colony was so great (The Starving Time) that it was on the point of abandonment when Lord Delaware arrived with supplies.

Argal destroyed St. Saviour and razed Port Royal. On his return he received the submission of the Dutch settlement at Hudson's River (?).
1614. Sir Thomas Dale deputy governor of South Virginia.
1615. Land, which had hitherto been held of the company by farmers as tenants-at-will, was now made private property ; fifty acres being now granted to every colonist and his heirs.
1617. Samuel Argal succeeded Sir George Yeardley as deputy governor of South Virginia ; reduced state of the colony. In the 1618. following year Lord Delaware sailed with supplies and colonists for Virginia, but died on the voyage. Rigorous government of Argal. At this time there were 600 persons and 300 cattle in the colony ; the only exports were tobacco and sassafras, and the London company was indebted £5,000.

1621. Sir Francis Wyatt, governor, brought over a new constitution for the colony, whereby its government was vested in a governor, a council of state, and a general assembly, to which two burgesses were to be chosen by every town, hundred, and plantation. The governor had the veto power, and every enactment of the colonial legislature required the ratification of the company in England to become binding. All ordinances of the company were without effect unless accepted by the assembly.

1622. March 22. Massacre of 347 colonists by the Indians.
1624. Commission of inquiry into the affairs of Virginia appointed by the crown. In spite of the answer of the general assembly wherein the rights of the people were defined, the court of king's bench in England, before which the cause was tried, decided against the company. The charter was annulled. The company had sent out more than 9000 persons to the colony, of whom not more than 2000 now remained. Sir Francis Wyatt was appointed governor, with a council of eleven members appointed by the king. This plan of government was continued by Charles I., who announced that the colony should immediately depend upon the crown, which should appoint the governor and council and issue patents and legal processes. Commercial restrictions.
1630. Grant of Carolana (the region south of the Virginia colony between 31° N. and 36° N.) to Sir Robert Heath, being the first instance of a proprietary grant by the crown. No settlement seems to have been made, on which account the grant was subsequently declared void, and a part of the territory granted out under the name of Carolina, a proceeding which resulted in much ill-feeling.
1632. Grant of Maryland (the region between the Potomac and 41° N.) to Cecil Calvert, the second lord Baltimore, son of Sir George Calvert, to whom the grant was originally made, but who died before putting it to use. The grant was met by a protest from Virginia which was of no avail. In the first colony reached Maryland; being about two hundred persons. Gift of fifty acres of land to each emigrant as private property. The Calverts being Roman Catholics, no mention of religious establishment appeared in the charter beyond the recognition of Christianity as established by English common law.
- The proprietary, or grantee holding directly of the crown, was subject to no corporation or company, appointed the deputy governor and the executive officers, regulated the legislation, and received the taxes. The general assembly of the colonists possessed an advisory power, and the right of expressing non-approval.
1636. Grant of New Albion (including New Jersey) from the viceroy of Ireland to Sir Edward Plowden. This New Albion, which was not settled, must not be confounded with the tract of like name discovered by Drake on the western coast of America (p. 289).

The Plymouth Company.

Immediately upon the receipt of the charter the company had dispatched two explorers to the region of their grant (Challons, Hanam), and in northern colony. They built Fort St. George on Parker's "Island" (peninsula), at the mouth of the Kennebec River in Maine (Aug. 11). The death of George Popham and of Sir John Popham in England (1608) so disheartened the colonists that they returned to England. No further attempts at settlement being made for some time, the French (who had also a claim to these regions (see 1604) planted several colonies within the territory of the Plymouth Company.

1607, George Popham and Raleigh Gilbert led 120 colonists to the

- 1614. Exploration of the coast of the northern colony by John Smith from Penobscot to Cape Cod. On his return he wrote an account of his voyage and published a map of the district explored, to which the name of New England was given. Trouble with the Indians, springing from the action of Thomas Hunt, who carried off twenty-seven natives to the West Indies for slaves, discouraged settlement.

After the frustration of an attempt at colonization by Smith in 1615 through adverse circumstances, the company itself made no more attempts at settlements, and the colonies that grew up in its territories were founded by companies or individuals under its charter but independent of its action. One of the most important settlements, indeed, was made without any authority from the company. In 1620 the company was reorganized as the Council at Plymouth for New England with territory from Philadelphia to Chaleur Bay (40° N. to 48° N. across the continent).

- 1620. Settlement of Plymouth in New England by English separatists from Holland.

This religious sect, a sort of left wing of the larger body of Puritans, had left England in 1607-8 on account of the intolerance with which they were treated, and settled at Leyden in Holland (1609) to the number of 1000 or more, under their minister, John Robinson. After several attempts to secure a patent from the London company (South Virginia), and a promise of toleration from the king, they succeeded in the former endeavor in 1619, but not in the latter. Procuring two ships (Speedwell, Mayflower), a part of the congregation, and some others, set sail Aug. 5, from Southampton (having left Leyden in July) for the vicinity of Hudson's River. Twice driven back by stress of weather the Pilgrims (a name applied much earlier to the whole body in Holland) finally left Plymouth in the Mayflower, Sept. 6. On Nov. 9 they sighted Cape Cod, but instead of running southward they were induced by fear of shoal water, by the late season, and perhaps by the cunning of the shipmaster, to anchor at the Cape. On Nov. 11, the company signed a compact of government (they being beyond the limits of the London Company), and elected John Carver governor. For some weeks they explored the coast, landing at various places. (Birth of Peregrine White, the first European child born in New England). Toward the close of December they fixed on the site of Plymouth, and landing, began the erection of a house and portioned out land among the settlers (nineteen families, 102 individuals).¹

1621. Intercourse of the colonists (Capt. Miles Standish) with the Indians (Commodore, Massasoit, chief of the Indians in that vicinity). Upon the death of Carver, William Bradford was elected governor. Arrival of a new patent from the Plymouth Company, also made out in the name of the London merchants, with whom the Pilgrims had formed a partnership before sailing. Over fifty of the original settlers died this year. Trouble with the Indians 1621-23.

Meantime the territory of the Plymouth Company was being parceled out among various adventurers by often conflicting grants. In 1621 Sir William Alexander obtained a patent for the whole of Acadia, under the name of Nova Scotia, from the crown of Scotland (confirmed, 1625). The region from Salem River to the Merrimac was granted to John Mason and called Mariana. In 1622 Sir Ferdinando Gorges and John Mason obtained a grant of all lands between the Merrimac and the Kennebec, which region was called at first Laconia, afterwards, Maine. In 1622 settlements were made on the site of the present Dover (Cochecho) and Portsmouth. In 1624 a few Puritans from England settled at Cape Ann; the colony afterwards removed to Naumkeag (Roger Conant, 1626). In 1625 Captain Wollaston settled at Mount Wollaston, near Boston.

1623. The Plymouth Company sent out Francis West as "Admiral of New England," Robert Gorges as "Governor-General," and William Morrell as "Superintendent of Churches" but nothing came of this assertion of authority.

1627. The colony at Plymouth succeeded in buying off the London merchants in whose name their charter had been issued. Growth of the colony; friendly intercourse with the Dutch.

1628. The Plymouth Company issued a grant of the land between three miles south of the Charles River, and three miles north of the Merrimac, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to a company which sent John Endicott as governor and colonists who joined the others at Naumkeag. In 1629 the name of the colony was changed to Salem.

The colony at Plymouth obtained a grant on the Kennebec.

Suppression of the settlement at Wollaston ("Merry Mount") by Endicott. Merton, who after Wollaston's departure had ruled the colony and sold firearms (?) to the Indians, was seized by Standish from Plymouth and sent to England.

1629. Establishment of the company of Massachusetts Bay ("The Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay in New England") by a charter issued directly by the crown to the company, enlarged by new associates, which had settled Salem. The company was permitted to elect a governor, deputy governor, and eighteen assistants yearly, and to make laws not repugnant to those of England. The first governor of the company was Matthew Craddock.

ascertained; the landing of the first exploring party seems to have taken place on Dec. 11, O.S., or Dec. 21 (22), N.S. (confusion here also). See Gay, "When did the Pilgrim Fathers land at Plymouth?" — Atlantic Monthly, November 1881, p. 612.

A number of influential men soon becoming interested in the enterprise, the governing council or court of the company in England (that is to say, "The Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay in New England") consented that the charter and government should be transferred to the colony (Aug. 29), under which agreement John Winthrop was chosen governor, and in 1630 sailed for New England with a large number of settlers, who landed at Charlestown, where an offshoot from the Salem colony was already established. Here a church was founded and two courts of assistants held.

1629. Mason and Gorges dissolving their connection, a new grant was made to each, Mason receiving the territory between the Merrimac and the Piscataqua, a region afterwards called New Hampshire.¹ Gorges received the region between the Piscataqua and the Kennebec, under the name of New Somersetshire.

1630. Third and last patent of the Plymouth colony, whereby it was assigned the district between the Cohasset River and the Narraganset, extending westward to the limits of Pokenakut or Sowamset. "The colonists were allowed to make orders, ordinances, and constitutions, for the ordering, disposing, and governing their persons, and distributing the lands within the limits of the patent."

1630. Settlement of Boston, on the peninsula called Shawmut by the Indians, but Trimountain by the English, and then inhabited by an episcopal minister, William Blackstone. On Sept. 7, the court at Charlestown changed the name of Trimountain to Boston. First general court of Massachusetts held at Boston, Oct. 19. It was enacted that the freemen should elect the assistants, who were to choose out of their own number the governor, but the next court decreed that the governor, deputy governor, and assistants should be elected directly by the freemen. Only church-members were freemen, so that the freemen formed a minority of the population. In 1631 a fortified town was begun on the Charles and called Newtown (afterwards Cambridge).

Colony of Connecticut.

The Dutch (Adrian Block, 1614) were the first to explore the coast of Connecticut and the river of that name, when they built a fort near Hartford. In 1630 the council of Plymouth granted to the earl of Warwick the land 120 miles S. E. from the Narraganset River, and extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In 1631 Warwick transferred this grant to the viscount Say and Seal, lord Brook, and others. In 1633 the colonies of Plymouth and Boston conferred on the question of settling the Connecticut valley; as the Massachusetts colony declined the enterprise a company was sent out from Plymouth, which disregarded the prohibition of the Dutch and set up a house on the Connecticut. The rival claims of the Dutch and English were discussed without effect by the colonies.

1634. The growth of the colony of Massachusetts Bay preventing the attendance of all freemen at the general court, it was enacted that whereas four courts should be held in a year, the whole body of freemen should be present at that court only in which the elections were held; at the other courts the freemen in the towns should send deputies.

1635. Surrender of the Charter of the Council of Plymouth to the crown in consequence of the hostility of the government and church.

1635. Foundation of the Connecticut colony by emigrants from Massachusetts (Windsor, Wethersfield, Hartford), and by John Winthrop, son of Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, who built a fort at Saybrook, under commission from the proprietors. In 1636 a large part of the inhabitants of Newtown (Cambridge) migrated to Connecticut and settled at Hartford.

1636. A code of laws (the General Fundamentals) established at Plymouth.

1636. Foundation of Providence by Roger Williams, who had been expelled from Salem in 1634 for holding heretical doctrines subversive of church and state.

1637. War of Connecticut (first general court at Hartford) and Massachusetts against the unruly tribe of Pequots in Connecticut. Extermination of the Indians (Capt. John Mason).

1638. Foundation of the colony of Rhode Island by John Clark and others, who left Massachusetts on account of religious differences. Purchase of the island of Aquedneck (afterwards Isle of Rhodes) from the Indians.

Foundation of the colony of New Haven in Connecticut under Davenport and Eaton.

In this year another attempt was made by quo warranto process to rescind the charter of Massachusetts, but it failed of success.

In consequence of a bequest of £779 17s. 2d. from John Harvard, of Charlestown, the public school which the colony had enacted in the previous year should be established at Newtown received the name of Harvard College, while the name of the town was changed to Cambridge.

1639. Windsor, Hartford, Wethersfield, on the Connecticut, united to form a separate government. The constitution (Jan. 14) placed the executive, legislative, and judicial powers in the general assembly, composed of the deputies of the towns in the ratio of numbers of freemen, meeting twice a year. All could vote who had taken the oath of allegiance to the constitution.

The grant of Sir Ferdinando Gorges was confirmed to him by the crown under the title of the Province of Maine.

A general assembly of the deputies of the towns in Plymouth colony met for the first time (June 4).

1641. The Body of Liberties, a code of 100 laws established by the general court of the colony of Massachusetts Bay.
1643. Creation of the United Colonies of New England by the alliance of Connecticut, New Haven, Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay (May 19) for mutual defense.

B. Dutch Settlements.

1609. Henry Hudson, an Englishman in Dutch service, coasted from Newfoundland to the Chesapeake, and entered Hudson's River. Trading voyages of the Dutch (1610-1613).
1613. Establishment of a Dutch trading post on the island of Manhattan at the mouth of the Hudson, or North River (so called to distinguish it from the South River, or Delaware). Alleged submission of the Dutch to Argal (p. 292).
1614. Establishment of the United New Netherland Company in Holland with a grant in America of territory from 40° N. to 45° N. Fort built at Manhattan, another, Fort Orange, near the present Albany (1615). Voyage of Adrian Block through Long Island sound (Block Island).
1621. Creation of the Dutch West India Company to take the place of the New Netherland Company whose charter had expired.
1626. Peter Minuit, having purchased Manhattan Island for twenty-four dollars, founded the settlement of New Amsterdam.

Settlements were made under the charter of the company in Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, as well as in New York. Many of these were founded under an enactment of the company which gave the title of patroon to any person who should bring over a certain number of colonists under certain conditions; the title represented a certain relation of suzerainty between the founder and the colonists.

The council for New England had opposed what it regarded as the Dutch invasion in 1620-21, and the remonstrances of the English grew stronger after the foundation of New Amsterdam (1627, 1632). The settlement of Connecticut from New England (1632-1638) was opposed by the Dutch in vain, and the entire region was wrested from them. (Protest of Kieft, governor of New Netherland against the foundation of New Haven.) The Dutch drove a flourishing trade with the Five Nations of the Iroquois in central New York, whom they supplied with firearms.

C. Swedish Settlements.

1638. Foundation of Fort Christina on the Delaware by a colony of Swedes and Finns. The colony was called New Sweden, and was followed by other settlements. The Dutch considered this an invasion of their rights, but the disputes that followed led to no result until 1655, when New Sweden was annexed to New Netherlands.

D. New France and the Arctic Region.

It must be remembered that France claimed, by right of the discoveries of Verrazano, the whole of North America north of Spanish Florida and Mexico, although settlements had been made only in Nova Scotia and on the St. Lawrence, nothing having come of the projected settlement between Spanish Florida and English Virginia. It was with the French in the north that the English settlers had to deal; it was to Canada that they applied the name of New France, as that of Acadia was restricted to Nova Scotia. From the north the French afterwards made the great discoveries in the west which gave them new claims to the larger part of America.

1606. An attempted settlement on Cape Cod repulsed by the Indians.

1608. Foundation of Quebec (July 3) by a colony sent out by De Monts, under Champlain.

1609. Champlain, joining a war party of the Algonquins against the Iroquois, discovered Lake Champlain.

1610. Discovery of Hudson's Bay by Henry Hudson, who was searching for the northwest passage, in the service of an English company. On the return the crew mutinied and Hudson was put to sea in a small boat, and not heard of again.

1610. English colony sent to Newfoundland 46° N. to 52° N. (Conception Bay).

1612. Voyage of Thomas Button in search of the Northwest Passage. Discovery of New South Wales and New North Wales, Button's Bay.

1613. Madame de Guercheville, having secured the surrender of De Monts' patent, and the issue of a new patent from the crown for all New France between Florida and the St. Lawrence (except Port Royal), sent Saussage with two Jesuits, who took possession of Nova Scotia and founded a colony (St. Saviour) on Mt. Desert, which was immediately broken up by Argal's expedition from Virginia. All the French settlements in Acadia were also destroyed.

1615. Expedition of Champlain to Lake Huron.

1616. Voyage of Bylot and Baffin in search of the Northwest Passage. Discovery of Wolstenholme's Sound, Lancaster Sound, Baffin's Bay (78° N.).

1621. Grant of Acadia under the name of Nova Scotia, to Sir William Alexander by the crown of Scotland. An attempt at settlement was unsuccessful and the French continued in possession. Grant of a part of Newfoundland to Sir George Calvert (Lord Baltimore) who resided there until 1631.

1627. Transfer of the colony of Quebec to the company of a hundred associates under Cardinal Richelieu.

1629. Conquest of Quebec by Louis and Thomas Kerk, under a commission from Charles I. for the conquest of New France. An attack of David Kerk in 1628 had been repulsed by Champlain.

1630. St. Estienne of La Tour, a Huguenot, bought from Sir William Alexander his patent for Nova Scotia, on condition that the colony should remain subject to Scotland.
1631. Voyages of Fox and James in search of a Northwest Passage. Fox explored the west coast of Hudson Bay from 65° 30' to 55° 10' in vain, but discovered Fox's Channel and reached Cape Peregrine. James discovered James Bay, where he passed a terrible winter.
1632. Treaty of St. Germain between France and England. Cession of New France, Acadia, and Canada to France.
1635. Seizure of the trading post established at Penobscot by the Plymouth colonists by the French. Plymouth sent a vessel against the French, but failed to recover the place. Death of Champlain.
1641. Maisonneuve appointed governor of Montreal; in 1642 he brought over several families and took possession of the island. (See p. 357.)

§ 3. GERMANY TO THE THIRTY YEARS' WAR. THE REFORMATION. (See p. 253.)

1493-1519. Maximilian I.,

who first took the title of "Roman Emperor elect."

1495. Diet at Worms. Perpetual public peace. Imperial Chamber (Reichskammergericht), first at Frankfort, then at Speier, after 1689 at Wetzlar. At the diet of Cologne (1512), establishment of ten circles for the better maintenance of the public peace (Landfriedenskreise): Circle of: 1. Austria; 2. Bavaria; 3. Swabia; 4. Franconia; 5. the Upper Rhine (Lorraine, Hesse, etc.); 6. the Lower Rhine, or the Electorates (Mainz, Trier, Cologne); 7. Burgundy (1556, ceded to the Spanish line of Hapsburg); 8. Westphalia; 9. Lower Saxony (Brunswick, Lüneburg, Lauenburg, Holstein, Mecklenburg, etc.); 10. Upper Saxony (Saxony, Brandenburg, Pomerania, etc.). In all comprising 240 estates of the empire, exclusive of the imperial knights. Bohemia and the neighboring states, Moravia, Silesia, Lusatia, with Prussia and Switzerland, which was already completely independent, in fact, were not included in the circles.

Establishment of the Aulic Council, a court more under the control of the emperor than the Imperial Chamber, and to which a large part of the work belonging to the latter was gradually diverted.

Maximilian was obliged to invest Louis XII. of France with Milan.

1508. League of Cambray between Maximilian, Louis XII., Pope Julius II., and Ferdinand the Catholic, against Venice. Maximilian took possession of a part of the territory of the republic, but besieged Padua in vain (1509). The Pope withdrew from the league, and concluded with Venice and Ferdinand the Holy League (1511) against France, in which they were finally (1513) joined by Maximilian (p. 319).

The following genealogical table shows the claim of the house of Hapsburg to Spain, and its division into a Spanish and German line.

Maximilian's son Philip married Joanna, daughter of Ferdinand (king of Aragon and Naples) and Isabella (queen of Castile), hence heiress of the three kingdoms and the American Colonies. Philip himself inherited from his mother, Mary, the heiress of Burgundy, the Burgundian Lands; from his father, Maximilian, all the possessions of the Hapsburgs (Western Austria on the upper Rhine, Austria, Carinthia, Carniola, Tyrol, etc.). All these lands descended to Charles, the eldest son of Philip and Joanna, the ancestor of the elder, Spanish, line of the Hapsburg house. His younger brother, Ferdinand, ancestor of the younger, German, line of the house of Hapsburg, married Anna, sister of Louis II., last king of Bohemia and Hungary (whose wife was Mary, Ferdinand's sister).¹

1517. Beginning of the Reformation. Luther.

Martin Luther was born 1483 at Eisleben, son of a miner, became master of arts and instructor 1505; monk in the Augustine monastery at Erfurt; 1507 priest; 1508 professor at Wittenberg; 1511 sent to Rome on business connected with his order; 1512 doctor of theology. On Oct. 31, 1517, he nailed upon the door of the court church at Wittenberg his ninety-five theses against the misuse of absolution or indulgences (especially by the Dominican monk Tetzel). 1518. Beginning of the reformation in Switzerland by Zwingli at Zürich. Zwingli fell in battle at Kappel 1531.

Summoned to Augsburg by Cardinal de Vio of Gaëta (Cajetan), Luther could not be induced to abjure (1518), but appealed to the Pope.²

Mediation of the papal chamberlain v. Miltitz. After the discussion at Leipzig 1519 (Bodenstein, called Carlstadt, against Eck), the latter secured a papal bull against forty-one articles in Luther's writings.

¹ These fortunate marriages of the house of Austria were celebrated in the following couplet:

Bella gerant alii, tu felix Austria, nube!
Quæ dat Mars alius, dat tibi regna Venus.

Luther burnt (1520) the papal bull and the canon law ; whereupon he was excommunicated. In the mean time the German electors, in spite of the claims of Francis I. of France, had chosen the grandson of Maximilian I. in Spain, Charles I., as emperor.

1519-1556. Charles V.

He came to Germany for the first time in 1520, for the purpose of holding a grand diet at Worms (1521). There Luther defended his doctrines before the emperor, under a safe-conduct. The ban of the empire being pronounced against him, he was carried to the Wartburg by Frederic the Wise, of Saxony, and there protected. The edict of Worms prohibited all new doctrines. Luther's translation of the Bible. Hearing of Carlstadt's misdoings he returned to Wittenberg, and introduced public worship, with the liturgy in German and communion in both kinds, in electoral Saxony and in Hesse (1522). The spread of the Reformation in Germany was favored by the fact that the emperor, after the diet of Worms, had left Germany and was occupied with the war with Francis I.

Franz von Sickingen and Ulrich von Hutten advocated the Reformation. Sickingen stood at the head of an association of nobles directed against the spiritual principalities. He laid siege to Trier (1522) in vain, was besieged in Landstuhl, and fell in battle. Hutten fled the country and died on the island of Ufnau in the Lake of Zurich (1523).

1524-1525. The Peasants' War, in Swabia and Franconia, accompanied with terrible outrages. The Twelve Articles. The peasants defeated at Königshofen on the Tauber and cruelly punished. Anabaptists in Thuringia. Thomas Münzer captured at Frankenhäusen and executed.

Reformation in Prussia. Grandmaster Albert of Brandenburg duke of Prussia under Polish overlordship.

Luther's marriage with Catharine of Bora, formerly a nun. Catholicism. Ferdinand of Austria, the emperor's younger brother, educated in Spain, to whom Charles had intrusted since 1522 the government of the Hapsburg lands in Germany, formed an alliance in 1524, at the instigation of the papal legate Campeggio, with the two dukes of Bavaria and the bishop of Southern Germany, in order to oppose the religious changes. To counteract this move the league of Torgau was formed (1526) among the Protestants (John of Saxony, Philip of Hesse, Lüneburg, Magdeburg, Prussia, etc.). They procured an enactment at the diet of Speier, favorable to the new doctrine (1526).

1521-1526. First war of Charles V. with Francis I.

Charles advanced claims to Milan and the duchy of Burgundy. Francis claimed Spanish Navarre and Naples. The French (under Lautrec) were driven from Milan, which was given to Francesco Sforza (1522). The French Connétable, Charles of Bourbon, transferred his allegiance to Charles V. Unfortunate invasion of Italy by the French 1523-24, under Bonnivert. The chevalier Bayard ("sans peur et sans reproche") fell during the retreat. Imperial forces invaded southern France. Francis I. crossed Mt. Cenis, and recaptured Milan 1525. Battle of Pavia. Francis defeated and captured.

1526. Peace of Madrid. Francis renounced all claim to Milan, Genoa, and Naples, as well as the overlordship of Flanders and Artois, assented to the cession of the duchy of Burgundy, and gave his sons as hostages.

1527–1529. Second war between Charles V. and Francis I., who had declared that the conditions of the peace of Madrid were extorted by force, and hence void. Alliance at Cognac between Francis, the Pope, Venice and Francesco Sforza against the emperor. The imperial army, unpaid and mutinous, took Rome by storm under the constable of Bourbon, who fell in the assault (by the hand of Benvvenuto Cellini?); the Pope besieged in the Castle of St. Angelo (1527). The French general, Lautrec, invaded Naples, but the revolt of Genoa (Doria), whose independence Charles V. promised to recognize, and the plague, of which Lautrec himself died, compelled the French to raise the siege of the capital and to retire to France.

1529. Peace of Cambray (Paix des Dames). So called from the fact that it was negotiated by Margaret of Austria, Charles's aunt, and Louise of Savoy, duchess of Angoulême, mother of Francis. Francis paid two million crowns and renounced his claims upon Italy, Flanders and Artois; Charles promised not to press his claims upon Burgundy for the present, and released the French princes.

1526–1532. War with the Turks. Louis II., king of Hungary, having fallen in the battle of Mohacs (1526), one party chose Ferdinand, Charles's brother, the other John Zapolya. The latter was assisted by the Sultan Soliman (Suleiman), who besieged Vienna in vain (1529).

1530. Charles crowned emperor in Bologna by the Pope. This was the last coronation of a German emperor by the Pope.

1530. Brilliant diet at Augsburg, the emperor presiding in person. Presentation of the Confession of Augsburg (Confessio Augustana) by Melanchthon (true name Schwarzerd, 1497–1560), the learned friend of Luther. The enactment of the diet commanded the abolition of all innovations.

1531. Schmalkaldic league, agreed upon in 1530, between the maj. Feb. 6. jority of Protestant princes and imperial cities.

Charles caused his brother, Ferdinand, to be elected king of Rome, and crowned at Aachen. The elector of Saxony protested against this proceeding in the name of the Evangelicals. In consequence of the new danger which threatened from the Turks, 1532. Religious Peace of Nuremberg. The Augsburg edict was revoked, and free exercise of their religion permitted the Protestants until the meeting of a new council to be called within a year.

Soliman invaded and ravaged Hungary. Heroic defence of Günz. A great imperial army was sent to the aid of Hungary, and Soliman retired.

1534-1535. Anabaptists in Münster (Johann Bockelsohn, from Leyden).

1534. Philip, landgrave of Hessen, restored the Lutheran duke, Ulrich of Würtemberg, who had been driven out (1519) by the Swabian league of cities. The emperor had invested Ferdinand with the duchy, but the latter was obliged to agree to a compact, whereby he was to renounce Würtemberg, but should be recognized as king of Rome by the evangelical party.

1535. Charles's expedition against Tunis (Chaireddin Barbarossa, the pirate). Tunis conquered; liberation of all Christian slaves.

1536-1538. Third war, between Charles V. and Francis I., about Milan; Francis I. having renewed his claims upon that duchy after the death of Francesco Sforza II., without issue. Charles invaded Provence anew, but fruitlessly. Francis made an inroad into Savoy and Piedmont, and accepted the alliance of Soliman, who pressed Hungary hard, and sent his fleet to ravage the coast of Italy. The war was ended by the 1538. Truce of Nice, which was concluded on the basis of possession, at the time of its formation, for ten years.

July. Meeting between Charles and Francis at Aigues Mortes.

1539-1540. Charles V. crossed France, for the purpose of suppressing a disturbance in Ghent, and was received by Francis with special distinction. Ghent punished by deprivation of its privileges.

1540. The Order of Jesuits, founded by Ignatius Loyola (1534), approved by Pope Paul III., successfully opposed the spread of the Reformation.

1541. Reformation introduced into Geneva by Calvin (Jean Calvin, from Noyon in Picardy; born 1509; Catholic pastor in his eighteenth year, resigned his office; studied law at Orléans and Bourges; came forward as a reformer at Paris in 1532, finding protection from Margaret of Navarre, sister of Francis I. Exiled from France, Calvin went to Basel, published the Institutio christianæ religionis 1535; 1536-1538 in Geneva; 1538-1541 in Strasburg, afterwards head of the state in Geneva, † 1564). From Geneva the Reformation spread to France and Scotland (John Knox).

1541. Charles's unsuccessful expedition against Algiers.

1542. Henry, duke of Brunswick-Wolfenbüttel, driven from the country by the Schmalkaldic League.

1542-1544. Fourth war between Charles V. and Francis I., occasioned by the investiture of Charles's son, Philip, with Milan. The fact that two secret agents, whom Francis had sent to Soliman, were captured in Milan, and when they resisted, put to death, served as a pretext.

Francis in alliance with Soliman and the duke of Cleve. The allied Turkish and French fleets bombarded and plundered Nice. Charles, in alliance with Henry VIII. of England, conquered the duke of Cleve, and advanced as far as Soissons. Soliman invaded Hungary and Austria.

1544. Peace of Crespy ; Francis' second son, the duke of Orleans, Sept. 18. was to marry a princess of the imperial family and receive Milan. He died in 1545, however ; Milan continued in the possession of the emperor, who gave it, nominally, to his son Philip, as a fief. Francis gave up his claims to Naples, and the overlordship of Flanders and Artois ; Charles renounced his claims to Burgundy.

1545-1563. Council of Trent, not attended by the Protestants. Reforms in the church. Establishment of a number of dogmas of the Catholic church.

1546, Feb. 18. Death of Luther at Eisleben.

Charles V., who, since the peace of Crespy, was unhindered by foreign complications, sought to crush the independence of the estates of the empire in Germany, and to restore the unity of the church, to which he was urged by the Pope, who concluded an alliance with him, and promised money and troops.

1546-1547. Schmalkaldic War.

The leaders of the league of Schmalkalden, John Frederic, elector of Saxony, and Philip, landgrave of Hesse, placed under the ban. Duke Maurice of Saxony concluded a secret alliance with the emperor. Irresolute conduct of the war by the allies in upper Germany. The elector and the landgrave could not be induced by general Schärtlin of Augsburg to make a decisive attack, and finally retired, each to his own land. John Frederic of Saxony reconquered his electorate, which Maurice had occupied. Charles V. first reduced the members of the league in southern Germany (Augsburg, Nuremberg, Ulm, duke of Würtemberg, etc.) to subjection, then went to Saxony, forced the passage of the Elbe, and defeated in the

The Ernestine line retained Weimar, Jena, Eisenach, Gotha, etc. The elector was kept in captivity. Philip of Hesse surrendered, and was detained in captivity, although Maurice and Joachim II. of Brandenburg had pledged themselves for his liberation. Interim of Augsburg (1548), not generally accepted by the Protestants. The city of Magdeburg, the centre of the opposition, placed under the ban. Maurice of Saxony, intrusted with the execution of the decree, armed himself in secret against Charles V., and

Aug. 2. adherents of the confession of Augsburg until the next diet. Maurice defeated Albert, margrave of Brandenburg-Culmbach at Sievershausen (1553), but was mortally wounded.

1555. Religious Peace of Augsburg.

Sept. 25.

The territorial princes and the free cities, who, at this date, acknowledged the confession of Augsburg, received freedom of worship, the right to introduce the reformation within their territories (jus reformandi), and equal rights with the Catholic estates. No agreement reached as regarded the Ecclesiastical Reservation that bishops and abbots who became Protestant should lose their offices and incomes; but this provision was inserted by imperial decree. This peace secured no privileges for the reformed religion (Genevan).

1552-1556. War between Charles V. and Henry II., who, as the ally of Maurice, had seized Metz, Toul, and Verdun. Charles besieged Metz, which was successfully defended by Francis of Guise.

The truce of Vaucelles left France, provisionally, in possession of the cities which had been occupied.

1556. Abdication of Charles V. in Brussels (Oct. 25, 1555, and Jan. 15, 1556).

The crown of Spain with the colonies, Naples, Milan, Franche-Comté, and the Netherlands, went to his son Philip; the imperial office and the Hapsburg lands to his brother Ferdinand I. (p. 302, 303). Charles lived in the monastery of St. Just as a private individual, but not as a monk, and died there in 1558.

1556-1564. Ferdinand I., husband of Anna, sister of Louis II., king of Bohemia and Hungary, after whose death he was elected king of these countries by their estates. Constant warfare over the latter country, which he was obliged to abandon, in great part, to the Turks. His son, 1564-1576. Maximilian II.,

was of a mild disposition and favorably inclined to the Protestants, whom he left undisturbed in the free exercise of their religion. War with Zapolya, prince of Transylvania, and the Turks. Sultan Soliman II. died in camp before Sigeth, which was defended by the heroic Zriny. By the truce with Selim II. (1566) each party retained its possessions. The imperial knight, Grumbach, who had broken the public peace by a feud with the bishop of Würzburg, had plundered the city of Würzburg (1563), and had been protected by John Frederick, duke of Saxony, was placed under the ban, and after the capture of Gotha, cruelly executed (1567). The duke was kept in strict confinement in Austria until his death.

The imperial city of Donauwörth, placed under the ban by the emperor, because a mob had disturbed a Catholic procession, was, in spite of the prohibition of the emperor, retained by Maximilian of Bavaria, who had executed the ban (1607). These troubles led to the formation of a 1609. Royal Charter (Majestätsbrief), which permitted a free exercise of religion to the three estates of lords, knights, and royal cities.

1609. Beginning of the quarrel about the succession of Jülich-Cleve on the death of John William, duke of Cleve. The elector of Brandenburg and the prince of Neuburg were the principal claimants.

Rudolf, toward the close of his life, was forced by Matthias to abdicate the government of Bohemia.

1612-1619. Matthias, being childless, and having obtained the renunciation of his brothers, secured for his cousin Ferdinand, duke of Styria, Carinthia, and Carniola, who had been educated by the Jesuits in strict Catholicism, the succession in Bohemia and Hungary, in spite of the objections of the Protestant estates.

§ 4. THE THIRTY YEARS' WAR.

1618-1648.

The Thirty Years' War is generally divided into four periods, which were properly as many different wars. The first two, the Bohemian and the Danish, had a predominant religious character; they developed from the revolt in Bohemia to a general attack by Catholic Europe upon Protestant Europe. The latter two, the Swedish and Swedish-French, were political wars; wars against the power of the house of Hapsburg, and wars of conquest on the part of Sweden and France upon German soil.

1. Period of war in Bohemia and the County Palatine. (1618-1623.)

Occasion: Closing of a Utraquist¹ church in the territory of the abbot of Braunau, and destruction of another in a city of the archbishop of Prague, that is, in the territory of ecclesiastical estates, which according to the view of the Protestants ought to be regarded as royal estates, in accordance with the Bohemian constitution.¹ The irritation of the Bohemian Protestants (Utraquists) was increased by the transference of the administration of the country to ten governors, seven of whom were Catholics. Meeting of the defenders, and revolt in Prague, headed by count Matthias of Thurn. The governors, Martinitz and Slawata, and the secretary, Fabricius, thrown from a window in the palace of Prague, seventy feet into the ditch, but escaped with their lives (May 23, 1618). Thirty directors appointed by the rebels. The Protestant Union sent count Mansfeld to the aid of the Bohemians. From Silesia and Lusatia came troops under margrave John George of Jägerndorf. The imperial forces were defeated by Mansfeld and count Thurn. The emperor Matthias died 1619.

Count Thurn marched upon Vienna. The Austrian estates, for the most part Protestants, threatened to join the Bohemians, and made rough demands upon Ferdinand, who, by his courage and the arrival of a few troops, was rescued from a dangerous situation. Thurn, who arrived before Vienna shortly afterwards, was soon obliged to retire by an unfavorable turn of the war in Bohemia.² Ferdinand went to Frankfort, where he was elected emperor by the other six electors.

1619–1637. Ferdinand II.

Meantime the Bohemians had deposed him from the throne of Bohemia and elected the young Frederic V., elector palatine, the head of the Union and of the German Calvinists, son-in-law of James I., king of England. ("The Winter King").

Count Thurn, for the second time before Vienna, allied with Bethlen Gabor, prince of Transylvania (Nov. 1619). Cold, want, and an inroad of an imperial partisan in Hungary, caused a retreat.

Ferdinand leagued himself with Maximilian, duke of Bavaria, head of the Catholic League, the friend of his youth, who helped him subdue the Austrian estates, with Spain (Spinola invaded the county palatine; treaty of Ulm, July 3, 1620; neutrality of the Union secured), and with the Lutheran elector of Saxony, who re-subjugated Lusatia and Silesia. Maximilian of Bavaria, with the army of the League commanded by Tilly, marched to Bohemia and joined the imperial general Buquoy. They were victorious in the over the troops of Frederic V., under the command of Christian of Anhalt. Frederic was put under the ban, and his lands confiscated; he himself fled to Holland. Christian of Anhalt and John George of Brandenburg-Jägerndorf, also put under the ban. Subjugation of the Bohemians, destruction of the Royal Charter, execution of the leading rebels, extirpation of Protestantism in Bohemia. Afterwards, violent anti-reformation in Austria, and, with less violence, in Silesia.

Dissolution of the Protestant Union and transfer of the seat of war to the palatinate, which was conquered in execution of the ban by Maximilian's general, Tilly (Jan Tzerklas, baron of Tilly, born 1559, in the Walloon Brabant), with the help of Spanish troops under Spinola. Tilly, defeated at Wiesloch by Mansfeld (April, 1622), defeated the margrave of Baden-Durlach at Wimpfen (May), and Christian of Brunswick, brother of the reigning duke and administrator of the bishopric of Halberstadt, at Höchst (June, 1622), and again at Stadtilohn in Westphalia (1623).

1623. Maximilian received the electoral vote belonging to Frederic V. and the Upper Palatinate; Saxony obtained Lusatia for the present in pledge.

2. Danish Period. Seat of War in Lower Saxony.

1625-1629.

Christian IV., king of Denmark and duke of Holstein, was the head of the Lower Saxon Circle, and the leader of the Protestants.

Albert of Wallenstein (Waldstein, born 1583, in Bohemia, of an utraquist family, but educated in the Catholic faith, 1617 count, 1623 prince of the empire, 1624 duke of Friedland) became the imperial commander of an army, recruited by himself, which was to be provisioned by a system of robbery.

Wallenstein defeated Mansfeld at the Bridge of Dessau (1626), pursued him through Silesia to Hungary, where Mansfeld joined Bethlen Gabor. Mansfeld died in Dalmatia (Nov., 1626). Christian of Brunswick had died in June of the same year.

Tilly defeated Christian IV. at Luther am Barenberge, in Brunswick (Aug., 1626). Tilly and Wallenstein conquered Holstein (1627). Wallenstein alone conquered Schleswig and Jutland, drove the dukes of Mecklenburg from the country, forced the duke of Pommern to submission, but besieged Stralsund (1628) in vain, the citizens defending themselves heroically for ten weeks.

1629. Peace of Lübeck

May 22. between the emperor and Christian IV. The latter received his lands back, but promised not to interfere in German affairs, and abandoned his allies. The dukes of Mecklenburg put under the ban. Wallenstein invested with their lands.

1629, March 29. Edict of Restitution: 1. Agreeably to the ecclesiastical reservation (p. 306), all ecclesiastical estates which had been confiscated since the convention of Passau should be restored. This affected two archbishoprics: Magdeburg and Bremen; twelve bishoprics: Minden, Verden, Halberstadt, Lübeck, Ratzeburg, Meissen, Merseburg, Naumburg (the latter three were, however, left in the possession of the elector of Saxony), Brandenburg, Havelberg, Lebus and Cammin, besides very many (about 120) monasteries and foundations. 2. Only the adherents of the Augsburg confession were to have free exercise of religion; all other "sects" were to be broken up. Beginning of a merciless execution of the edict by Wallenstein's troops and those of the League.

1630. Electoral Assembly at Regensburg (Ratisbon).

The party of Bavaria and the League was hostile to Wallenstein and took up a position of determined opposition to the too powerful general. An excuse was found in the loud and well founded complaints of all estates of the empire, particularly the Catholics, over the terrible extortion and cruelty practiced by Wallenstein's army. The emperor consented to decree the dismissal of the general and a large part of the army.

1627–1631. War of succession over Mantua by the houses of Nevers and Guastalla. The former, supported by France (Richelieu himself took the field) obtained the duchy in the peace of Cherasco (April 6) although the imperial forces had been victorious and captured Mantua.

3. Swedish Period (1630–1635).

1630. Gustavus II., Adolphus, king of Sweden, landed on July. the coast of Pomerania.

Object and grounds of his interference: protection of the oppressed Protestants; restoration of the dukes of Mecklenburg, his relatives; the rejection of his mediation at the peace of Lübeck; anxiety in regard to the maritime plans of the emperor.

Political position of Sweden: Finland, Ingermannland, Esthonia, Livonia, belonged to the kingdom of Gustavus; Curland was under Swedish influence. An ambitious monarch might easily dream of the acquisition of Prussia and Pomerania, which would have almost made the Baltic a Swedish sea.

Gustavus concluded a subsidy treaty with France (Richelieu).

Gustavus Adolphus drove the imperial forces from Pomerania and marched up the Oder, where Tilly came against him (1631). The king went to Mecklenburg. Tilly retired to the Elbe, and laid siege to Magdeburg. Gustavus Adolphus captured Frankfort on the Oder. Negotiations with his brother-in-law, George William, elector of Brandenburg (1619–1640), who was under the influence of Schwarzenberg. Spandau was at last surrendered to him. Negotiations in regard to the surrender of Wittenberg, with Saxony, which endeavored to maintain the position of a third, mediatory, party in the empire, a sort of armed neutrality (diet of princes at Leipzig, 1631), and was with difficulty brought to form an alliance with an enemy of the empire. Meanwhile 1631. Capture of Magdeburg by Tilly. The storm was conducted May 20. by Pappenheim. Terrible massacre and sack of the city by the unbridled soldiery of Tilly, who did what he could to check the outrages. Fire broke out suddenly in many places far removed from one another, and the whole city with the exception of the cathedral was consumed (not by Tilly's command).¹

Tilly took possession of Halle, Eisleben, Merseburg, and other cities and burned them. John George, elector of Saxony, formed an alliance with Gustavus Adolphus, who crossed the Elbe at Wittenberg. Leipzig occupied by Tilly. The imperial army and that of the Swedes and Saxons, each about 40,000 strong, were face to face.

1631. Battle of Leipzig or Breitenfeld.

Sept. 17. The Saxons were at first put to rout by Tilly, but after a bloody fight Gustavus Adolphus won a brilliant victory.

The Saxons entered Bohemia. Gustavus crossed Thuringia and Franconia to the Rhine by way of Erfurt, Würzburg, Hanau, Frankfort, Darmstadt, crossed the Rhine at Oppenheim, and occupied Mainz. Winter quarters.

Meantime Prague was captured by the Saxons under Arnim (Boytzenburg), a former subordinate of Wallenstein. The emperor held fruitless negotiations with the Saxons.

At the urgent request of Ferdinand, Wallenstein collected an army, over which he received uncontrolled command. He recaptured Prague, and drove the Saxons from Bohemia. Their eagerness for the war and the Swedish alliance was already chilled.

1632. Gustavus advanced to the Danube by way of Nuremberg to meet Tilly. Conflict at Rain, near the confluence of the Lenz and the Danube. Tilly, mortally wounded, died at Ingolstadt. He was seventy-three years old.

Gustavus went to Augsburg, vainly besieged Maximilian in Ingolstadt, but forced Munich to surrender. Wallenstein summoned to the assistance of Maximilian.

1632. Fortified camp near Nuremberg.

July-Sept. (Burgstall). Gustavus and Wallenstein face to face for eleven weeks. Wallenstein declined battle. Reinforced by Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar, the Swedes attacked Wallenstein's intrenchments, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Gustavus advanced to the Danube. Wallenstein turned upon Saxony, now defenseless, Arnim having marched through Lusatia to Silesia with the Saxon and Brandenburg troops. Terrible ravages committed by the bands of Wallenstein. At the call of the elector of Saxony, Gustavus hastened back by way of Kitzingen and Schweinfurt, joined Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar in Arnstadt, marched upon Naumburg, and hearing that Wallenstein had dispatched Pappenheim from Leipzig to the Rhine, attacked the imperial forces (18,000 against 20,000 Swedes).

1632. Battle of Lützen. Death of Gustavus Adolphus.¹

Nov. 16. Pappenheim, recalled in haste, took part in the battle with his cavalry, after three o'clock; he was mortally wounded. The victory of the Swedes was completed by Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar.

Bernhard, Gustavus Horn, and Banér took command of the Swedish forces. The conduct of foreign affairs was assumed by the Swedish chancellor, Axel Oxenstierna (born 1583, councillor since 1609). League of Heilbronn between the circles of Swabia, Franconia, Upper and Lower Rhine, on the one part, and Sweden on the other.

1633. Expedition of Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar to Franconia. He took Bamberg and Höchstädt, drove back the Bavarians under Aldringer, and joined fieldmarshal Horn. Bernhard received from the chancellor the investiture, with the bishoprics of Würzburg and Bamberg, under the name of the Duchy of Franconia, and occupied the upper Palatinate.

Feb. After Wallenstein had tried and punished with death many of his officers in Prague, and had filled their places with new recruits, he marched to Silesia, fought with the Saxon, Brandenburg, and Swedish troops, and negotiated frequently with Arnim. Negotiations with Oxenstierna.

Oct. Capture of a Swedish corps at Steinau-on-the-Oder. Wallenstein invaded Brandenburg, sending raiders as far as Berlin, and then plundered Lusatia.

Nov. Regensburg (Ratisbon) captured by Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar. Wallenstein found himself unable to go to the assistance of the elector of Bavaria, as the emperor urged, and went into winter quarters in Bohemia.

Growing estrangement between Wallenstein and the imperial court. The Spanish party and the league wished him removed from his command. Wallenstein conducted secret negotiations with the Saxons, the Swedes, the French. He intended to create, with the help of the army (declaration of the generals Piccolomini, Gallas, and Aldringer, at Pilsen), an independent position for himself, whence he could, with the aid of the two north German electors, liberate the emperor from the control of the Spanish party, and, if necessary, compel him to make peace and reorganize the internal affairs of the empire (on the basis of a religious peace?). He had resolved upon open revolt if the hostile party continued in power. Whether he harbored a wish for the crown of Bohemia, along with other fantastic plans, it is hard to decide. The court of Vienna succeeded in detaching the principal generals (Piccolomini, Gallas, Aldringer, Marradas, Colloredo) from his cause. Ilow, Trzka, Kinski, remained faithful.

1634. Imperial proclamation: "Friedland was concerned in a conspiracy to rob the emperor of his crown." The chief officers of the army commanded to no longer obey him.

Feb. 18. Second proclamation, formally deposing Wallenstein. On the 24th Wallenstein went to Eger, where he was to be met by Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar, and Arnim. There occurred the Feb. 25. Assassination of Wallenstein by captain Devereux, at the instigation of the Irish general, Butler, after his intimate friends had been treacherously massacred. The emperor had not commanded the murder, nor had he definitely desired it; but he had given rein to the party which he knew wished "to bring in Wallenstein, alive or dead," and, after the deed was done, he rewarded the murderers with honor and riches.

1634. Victory of the imperialists under Ferdinand, the emperor's son, and Gallas and the Bavarians (John of Werth), over the Swedes at Nördlingen.

1635. Peace of Prague,

May 30. between the emperor and the elector of Saxony. 1. The elector received Lusatia permanently, and the archbishopric of Magdeburg for his second son, August, for life. 2. Those ecclesiastical estates, not held immediately of the emperor, which had been confiscated before the convention of Passau (p. 305), should remain to the possessor forever; all others should remain for forty years (from 1627), and in case no further understanding was reached before the expiration of that period, forever, in the condition in which they were on Nov. 12, 1627. 3. Amnesty, except for participants in the disturbances in Bohemia and the Palatinate; common cause to be made against Sweden. The Lutherans alone to be allowed freedom of worship. Brandenburg and the majority of the other Protestant estates accepted the peace.

4. Swedish-French period (1635-1648).

The policy of Sweden was determined by Oxenstierna, that of France by Richelieu († 1642), and afterwards by Mazarin. France fought at first in the person of Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar only, with whom subsidy-treaties had been concluded, and who was trying to conquer himself a new state in Alsace, in place of the duchy of Franconia, which he had lost by the battle of Nördlingen. Capture of Breisach, 1638. After his death (1639) France took control of his army.

1636. Victory of the Swedes under Banér at Wittstock over the imperialists and the Saxons. Death of Ferdinand II. His son, 1637-1657. Ferdinand III., was desirous of peace.

The ducal house of Pomerania became extinct (1637).

After the death of Banér (1641) Torstenson became commander-in-chief of the Swedes.

1640. Death of George William. Frederic William, elector of Brandenburg. (The great elector, 1640-1688).

1641. Discussion of the preliminaries of peace in Hamburg. A congress agreed upon.

1642. Second Battle of Leipzig (Breitenfeld). Torstenson defeated the imperialists under Piccolomini.

Torstenson threatened the hereditary estates of the emperor. These Swedish successes aroused the envy of Christian IV. of Denmark. Hence 1643-1645. War between Denmark and Sweden.

1643. Torstenson hastened by forced marches through Silesia, Saxony, Brunswick, to the north, conquered Holstein and Schleswig, and invaded Jütland.

Meanwhile the French in South Germany, under Marshall Guebriant, had penetrated to Rottweil (Württemberg). Guebriant fell in battle. Shortly afterwards the French, under Rantzau, were surprised at Duttlingen by an Austro-Bavarian army under Mercy and Werth, and totally defeated.

1643. Opening of the negotiations for peace in Osnabrück with the Swedes; 1644 in Münster with the French.

Marshal Turenne and the twenty-one-year-old prince of Bourbon, duke of Enghien, afterwards Prince of Condé, appointed commanders-in-chief of the French troops. They forced the 1644. Bavarians under Mercy to retreat. Condé captured Mannheim, Speier, and Philippsburg. Turenne took Worms, Oppenheim, Mainz, and Landau.

Meanwhile an imperial army, under Gallas, had been sent to the aid of the Danes, who were hard pressed, both by land and by sea (by the Swedish admiral, Gustavus Wrangel).

1645. The imperial force was repulsed by *Torsten*son and Königsmark, pursued into Germany, and almost annihilated at Magdeburg.

March. Brilliant victory of *Torsten*son over the imperialists at Jan-kau, not far from Tabor, in Bohemia, whereupon, in union with the prince of Transylvania, Rakoczy, he conquered the whole of Moravia, and advanced hard upon Vienna.

May. Turenne defeated by John of Werth at Mergentheim, in Franconia.

Aug. Turenne, at the head of the French and Hessians, defeated the Bavarians at Allersheim.

Peace between Sweden and Denmark at Brömsebro (p. 352).

After a futile siege of Brünn, the plague having broken out in his army, *Torsten*son returned to Bohemia. He resigned his command on account of illness, and was succeeded by Wrangel.

1646. Wrangel left Bohemia, united to his own force the Swedish troops under Königsmark in Westphalia, and joined Turenne at Giessen. Swedes and French invaded Bavaria and forced the elector Maximilian to conclude the 1647. Truce of Ulm, and to renounce his alliance with the emperor. after Turenne had been recalled, from envy at the Swedish successes, and Wrangel had gone to Bohemia, Maximilian broke the truce and joined the imperialists again.

1648. Second invasion of Bavaria by the French and Swedes; terrible ravages. A flood in the Inn prevented the further advance of the allies, who returned to the upper Palatinate. The Swedish general Königsmark captured that part of Prague on the right bank of the Moldau (Kleinseite).

Terrible condition of Germany. Irreparable losses of men and wealth. Reduction of population; increase of poverty; retrogradation in all ranks.

1648. Peace of Westphalia.

Oct. 24.

Negotiations from 1645-1648. Imperial ambassadors, count Trautmannsdorf and Dr. Volmar. French, count d'Avaux and count Servien. Swedish, count Oxenstierna, son of the chancellor, and baron Salvius. France and Sweden, against the will of the emperor, secured the participation of the estates of the empire in the negotiations.

Conditions of the Peace.¹

A. Indemnifications.

1. Sweden received as a fief of the empire the whole of hither Pomerania and Rügen with a part of farther Pomerania (Stettin; Garz, Damm, Gollnow, Wollin, and Usedom), the city of Wismar, formerly belonging to Mecklenburg, and the bishoprics Bremen (not the city) and Verden as secular duchies, and five million rix dollars. Sweden became a member of the diet with three votes.

2. France received without reservation of the feudal overlordship of the empire, hence with absolute sovereignty : the bishoprics and cities of Metz, Toul, and Verdun, which had been in French hands since 1552 ; Pignerol, the city of Breisach, the landgravate of upper and lower Alsace, which belonged to a branch of the Austrian house, and the government of ten imperial cities in Alsace (præfectura provincialis decem civitatum imperialium), with express acknowledgment of their previous freedom. The other imperial estates in Alsace (particularly Strasburg) retained their immediate relation to the empire and their freedom. France also received the right of garrisoning Philippsburg.

3. Hesse-Cassel : abbey of Hersfeld, Schaumburg, the fiefs of the foundation of Minden, and 600,000 rix dollars.

4. Brandenburg : as indemnification for Pomerania which belonged to Brandenburg by the law of inheritance, but of which it received the larger part of farther Pomerania only, the bishoprics of Halberstadt, Minden, and Camin as secular principalities, the archbishopric of Magdeburg as a duchy, with the reservation that it should remain in possession of the administrator August of Saxony, during his life († 1680).

5. Mecklenburg : the bishoprics of Schwerin and Ratzeburg as principalities.

6. Brunswick : alternate presentation to the bishopric of Osnabrück, where a Catholic and evangelical bishop were to alternate.

B. Secular Affairs of the Empire.

1. General amnesty and return to the condition of things in 1618.

2. The electoral dignity and the upper Palatinate were left in the hands of the Wilhelmian line (Bavaria) of the house of Wittelsbach, while a new electorate (the eighth) was created for the Rudolfian line (Palatinate).

3. The territorial superiority (Landeshoheit) of the whole body of estates, as regarded their relation to the emperor, was recognized, which involved the right of concluding alliances with one another and with foreign powers, if they were not directed against empire or emperor. (Afterwards, since 1663, the standing diet at Regensburg developed the German constitution more in detail.)

4. The republics of the United Netherlands and of Switzerland were recognized as independent of the empire (p. 247).

C. Ecclesiastical Affairs (Gravamina ecclesiastica).

1. The Convention of Passau and the Peace of Augsburg (pp. 305–306) were approved and extended so as to include the Calvinists.

2. Catholic and Protestant estates were to be on an entire equality in all affairs of the empire.

3. January 1, 1624, was adopted as the norm (annus normalis) by which questions of ownership of ecclesiastical estates and exercise of religion should be settled. As things were upon that date, so they were to remain forever ; that is, the ecclesiastical reservation (p. 306) was acknowledged to be binding for the future. The subjugated Protestants in Austria and Bohemia obtained no rights by the peace, but those evangelical states which had been gained by the anti-reformation during the war (the Lower Palatinate, Württemberg, Baden, etc.) were allowed to resume the exercise of that religion which had been theirs in 1618. The jus reformandi, the privilege of deciding by fiat the religion of those subjects to whom the year 1628 did not secure free exercise of religion, was retained for the future by the territorial lords. The right of emigration was, however, reserved to the subjects in such cases. The imperial court (Reichskammergericht) was restored, and its members were to be equally divided between Protestants and Catholics.

France and Sweden guaranteed the peace.

1498-1589. Houses of Orleans and Angoulême.

Branch line of the house of Valois (since 1328, p. 257) whose relation to the main line is shown in the following genealogical table :

Charles V. (third king of the house of Valois). 1364-1380.

obtained a divorce from Joanna, daughter of Louis XI., and married Anna of Brittany, widow of Charles VIII., in order to keep this duchy for the crown ; as grandson of Valentina Visconti he laid claim to Milan, drove out Ludovico Moro, who was imprisoned when he ventured to return to Milan (1500).

1501. Louis XII. in alliance with Ferdinand the Catholic, king of Aragon, conquered the kingdom of Naples. The Spaniards and French soon falling out, the latter were defeated by the Spanish general Gonzalvo de Cordova on the Garigliano (1504). Louis XII. gave up his claims to Naples.

1508. Louis a party in the League of Cambray, p. 300. In 1511 the Pope, Ferdinand the Catholic, and Venice, concluded the Holy League, with the object of driving the French out of Italy. The latter, under the young Gaston de Foix, duke of Nemours, nephew of Louis XII., were at first successful in the war, taking Brescia (1512) by storm (Bayard, "without reproach or fear"), and defeating the united Spanish and Papal armies at Ravenna, with the aid of 5000 German mercenaries, in the same year; they were, however, compelled by the Swiss to evacuate Milan. In 1513 the French formed a new alliance with Venice, but were defeated by the Swiss at Novara and withdrew from Italy. Henry VIII. of England, who had joined the Holy League in 1512, and the emperor Maximilian who had joined in 1513, invaded France, and defeated the French at 1513. Guinegate, called the "Battle of the Spurs" from the hasty Aug. 17. flight of the French.

France concluded peace with the Pope, with Spain (1513), with the emperor, and with Henry VIII. (1514). Anna of Brittany having died, Louis took, as his third wife, Mary the sister of Henry VIII. He died soon after the marriage (Jan. 1, 1515). He was succeeded by his cousin, the Count of Angoulême, who had married Claudia, daughter of Louis XII. and Anna, hence heiress of Brittany, which, however, was not actually incorporated with France until 1598. As king the count of Angoulême is known as 1515-1547. Francis I. Courageous, fond of display, disolute.

1515. He reconquered Milan by the brilliant victory of Marignano Sept. 13-14. over the Swiss, who fought most bravely. Peace and alliance between France and Switzerland. Treaty of Geneva (Nov. 7, 1515); treaty of Fribourg (Nov. 29, 1516). The latter (la paix perpetuelle) endured till the French Revolution.

1516. Increase of the royal power by a Concordat with the Pope which rescinded the Pragmatic Sanction of 1438 and placed the choice of bishops and abbots in the hands of the king; the Pope on the other hand received the annates, or the first year's revenue of every ecclesiastical domain where the king's right of presentation was exercised. Francis also abandoned the principle of the Council of Basle, that the Pope was subordinate to an œcumenical council.

1520. Meeting of Francis and Henry VIII. of England in the neighborhood of Calais. "Field of the Cloth of Gold." The wars of Francis with Charles V. (p. 302, etc.) occupied the rest of Francis' reign. Restrictions upon the political rights of the Parliaments. Cultivation of literature and the arts. Rabelais (1483-1553). Persecutions of the Protestants. Francis died March 31, 1547. He was succeeded by his son

HOUSE OF LORRAINE AND GUISE.

Henry's mistress, Diana of Poitiers, duchess of Valentinois, ruled him almost absolutely. Montmorency, constable. Persecution of the Protestants in France; assistance to German Protestants.

DESCENT OF BRITTANY.

1552. War with Charles V. (p. 306.) Seizure of the three bishoprics, Toul, Metz, Verdun.

1556–1559. War with Philip II. of Spain. The French defeated by the Spaniards with the aid of the English at 1557. St. Quentin (on the Somme), and by count Egmont at Gravelines (1558).

1558. Calais and Guines, the last English possessions in France, Jan. captured by Francis, duke of Guise.

1559. Peace of Cateau-Cambrésis: the French restored all their conquests except Calais and the three bishoprics (Metz, Toul and Verdun). Henry II., who died of a wound received in a tourney, was succeeded by his three weak sons.

1559–1560. Francis II. (sixteen years old), the first husband of Mary Stuart of Scotland, a niece of the Guises. Persecution of the Protestants (chambres ardentes). Cruel executions. The king's mother, Catharine de' Medici, struggled for power and influence against the Bourbon princes, Anton (king of Navarre) and Louis of Condé, descended from Louis IX. The Guises, at first rivals of the queen and then in alliance with her, conducted all affairs of state and surpassed in influence their opponents, the Catholic constable Montmorency, and his nephews, the three brothers Châtillon: Gaspard, admiral de Coligny (1517–1572), Francois d'Andelot, Cardinal Châtillon, afterwards leaders of the Huguenots. De l'Hôpital, chancellor. Conspiracy of Amboise (La Renaudie) against the Guises defeated (1560). Death of Francis II.

1560–1574. Charles IX.,

1562–1598. Wars of the Huguenots.¹

Cruel persecutions compelled the Huguenots to take up arms. At the same time they became a political party opposed to the Catholic party. The wars of the Huguenots were therefore not simply religious wars, but also political civil wars, in which the leaders of both parties were endeavoring to take advantage of the weakness of the king and get control of the government. The first three wars form properly one war, interrupted by truces called peaces (Amboise, 1563, Longjumeau, 1568, St. Germain, 1570), which were without result. The conditional freedom of religious worship permitted the Huguenots was to be guaranteed by the surrender to them for two years, of the four strong towns La Rochelle, Cognac, Montauban, La Charité. 1572. Night of St. Bartholomew.

Aug. 23–24. Murder of admiral Coligny and general massacre of Huguenots, under the conduct of Henry of Guise and Tarannes, on the occasion of the marriage of Henry of Bourbon, king of

Navarre (son of Anton, king of Navarre) with the sister of Charles IX., Margaret of Valois. Henry of Navarre saved his life by a pretended conversion to Catholicism. Over 3,000 Huguenots were slain in the capital, in the whole of France about 30,000. This bloody deed led to the 1572-1573. Fourth Civil War. La Rochelle, besieged by Henry, duke of Anjou, brother of Charles IX., made a brave defense. The election of the duke of Anjou to the crown of Poland brought about a compromise. Edict of Boulogne (July 8, 1573) ended the war favorably to the Huguenots.

Charles IX. died May 30, 1574. His brother, who fled from Poland, became king.

1574-1589. Henry III., a debauched weakling.

The fifth civil war, during which Henry of Navarre re-assumed the Protestant faith, was concluded (1576) by conditions more favorable to the Huguenots than those of any previous peace. Peace of Chastenoy (Paix de Monsieur, after the duke of Alençon) May 6, 1576. Hence dissatisfaction among the Catholics. Origin of the Holy League (1576) which in alliance with Philip II. of Spain purposed the annihilation of the reformed party, and the elevation of the Guises to the throne. The king, out of fear of the League proclaimed himself its head and forbade the exercise of the Protestant religion throughout France. The Protestants and moderate Catholics had joined forces in 1575 by the confederation of Milhaud (politique-Huguenot).

Sixth Civil War, wherein the Huguenots were defeated, but obtained favorable terms at the peace of Bergerac (or Poitiers, Sept. 17, 1577), as the king was unwilling to let the League become too powerful. In spite of the renewal of the treaty of peace, not one of its articles was executed. This caused the Seventh Civil War (La guerre des amoureux) (1580), which was ended in the same year by the treaty of Fleix (near St. Foy), Nov. 26, in which the conditions granted the Huguenots in former treaties were confirmed. The death of Francis, duke of Alençon (since the accession of Henry III., duke of Anjou), the younger brother of the king, in 1584 rendered the extinction of the house of Valois certain. As it was the intention of the League to exclude from the throne Henry of Navarre, who belonged to the reformed religion, and to give the crown to the latter's uncle, the Cardinal of Bourbon, and as the League meantime induced the king to revoke the concessions granted to the Huguenots, there broke out the 1585-1589. Eighth Civil War called the War of the Three Henrys (Henry III. of Valois, Henry of Navarre, Henry of Guise). The Catholic party triumphed in spite of the victory of Coutras (Oct. 20, 1587), gained by Henry of Navarre. Formation of the League of Sixteen at Paris, which purposed the deposition of the weak king. Guise entered Paris, was received with acclamation ("King of Paris"); the timid resistance of the king was broken by a popular insurrection (day of the Barricades. May 12, 1588). Henry III. fled to Blois, where he summoned the estates of the kingdom (États-Généraux, States General). Finding no support among them against the League, he caused Henry, duke of Guise, and his brother, Louis the Cardinal, to be murdered (Dec. 23, 1588). At this news, a revolt of the Catholic party broke out, headed by the brother of the murdered men, the duke of Mayenne. Henry III. fled to Henry of Navarre in the Huguenot camp, where he was murdered before Paris, at St. Cloud, by the monk Jacques Clément (July 31, † Aug. 2). Death of Catharine de' Medici (Jan. 5, 1589). Michel Montaigne, 1533-1592.

descended from St. Louis IX.'s younger son Robert, count of Clermont, husband of Beatrice of Bourbon.

1589-1610. Henry IV.

The Catholic party refused to recognize Henry and made the old cardinal of Bourbon king under the name of Charles X. († 1590). Some wished the duke of Mayenne to be his successor, while others joined themselves to Philip II. of Spain, who laid claim to the throne of France on behalf of his daughter by his third marriage with Elizabeth of Valois, sister of Henry III. Victory of Henry IV. over the duke of Mayenne at Arques (1589) and at the 1590. Battle of Ivry.

March 14.

Henry besieged Paris, which was relieved by Mayenne and the duke of Parma. Henry abjured the reformed religion at St. Denis (1593) and was crowned at Chartres (1594). Brissac having thereupon surrendered Paris to him, the power of the League was broken. Not, however, until Henry, after public penance, by his ambassadors at Rome, had been freed from the papal ban, was he generally recognized (by Mayenne too). The civil wars of religion were ended by the 1598. Edict of Nantes,

which gave the Huguenots equal political rights with the Catholics, but by no means secured them entire freedom of religious worship. The edict granted the exercise of the reformed religion to nobles having the right of criminal jurisdiction (seigneurs hauts justiciers), and to the citizens of a certain number of cities and towns, but prohibited it in all episcopal and archiepiscopal cities, at the court of the king, and in Paris, as well as within a circle of twenty miles around the capital. Public offices were opened to the Huguenot and mixed chambers were established in four Parliaments (Paris, Toulouse, Grenoble, Bordeaux). The Huguenots obtained some fortified towns, and were recognized, to a certain extent, as an armed political party. The Edict of Nantes was registered by the Parliament only after a long delay. Treaty of Vervins (May 2, 1598) with Spain; restoration of all conquests to France.

Adoption of measures looking to the improvement of the finances and the general prosperity, which had gone to decay, especially by Rosny, afterwards duke of Sully (1560-1641). Fantastic plan of the king's (?) to establish a universal Christian republic in Europe comprising six hereditary monarchies (France, England, Spain, Denmark, Sweden, Lombardy), five elective monarchies (the Empire, Papacy, Hungary, Poland, Bohemia), and four republics (Switzerland, Italy, Venice, Belgium), which probably would have turned out to be a league against the too great power of the house of Hapsburg. Question of Cleves-Jülich succession. Henry IV. supported the claims of Brandenburg. In the midst of great preparations for war, Henry was assassinated at Paris, 1610 (May 14), by the fanatic (François) Ravaillac. He was succeeded by his minor son, nine years old. Regency of his mother, Mary de' Medici (1610-1617). Sully removed from office; the Italian Concini (Maréchal d'Ancre) was placed in control of affairs. Louis XIII., declared of age in 1614, was in fact all his life under the guidance of others. Summons of the States-General, 1614, being the last before the Revolution of 1789. Arrest and murder of Concini; the queen mother banished to Blois (1617). The king under the influence of his favorite, the duke of Luynes. By the mediation of Armand-Jean du Plessis (born 1585, in Poitou, 1607 bishop of Luçon, 1622 cardinal), duke of Richelieu, a treaty was concluded between Luynes and the queen mother (1619). New civil war. Contest of the crown with the nobility and the Huguenots. After the death of Luynes (1621) Mary de' Medici and her favorite, Richelieu, obtained control of affairs. The influence of the latter soon became supreme, and the queen-dowager quarreled with him.

1610-1643. Louis XIII.,

1624-1642. Administration of Richelieu, whose influence over the king was henceforward unbroken. Numerous conspiracies against Richelieu instigated by Gaston of Orléans, the king's brother.

1625. Revolt of the Huguenots under the dukes of Rohan and Soubise.

1627-1628. Siege of La Rochelle, under the personal supervision of Richelieu. In spite of the dispatch of three fleets from England to the aid of the Huguenots, the city surrendered Oct. 28, 1628, after a heroic resistance of fourteen months. Defeat of the duke of Rohan, and complete subjugation of the Huguenots, who hereafter were no longer an armed political party, but only a tolerated sect. War in Italy with Spain; subjugation of Savoy, Richelieu at the head of the army. Treaty of Cherasco (April 6, 1631). France renounced all conquests in Italy, but by a secret treaty with Victor Amadeus, duke of Savoy, Pignerol was surrendered to France (negotiators of these treaties, Richelieu's confidant, Father Joseph and the Pope's agent, Mazarin).

A final attempt of Mary Medici to overthrow the cardinal ignominiously failed (Nov. 11, 1630, the "Day of Dupes"). Mary died at Cologne, 1642.

 1641. Conspiracy of Henri d'Effiat, marquis of Cinq-Mars ("Monsieur le Grand"). Secret treaty with Spain. The plot was exposed by Richelieu.
 1642. Dec. 4. Death of Richelieu.
 The effect of Richelieu's administration had been to break the power of the nobles and make the crown independent of the parliaments. He restored French influence in Italy, in the Netherlands, in Germany (311), and established it in Sweden. Richelieu laid the foundation of the power of Louis XIV.
 Louis XIII. died May 14, 1643. (See p. 365.)

§ 6. ITALY.

(See p. 263.)

The duchy of Milan, since 1556 (p. 306) an appanage of the Spanish crown, was held, nominally, as a fief of the empire.

Venice.

The discovery of the new route to the Indies struck at the root of the commercial prosperity of Venice, and her power was steadily declining during this period. The danger which threatened the republic from the League of Cambray (1508), between the Pope, the emperor Maximilian, Louis XII., and Ferdinand the Catholic, passed away as the Pope, Julius II. withdrew from the League in 1510, made his peace with the Venetians and induced Ferdinand the Catholic to join the Holy League, which had for its object the expulsion of the French from Italy. On the other hand the Turkish power confined Venice to the coasts of the Mediterranean. In 1570 the Turks attacked Cyprus, of which Venice had acquired possession in 1489
 (p. 262). The victory of Lepanto, gained by Don John of Austria
 (p. 330), retarded the progress of the Turks but little. In 1573 Venice was forced to deliver Cyprus to them, and at the close of this period retained of all her possessions in Grecian waters, Candia, Paros, and the Ionian Islands only.

Genoa.

Genoa freed herself in 1529 from French supremacy, under the doge, Andrea Doria, who gave the republic a new constitution.
 Unsuccessful conspiracy of Fiesco (Jan. 2, 1547). Gianettino Doria, the nephew of the doge, was murdered, and Andrea Doria was compelled to fly. The conspirators had got possession of nearly the whole city, when Fiesco was accidentally drowned. Return of the doge, restoration of the constitution.

Savoy.

The dukes of Savoy, who also possessed Piedmont, were the most powerful of the native dynasties of northern Italy. Nevertheless, during this period, Bern deprived them of the Waadtland, and they got into straits during the war between France and the empire. After the peace of Cateau-Cambresis (1559), Emmanuel Philibert was reinstated in his duchy.

Florence.

In the year in which Charles VIII. of France invaded Italy (1494), Peter de' Medici, son of Lorenzo, who had concluded a treaty with the king, was driven from the city. The Dominican monk Savonarola (born 1452, prior of San Marco, 1490) was leader of the democratic party in Florence; asceticism for a short time fashionable in Florence. Savonarola excommunicated, and executed (May 23, 1498). In 1512 the Medici were restored in consequence of the victory of the Holy League (pp. 300 and 318). In 1527 the Medici were a second time expelled, and the republic for a while restored. In 1530, however, Charles V. appointed Alexander de' Medici hereditary ruler in Florence, and he soon assumed the ducal title. After his murder by his cousin, Lorenzino, Cosimo (Cosmus) de' Medici became duke (1537). He incorporated the republic of Siena with his territory, and in 1569 was created grand duke of Tuscany by Pope Pius V. Under Cosimo II., Galileo Galilei (1564–1642) taught in Florence, who, in 1633, was forced to abjure the Copernican System by the Inquisition at Rome ("It does move though"¹).

The Papacy.

The following popes of this period deserve mention: the debauched and criminal Alexander VI. (1492–1503), of the family of Borgia. His daughter was Lucrezia Borgia; his second son Cæsar Borgia, ruler of the Romagna; the warlike Julius II. (1503–1513); the scholarly Leo X. (1513–1521) of the family of Medici, a patron of art; the fanatical Paul IV. (Caraffa, 1555–1559), upon whose advice Paul III. had established the Inquisition in 1542; Gregory XIII. (1572–1585), who revised the calendar by striking out leap year at the close of each century, excepting every fourth century; the wise and severe Sixtus V. (1585–1590), who suppressed the banditti in the Papal States and adorned Rome. (Reërection of obelisks, completion of the dome of St. Peter's²).

Naples.

Naples throughout this period was an appanage of Spain (since 1504, see p. 318). Insurrection of the fisherman, Tommaso Aniello, called Masaniello (1647), soon suppressed († July 16).

Most flourishing period of Italian art. Painters: Leonardo da Vinci (1452–1519); Raphael Santi (erroneously called Sanzio, 1483– 1520); Antonio Allegri, called Correggio (1494–1534); Michael Angelo Buonarrotti (1475–1564), also sculptor and architect; Titian (1477–1576); Paul Veronese (about 1535–1588). Poets: Ariosto (1474–1533); Torquato Tasso (1544–1595). Politician: Macchiavelli (1469–1527). (See p. 415.)

§ 7. SPANISH PENINSULA AND THE NETHERLANDS.

By the marriage of

1492. Conquest of Grenada, capital of the last Moorish kingdom Jan. 2. in the peninsula. In the same year, discovery of America (p. 282), and consequent acquisitions on the other side of the ocean for the crown of Castile. Conquest of Naples (1501–1504, see p. 327) for the crown of Aragon. Annexation of the grandmaster-ships of the three military orders of Calatrava (1487), Alcántara (1494), and San Jago (1499), to the crown. Support given to the league of the cities (Hermanidad) against the robber-nobles; (Spanish) Inquisition.

Upon Isabella's death (1504) her daughter, Joanna, wife of Philip, archduke of Austria (p. 301), was the legal heiress of Castile. Her father, Ferdinand the Catholic, however, who had long planned the union of the two kingdoms in one kingdom of Spain, obtained from the Cortes authority to carry on the government in place of his absent daughter. In 1506, Philip and Joanna went to Castile to expel Ferdinand by force. Meeting of the two princes and treaty of Villafila, whereby the regency was granted to Philip. Shortly after the treaty Philip died suddenly (of poison?), and Ferdinand resumed the regency († 1516). Joanna, who was insane, was kept in strict confinement for 49 years († 1555), first by her father, afterwards by her son Charles.¹ Ferdinand was succeeded in both kingdoms (at first as co-regent of his mother, in theory) by the son of Philip and Joanna.

Netherlands.

Preliminary : These provinces, originally inhabited by Batavians and other German tribes, formed a part of the empire of Charles the Great, and after the treaty of Mersen (870) belonged in great part to Germany, forming a dependence of the duchy of Lotharingia. The decline of the ducal power favored the growth of powerful counties and duchies, such as Brabant, Flanders, Guelders, Holland, Zealand, Hainault, and the bishopric of Utrecht. After 1384, and during the fifteenth century, the provinces were brought under control of the dukes of Burgundy.

Philip II. the Bold,

Charles I. (V.)

k. of Spain; archduke of Austria, d. of Burgundy, k. of Naples and Sicily, lord of Spanish America, emperor.

They descended to the Hapsburg heirs of Charles the Bold, united and having a common states-general. In 1548 Charles V. annexed the seventeen provinces (Brabant, Limburg, Luxemburg, Gelderland, Flanders, Artois, Hainault, Holland, Zealand, Namur, Zutphen, East and West Friesland, Mechlin, Utrecht, Overijssel, Gröningen) to the Burgundian circle of the empire.

1516–1556. Charles I. (as emperor, Charles V. p. 302).

After suppressing a revolt in Castile he founded the absolute monarchy, the Cortes henceforth having no importance. In America conquest of Mexico, Peru, Chili, New Granada (p. 285, etc.). Upon his abdication the Spanish lands and the colonies, the Netherlands, Franche-Comté, Naples, and Milan, descended to his son 1556-1598. Philip II., who married four times: 1. Mary of Portugal, mother of Don Carlos; 2. Mary the Catholic, of England (p. 336); 3. Elizabeth of Valois (p. 318); 4. Anne, daughter of Maximilian II.

1571, Oct. 7. Naval battle of Lepanto (on the Gulf of Corinth).

1568-1648. War of Liberation in the Netherlands.

Cause: The provinces of the Netherlands, which fell to Spain after the abdication of Charles I., rejoiced in the possession of ancient and important privileges. The estates (Staaten, états) granted taxes and troops. The Spanish garrison, the penal edicts against heretics, the dread of the introduction of the Spanish Inquisition, led, during the rule of the regent Margaret of Parma (1559-1567), the natural sister of king Philip II., and her adviser, bishop Granvella, to a league of the nobles (the Compromis de Bréda), headed by Philip Marnix of St. Aldegonde. Presentation of a petition by 300 nobles (Gueux, Beggars, a party name, originating in the contemptuous exclamation of the count of Barlaimont: Ce n'est qu'un tas de gueux). Insurrection of the lower classes. Destruction of images, and sack of the churches. These disturbances were opposed by Lamoral, count of Egmont (b. 1522, fought under Charles V. in Algiers, Germany, France; led the cavalry at St. Quentin, and Gravelines, 1558; appointed governor of Flanders and Artois by Charles V.; executed June 5, 1568), and William of Nassau, prince of Orange, the leaders of the higher nobility in the Netherlands, who were soon no longer masters of the movement. Separation into a Catholic and a Protestant party. Although quiet was finally restored Philip sent the 1567. Duke of Alva with 20,000 Spaniards by way of Genoa, Savoy, and Franche Comté to the Netherlands. William of Orange and many thousand Netherlanders left their native land. Margaret resigned her regency and left the country. Creation of the "Council of Blood." The counts of Egmont and of Hoorn and many others were executed (1568). The estates of those who did not appear before the tribunal were confiscated, including those of William of Orange. The latter and his brother, Louis of Orange, invaded the Netherlands, but were repulsed by Alva.

The arbitrary taxes imposed by Alva (the tenth pfennig from the price of every article sold, the one hundredth part of every income), produced a new revolt. Capture of Brille, on the mouth of the Meuse by the Water Beggars (1572). Rapid spread of the insurrection, particularly in the northern provinces.

1573. Alva recalled at his own request. His successor, Luis de Requesens y Zuniga, gained a victory

1574. At Mookerheide, where two brothers of the prince of Orange fell, but could not suppress the revolt, and died (1576). The sack of the cities of Antwerp, Maastricht, Ghent, etc., by the royal troops brought about the 1576. Pacification of Ghent, a treaty between all the provinces, whereby they united, without regard to national or religious differences, to drive the Spanish soldiers from the country.

The new governor, Don John of Austria (p. 330), was not recognized by the majority of the provinces. In spite of the new disputes which had broken out among them he was unable to quiet the country, and died, 1578. He was succeeded by Alexander Farnese, duke of Parma (1578-1592), a shrewd statesman and an excellent general. He reduced the southern Catholic provinces, which form modern Belgium, to submission on condition of the restoration of their old political freedom. The seven northern provinces, Holland, Zealand, Utrecht, Gelderland, Groningen, Friesland, Overijssel, concluded 1579. The Union of Utrecht, proclaimed their complete independence of Spain (in 1581) and settled the hereditary Statthaltership upon William of Orange (the Silent, b. 1533, inherited the principality of Orange, 1544, appointed commander-in-chief of the Netherlands and governor of Holland, Zealand and Utrecht, by Charles V., resigned his offices 1567, converted to Protestantism, elected commander-in-chief by the rebels, 1572, relieved Leyden, Oct., 1574, murdered by Balthazar Gerard, 10th July, 1584). After his murder at Delft, his son, the seventeen-year-old Maurice of Nassau, became the head of the seven provinces. Successful campaign of Alexander of Parma; capture of Antwerp. The help furnished the Hollanders by the English (Leicester) induced Philip to fit out the Great Armada, which was destroyed by terrible storms and the bravery of the English (1588). After a long contest with changing fortunes, there was concluded under 1598-1621. Philip III.

1609. The twelve years' truce, on the basis of possession at the time. Under the weak king, who was controlled by his favorites, the dukes of Lerma and Uzeda, father and son, the power and the prosperity of Spain declined, exhausted by constant war, the demoralization consequent on the discovery of America and the introduction of American gold, and the expulsion of 800,000 Moors, the most learned and industrious inhabitants of the peninsula. After the expiration of the truce with Holland the war was resumed until under 1621-1665. Philip IV.

The Republic of the United Provinces obtained the 1648. recognition of their independence from Spain and the empire at the Peace of Westphalia.

Kings of Portugal in heavy type. Claimants (except Philip II.) in italics.

1495-1521. Emanuel the Great. Golden age.

Acquisitions in the East Indies, South America (Brazil), and Northern Africa. Under his successors, decline of the Portuguese power. Sebastian fell in the unfortunate 1578. Battle of Alkassor in Morocco. After the death of his successor, Henry,

1581-1640. Portugal became a Spanish province. Four (?) false Sebastians.¹ An almost bloodless revolution raised to the throne of Portugal the duke

1640. John of Braganza, as John IV. (descended through his mother from the legitimate, through his father from the illegitimate son of John the Bastard). (See pp. 390, 414.)

¹ After the death of Henry (1580) there were five claimants for the crown of Portugal.

§ 8. ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND. (See p. 275.)

1435-1603. House of Tudor (pp. 273, 275).

1485-1509. Henry VII.

Henry's first act was to imprison the Earl of Warwick, son of the duke of Clarence. The first parliament (1485) secured the crown to Henry and his heirs. Five checks on the crown : 1. imposition of new taxes and 2. the enactment of new laws without the consent of parliament prohibited ; 3. no man could be imprisoned without legal warrant ; 4. trial should be before twelve jurors in the county where the offense was committed, and there should be no appeal ; 5. officers of the crown were liable to trial for damages before a jury in case any person were injured by them, and no authority from the king could be pleaded. Violation of these checks. Reestablishment of the king's court (Star Chamber ? 1488), which took cognizance of forgery, perjury, fraud, libel, conspiracy, etc., gave sentence without the use of a jury, and inflicted fines and mutilations.

1487. The pretended earl of Warwick (Simnel) landed in England, but was defeated at Stoke (16 June, 1487), and became one of the king's scullions.

1488-1499. Attempts of Perkin Warbeck, a Fleming who personated the duke of York, to overthrow Henry. Disavowed by Charles VIII. in the peace of Etaples (Nov. 9, 1492) which ended the war in which Henry had engaged on account of the annexation of Brittany by Charles VIII. (1491), Perkin found a warm reception in Flanders from the duchess of Burgundy, sister of Edward IV. Expelled from Flanders by a provision of the commercial treaty with England (1496 Magnus intercursus), Perkin fled to Scotland, where his claim was recognized. Perkin and James IV. of Scotland invaded England in 1496. In 1497 a formidable insurrection broke out in Cornwall on occasion of an imposition of a tax by parliament. It was suppressed by the defeat at Blackheath (June 22, 1497), and the leaders executed (Flammock). Peace with Scotland (Sept. 1497). Warbeck was soon taken and imprisoned in the Tower, where he escaped, but was recaptured. Plotting another escape with the earl of Warwick, both Perkin and Warwick were executed (1499).

1502. Marriage of Henry's eldest daughter, Margaret, with James IV., king of Scotland.

Henry's distinguishing characteristic was his avarice ; by various extortions (Empson, Dudley, "Morton's Fork") he accumulated a fortune of nearly £2,000,000.

During this reign occurred the discovery of the West Indies by Columbus (1492) and that of North America by the Cabots.

1509-1547. Henry VIII.,

of a cruel disposition and variable temperament. He was six times married : 1. Catharine of Aragon, widow of his brother Arthur, mother of Mary the Catholic (married June 3, 1509, divorced March 30, 1533). 2. Anne Boleyn, mother of Elizabeth (married Jan. 25, 1533, beheaded May 19, 1536). 3. Jane Seymour (married May 20, 1536, died after the birth of her son Edward VI., Oct. 24, 1537). 4. Anne of Cleves (married Jan. 6, 1540, divorced June 24, 1540). 5. Catharine Howard (married Aug. 8, 1540, beheaded Feb. 12, 1542). 6. Catharine Parr, widow of lord Latimer (married July 10, 1543, outlived the king). Henry united in his person the claim of both Lancaster and York.

Execution of Empson and Dudley.

1511. Henry a member of the Holy League (p. 300), received from the Pope the title of "Most Christian King."

Henry having laid claim to the French crown sent troops to Spain, which were unsuccessful (1512). In 1513 the king went to France in person and with Maximilian, the emperor, won the bloodless victory of 1513, Aug. 17. Guinegate, the "Battle of the Spurs" (p. 319).

1521. Execution of the duke of Buckingham on a charge of high treason. Buckingham was descended from Edward III. (p. 275).

1521. Henry wrote the "Assertion of the Seven Sacraments" in reply to Luther, and received the title of "Defender of the Faith" from Pope Leo X.

After the battle of Pavia the relations between Henry and the emperor, which had been weakened by the double failure of the emperor to secure the promised election of Wolsey as Pope, became so strained that war seemed inevitable, and a forced loan was assessed on the kingdom, which brought in but little. In 1523 an attempt to force a grant from parliament met with no success, but a rebellion was provoked which was suppressed only by abandoning the demand.

1527. Henry, desiring to divorce his wife in order to marry Anne Boleyn, alleged the invalidity of marriage with a deceased brother's wife, and appealed to Rome. The delays of the Pope and the scruples of Wolsey enraged the king, who deprived the latter of the great seal and gave it to Sir Thomas More (1529). Sentence and pardon of Wolsey, who, however, died in disgrace (1530). At the suggestion of Cranmer the question was referred to the universities of England and Europe, and a number deciding in the king's favor Henry married Anne Boleyn. Henry also broke with the Church of Rome. Confiscation of the annates, followed by the resignation of Sir Thomas More (1532).

The Pope excommunicated Henry and annulled his divorce from Catharine, which Cranmer, now archbishop of Canterbury, had pronounced. After the birth of Elizabeth parliament confirmed the divorce, recognized Elizabeth as heir to the throne (1534), and secured the succession to other children of Anne in case of the death of the princess.

1534. Act of Supremacy, appointing the king and his successors "Protector and only Supreme Head of the Church and Clergy of England" (1531). Refusal to take the oath of supremacy was made high treason, under which vote Sir Thomas More was condemned and beheaded (1535).

Thomas Cromwell, a former servant of Wolsey, and his successor in the favor of the king, now vicegerent in matters relating to the church in England, issued a commission for the inspection of monasteries which resulted in the suppression, first of the smaller (1536), and afterwards (1539) of the larger monasteries, and the confiscation of their property. Abbots now ceased to sit in parliament.

1536. Execution of Anne Boleyn on a charge of adultery. Princess Elizabeth proclaimed illegitimate by parliament. The crown was secured to any subsequent issue of the king, or should that fail, was left to his disposal.

1536. Publication of Tyndale's translation of the Bible, by Coverdale, under authority from the king.

1536. Suppression of the Catholic rebellion of Robert Aske, aided by Reginald Pole, son of Margaret, countess of Salisbury, daughter of George, duke of Clarence.

Nov. 25. Battle of Solway Moss.

1545. Invasion of France. Coin debased; property of guilds confiscated.

Restoration of Catholic bishops. Gardiner, bishop of Winchester, author of the Six Articles, lord chancellor.

1553. Marriage treaty between Mary and Philip of Spain, son of Charles V., afterwards Philip II. Philip was to have the title of king of England, but no hand in the government, and in case of Mary's death could not succeed her. This transaction ("The Spanish marriage") being unpopular an insurrection broke out, headed by Sir Thomas Carew, the duke of Suffolk, and Sir Thomas Wyatt. The suppression of the rebellion was followed by the execution of Lady Jane Grey (Feb. 12, 1554), and her husband. Lady Jane was an accomplished scholar (Roger Ascham) and had no desire for the crown. Imprisonment of Elizabeth who was soon released on the intercession of the emperor.

1603–1649 (1714). The House of Stuart. Personal Union of England and Scotland.

1603–1625. James I., as king of Scotland, James VI., son of Mary Stuart. The Scotch had brought him up in the Protestant faith. He was learned but pedantic, weak, lazy, and incapable of governing a large kingdom. Divine right of kingship, divine right of the bishops ("no bishop, no king"). In this century the after-effects of the Reformation made themselves felt in England as on the continent, and in both places resulted in war. In England, however, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the Reformation these effects were peculiarly conditioned ; the religious questions were confused and overshadowed by political and constitutional questions.

1603. James I. was proclaimed king March 24 ; he entered London on the 7th of May, and was crowned July 25. Presentation of the millenary petition immediately after James's arrival in London, signed by 1,000 (800) ministers, asking for the reform of abuses.

The Main and the Bye. The "Main" was a plot to dethrone James in favor of Arabella Stuart (see geneal. table, p. 337), concocted by lord Cobham, Grey and others. Sir Walter Raleigh was also implicated and imprisoned until 1616 ("History of the World"). The "Bye" or the "Surprising treason" was a plot to imprison the king. Alliance with France, negotiated by Rosny (Sully).

1604. Jan. Hampton Court Conference between the bishops and the Puritans, where James presided. The Puritans failed to obtain any relaxation of the rules and orders of the church. The king issued a proclamation enforcing the act of uniformity (p. 338), and one banishing Jesuits and seminary priests (Goodwin and Fortescue).

1604, March 19–1611, Feb. 9. First Parliament of James I.

The king's scheme of a real union of England and Scotland unfavorably received. Appointment of a commission to investigate the matter.

1604. Convocation (ecclesiastical court and legislature at first established [Edward I.] as an instrument for ecclesiastical taxation; afterwards convened by archbishops for the settlement of church questions; since Henry VIII. convened only by writ from the king, and sitting and enacting [canons] only by permission of the king) adopted some new canons which bore so hardly upon the Puritans that three hundred clergymen left their livings rather than conform.

Peace with Spain. James proclaimed "King of Great Britain, France and Ireland" (Oct. 24). Punishment of many recusants (under the recusancy laws of Elizabeth, whereby refusing to go to church, saying mass or assisting at mass was severely punished).

1605. Nov. 5. Gunpowder Plot, originating in 1604 with Robert Catesby, after the edict banishing the priests. Other conspirators: Winter, Wright, Percy. Preparations for blowing up the houses of Parliament with thirty-six barrels of gunpowder. Disclosure of the plot through an anonymous letter to Lord Monteagle from one of the conspirators, his brother-in-law, Tresham. Trial of Bates for refusing to pay an imposition on currants. The court of exchequer decided in favor of the king.

1607. Settlement of Jamestown (p. 291).
1608. Establishment of new impositions.
1610. The Great Contract; in return for the surrender of some feudal privileges the king was to receive a yearly income of £200,000. The agreement was frustrated by a dispute over the impositions. Dissolution of parliament (Feb. 9, 1611).

Charles visited the house of commons in person, with five hundred troops, but finding that the five members were absent he withdrew quietly. The accused members, meanwhile, were in London. Jan. 10. Charles left London. The five members returned to parliament on the following day. Jan. 12, rising at Kingston.

The freeholders of Buckinghamshire sent a remonstrance to the king. 1523-1654. House of Vasa.

1523-1560. Gustavus I., Vasa. Introduction of the Reformation.

The throne made hereditary. Gustavus I. was succeeded by his eldest son Erik XIV., who, being insane, was deposed and murdered. His successor was the second son of Gustavus, John III., whose son Sigismund was Catholic, and king of Poland (1587), and hence displaced in Sweden by his uncle Charles IX. the youngest son of Gustavus I. Charles's son, 1611-1632. Gustavus II. Adolphus, conducted successful wars with Poland and Russia. For his participation in the Thirty Years' War and his death see p. 311. He was followed by his daughter 1632-1654. Christina, who was well educated, but averse to affairs of government. She abdicated in 1654 in favor of her cousin Charles Gustavus of Pfalz-Zweibrücken, son of a sister of Gustavus Adolphus. Christina became a Catholic and died at Rome, 1689.

(See p. 373.)

Denmark and Norway.

(See p. 276.)

These countries remained united. Under Christian II. the Reformation began to spread into Denmark. Christian was displaced by his uncle, the duke of Schleswig-Holstein, who ascended the Danish throne as 1523-1533. Frederic I. and favored the Reformation. After his death (1533), the so-called Feuds of the Counts (Jürgen Wullenwever, burgher-master of Lübeck). Frederic's son

1536-1559. Christian III. completed the introduction of the Reformation. For the participation of Christian IV. in the Thirty Years' War, see p. 310. After a 1643-1645. War with Sweden, Christian was obliged to surrender the islands of Gottland and Oesel at the Peace of Brömsebro (p. 315).

(See p. 374.)

Poland.

1613. The house of Romanow succeeded to the throne, which it occupied until 1762. (See p. 374.)

Turks. (See p. 218.)

The empire of the Ottoman Turks reached its highest development under Soliman II. (1520–1566), the Magnificent, the contemporary of the emperor Charles V. (p. 302). Under his successors began the decline, caused especially by the influence of the Janizaries.

India. (See p. 241.)

1497. Covilham reached Calicut by land from Portugal.

1498. Portuguese vessels under Vasco da Gama reached Calicut by the way of the Cape of Good Hope.

The Muhammadan power which the sultans of Delhi under various dynasties had extended over almost all India, broke up in the latter half of the fourteenth and during the fifteenth century. When the Portuguese gained a foothold in the peninsula, its political constitution was as follows: At Delhi, Muhammadan sultans of the Afghan dynasty with greatly reduced dominion; in Bengal (1340–1576), Afghan (Muhammadan) kings; in Guzerat (1391–1573) a Muhammadan dynasty had its capital at Ahmedábád; in the Deccan the Muhammadan empire of the Bahmani (1347–1525) had separated into five kingdoms: Bijápur (1489–1686), Golconda (1512–1687), Ahmednagar (1490–1636), Ellichpur (1484–1572), Bídar (1492–1609[57]). The southern part of the peninsula was still in the hands of the powerful Hindu kingdom, Vijayanagar (1118–1565).

Da Gama was followed in 1500 by Cabral (on the voyage accidental discovery (?) of Brazil); in 1502 a papal bull created the king of Portugal “Lord of the navigation, conquests, and trade of Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia, and India.” First Portuguese governor and viceroy of India, Almeida (1505). In 1509 Alfonso d’Albuquerque was appointed to this office; capture of Goa (1510), and of Malacca.

1526–1761 (1857). Mughal (Mogul) Empire in India.

The founder of the Mughal empire was Eabar, a descendant of Tamerlane (1494 king of Ferghána on the Jaxartes, 1497 conqueror of Samarkand, seized Kábul, 1504), who in 1526 invaded the Punjab and defeated the sultan of Delhi in the

1526. Battle of Panipat.¹

Defeat of the Rajputs of Chittor (1527). Under Bábar’s son Humáyún (1530–56) the Mughals were driven from India by Sher Sháh, the Afghan ruler of Bengal; but they returned in 1556 and under Humáyún’s son Akbar (Bairám the real commander), defeated the Afghans at Panipat (1556).

1556–1605. Akbar the Great whose reign is a long series of conquests.

¹ The first of the three great battles which decided the fate of India on that same plain; viz. in 1526, 1556, 1761. (Hunter, Indian Empire, p. 234.)

1565. Battle of Talikot.

Destruction of the Hindoo empire of Vijayanagar by a union of the Muhammedan kingdoms of the Deccan.

Conquests of Akbar : 1561-68, Rajputs of Jaipur, Jodhpur, Chittor ; 1572-73, Guzerat (revolted 1581, reconquered 1593) ; 1586-92 Kashmir ; 1592, Sind ; 1594, Kandahár, Akbar's empire now comprised all India north of the Vindhya Mts. ; in the Deccan he was not successful. Akbar organized the administration, reformed the military and financial system, and conciliated the Hindus. Akbar was succeeded by his son Salim, Jahangir (1605-27). His reign was much troubled by rebellions, and his wars in the Deccan were without lasting success. Shah Jahan (1628-1658). Kandahár, several times lost and recovered between the Mughals and the Persians, was finally lost by the Mughal empire, 1653. Shah Jahán won some successes in the Deccan ; submission of Bijápur, Golconda, Ahmednagar. The empire was at the height of its power and magnificence (peacock throne). Shah Jahán deposed by his son Aurangzeb, and imprisoned (died 1666).

From 1500 to 1600 the Portuguese had enjoyed a monopoly of the trade with India ; with the close of the sixteenth century, the Dutch and English appeared as their rivals. The East India Company of London was incorporated in 1600, and various others similar companies were established at different times ; but all were ultimately incorporated with the original company. ("The Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies," 1600 ; Courten's Association ["Assador Merchants"] 1635-1650 ; "Company of Merchant Adventurers," 1655-1657 ; "General Society trading to the East Indies" ["English Company"], 1698-1709, united with the original company as "The United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies"). The first twelve voyages were separate ventures ; after 1612 voyages were made for the company. Opposition of the Portuguese. Battle of Swally. Defeat of the Portuguese. 1592. The Japanese invaded Corea, but were defeated and compelled to sue for peace.

1604. Dutch in China; also the Spanish.
1616. Invasion of China by Manchoo Tatars who defeated the Chinese, and returning in 1619. Conquered and settled in the province of Leaou-tung.
1620. Teen-ning, the Manchoo ruler, threw off the pretense of allegiance to the Chinese and proclaimed his independence. He established his capital at San-Koo.

Wen-leih was succeeded by Tai-chang (1620), who was followed by Teen-ke (1620–1627). In

- 1627, Tsung-ching, the last sovereign of the Ming (1368–1643) dynasty ascended the throne. Rebellion of Le Tsze-ching and Shang Ko-he. The emperor, being hard pressed, applied for aid to the Manchoo Tatars. These allies defeated the rebels, but refused to abandon the fruits of their victories. Seizing Peking they raised to the throne of China a son of Teen-ning, the Manchoo ruler, who, as the first of the 1644—x. Ta-tsing or Great Pure dynasty, took the name of 1644. Shun-che.

Capture of Nan-king. Period of confusion wherein the lingering resistance of the Chinese was gradually crushed out, and the shaved head and pig-tail, signs of Tatar sovereignty, became more and more common. (See p. 390.)

Japan.

(See p. 278.)

The period of the Ashikaga shoguns (1344–1573) contains few events of importance, especially after the end of the dual dynasties in 1391, by the act of the southern emperor, who resigned his power on the condition that the imperial office should henceforward alternate between the two lines. The violation of this agreement was the cause of much fighting.

1558–1588. Oki-Machi, mikado.

This reign saw the fall of the Ashikagas, and the rise of three of the most renowned men of Japan: Nobunaga, Hideyoshi, Tokugawa Iyeyasu. Introduction of cannon. The development of feudalism had weakened the power of the shoguns, as they had formerly destroyed that of the mikado. Ota Nobunaga was a feudal lord who acquired fame in a war with the head of another powerful family, Yoshimoto (1560). To him the mikado entrusted the task of pacifying the unhappy country, while his aid was also sought by Yoshiaki, the rightful shogun, who had been dispossessed by Yoshikage. By the battle of ANAGAWA (1570), where Tokugawa Iyeyasu fought under Nobunaga, Yoshiaki was restored to power, but in 1573 he was deposed by NOBUNAGA, whom he had plotted to murder.

1573-1582. Government of Nobunaga.

Nobunaga appointed no successor but retained the power in his own hands. He was a determined opponent of the over-powerful Buddhist priests, and took Christianity (the Jesuit Xavier at Kioto) under his protection. Slaughter of the Buddhist priests and capture of their fortified temples.

Death of Nobunaga in a revolt (1582).

1582-1598. Government of Hideyoshi.

The rebel was suppressed by the general Hideyoshi, who after considerable fighting reduced the whole country to subjection (1592). War with China; invasion of Corea (p. 355), Hideyoshi was unfavorable to Christianity. 1588, publication of a decree ordering the expulsion of the Jesuits; this, however, was not obeyed. In 1593 nine missionaries were burned at Nagasaki. Hideyoshi, the Taiko. He was succeeded by an infant son, under the regency of Tokugawa Iyeyasu, whose government was popular but who was involved in political troubles that led to war.

1600. Battle of Sekigahara. Iyeyasu defeated his enemies, and in 1603 was made Sei-i-tai-shogun, being the first of the1603-1868. Tokugawa Shoguns, some of whom subsequently took the title of Tai-kun (Tycoon) "high prince."

The rule of Iyeyasu was distinguished by the revival of learning and the growth of foreign intercourse (Dutch, English). Iyeyasu resigned his office in 1605 to his son but retained his power until his death.

Iyeyasu died 1616, leaving the "Legacy of Iyeyasu," a code of laws. Redistribution of land. Those vassals of the crown who received a revenue of 10,000 measures of rice were called daimios and numbered 245, eighteen of whom were governors of provinces (koku-shiu). Next to the daimios stood the samurai, to whom the daimios leased their farms in return for military service.

The shogun (who was the first of the daimios) was surrounded by the hatamoto, "house-carls," from whom he selected his officials. They are said to have numbered 80,000. Below the hatamoto were the gokenin, also attached directly to the shogun as private soldiers, comprising the Tokugawa clan. Iyeyasu removed the capital of the shogun from Kamakura to Yedo. The successor of Iyeyasu, Hide-tada, sent a messenger to Europe to study Christianity, but his report not being considered favorable, the shogun forbade the introduction of that religion.

1630-1643. Too-Fuku-no-in, daughter of the mikado, Go-mino-o, and the daughter of the shogun, Hidetata, followed the former on the throne as Miosho-Tenno.

Iyemitsu, who succeeded to the shogunate in 1653, was an excellent ruler, but ordered the vigorous enforcement of laws against the Christians, and closed Japan to all foreigners except the Chinese and the Dutch, who were allowed to trade at Nagasaki.

1637. Revolt of the Christians at Shimabara finally suppressed; massacre of the survivors. Persecution throughout the empire. Extirpation of Christianity. Death of Iyemitsu, 1649.

1675. Edmund Andros, governor of New York, attempted to secure the land west of the Connecticut by force of arms, but was foiled by the energy of the colonists.

1675-1676. King Philip's War.

This was the most extensive combination which the natives had formed against the foreign invaders. King Philip was the son of Massasoit and chief of the Wampanoags. He lived at Mount Hope, near Fall River, Mass. He formed a league comprising nearly all the Indians from Maine to Connecticut. War broke out in June, 1675, and raged with peculiar violence in Massachusetts. Deerfield burnt (Sept. 1). Attack on Hadley (Sept. 1) repulsed by Goffe, one of the judges of Charles I. (?). In the fall (Sept.-Oct.) the United Colonies took the war upon themselves and raised 2,000 troops. Capture of the fort of the Narragansetts by Winslow (Dec. 19). - 1681, March 4. Grant of Pennsylvania (the region between 41

- and 43° N. lat. running 5° west from the Delaware River) to William Penn. Establishment of a settlement.
1682. Penn brought a colony to Pennsylvania (Aug.). Publication of a frame of government and a body of laws (April-May). Treaty with the Indians. Foundation of Philadelphia.
1683. First legislative assembly in New York; two houses. Only two sessions are known to have been held before the revolution of 1688.
1684. The troubles between Massachusetts and the crown culminated in the forfeiture of the charter.

These troubles were of old standing, dating from the restoration of Charles II. The favorable reception of Goffe and Whalley, two "regicides," in Boston, at the opening of that monarch's reign, was no favorable omen; and almost the first news received from the colony brought complaints of ill-treatment from Quakers who had suffered under the rigorous laws. In 1661 Charles sent a letter to Massachusetts prohibiting the colony from proceeding further in the prosecution of imprisoned Quakers, and ordering their release; he subsequently withdrew his protection. Further controversy led to the dispatch of agents to England. The confirmation of the charter obtained by them was conditioned in a way peculiarly aggravating to the colonists: all laws derogatory to the royal authority should be repealed; the oath of allegiance should be imposed according to the directions of the charter; freedom and liberty of conscience in the use of the Book of Common Prayer should be allowed; the sacrament should not be denied to any person of good life and conversation; all freeholders of competent estates and good character, and orthodox in religion, should be admitted to vote. These demands being evasively met, the king, in 1664, appointed commissioners (Nicolls, Carr, Cartwright, Maverick) to hear complaints and appeals in New England, and settle the peace of the country, who, barely touching at Boston, proceeded to the seizure of New Netherlands. Returning to Boston in the spring of 1665 their demand for a recognition of the commission was met by the excuse that the general court would plead his majesty's charter, whereupon the commission returned to England in anger. The court, however, acknowledged the conditional right of freeholders to vote, and agreed to permit the toleration of Quakers and churchmen for a time. A long period of controversy followed, and agents were sent back and forth with very little effect. In 1671 the colony was "almost on the brink of renouncing any dependence on the crown." The original causes of dispute became complicated by the controversy with the heirs of Gorges in regard to Maine, and by the evasion and disregard of the navigation laws practiced by the colony (1663). In 1676 the royal governors were commanded to insist on strict compliance with the commercial laws, both the navigation laws, and those imposing duties on intercolonial trade (1672). John Leverett, governor of Massachusetts, refused compliance, and in 1679 the general court voted "that the acts of navigation are an invasion of the rights and privileges of the subjects of his majesty in this colony, they not being represented in parliament." The agents then in London to defend the colony in the suit of the heirs of Gorges were sent home with the demand that the Maine purchase be undone and new agents sent to answer the complaints against the colony. Edward Randolph was sent over as collector of customs for Boston, where, however, he was sturdily opposed. The new agents giving no satisfaction, a writ of quo warranto was issued against the colony in 1683; in 1684 a suit of scire facias was brought and the court of chancery declared the charter forfeited (1684). The king appointed colonel Kirke governor of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, and Plymouth, but before he received his commission Charles died, and James II. appointed Joseph Dudley president of New England. He took office in 1686.

1686. Issue of a quo warranto writ against Connecticut and Carolina. New York deprived of an assembly and other liberties.

Appointment of Sir Edmund Andros as president of New England. He arrived at Boston Dec. 20. Randolph was now deputy postmaster in New England. Andros assumed the government of Rhode Island. Establishment of an Episcopal society in Boston, for the use of which Andros forcibly seized the Old South Church.

1687. Quo warranto against Maryland.

Oct. Sir Edmund Andros assumed the government of Connecticut and attempted to secure the charter, but it was carried off from the hall of assembly and hidden in the famous Charter Oak.

1688. Tyranny of Andros in Massachusetts. New York and New Jersey placed under his government. Erection of King's Chapel, as an Episcopal church, in Boston.

April. Seizure of Port Royal by Sir William Phips, who afterwards made a futile attack upon Quebec, by vote of a congress of Massachusetts, Plymouth, Connecticut, and New York. The failure imposed so large a debt on the colonies that Massachusetts was obliged to issue paper money for the first time.

1692. New charter for Massachusetts. Sir William Phips appointed governor. Under this charter were included the colony of Plymouth, the provinces of Maine, Nova Scotia and all land north to the St. Lawrence; also the Elizabeth Islands, Nantasket, and Martha's Vineyard. The new charter gave the appointment of the governor to the crown, and vested in him the right of calling, proroguing, and dissolving the general court, of appointing military officers and officers of justice (with the consent of the council), of vetoing acts of the legislature and appointments of civil officers made by the legislature. The electoral franchise was extended to all freeholders with a yearly income of forty shillings, and all inhabitants having personal property to the amount of £40. Religious liberty was secured to all except Papists.

Fletcher, governor of New York (and now of Pennsylvania), having been entrusted with the command of the militia of Connecticut, went to Hartford Oct. 26 to assert his authority, but was repulsed by the assembly, and by Wadsworth, senior captain of the militia.

French expedition of Frontenac against the Iroquois.

1696. Capture of the fort at Pemaquid by the French under Iberville. An expedition of count Frontenac against the Iroquois resulted in little more than the destruction of their harvests.

1697. The Peace of Ryswick (p. 371) prevented the execution of a French attack upon Newfoundland. Restoration of conquests by both combatants.

Third expedition of Frontenac against the Iroquois, with little effect.

1699. The French settled in Louisiana. The French claimed control of the fisheries on the north coast, and of the territory from the Kennebec eastward.

Foundation of a Scotch settlement at Darien in the hope of acquiring great wealth by the command of commercial transit (Paterson). The first expedition (1,200 men, besides women and children) perished from starvation, or returned to Scotland; the second was broken up by the Spaniards who considered the settlement a breach of the treaty of Ryswick.

1700. Iberville took possession of the Mississippi for France.

1701. William Penn gave a new charter to Pennsylvania.

1701. Foundation of Yale College at New Haven in Connecticut.
 1702. Joseph Dudley, governor of Massachusetts. Quarrel with the general court over the proposed salaries to be paid the governor, lieutenant-governor, etc.

New Jersey reunited as a royal province.

An expedition projected by governor Moore of Carolina against St. Augustine resulted in failure. The debt thus incurred was discharged by an issue of paper money.

1702-1713. "Queen Anne's War" with the French.

1703. Pennsylvania province separated from the territories, or lower counties (Delaware); separate assemblies.

1704. Deerfield in Massachusetts destroyed by French and Indians. This was avenged by an expedition under colonel Church which ravaged the French settlements on the east coast of New England.

Establishment of the Church of England in Carolina. The complaints of dissenters against some details of ecclesiastical administration led to the issue of a quo warranto against the colony, but nothing came of the matter.

1706. Invasion of Carolina by the French and Spanish in assertion of the Spanish claims to that country as a part of Florida. They were repulsed and defeated on land and sea with great loss by William Rhett.

1707. New England sent an expedition against Port Royal, which returned without effecting its capture.

1708. Surprise of Haverhill by French and Indians.

1709. An expedition was planned against Canada and Acadia to which the colonies were to contribute 2,700 men. The project was abandoned by the English government after the men had been raised, and Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey were obliged to issue paper money to cancel their debts.

1710. Capture of Port Royal by a fleet from England. Change of the name of the city to Annapolis.

1711. An expedition against Canada numbering 68 sail and 6,463 soldiers, largely raised by the colonies, met with disaster and was abandoned.

1712. A massacre of colonists in Carolina by the Tuscaroras and other tribes was followed by the dispatch of Barnwell against the Indians. After a difficult march he succeeded in almost annihilating the Tuscaroras, many of whom fled to the Iroquois.

1713. Treaty of Utrecht, between Great Britain and France (p. 393). Cession of Hudson Bay and Straits, of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, and St. Christopher (in the West Indies) to England.

French settlements and discoveries.

In the earlier part of the century the French had established a claim to Canada and Acadia, extending to the Kennebec in Maine, although the English claimed as far as the Penobscot. From this vantage ground they extended their discoveries south and west. Jesuit missionaries labored among the Hurons in the country between lakes Erie, Ontario, and Huron, planted the missions of St. Mary (1668) and Michillimachinac, died with their flocks when the undying enmity of the Iroquois annihilated the Hurons (Brebœuf, Lallemont), or sought torture and death at the hands of the Five Nations (Isaac Jogues, 1640-1654).

1656. Acadia and Nova Scotia granted to St. Etienne and others by Cromwell.¹

1656-1658. French colony in western New York, soon broken up.

1659. Francois de Laval, bishop of New France.

1662. The hundred associates of Quebec reconsigned their rights to the king, who soon after granted New France to the French West India Company.

1665. Courcelles, governor of New France. The colony was more than doubled by the transportation of many emigrants from France.

1666. Expedition of Tracy and Courcelles against the Mohawks.

1666. Allouez founded the mission of St. Esprit on the southern shore of lake Superior.

1668. The peace of Breda ended the war between England and France which had broken out in 1666. England restored Acadia to France, and obtained from France Antigua, Montserrat, and St. Christopher. This was followed by a peace between the French and the Five Nations. In this year

Foundation of Sault Ste. Marie, at the entrance of lake Superior by Dablon and Marquette.

1672. Tour of Allouez and Dablon in Wisconsin and Illinois.

1673. Discovery of the Mississippi by Marquette and Joliet (June 17) who descended the stream for an uncertain distance.

Count Frontenac, governor of Canada, completed a fort at Ontario called after himself. Construction of a fort at Michillimachinac.

1678. Robert Cavalier de La Salle began his career of discovery in the great west. Launching in the Niagara, the Griffin, a vessel of forty-five tons, the first ever seen on the great lakes, he sailed Aug. 7, 1679. He passed through lakes Erie, Huron, and Michigan, and landed at the extreme southern end of the latter lake in October. He built a fort on the St. Joseph and crossed the portage to the Illinois. Not hearing from the Griffin he returned on foot to Canada. Obtaining fresh supplies he retraced his route to the Illinois only to find the fort which he had there erected deserted. Again he returned to Canada; again he obtained aid, and again undertook his enterprise.

1680. Discovery of the Mississippi by Hennepin, a priest in the company of La Salle. He ascended the river to 46° N., but the claim which he later advanced that he had explored the Mississippi to the sea is probably false.

¹ The southern boundary of Acadia in the grant of Henry IV., 1630, was 40° N.; the southwestern limit of Nova Scotia in the grant of James I., 1621, was the river St. Croix. Holmes, Annals, I. 307, note 4.

- 1682. La Salle, reaching the Mississippi by way of the St. Joseph and the Illinois, descended the great river to the sea and took possession of its valley for Louis XIV., April 9, under the name of Louisiana.
- 1684. Expedition of De la Barre against the Iroquois, which failed of success.
La Salle having announced his discovery in France was sent out at the head of four vessels and a number of settlers to establish a colony at the mouth of the Mississippi. Contention between La Salle and the commander of the vessels, who was jealous of the discoverer, resulted in disaster. The squadron missed the mouth of the Mississippi and landed at Matagorda Bay (St. Louis), four hundred miles to the west. Here La Salle built a fort, but privation and disease soon greatly reducing the numbers of the colony he undertook to go on foot to Canada for relief. On this expedition
- 1687. La Salle was shot by one of his own men. The settlement of Mar. 19. St. Louis soon perished.
- 1687. Expedition of De Denonville against the Senecas. At this time there were about 11,000 persons in New France.
- 1689–1697. War of William and Mary, see p. 361.
 Expeditions of Frontenac against the Iroquois (1693, 1696, 1697).
- 1699. The French and the English both attempted to found a colony in Louisiana. The French colony was sent out by Louis XIV. under Lemoine d'Iberville, who entered the Mississippi March 2, and also founded a colony at Biloxi. The English attempt was made by Coxe, a claimant of the old grant of Carolina, who entered the Mississippi, but, finding himself anticipated, retired (Detour aux Anglais).
- 1700. An expedition from Biloxi ascended to the falls of St. Anthony, in search of gold.
Iberville returning from France took possession of Louisiana anew for the crown. Erection of a fort.
 Foundation of Kaskaskia in Illinois.
 Foundation of Cahokia in Illinois. Fort at Detroit (1701).
- 1702–13. Queen Anne's war, see p. 363.
Iberville brought new settlers from France and transferred the colony of Biloxi to Mobile in Alabama. Iberville † 1706.
- 1705. Foundation of Vincennes in Indiana.
- 1712. Grant to Sieur Antoine Crozat of the whole commerce of fifteen years of all the "king's lands in North America lying between New France on the north, Carolina on the east, and New Mexico on the west, down to the gulf of Florida; by the name of Louisiana."
 (See p. 417.)

§ 2. FRANCE.

(See p. 326.)

- 1643–1715. Louis XIV. (five years old), under the guardianship of his mother, Anne, daughter of Philip III., king of Spain, called by the French Anne of Austria, i. e.

of Hapsburg. The government, even after Louis' arrival at majority, was conducted by cardinal Mazarin.

1648-1653. Disturbances of the Fronde (cardinal Retz; prince of Condé; resistance of the parliament of Paris), the last attempt of the French nobility to oppose the court by armed resistance. Condé, at first loyal, afterwards engaged against the court, fought a battle with the royal troops under (Henri de la Tour d'Auvergne, vicomte de) Turenne, in the Faubourg Saint Antoine, and took refuge in Spain. The first conspiracy, the old Fronde, ended in 1649, with the second treaty of Ruel; the second conspiracy, the new Fronde, which involved treasonable correspondence with Spain, failed in 1650. A union of the two was crushed in 1653. (Gaston of Orléans, and his daughter, "Mademoiselle.") 1648. Acquisitions of France in the Peace of Westphalia, p. 316.

The war with Spain, which sprang up during the Thirty Years' War (victory of Condé at Rocroy, May 18, 1643; alliance with England, 1657; Cromwell sent 8,000 men of his army to the assistance of Turenne) was continued till the 1659. Peace of the Pyrenees:

1. France received a part of Roussillon, Conflans, Cerdagne, and several towns in Artois and Flanders, Hainault and Luxembourg.
2. The duke of Lorraine, the ally of Spain, was partially reinstated (France received Bar, Clermont, etc., and right of passage for troops); the prince of Condé entirely reinstated.
3. Marriage between Louis XIV. and the infant Maria Theresa, eldest daughter of Philip IV. of Spain, who, however, renounced her claims upon her inheritance for herself and her issue by Louis forever, both for herself before marriage and for herself and her husband after marriage, in consideration of the payment of a dowry of 500,000 crowns by Spain.

1661. Death of Mazarin. Personal government of Louis XIV. (1661-1715), absolute, arbitrary, without états généraux, without regard to the remonstrances of the parliament of Paris (L'état, c'est moi). Colbert, controller general of the finances, from 1662-1683. Reform of the finances; mercantile system. Construction of a fleet of war. Louvois, minister of war, 1666-1691. Quarrel for precedence in rank with Spain. Negotiations with the Pope concerning the privileges of French ambassadors at Rome. The ambition of Louis for fame, and his desire for increase of territory were the causes of the following wars, in which these generals took part: Turenne, Condé, Luxembourg, Catinat, Villars, Vendôme, Vauban (inventor of the modern system of military defense).

1667-1668. First war of conquest (war of devolution) on account of the Spanish Netherlands.

Cause: After the death of his father-in-law, Philip IV. of Spain, Louis laid claim to the Spanish possessions in the Belgian provinces (Brabant, Flanders, etc.), on the ground that, being the personal estates of the royal family of Spain, their descent ought to be regulated by the local "droit de devolution," a principle in private law, whereby in the event of a dissolution of a marriage by death, the survivor enjoyed the usufruct only of the property, the ownership being vested in the children, whence it followed that daughters of a first marriage inherited before sons of a second marriage.¹ The renunciation of her heritage which his wife had made was, Louis claimed, invalid, since the stipulated dowry had never been paid.

1667. Turenne conquered a part of Flanders and Hainault.

By the exertions of Jan de Witt, pensioner of Holland, and Sir

1668. William Temple, England, Holland, and Sweden, concluded the Jan. 23. Triple Alliance, which induced Louis, after Condé had, with great rapidity, occupied the defenseless free county of Burgundy (Franche Comté) to sign the 1668. Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle.

May 2. Louis restored Franche-Comté (the fortresses having been dismantled) to Spain, in return for which he received twelve fortified towns on the border of the Spanish Netherlands, among others, Lille, Tournay, and Oudenarde. The question of the succession was not settled, but deferred.

1672-1678. Second war of conquest (against Holland).

The course of Holland in these transactions had inflamed the hatred of Louis against her, a hatred made still stronger by the refuge given by the provinces to political writers who annoyed him with their abusive publications. To gain his purpose, the destruction or the humiliation of Holland, Louis secured the disruption of the Triple Alliance by a 1670. Private treaty with Charles II. of England (p. 380), and between France and Sweden. Subsidy treaties with Cologne and Münster; 20,000 Germans fought for Louis in the following war.

1672. Passage of the Rhine. Rapid and easy conquest of southern Holland by Turenne, Condé, and the king, at the head of 100,000 men. The brothers De Witt, the leaders of the aristocratic republican party in Holland, were killed during a popular outbreak (Aug. 27), and William III. of Orange was placed at the head of the state. The opening of the sluices saved the province of Holland, and the city of Amsterdam. Alliance of Holland with Frederic William, elector of Brandenburg (1640-1688), afterwards joined by the emperor and by Spain.

1673. Frederic William concluded the separate peace of Vossem (not far from Louvaine), in which he retained his possessions in Cleves, except Wesel and Rees.

1674. Declaration of war by the empire.

Peace between England and Holland.

Louis XIV. conquered Franche-Comté in person; Condé fought against Orange (drawn battle at Senef) in the Netherlands. Brilliant campaign of Turenne on the upper Rhine (first ravaging of the palatinate) against Montecuculi, the imperial general, and the elector of Brandenburg. The latter, recalled by the inroad of the Swedish allies of Louis XIV. into his lands, defeated the Swedes in the 1675. Battle of Fehrbellin. In the same year Turenne fell at June 18. Sasbach, in Baden (July 27). The French retreated across the Rhine.

1676. Naval successes in the Mediterranean against the Dutch and Spanish. Death of De Ruyter.

1677. Marriage of William of Orange with Mary, eldest daughter of the duke of York.

1678. Surprise and capture of Ghent and Ypres by the French. Negotiations with each combatant, which had been for some time in progress, resulted in the 1678-1679. Peace of Nimwegen.

Holland and France (Aug. 10, 1678); Spain and France (Sept. 17, 1678); the Emperor, with France and Sweden (Feb. 6, 1679); Holland with Sweden (Oct. 12, 1679). At Fontainebleau, France and Denmark (Sept. 2, 1679). At Lund, Denmark and Sweden (Sept. 26, 1679).

1. Holland received its whole territory back, upon condition of preserving neutrality. 2. Spain ceded to France, Franche-Comté, and on the northeast frontier, Valenciennes, Cambray, and the Cambrésis, Aire, Poperingen, St. Omer, Ypres, Condé, Bouchain, Maubeuge, and other towns; France ceded to Spain, Charleroi, Binche, Oudenarde, Ath, Courtray, Limburg, Ghent, Waes, etc.; and in Catalonia, Puycerda. 3. The Emperor ceded to France Freiburg in the Breisgau; France gave up the right of garrison in Philippsburg; the duke of Lorraine was to be restored to his duchy, but on such conditions that he refused to accept them.

Louis XIV. forced the elector of Brandenburg to conclude the 1679. Peace of St. Germain-en-Laye, whereby he surrendered to Sweden nearly all of his conquests in Pommerania, in return for which he received only the reversion of the principality of East Friesland, which became Prussian in 1744, and a small indemnification (exclamation of the elector: Exoriare aliquis nostris ex ossibus ultor, Virg. Æn. IV. 625).

Louis "the Great" at the height of his power. His boundless ambition stimulated by the weakness of the empire led him to establish the 1680-1683. Chambers of Reunion at Metz, Breisach, Besançon, and Tournay.

These were French courts of claims with power to investigate and decide what dependencies had at any time belonged to the territories and towns which had been ceded to France by the last four treaties of peace. The king executed with his troops the decisions of his tribunals, thus adding to violence in time of peace, the scoff of a legal formality. Saarbrück, Luxembourg, Deuxponts (Zweibrücken), and many other towns were thus annexed to France.

1681, Oct. Capture of Strasburg by treachery.

1683. Invasion of the Spanish Netherlands, occupation of Luxembourg, and seizure of Trier (1684). Lorraine permanently occupied by France. To the weakness of the empire, the wars with the Turks, and the general confusion of European relations since the peace of Nimwegen, it is to be attributed that these outrageous aggressions were met by nothing more than empty protests, and that 1684. A truce for twenty years was concluded at Regensburg between Louis and the emperor and the empire, whereby he retained everything he had obtained by reunion up to Aug. 1, 1681, including Strasburg.

Louis' mistresses: Louise de la Vallière; Madame de Montespan; Madame de Maintenon (Françoise d'Aubigné), a narrow bigot whose influence over the king was boundless. Maria Theresa died 1683. Louis privately married to Madame de Maintenon. War upon heresy. The dragonnades in Languedoc. Wholesale conversions.

1685, Oct. 18. Revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

The exercise of the reformed religion in France was forbidden, children were to be educated in the Catholic faith, emigration was prohibited. In spite of this more than 50,000 families, including military leaders (Schomberg), men of letters, and the best part of the artificers of France, made their way to foreign countries. Their loss was a blow to the industry of the country, which hastened the approach of the revolution. The exiles found welcome in Holland, England (Spitalfields), Brandenburg. The Protestants of Alsace retained the freedom of worship which had been secured to them.

1689-1697. Third War. (War concerning the succession of the palatinate.)

Cause: After the extinction of the male line of the electors palatine in the person of the elector Charles († 1685), whose sister was the wife of Louis XIV.'s brother, the duke of Orléans, the king laid claim to the allodial lands of the family, a claim which he soon extended to the greater portion of the country. Another ground for war was found in the quarrel over the election of the archbishop of Cologne, which Louis was resolved to secure for Von Fürstenburg, bishop of Strasburg, in place of prince Clement of Bavaria (1688).

Meantime the unfavorable impression produced throughout Protestant Europe by the revocation of the Edict of Nantes had contributed to the success of the plans of William of Orange, and 1686. The League of Augsburg, directed against France, was signed July 9. by the Emperor, the kings of Sweden and Spain, the electors of Bavaria, of Saxony, and the palatinate. In 1688 occurred the revolution in England which placed William of Orange on the throne of that country, and added a powerful kingdom to the new foes of Louis. The exiled James II. took refuge with the French monarch (court at St. Germain, p. 385).

1688. Invasion and frightful devastation of the Palatinate, by Oct. order of Louvois, executed by Melac (Heidelberg, Mannheim, Speier, Worms, and the whole country as far as the borders of Alsace ravaged and burnt). The military successes of the French on the Rhine were unimportant, especially after 1693, when prince Louis of Bavaria assumed the chief command against them.

1689. The Grand Alliance, between the powers who had joined the League of Augsburg and England and Holland (Savoy had joined the league in 1687). The principal scene of war was in the Netherlands.

1690, June 30. Battle of Fleurus, defeat of the prince of Waldeck by Louis' general, Marshal Luxembourg.

The French expedition to Ireland in aid of James had but a temporary success.

1690, July 1. Victory of William III. over the adherents of James II. at the Battle of the Boyne in Ireland (p. 387).

French successes in Piedmont; Catinat reduced Savoy; defeat of Victor Amadeus at Staffarda.

1692, May. Defeat of the French fleet under Tourville by the English and Dutch at Cape La Hogue. The mastery of the sea passed from the French to the English. Death of Louvois.

1692, July 24. Battle of Steinkirk (Steenkerken) in Hainault. Victory of Luxembourg over William III. Fall of Namur. (June).

1693, July 29. Battle of Neerwinden. Victory of Luxembourg over William III., who in spite of his many defeats still kept the field.

In Italy Marshal Catinat defeated the duke of Savoy at Marsaglia. Rise of prince Eugene ("Eugenio von Savoye," "the little abbé," son of Maurice of Savoy-Carignan, count of Soissons and Olympia Mancini, niece of Mazarin, b. 1663 at Paris; refused a commission by Louis XIV., he entered the Austrian service in 1683; died April 21, 1736). On June 30, the English fleet was defeated at Lagos Bay by Tourville. Failure of the English attack upon Brest (1694), not by the treachery of Marlborough. Death of Luxembourg (Jan. 1696); he was succeeded by the incapable Villeroy.

1695, Sept. Recapture of Namur by William III.

1696, May 30. Separate Peace with Savoy at Turin. All conquests were restored to the duke (Pignerol and Casale), and his daughter married Louis' grandson, the duke of Burgundy. Savoy promised to remain neutral.

1697, Peace of Ryswick, a village near the Hague. Treaty Sept. 30. between France, England, Spain, and Holland.

1. Confirmation of the separate peace with Savoy. 2. Restoration of conquests between France and England and Holland; William III. acknowledged as king of England, and Anne, as his successor, Louis promising not to help his enemies. 3. It was agreed that the chief fortresses in the Spanish Netherlands should be garrisoned with Dutch troops as a barrier between France and Holland. 4. France restored to Spain all places which had been "reunited" since the peace of Nimwegen, with the exception of eighty-two places, and all conquests. 5. Holland restored Pondicherry in India to the French East India Company and received commercial privileges in return.

1697, Oct. 30. Treaty between France and the emperor (and empire.)

1. France ceded all the "reunions" except Alsace, which henceforward was lost to the empire. 2. Strasbourg was ceded to France. 3. France ceded Freiburg and Breisach to the emperor, and Phillipsburg to the empire. 4. The duchy of Zweibrücken was restored to the king of Sweden, as count palatine of the Rhine. 5. Lorraine was restored to duke Leopold (excepting Saarlouis). 6. The claims of cardinal Fürstenburg to the archbishopric of Cologne were disavowed. 7. The Rhine was made free.

Brilliant period of French literature in the age of Louis XIV. Corneille (1606-1684); Racine (1639-1699); Molière (Jean Baptiste Poquelin, 1622-1673); La Fontaine (1621-1695); Boileau (1636-1711); Bossuet (1627-1704); Fléchier († 1710); Fénelon (François de Salignac de Lamoignon, 1651-1715).

Louis' court at Versailles (after 1680) was the pattern for all the other courts of Europe. Buildings, luxury, mistresses (La Vallière, Montespan, Fontange). After the death of his wife, Maria Theresa of Spain (1683), Louis made a secret marriage with Françoise d'Aubigné, widow of the poet Scarron (1610-1660), whom he made Marquise de Maintenon.

§ 3. GERMANY.

1658-1705. Leopold I., son of Ferdinand III.

After 1663 permanent diet at Regensburg, consisting of the representatives of the eight electors, the sixty-nine ecclesiastical, the ninety-six secular princes, and the imperial cities. [A miracle of tedious legislation, often degenerating into a squabble for precedence. "A bladeless knife without a handle."] Corpus Catholicorum and Corpus Evangelicorum; [the corporate organizations of the Catholic and the evangelical estates, the latter being the most important. This organization of the Protestant estates had existed, in fact, since the latter half of the sixteenth century, but it was legally recognized in the Peace of Westphalia, where it was decreed that in the diet matters relating to religion and the church should not be decided by a majority, but should be settled by conference and agreement between the Catholic and Protestant estates, as organized corporations.]

1661-1664. First war with the Turks; caused by a dispute concerning the election of a prince in Transylvania.

The Turkish successes at last enabled the emperor to obtain help from the empire and from the French. Victory of the imperial general Montecuculi over the Turks at St. Gotthard on the Raab (1664). A truce for twenty years, favorable to the Turks, was, nevertheless concluded.

War of the empire against Louis XIV. (see p. 367).

1666. Settlement of the contested succession of Cleve-Jülich: Cleve, Mark, Ravenstein, and half of Ravensberg given to Brandenburg; afterwards, the whole of Ravensberg instead of Revenstein.

1682-1699. Second war with the Turks. Conspiracy of Hungarian magnates detected and punished. Count Tököly appealed to the Turks for aid. Invasion of Hungary by the Grand Vizier Kara Mustapha and 1683. Siege of Vienna.

Heroic defense conducted by Rüdiger von Stahremberg. Successful relief by a united German and Polish army under Charles of Lorraine and John Sobieski, king of Poland. Henceforward active participation of the German princes in the war, assisted by Venice. After the victory of Charles of Lorraine over the Turks at Mohacs (pron. Mohatch) Aug. 12, 1687, the diet at Pressburg conferred the hereditary succession to the throne of Hungary upon the male line of Austria. The war continued with varying fortune until Prince Eugene, by the 1697. Victory of Zenta, brought about the

1699, Jan. 26. Peace of Carlowitz:

1. The Porte received the Banat Temesvar; Austria, the rest of Hungary and Transylvania.

2. Venice received Morea (the Peloponnesus, p. 416).

Toward the close of the seventeenth and beginning of the eighteenth century, several German princes obtained an elevation in rank.

1692. 1. Hanover became the ninth electorate.

1697. 2. The elector of Saxony (Augustus II.), after the death of John Sobieski, became king of Poland, and adopted the Catholic faith.

3. Frederic III., elector of Brandenburg (1688-1713), son of the Great Elector, assumed, with the consent of the emperor, the 1701. title of king in Prussia (Frederic I.) and crowned himself at Jan. 18. Königsberg. (See p. 397.)

§ 4. THE NORTH AND EAST.

Sweden.

Sweden, whose possessions almost surrounded the Baltic Sea, was the first power of the North after the Thirty-Years' War. 1654-1718 (1751). Dynasty of the counts palatine of Zweibrucken (p. 352).

1654-1660. Charles X., Gustavus, undertook a war with Poland, because John Casimir (of the house of Vasa) refused to acknowledge him. He invaded Livonia and Poland, captured Warsaw and drove John Casimir into Silesia. Frederic William, elector of Brandenburg, who had come with an army to the defense of East Prussia, was obliged, by the treaty of Königsberg (1656) to receive his duchy in fee from Sweden, as he had heretofore held it from Poland. He received also the bishopric of Ermeland. Uprising in Poland against the Swedes. Charles Gustavus and the elector Frederic William, who had become a still closer ally by the treaty of Marienburg, gained the 1656. Three days' battle of Warsaw over the Poles. In order to further secure for himself the aid of the elector of Brandenburg, Charles Gustavus granted him, in the treaty of Labiau (1656) the sovereignty over East Prussia and Ermeland. Nevertheless, Russia, Denmark and the emperor, declared war upon Sweden, and they were soon joined by the elector of Brandenburg, who received from Poland in the treaty of Wehlau (1657) recognition of his sovereignty over East Prussia, but not over Ermeland, for which he received compensation elsewhere. The Swedes were soon driven out of Poland, retaining a hold on Polish Prussia only. Charles Gustavus attacked Denmark which he soon conquered (crossing of the frozen Belt, Jan. 1658), and compelled to make important cessions in the peace of Roeskild (1658). In the same year Charles Gustavus invaded Denmark a second time, purposing the annihilation of the monarchy. Courageous defense of Copenhagen. The Danes received assistance from all sides. Raise of the siege. Sudden death of Charles Gustavus (1660). Under his minor son

1660-1697. Charles XI., the 1660. Peace of Oliva (monastery near Danzig) was concluded with Poland.

John Casimir abandoned his claims upon the throne of Sweden, as well as upon Livonia and Estonia. Restoration of the duke of Curland. The sovereignty of Prussia ratified by Sweden and Poland.

This was followed immediately by the Peace of Copenhagen with Denmark, which surrendered forever the southern part of the Scandinavian peninsula, which had been ceded already by the peace of Roeskild, but retained Drontheim and Bornholm.

Peace between Sweden and Russia at Kardis (1661); reciprocal surrender of conquests.

Denmark.

(See p. 352.)

Immediately after the peace (1660) the third estate (burghers), impatient of the rule of the nobility, and the clergy, conferred upon the king, Frederic III. (1648-1670), an absolutely uncontrolled authority. Lex Regia.

In the same way the Swedish estates, weary of the over-great power of the royal council, conferred almost unlimited power upon king Charles XI., who was now of age.

(See p. 409.)

Poland.

(See p. 352.)

In Poland, on the contrary, the royal power had become a mere shadow at this period, and the state was, in fact, a republic of nobles. The diet, composed of the senate (bishops, woiwods, castellanes), and the elected representatives from the country (representatives of the nobility) exercised every function of government. The liberum veto, that is, the right of each individual member of the diet to defeat a resolution by his protest, and thus to break up the diet, led to bribery, violence, and, in the end, to absolute anarchy. After the abdication of John Casimir (1668), there followed a bloody contest for the throne ; then John Sobieski (1674-1696), the liberator of Vienna (p. 372), and finally Augustus II. of Saxony (1697-1733), under whom the war with the Turks was ended by the Peace of Carlowitz (p. 372).

(See pp. 397, 410.)

Russia.

(See p. 353.)

Under the house of Romanow Russia developed in strength and influence. The son of the founder of the dynasty, Alexis, reconquered Little (White) Russia from Poland, and began to introduce European civilization into Russia. After the death of his eldest son, Feodor (1682), his brothers, Ivan and Peter (son of the Czar's second wife, Natalia Narischkin), proclaimed Czars under the guardianship of their elder sister, Sophia, by the Strelitzes, the noble body-guard of the emperor. Peter in Preobaschensk, under the guidance of Lefort, a Swiss. Playing soldiers : origin of the later guard. His half-sister, Sophia, endeavored to exclude him from the throne, but was sent to a cloister by Peter (1689).

1689-1725. Peter I., the Great, reigned as sole monarch, his weak minded brother, Ivan, continuing until his death (1696) without the least authority.

Peter began his reforms with the assistance of Gordon, a Scot, and Lefort. Conquest of Azoff (1696). After cruelly punishing a revolt of the Strelitzes, Peter undertook his first journey (1697-1698), for his instruction, through Germany to Holland, where he worked as a ship's carpenter in Saardam (Zaandam), and afterwards to England (engagement of foreign artisans, artists, and military officers). Peter intended to visit Italy, but was recalled by a new revolt of the Strelitzes (1698). Bloody punishment ; dissolution of the Strelitzes, who were replaced by an army after the European pattern (1699).

1699. Peace with the Turks at Carlowitz. Acquisition of Azoff.

1689, Feb. 13. Parliament offered the crown to William and Mary jointly, accompanying the offer by the presentation of the

§ 6. INDIA.

1658–1707. Aurangzeb, Mughal emperor.

The first years of Aurangzeb's reign were occupied in subduing and putting to death his brothers. When freed from their rivalry he took up the conquest of the Deccan. Bidar, Ahmednagar, Ellichpur, he had conquered while his father reigned. For twenty-five years his generals warred unsuccessfully against Bijapur and Golconda, but when Aurangzeb placed himself at the head of his troops those kingdoms quickly fell. Bijapur and Golconda were annexed to the Mughal empire in 1688. It was not with the Muhammedan powers alone that Aurangzeb had to contend; a new power, the Hindu kingdom of the Mahrattas, had arisen in the Deccan. It was founded by a union of Hindu tribes of the Deccan under Sivaji (1627–1680), son of a Mahratta soldier of fortune who had fought under the Deccan kingdoms against the Mughals. Sivaji, by alternately levying tribute on the Deccan kingdoms and assisting them against the Mughals, raised the Mahratta confederacy to be the ruling power in the Deccan. In 1664 he assumed the title of Raja. He carried on a war with Aurangzeb, who captured and killed his son Sambhaji (1680–1689), and imprisoned his grandson Sahu, until his own death, 1707. Aurangzeb, however, was far from subduing the confederacy, which had driven him almost to despair at the time of his death; the emperor was not more successful in Assam (1662), nor against the revolted Rajput states in the west (1677–1681) where he ravaged Jdipur, Jodhpur, and Udaipur without subduing them.

Aurangzeb's total revenue amounted to eighty million pounds.

§ 1. WAR OF THE SPANISH SUCCESSION.¹

(See pp. 332, 372.)

1701-1714.

The family relations which led to the war will be made clear by the following genealogical table.

Leopold I. had, besides his daughter Maria Antoinette, two sons: by his second marriage, Joseph I., emperor from 1705-1711; by his third marriage, Charles VI., emperor from 1711-1740.

Charles II., king of Spain, was childless; the extinction of the Spanish house of Hapsburg in the near future was certain; hence the question of the Spanish succession formed the chief occupation of all the European cabinets since the Peace of Ryswick. The question had two aspects: a. The legal, according to which there were three claimants: 1. Louis XIV., at once as son of the elder daughter of Philip III. and husband of the elder daughter of Philip IV. The solemn renunciations of both princesses were declared null and void by the parliament of Paris. 2. Leopold I., the representative of the German line of Hapsburg, as son of the younger daughter of Philip III., and husband of the younger daughter of Philip IV. Both princesses had expressly reserved their right of inheritance. 3. The electoral prince of Bavaria, as great-grandson of Philip IV., and grandson of the younger sister of the present possessor, Charles II. b. The political aspect with regard to the balance of power in Europe ; in consideration of which the naval powers, England and Holland, would not permit the crown of the great Spanish monarchy to be united with the French, or to be worn by the ruler of the Austrian lands. On this account Leopold I. claimed the Spanish inheritance for his second son Charles only, while Louis XIV.'s claim was urged in the name of his second grandson, Philip of Anjou.

1698. First treaty of partition.

Oct. 11. Spain, Indies, and the Netherlands to the electoral prince of Bavaria; Naples and Sicily, seaports in Tuscany, and the province of Guipuzcoa, to the dauphin ; the duchy of Milan, to archduke Charles.

The negotiations of the powers in regard to the succession, and the conclusion of a treaty of partition without the participation of Charles II., provoked that monarch.

In order to preserve the unity of the monarchy he made the prince elector of Bavaria, then seven years old, sole heir of the whole inheritance ; a settlement to which the naval powers agreed.

1699 (Feb. 6). Sudden death of the prince elector. New intrigues of France (Harcourt ambassador, Cardinal Portocarrero) and Austria at Madrid, while both parties were negotiating a new treaty of partition with the naval powers.

1700. Second treaty of partition.

Mar. 13. Spain and the Indies to archduke Charles ; Naples and Sicily and the duchy of Lorraine to the dauphin ; Milan to the duke of Lorraine in exchange.

Finally Charles II., although originally more inclined to the Austrian succession, signed a new will, making Louis' grandson, Philip of Anjou, heir. Immediately afterwards 1700. Charles II. died.

Nov. 1. Louis XIV. soon decided to follow the will rather than the treaty with England. The duke of Anjou was proclaimed as Philip V., and started for his new kingdom. ("Il n'y a plus de Pyrénées.") Death of James II., 1701 ; Louis recognized his son as king of England.

1701. Grand Alliance of the naval powers with the emperor Sept. 7. Leopold I., for the purpose, at first, of securing the Spanish possessions in the Netherlands and in Italy for the Austrian house, while France allied herself with the dukes of Savoy and Man-tua, the electors of Bavaria and Cologne. The other estates of the empire, especially Prussia, joined the emperor. Portugal afterwards joined the grand alliance, and in 1703 Savoy did likewise, deserting France.

Three men were at the head of the grand alliance against France : Eugene, prince of Savoy, imperial general ; Marlborough, English general, formerly John Churchill ; A. Heinsius, after the death of William III., 1702, pensionary of Holland.

Spain, the real object of the war, had but little importance in the campaigns, the chief seat of war being Italy, the Netherlands, and Germany.

Philip of Anjou was recognized in Spain as king Philip V. His strongest support was in Castile.

1701. Commencement of the war by Eugene's invasion of Italy. Victory over Catinat at Carpi, over Villeroi at Chiari; the latter was captured at Cremona (1702).

Eugene and Vendôme fought a drawn battle at Luzzara (1702), after which the French had the advantage in Italy until 1706.

1702, March 8. Death of William III. Anne, queen of England.

1703. The Bavarians invaded Tyrol, but were repulsed. Eugene went to Germany, along the Rhine. Marlborough invaded the Spanish Netherlands. The archduke Charles landed in Portugal, and invaded Catalonia. The English captured Gibraltar (1704).

1703. Victory of the French under Villars at Höchstädt over the Bavarians.

1704. Battle of Höchstädt and Blindheim (Blenheim), Aug. 13. (between Ulm and Donauwörth), Bavarians and French (Tallard) defeated by Eugene and Marlborough.

1705. Leopold I. died. His son, Joseph I., emperor.

1706. Charles conquered Madrid but held it for a short time only.

1706, May 23. Victory of Marlborough at Ramillies over Villeroi. Submission of Brussels, Antwerp, Ghent, Ostend, etc.

Sept. 7. Victory of Eugene at Turin, over Marsin and the duke of Orleans with help of the Prussians under Leopold of Dessau. Submission of all Lombardy. Charles III. proclaimed at Milan. The French permanently excluded from Italy.

1708, July 11. Victory of Marlborough and Eugene at Oudenarde over Vendôme and the duke of Burgundy. Siege and surrender of Lille. Severe winter in France.

Negotiations for peace. Demands of the allies: surrender of the Spanish monarchy to Charles of Austria, and of the border fortresses of the Netherlands to the Hollanders; restoration of all matters relating to the empire and the emperor to the state prescribed in the peace of Westphalia, i. e. the cession of Strasburg, Brisach, etc. England insisted on the recognition of Anne and the Protestant succession (p. 388) and the banishment of the Pretender. These terms Louis was willing to accept, but when the demand was added that he should drive his grandson from Spain with French weapons, it was too much. The negotiations were broken off, Louis made a successful appeal to the people of France, and the war was continued.

1709. The French were again humbled by the victory of Sept. 11. Eugene and Marlborough at Malplaquet over Villars. The bloodiest battle of the war. The allies lost 20,000 men. New approaches on the part of Louis. Capture of Douai, Mons, etc. (1710). In Spain Philip, by the aid of Vendôme, had the advantage of Charles. The Spanish people favored Philip. Renewal of the negotiations at Gertruydenburg. Louis offered to pay subsidized troops against his grandson. The allies demanded that he should send his armies against Philip. Renewal of the war. Victories of Vendôme over the English (Brihuega, 1710) and the imperialists (Valla-vieiosa, in Spain).

1710, Aug. Fall of the Whig ministry in England, and accession of the enemies of Marlborough.

1711. Death of the Emperor Joseph, whereby Charles became heir of all the Austrian possessions, so that the monarchy of Charles V. would have been restored had the Spanish inheritance also devolved upon him. These events completely altered all the political relations, in favor of Louis XIV.

Marlborough removed from command, the Grand Alliance dissolved, preliminaries of peace between England and France. Death of the dauphin, of Adelaide of Savoy, her husband and their son, the duke of Brittany.

1712. Victory of the French commander Villars at Denain over lord Albemarle. Recapture of Douai, Le Quesnoy, and Bouchain.

Opening of the congress at Utrecht. Each of the allies presented his demands separately. Dissensions between the allies caused the conclusion of separate treaties of peace, which are comprehended under the name of the 1713. Peace of Utrecht.

April 11.

1. England : Recognition of the Protestant succession in England; confirmation of the permanent separation of the crowns of France and Spain. France ceded to England Newfoundland, Nova Scotia (Acadia), and Hudson Bay territory; Spain ceded to England Gibraltar, the island of Minorca, and the Asiento, or contract for supplying the Spanish colonies with African slaves.

2. Holland : Surrender of the Spanish Netherlands to the republic of Holland, in order that they should be delivered to the Austrians, after the conclusion of a Barrier Treaty, in regard to the fortresses along the French border from Furnes to Namur, which were to be garrisoned by the Dutch. Lille restored to France. Demolition of the fortifications of Dunkirk.

3. Savoy received the island of Sicily as a kingdom, and an advantageous change of boundary in Upper Italy, renounced its claims upon Spain, reserving, however, its right of inheritance in case the house of Bourbon should become extinct (p. 397).

4. Prussia received recognition of the royal title, and possession of Neuchâtel and the upper quarter of Gueldres. Prussia's claim upon the principality of Orange on the Rhône, was transferred to France.

5. Portugal obtained a correction of boundaries in South America.

Philip V. (founder of the Spanish branch of the Bourbons) was recognized as king of Spain and the colonies.

Reservations in the peace: 1. for the emperor, the possession of the appanages of the Spanish monarchy, the Netherlands, Milan, Naples, Sardinia, but not Sicily; 2. for the empire the status quo of the peace of Ryswick, only.

The emperor and the empire continued the war. Unsuccessful campaign of Eugene, who was wretchedly supported (1713). Landau and Freiburg taken by Villars. After these losses the emperor concluded peace with France, in his own name at Rastadt, in that of the empire at Baden (in Switzerland).

1714. Peace of Rastadt and Baden.

March-Sept.

Austria took possession of the Spanish Netherlands, after the Barrière for Holland had been agreed upon, and retained Naples, Sardinia, and Milan, which she had already occupied. For the empire: ratification of the peace of Ryswick; the electors of Bavaria and Cologne who had been placed under the ban of the empire, were reinstated in their lands and dignities. Landau was left in the hands of France.

No peace between Spain and the emperor, who did not recognize the Bourbons in Spain. (See p. 414.)

§ 2. THE NORTHERN WAR.

1700-1721.

1689-1725. Peter I. the Great, Czar of Russia (p. 374).

1697-1718. Charles XII., king of Sweden.

In character the two monarchs formed a strong contrast: both were of unusual ability and power, but Peter, though passionate and of irregular life, was, in his political actions, governed by reason and calm reflection. Charles, in his private life passionless and of rigid morality, was under the control of passion and senseless obstinacy in all public relations. The steady purpose of Peter, who civilized his subjects by force, made Russia one of the great powers of Europe, Charles' blind obstinacy caused the decline of Sweden's power.

The causes of the northern war were: 1, the firm determination of Peter to make Russia a naval power, and to get possession of the harbors of the Baltic; 2, the attempt of Augustus II., elector of Saxony and king of Poland, to unite Livonia with Poland (Patkul); 3, the quarrel between Frederic IV., king of Denmark, and the duke of Holstein-Gottorp, the early friend and brother-in-law of Charles XII.

The youthfulness of Charles, who had assumed the care of government at the age of fifteen, led all three monarchs to think it an easy task to regain possession of those lands which Sweden had taken from them. Secret alliance of Russia, Denmark, and Saxony against Sweden.

The war opened with an invasion of Schleswig by the Danes, while the Saxons attacked Livonia. Unexpected landing of Charles XII. in Zealand; he threatened Copenhagen and extorted from the Danes the 1700 (Aug.). Peace of Travendal.

1. Indemnification of the duke of Holstein. 2. Denmark promised to abstain from hostilities against Sweden for the future.

Meantime the Saxons were besieging Riga (in Livonia) in vain, while Peter was besieging Narva (in Ingermannland) with like result. Landing of Charles XII. with 8,000 men and brilliant over the Russians. Charles's hatred of Augustus led him to neglect his more dangerous opponent, the Czar, and to seek revenge upon the king of Poland. Meeting and closer alliance of Augustus and Peter. Charles crossed the Düna and 1701. defeated the Saxons at Riga. Charles invaded Lithuania.

The republic of Poland was drawn into the war; alliance of the party of the Sapiehas with the Swedes. The city of Warsaw surrendered at the first summons.

Victory of Charles XII. over the Poles and Saxons at Klissow (1702) and at Pultusk (1703). Charles rejected all overtures of peace, caused Augustus to be deposed by that party among the Poles which had joined him and his adherent, the Woiwod 1704–1709. Stanislaus Leszczinski to be elected king.

Meanwhile Peter had founded his capital, St. Petersburg, in the marshes of the Neva (1703), and captured Narva (1704).

Continuance of the war in Poland and Lithuania. Victory of Charles at Punitz (1704 Schulenburg's masterly retreat) and of his general Rhenskjöld at Fraustadt (1706). Charles invaded Saxony and compelled Augustus to sign the 1706. Peace of Altranstädt (near Leipzig).

1. Augustus II. abdicated the Polish crown, recognized Stanislaus Leszczinski as king of Poland, and sent him a written expression of good will. 2. Augustus abjured his alliance with the Czar, and delivered the plenipotentiary of the latter, Patkul, to Charles who had him executed with cruelty. 3. Saxony furnished provisions and pay for the Swedish army during the winter.

In Sept., 1707, Charles took the field against Peter, who had well employed the interval in making conquests and establishing his power on the Baltic, and in forming a trained and veteran army. The approach to Moscow cut off by devastation of the country. Charles allowed himself to be misled by the Cossack hetman Mazeppa, who had deserted Peter, crossed the Dnieper (1708) into the Ukraine. Futile siege of Pultowa. Peter hastened to raise the siege and by force of numbers completely defeated the Swedes, who were exhausted by long marches and lack of food, in the which established Peter's new creations on a firm basis, and destroyed at one blow the ascendancy of Sweden. The Swedish army was completely broken up, and a large part of it captured. Charles took refuge with the Turks.

1709–1714. Charles XII. in Turkey, endeavoring to induce the Porte to declare war against Peter. He was successful in 1711.

Peter, allied with the princes of the Moldau, crossed the Dniester, was surrounded on the Pruth, and was obliged to buy the 1711. Peace of the Pruth from the Turks by bribery, upon the advice of his wife Catherine.

1. Azoff given back to the Porte. 2. The king of Sweden allowed to return to his realm unmolested.

Charles XII., indignant at this peace, refused to depart, and for three years more misused the patience and hospitality of the Turks at Bender, Bessarabia, now belonging to Russia, and in Demotika. Senseless defense of his camp against a whole army, when the attempt was made to force his departure (1713). Meantime his enemies were making good use of the time. Augustus II. drove king Stanislaus from Poland; the Danes tried to reconquer the southern provinces of Sweden, but were repulsed. Peter the Great occupied all of Livonia, Esthonia, Ingermannland, Carelia, Finland. The Convention of the Hague (1710), in order to keep the war away from the German boundaries, had established the neutrality of all the German provinces of Sweden, as well as of Schleswig and Jütland. Charles XII., however, having from his retreat in Turkey protested against this treaty, the Danes took Schleswig away from the duke of Holstein-Gottorp, and conquered the Swedish duchies of Bremen and Verden (1712), which they afterwards (1715) sold to Hanover upon condition that that state should take part in the war against Sweden. The Swedish general Stenbock defeated the Danes and burnt Altona, but was captured by the Russians at Tönningen (1713). The Danes and Poles invaded Pommerania, the Prussians occupied Stettin.

1714. Charles XII. at last returned to his kingdom. Adventurous journey through Hungary and Germany. The king reached Stralsund. Alliance between Prussia, Saxony, Denmark, Hanover, Russia, against Sweden. Stralsund and with it all Pomerania lost (1715), Wismar soon captured also (1716).

1716. Peter I. made a journey to Denmark, Holland, France.

Charles XII. negotiated with Peter I. through Baron von Görz, who, in spite of the hatred borne him by the Swedish nobles, was placed in control of the internal administration of Sweden. Three expeditions of the Swedes to Norway; on the third,

1718. Charles XII. was shot in front of Friedrichshall, prob-

After limits had been set on the royal power in the interests of the royal council, Charles's nephew was passed over, and his youngest sister, 1719. Ulrica Eleonora, raised to the throne. She soon placed the control of the government in the hands of her husband, Execution of the Baron von Görz, Charles's intimate. The northern war was ended by a series of treaties concluded at Stockholm and Friedrichsburg.

1. With Hanover (1719), which retained Bremen and Verden, and paid Sweden one million thalers. 2. With Prussia (1720), which received Stettin, western Pomerania as far as the Peene, the islands of Wollin and Usedom, and paid two million thalers. 3. With Den- mark, which restored all its conquests. In return Sweden paid 600,000 rix dollars, gave up its freedom from custom duties in the Sound and abandoned the duke of Holstein-Gottorp, whom Denmark deprived of his share of Schleswig. 4. With Poland the truce of 1719 was continued.

1721. Aug. 30. Peace of Nystadt between Sweden and Russia.

1. Sweden ceded to Russia, Livonia, Esthonia, Ingermannland, part of Carelia, and a number of islands, among others Oesel, Dagö. 2. Russia restored Finland and paid two million rix dollars.

1713–1740. Frederic William I., son of Frederic I., king of Prussia, by wise economy, a military severity, and the establishment of a formidable army, laid the foundation of the future power of Prussia. Maintenance of a standing army of 83,000 men, with a population of two and a half million inhabitants. Prince Leopold of Anhalt-Dessau ("the old Dessauan").

1714–1718. War of Turks with Venice, and after 1716 with the emperor. Easy conquest of Morea by the Turks; the Venetians, however, kept Corfu. In Hungary the war was brilliantly conducted by prince Eugene. Victory of Peterwardein (1716). Victory, siege, and capture of Belgrade (1717).

1718. July 21. Peace of Passarowitz (Posharewatz).

1. Austria received the Banat of Temesvar, a part of Servia, with Belgrade and Little Wallachia. 2. Venice retained her conquests in Dalmatia, but ceded Morea to the Porte.

The seizure of Sardinia (1717) and Sicily (1718) by Spain, where Elizabeth of Parma, the second wife of Philip V., and her favorite the minister and cardinal Alberoni, were planning to regain the Spanish appanages lost by the Peace of Utrecht, brought about the 1718. Quadruple alliance for the maintenance of the Peace of Aug. 2. Utrecht, between France, England, the emperor, and (since 1719) the Republic of Holland.

After a short war and the fall of Alberoni, who went to Rome († 1752), the agreements of the quadruple alliance were executed in 1720. 1. Spain evacuated Sicily and Sardinia, and made a renunciation of the appanages forever, in return for which the emperor recognized the Spanish Bourbons. 2. Savoy was obliged to exchange Sicily (p. 393) for Sardinia. After this time the dukes of Savoy called themselves kings of Sardinia.

The emperor Charles VI. was without male offspring. His principal endeavor throughout his whole reign was to secure the various lands which were united under the sceptre of Austria against division after his death. Hence he established an order of succession under the name of the which decreed that: 1. The lands belonging to the Austrian empire should be indivisible; 2. That in case male heirs should fail, they should devolve upon Charles's daughters, the eldest of whom was Maria Theresa, and their heirs according to the law of primogeniture; 3. In case of the extinction of this line the daughters of Joseph I. and their descendants were to inherit.

To secure the assent of the various powers to this pragmatic sanction was the object of numerous diplomatic negotiations. A special alliance between Austria and Spain (1725), in regard to this measure, produced the alliance of Herrenhausen, in the same year, between England, France, and Prussia in opposition. Prussia soon withdrew from the alliance and joined Austria by the Treaty of Wusterhausen. The alliance between Austria and Spain was also of short duration.

1733-1735. War of the Polish Succession, after the death of Augustus II.

Cause : The majority of the Polish nobles, under the influence of France, elected Stanislaus Lesczinski, who had become the father-in-law of Louis XV., king, a second time. Russia and Austria induced a minority to choose Augustus III., elector of Saxony (son of Augustus II.), and supported the election by the presence of troops in Poland. France, Spain, and Sardinia took up arms for Stanislaus.

The seat of war was at first in Italy, where Milan, Naples, and Sicily were conquered, and the Austrians lost everything except Milan, and afterwards on the upper Rhine, where the old prince Eugene fought unsuccessfully, and Francis Stephen, duke of Lorraine, the future husband of Maria Theresa, alone upheld the honor of the imperial arms. Lorraine occupied by the French. Kehl captured. Preliminaries of peace (1735), and, after long negotiations, 1738. Nov. 18. Peace of Vienna.

1. Stanislaus Lesczinski made a renunciation of the Polish throne, receiving as compensation the duchies of Lorraine and Bar, which at his death should devolve upon France. Stanislaus died 1766. 2. The duke of Lorraine, Francis Stephen, received an indemnification in Tuscany, whose ducal throne had become vacant by the extinction of the family of Medici, 1737 (p. 416). 3. Austria ceded Naples and Sicily, the island of Elba and the Stati degli Presidi to Spain as a secundogeniture for Don Carlos, so that these lands could never be united with the crown of Spain, receiving in exchange Parma and Piacenza, which Don Carlos had inherited in 1731 upon the death of the last Farnese, his great-uncle. 4. France guaranteed the Pragmatic Sanction.

1736-1739. Unsuccessful war with the Turks in alliance with Russia (p. 410). By the Peace of Belgrade Orsowa, Belgrade, Servia, and Little Wallachia were restored to the Turks.

1740-1786. Frederic II. the Great (twenty-eight years old).

Born in 1712, received a French education under Madame de Rocoulles and Duham de Jandun; musical (Quanz). After the frustration of the projected marriage with a daughter of George II. of England, estrangement between the king and the crown prince. Frederic attempted flight, was captured, and sentenced to Küstrin as a deserter (execution of Katze) where he found employment in the Chamber of War and of Domain. Marriage with a princess of Brunswick-Bevern (1733). Correspondence with Voltaire. Residence at Rheinsberg and Ruppin until 1740. From his accession to his death he was himself the ruler.

1740, Oct. With the death of Charles VI. the male line of the Hapsburgs was extinct.¹

1740-1780. Maria Theresa, queen of Bohemia and Hungary, archduchess of Austria, etc., married Francis Stephen of the house of Lorraine, grand duke of Tuscany (co-regent).

1740-1748. War of the Austrian Succession.

Cause: The following claimants for the Austrian inheritance appeared: 1. Charles Albert, elector of Bavaria, who had never recognized the Pragmatic Sanction, a descendant of Anna, the eldest daughter of Ferdinand I. He based his claim upon the marriage contract of Anna, and will of Ferdinand I., whereby the Austrian inheritance was (he claimed) secured to the descendants of Anna, in case the male descendants of her brother should become extinct. (The original will, however, read, in case the legitimate descendants of her brother became extinct.) 2. Philip V., king of Spain, relying on a treaty between Charles V. and his brother Ferdinand on occasion of the cession of the German lands, and upon a reservation made by Philip III. in his renunciation of the German lands. 3. Augustus III. of Saxony, the husband of the eldest daughter of Joseph I.

The claims advanced by Frederic II. to a part of Silesia, and his desire to annex the whole of Silesia to his kingdom, the rejection of the offer which he made at Vienna to take the field in favor of Austria if his claims were recognized, brought about, before the commencement of hostilities by the other claimants, the Oppeln secured at the same time, by an hereditary alliance. In 1623 duke John George was placed under the ban by the emperor Ferdinand II. (p. 309), as an adherent of Frederic V., the elector palatine, and in spite of the Peace of Westphalia (p. 316, B.) neither he nor his heirs had been reinstated. 2. The elector Joachim II. had made an hereditary alliance in 1537 with the duke of Liegnitz, Brieg and Wohlau, which Ferdinand I. had forbidden as king of Bohemia and feudal superior of the duke. After the extinction of the ducal house (1675) Austria took possession of the inheritance. In 1686 Frederic William, the Great Elector, renounced the Silesian duchies, in return for the cession of the circle of Schwiebus. The latter, however, was secured to Austria by a secret agreement with the prince elector, and was restored by him, as elector Frederic III., in 1695.

1740. Occupation of Silesia by Frederic's troops. Capture of Glogau.

1741, April 10. Victory of Mollwitz (Schwerin).

1741. Secret alliance of *Nymphenburg*¹ against Austria concluded May. by France, Bavaria, and Spain, afterwards joined by Saxony, and lastly by Prussia.

The allied French (Belle-Isle) and Bavarian army invaded Austria and Bohemia. Prague taken in alliance with the Saxons. Charles Albert caused himself to be proclaimed archduke in Linz, while Frederic II. received homage in Silesia. Charles Albert was elected emperor in Frankfort as 1742-1745. Charles VII.

Meantime Maria Theresa had gone to Hungary. Diet at Presburg; enthusiasm of the Hungarian nobility;² two armies raised; alliance concluded with England. An Austrian army conquered Bavaria where Maria Theresa received the homage of Munich; a second besieged the French in Prague.

1742. The victory of Frederic at Czaslau and Chotusitz, and Maria May 17. Theresa's desire to rid herself of a dangerous enemy led to the separate 1742, June and July. Peace of Breslau and Berlin between Austria and Prussia: 1. Frederic withdrew from the alliance against Maria Theresa. 2. Austria ceded to Prussia upper and lower Silesia and the county of Glatz, retaining only the principality of Teschen and the southwestern part of the principalities of Neisse, Troppau, and Jägerndorf, the Oppa forming the boundary. 3. Prussia assumed the debt upon Silesia held by English and Dutch creditors, to the amount of 1,700,000 rix dollars.

Austria prosecuted the war against the allies with success, driving

Ranke* consider it genuine. Be that as it may it is certain that new engagements (according to Flassan, Hist. de la dipl., a formal Traité d'alliance offensive) were entered into at Nymphenburg by Bavaria and France, and also that a treaty was concluded between France and Spain.

These Austrian successes and the treaties with Sardinia and Saxony in 1743 made the king of Prussia anxious about his new acquisitions. He concluded a second alliance with Charles VII. and France, and began the by forcing his way through Saxony with 80,000 men ("imperial reinforcements"), and invading Bohemia. He took Prague, but, deserted by the French, was soon driven back into Saxony, 1744.

1744. East Friesland, upon the extinction of the reigning house, fell to Prussia (p. 368).

1745. Alliance between Austria, Saxony, England, and Holland Jan. against Prussia. The French and Bavarians took Munich. Charles VII. died (1745, Jan.).

His son Maximilian Joseph concluded the 1745, April. Separate Peace of Füssen, with Austria. 1. Austria restored all conquests to Bavaria. 2. The elector of Bavaria surrendered his pretensions to Austria and promised Francis Stephen, the husband of Maria Theresa, his vote at the imperial election.

The French under marshal Maurice of Saxony, son of Augustus II. and the countess Aurora of Königsmark, defeated the pragmatic army in the 1745, May 11. Battle of Fontenoy (Irish Brigade), and began the conquest of the Austrian Netherlands.

Sept. 30. Battle of Soor, in northeastern Bohemia.

1745-1765. Francis I.

After a victory of the Prussian general, Leopold of Dessau, over the Saxons at Kesseldorf, Dec. 15, the 1745, Dec. 25. Peace of Dresden was concluded between Prussia and Austria (Saxony).

1. Ratification of the Peace of Breslau and Berlin in regard to the possession of Silesia. 2. Frederic II. recognized Francis I. as emperor. 3. Saxony paid Prussia one million rix dollars.

After the flower of the English army had been recalled to England, where they were needed in the contest with the pretenders (p. 438), Marshal Saxe obtained at Raucoux (1746) a second victory over the allies of Austria and completed the conquest of the Austrian Netherlands.

At the same time, the naval war between France and England, and the war in Italy between Spain, France, and Austria, were carried on with varying fortune. Sardinia had concluded peace with Austria as early as 1743. At last the empress of Russia, Elizabeth (p. 411), joined the combatants as the ally of Austria and sent an army to the Rhine. Congress, and finally, 1748, Oct. Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle.

1. Reciprocal restoration of all conquests. 2. Cession of Parma, Piacenza, and Guastalla to the Spanish Infant, Don Philip, making the second secundogeniture of the Spanish Bourbons in Italy.

The following guaranties were given : that Silesia should belong to Prussia ; that the pragmatic sanction should be sustained in Austria; that the house of Hanover should retain the succession in its German states and in Great Britain.

Change in the relations of European states induced by the rise of Prussia to the rank of a great power. Envy between Prussia and Austria ; the latter seeing a disgrace in the loss of Silesia to a smaller power, and intriguing for the recovery of the lost province. Thus began the 1756-1763. Third Silesian, or Seven Years' War.

Cause : Before the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle Maria Theresa had concluded a defensive alliance with Frederic's personal enemy, Elizabeth, empress of Russia (May, 1746). Secret articles of this treaty provided for the reunion of Silesia with Austria under certain specified conditions. In Sept. 1750, George II. of England, moved by anxiety for his principality of Hanover, signed the main treaty, the secret articles being excepted. Saxony (minister, count Brühl) signed the treaty unconditionally. Prince Kaunitz (until 1753 Austrian ambassador in France, then chancellor of the empire in Vienna) succeeded in promoting a reconciliation between the cabinets of Versailles and Vienna, and securing the Marquise de Pompadour in favor of an Austrian alliance. Formation of a party inimical to the Prussian alliance at the French court.

Maria Theresa and Kaunitz induced England to conclude a new subsidy treaty with Russia in 1755. In June of the same year, however, hostilities broke out between England and France in North America without any declaration of war. Conflict at Newfoundland. Dreading a French attack upon Hanover, George II. concluded, in January, 1756, a treaty of neutrality with Frederic at Westminster, which caused a rupture between England and Russia. Kaunitz made skillful use of the indignation at Versailles over the treaty of Westminster. In May, 1756, conclusion of a defensive alliance between France and Austria. In June, 1756, war broke out between France and England, in Europe.

Frederic, well informed concerning the alliances of the powers, and knowing that Russia and France were not in condition to take the offensive against him in 1756, decided to take his enemies by surprise.¹

1778-1779. War of the Bavarian Succession.¹

Cause: Extinction of the electoral house of Bavaria with Maximilian Joseph (1777). Charles Theodore, elector palatine, the legal heir of the Bavarian lands, as head of the house of Wittelsbach, and in consequence of various treaties, was persuaded by Joseph II. to recognize certain old claims of Austria to lower Bavaria, and a part of the upper Palatinate. Treaty of Vienna (1778, Jan.). Occupation of lower Bavaria by Austrian troops. Charles Theodore was childless; his heir presumptive was Charles Augustus Christian, duke of the palatinate of Zweibrücken (Deux-ponts). Frederic II. opened secret negotiations with this wavering and irresolute prince through count Eustachius von Görz and encouraged him, under promise of assistance, to make a formal declaration of his rights against the Austrian claims. Saxony and Mecklenburg, also incited by Frederic, protested as heirs presumptive of a part of the Bavarian inheritance. As direct negotiations between Austria and Prussia were without result, Joseph and Frederic joined their armies, which were already drawn up face to face on the boundary of Bohemia and Silesia.

Saxony allied with Prussia. No battle in this short war. Frederic and prince Henry invaded Bohemia (July, 1778). Impossibility of forcing Joseph from his strong position along the upper Elbe, or of getting around it. The armies maintained their positions of observation so long that want began to make itself felt. In the autumn prince Henry retired to Saxony, Frederic to Silesia. Unimportant skirmishes along the frontier. A personal correspondence between Maria Theresa and Frederic, commenced by the former, led in the following spring, with the help of Russian and French mediation, to a truce and a congress, and soon after to the

1. The treaty of Vienna with Charles Theodore was abrogated. Austria retained only the district of the Inn, in Bavaria, i. e. the part of lower Bavaria between the Inn, Salza, and Danube. 2. Austria agreed to the future union of the margravates of Ansbach and Baireuth, with the Prussian monarchy. 3. Saxony obtained some hitherto disputed rights of sovereignty and nine million rix dollars; Mecklenburg the privilegium de non appellando.

1780-1790. Joseph II. Period of his reign alone and of his attempts at reform.¹

The peaceable and prudent government of Maria Theresa († 1780), with its carefully matured scheme of reform, was succeeded by the essentially revolutionary reign of Joseph II., whereby the ancient forms were shaken to their foundations, and their substance, reluctant and stiff from lack of change, forcibly subjected to experiments made in sympathy with the enlightenment of the century. Joseph II. is the best representative of the contradictions of the eighteenth century, of its philanthropy and its devotion to right, and again of its severity and lack of consideration, where there was question of executing some favorite theory. Filled with dislike of the clergy and the nobility, and entertaining the ideal of a strong, centralized, united state, Joseph pursued his reforms with the purpose of breaking the power of the privileged classes mentioned above, of destroying all provincial independence, and of establishing unity in the administration (centralization). Despite all his failures, despite the fact that, with the exception of the abolition of serfdom and the edict of tolerance, not one of his reforms outlived him, Joseph's reign regenerated the Austrian monarchy, lending it mobility and vitality.

Edict of tolerance (1781). Within eight years 700 monasteries were closed and 36,000 members of orders released. There still remained, however, 1,324 monasteries with 27,000 monks and nuns. For those which remained a new organization was prescribed. The connection of the ecclesiastical order with Rome was weakened, schools were established with the property of the churches, innovations in the form of worship were introduced, nor did the interior organization of the church escape alteration. Futile journey of Pope Pius VI. to Vienna (1782) undertaken to prevent these changes. Reform of the jurisdiction. The feudal burdens were reduced to fixed norms, and attempts were made to completely abolish personal servitude among the peasants.

Disputes between Joseph and the Dutch ; the emperor arbitrarily annulled the barrier treaties (p. 393) (1781). He demanded that the Schelde, which had been closed by the Treaty of Westphalia to the Spanish Netherlands, in favor of the Dutch, should be opened. Finally, after four years of quarreling, French mediation brought about the Peace of Versailles (1785). Joseph withdrew his demands in consideration of ten million florins.

Joseph attempted to improve the legal system of the empire. His encroachments in the empire. Violent proceedings in the case of the bishop of Passau (1783).

The endeavors of Frederic the Great to conclude a union of German princes (1783), which should resist the encroachments of the emperor, and to strengthen Prussia in her political isolation by a "combination within the empire," were at first but coldly supported by his own ministers and the German princes. Frederic's plan was not taken into favor until news was received of 1785. Joseph II.'s plan of an exchange of territory, according to which Charles Theodore was to cede the whole of Bavaria to Austria, and accept in exchange the Austrian Netherlands (Belgium), excepting Luxemburg and Namur, as the kingdom of Burgundy. France maintained an attitude of indifference. Russia supported the project and endeavored by persuasion and threats to induce the heir of Bavaria, the count palatine of Zweibrücken (Deux-ponts) to consent to the scheme. The latter sought help from Frederic the Great, who, a year before his death († 1786, Aug. 17), succeeded in forming the between Prussia, the electorate of Saxony, and Hanover, which was afterward joined by Brunswick, Mainz, Hesse-Cassel, Baden, Mecklenburg, Anhalt, and the Thuringian lands.

Opposition to Joseph's reforms in the Austrian Netherlands and in Hungary. The removal of the crown of Hungary to Vienna produced so great a disturbance that the emperor yielded and permitted its return. Denmark (and Norway).

Since the close of the northern war, Denmark held complete possession of Schleswig and enjoyed under Frederic IV., Christian VI., Frederic V., Christian VII. (count Bernstorff, minister), a long interval of peace at home and abroad. Under the weak Christian VII. revolutionary attempts at reform after the manner of Joseph II. by the German Struensee (born in Halle, physician in Altona, traveling companion of the king, instructor of the crown prince, favorite of the queen, Caroline Matilda, first minister, count, who was overthrown in 1772 by a conspiracy (queen dowager Juliana Maria) and beheaded along with his friend Brandt. The disputes with the line of Holstein-Gottorp were brought to an end in 1773 by the cession of Oldenburg to the younger line in exchange for their share of Holstein, which was in consequence entirely incorporated with the Danish monarchy.

Sweden.

Until 1751 Sweden was under the rule of Frederic of Hesse-Cassel (p. 396). Decline of the royal power in the midst of the dissensions of two parties of the nobility, Hüte, "hats;" (French) and Mutzen "caps;" (Russian). Unsuccessful war with Russia (1741-1743), ended by the disgraceful Under Adolf Frederic (1751-1771) the royal power underwent such reductions at the hands of the royal council that Sweden was rather an aristocracy than a monarchy. Inglorious participation in the Seven Years' War. Adolf Frederic's son, Gustavus III. (1771-1792), crushed the power of the royal council of nobles by a bloodless revolution (1772), and reduced it in the new constitution from a co-regent to a simple council; the estates, however, retained the right of veto against an offensive war.

1788-1790. War with Russia. Drawn battle at the island of Hogland (1788). Gustavus invaded Russian Finland, where the officers of his army refused him further obedience. He found support among the people (Stockholm and Dalecarlia). The estates granted him (against the will of the nobles) the right to declare even an offensive war. In spite of brilliant deeds of arms Gustavus concluded the war by a peace (at Werelæ) which was without advantage to Sweden.

RUSSIA AND POLAND. (See pp. 375, 397.)

The son of Peter the Great (p. 374 and 394), Alexis, who favored the Russian reaction, was condemned to execution by his father, and died in prison (?) 1718. Peter was succeeded, in consequence of a law which he had issued in 1722 (afterwards repealed by Paul I.) which allowed the reigning sovereign to appoint his own successor, by his wife 1727–1730. Peter II., twelve years old, grandson of Peter I. He was for four months under the influence of Menshikoff, who at the end of that time was overthrown by the family of Dolgoruky and sent to Siberia, where he died two years later. Upon Peter II.'s early death,

1730–1740. Anna Ivanovna, younger daughter of the elder brother of Peter the Great, was proclaimed empress. She was ruled by Münich, Ostermann, and her favorite Biron (properly Bühren). The latter soon obtained complete control, and took unbridled vengeance on his enemies, particularly the Dolgorusky. In 1737 he was appointed duke of Curland, at the desire of the empress, by Augustus III., king of Poland (1733–1763). Russia's influence in Poland established by the war of the Polish succession (p. 398). In the war against the Turks, brilliantly conducted, in combination with Austria (p. 398), by the general Münich (1736–1739), Azoff was the only acquisition. The empress Anna was succeeded by her grand-nephew, the minor 1762–1796. Catharine II.

The two brothers Orloff caused the emperor to be strangled, whether with the knowledge of Catharine or not, cannot be stated. The fact that she overwhelmed the murderers with rewards tells against the empress.

Catharine asked and received from Augustus III., king of Poland, the restoration of Curland, for Biron, who administered the duchy under Russian influence, until 1772, and bequeathed it to his son.

After the death of Augustus III. (1763), Catharine, in alliance with Frederic II., procured the election of her protégé 1764–1795. Stanislaus Poniatowski († 1797), as king of Poland.

At the request of Russia and Prussia the dissenters, adherents of the Greek church, and protestants received equal rights with catholics. In opposition to this change, formation of the Confederacy of Bar (1768), which made an unsuccessful attempt to abduct the king. In the civil war that followed the king was successfully supported by a Russian army against the confederacy. The Turks, allies of the confederacy, declared war upon Russia. Russia's success in this war aroused the envy of Prussia and Austria, which led to an attempt to secure an equal aggrandizement of the three powers by the 1768-1774. Catharine's first war against the Turks was successfully conducted. The Turkish fleet was defeated and burned by the Russians off the island of Chios (Tschesme, 1770). Prince Potemkin, Catharine's favorite, soon became all-powerful and conducted all state affairs according to his humor and his arbitrary will.

1780. Armed neutrality at sea, at first introduced for the protection of commerce during the North American war (p. 428). The subject was broached by Russia, and the idea gradually found support from Denmark, Sweden (1780), Prussia, Austria (1782), Portugal (1783); Spain, and France recognized the principle. England prevented the addition of Holland to the league by a declaration of war.

Demands of the Armed Neutrality. 1. Free passage of neutral ships from port to port and along the coasts of combatants. 2. Freedom of an enemy's goods in neutral ships (le pavillon couvre la marchandise), with the exception of such goods as were contraband of war. 3. Russia received Otchakoff and the land between the lower Dniéper, Bug, and Dniester, the latter river becoming the boundary.

1793. Second division of Poland.

The Poles had attempted to improve the war of Russia and Austria with the Turks, and the seemingly friendly aspect of Prussia, by putting an end to their dependence upon the neighboring states, and to the anarchical condition of affairs at home. Alliance with Prussia (1790), which promised to help the Poles if foreign nations should attempt to interfere in their internal affairs. The new constitution of 1791, drawn up by Ignaz Potocki and his friends, 1. converted the elective monarchy into an hereditary monarchy, appointing the elector of Saxony successor of the king Stanislaus Poniatowski and making the throne hereditary in the house of Saxony; 2. conferred the executive power upon the king and a council of state, the legislative power upon a diet of the kingdom in two houses, with abolition of the liberum veto, and 3. made some concessions to the middle classes and the peasants, permitting, for example, admission to the rank of the nobility, all of whose privileges, however, were confirmed.

In opposition to this constitution there was formed the Confederacy of Targowitz (Felix Potocki), under the protection of Russia, which had guaranteed the old constitution. A Russian army invaded Poland. Brave, but futile resistance under prince Poniatowski and Kosciuszko, who were defeated at Dubienka. The king joined the confederacy of Targowitz; the new constitution was repealed. Under pretense of suppressing Jacobinism, Prussian troops entered Poland. Annexation of Danzig (1793). Russia and Prussia issued a common proclamation which announced to the Poles that Russia and her former allies had already come to an understanding. At the diet of Grodno, the consent of the nation to the new cessions, was extorted.

Russia took the larger part of Lithuania, being all that remained, and Volhynia and Podolia; Prussia took Danzig and Thorn, and the whole of Great Poland (now called South Prussia). Besides all this,

Russia enforced a treaty of union, whereby she received : 1. free entrance for her troops into Poland ; 2. the conduct of all future wars ; 3. the right of confirming all treaties made by Poland with foreign powers.

1794. Revolution in Poland, under the lead of Kosciuszko. The Russians in Warsaw, under Igelström, were in part massacred, in part driven from the city. The Prussians entered Poland, defeated Kosciuszko at Szczekoziny (pr. Shtchekoziny), took Cracow, but besieged Warsaw in vain. The Russians were victorious at Brzesc and at Maciejowice (pr. Matchevitz). Kosciuszko captured.¹ Storm of Prague by Suwareff ; massacre in the city.

1795. Third and last partition of Poland.

At this partition, the three powers took possession of the following parts of Poland :

Prussia : Masovia with Warsaw, the region between the Vistula, Bug, and Niemen (New East Prussia), part of Cracow (New Silesia) ;
2. Austria : West Galicia as far as the Bug. 3. Russia : all that remained towards the east. The powers obtained, by the three partitions, about the following increase of territory :

Russia ,	181,000	square miles,	with	6,000,000	inhabitants.
Austria ,	45,000	"	"	3,700,000	"
Prussia ,	57,000	"	"	2,500,000	"

1795. The annihilation of the kingdom of Poland led to the incorporation of Curland with Russia. Curland, legally under the overlordship of Poland, had been practically under Russian supremacy since 1737, when the empress Anna (411) had obtained the duchy for Biron against the claims of the Marshal Saxe.

Portugal.

Since 1640 Portugal was again independent of Spain, had again reached a certain degree of power under the first kings of the house of Braganza, but was then impoverished by a miserable administration, and brought into complete dependence upon England by a commercial treaty with that power. In the reign of Joseph I. Emmanuel (1750–1777), his minister Carvalho, marquis of Pombal, endeavored to introduce revolutionary reforms, in the spirit of the century, in the same direction as the later attempts of Joseph II. (p. 407). After the terrible 1755. Nov. 1. Earthquake of Lisbon, in which 30,000 people lost their lives, Pombal caused the ruined portion of the capital to be splendidly rebuilt. An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the king (1758) formed a pretext for banishing the Jesuits from Portugal (1759), and a welcome chance for the minister to rid himself of his enemies. The death of the king was followed by the fall of Pombal and the undoing of his reforms. The order of the Jesuits was dissolved in 1773, see p. 416. Pombal sentenced to death, but pardoned.

(See p. 328.)

Savoy.

The dukes of Savoy and Piedmont, kings since the peace of Utrecht, since 1718 kings of Sardinia (p. 397), understood how to increase their territory, in the eighteenth century as well as before, by skillful use of political relations. During the war of the Austrian succession they acquired a considerable extent of land from Milan (p. 400).

Genoa.

The republic of Genoa was constantly obliged to defend her freedom and independence against powerful neighbors, who coveted her territory (Savoy, France, Austria). In 1730 the inhabitants of the island of Corsica, which had been under the supremacy of Genoa, revolted. After a long and fluctuating contest, during which a German adventurer, Baron Neuhoof of Westphalia, appeared for a time as King Theodore I. of Corsica (1736), the Genoese called in the assistance of the French, who after great exertions and bloody battles (particularly against Paoli), succeeded in subjugating the island, which the Genoese ceded to them in 1768.

Venice.

The republic of Venice, by consequence of its obstinate persistence in the old aristocratic forms, politically immired, sank into an irremediable decline. Its last laurels were gained in the seventeenth century in the glorious wars against the Turks. The latter surprised Candia and conquered a part of the island (1645–1647). The Venetian fleet under Grimani and Riva repeatedly defeated the much stronger Turkish fleet. Brilliant victory of the admiral Mocenigo, 1651, and Morosini, 1655. Marcello annihilated the Turkish fleet by the Dardanelles (1656), Mocenigo defeated the Turks at Chios, but was himself defeated in a second combat. New naval victories over the Turks in 1661 and 1662. The Venetians received aid from Germany and France, but were obliged, after courageous fighting, to leave the island of Candia under Turkish supremacy. After an alliance between the republic of Venice, the emperor and John Sobieski of Poland (1684), renewal of the war against the Turks. The Venetians under Morosini, supported by German mercenaries, began the conquest of the Peloponnesus (Morea) in 1685. Count Königsmark landed at Patras (1687) and completed the subjugation of the peninsula. Morosini captured Athens; a Venetian bomb blew up the Parthenon on the Acropolis. Morosini, who had been elected doge, landed in Negroponte (Eubœa), but the plague in the army (Königsmark †) frustrated the expedition. In the peace of Carlowitz, 1699 (see p. 372), Morea was given to the Venetians, who repopulated the peninsula with Greek colonists, but soon earned the hatred of their new subjects by the rigor of their administration.

Tuscany.

Tuscany declined in power after the seventeenth century, as the influence of the clergy steadily increased. In 1737 the family of the Medici became extinct; the later members of this house, sunken in dissipation, were sadly unworthy of their great ancestors. After 1737, the rulers of Lorraine were dukes of Tuscany (see p. 398); Leopold II., upon his accession in Austria (1790) gave Tuscany to his second son Ferdinand Joseph. Tuscany was an Austrian secundogeniture from 1765–1859.

Parma, Piacenza, and Guastalla were secundogenitures for the Spanish Bourbons from 1731–1735, and again 1748–1859.

Modena, since 1597, was ruled by an illegitimate branch of the house of Este.

Papal States.

In the Papal States, prosperity, industry, and intellectual life steadily declined. After the sixteenth century the papal chair was occupied by Italians only, who were for the most part members of the great families of the nobility. Among the Popes of the eighteenth century Clemens XIV. (Ganganelli) must be mentioned, who in 1773 yielded to the demands of the Catholic courts and dissolved the order of the Jesuits, whose general, Ricci, would not entertain the idea of reform (sint ut sunt, aut non sint), by the bull Dominus ac redemptor noster.

The Kingdom of the Two Sicilies.

After 1738 this kingdom was a secundogeniture of the Spanish Bourbons, and was given to Ferdinand, third son of Charles III., when the latter ascended the Spanish throne in 1759. Naples and Sicily were governed by this branch of the Bourbon family solely in the interest of their house, and not in that of the people, for whose intellectual and material welfare little or nothing was done.

§ 7. AMERICA: BRITISH COLONIES. (See p. 365.)

- 1713. Treaty with the eastern Indians at Portsmouth. Rectification of the boundary between Massachusetts and Connecticut by the cession of over 100,000 acres of land by the former to the latter.
- 1715. An Indian war in Carolina undertaken by the *Yamassee*s and allied tribes. The Indians were defeated and driven across the Spanish border by governor Craven.
- 1718. Captain Woods Rogers, appointed governor of New Providence, suppressed the buccaneers in the West Indies; extirpation of the pirates on the coast of Carolina by the governor of that colony.

1719-1729. Overthrow of proprietary government in Carolina.

In 1719 the people of Carolina, having for some time chafed under the arbitrary government of the proprietors, formed an association for the overthrow of the proprietary government. The assembly proving unruly was dissolved by governor Johnson, but refused to obey the proclamation; they elected a new governor and council, and opposed the armed demonstration of governor Johnson with an armed defiance. A threatened attack by the Spaniards only served to show more clearly the determined spirit of the colonists. (The Spanish expedition never reached Carolina, being repulsed from New Providence, and overwhelmed by a storm). The late events being reported by the agent for the colony in England, the royal council declared the charter of the proprietors forfeited, and forthwith established a provisional royal government; governor Nicholson (1721). In 1729 an agreement with the proprietors was reached and confirmed by act of parliament. Seven of the proprietors sold their titles and interest in the colony; the eighth retained his property but not his proprietary power. The crown assumed the right of nominating governors and councils. The province was divided into North and South Carolina.

- 1720. William Burnet, governor of New York. Prohibition of trade between the Indians and the French.

- 1722. In New York, governor Burnet continued his efforts to obstruct the French in their policy of hemming in the English sea-coast colonies on the west. Erection of a trading-house at Oswego; negotiations with the Six Nations at Albany. (The Tuscaroras had been admitted to the Iroquois confederacy as a sixth nation).

- 1724. Indian hostilities in New England. War with the Abinakis, who were incensed by the rapid extension of the English settlements, and further provoked by the advice of Rasles, a French Jesuit at Norridgewock. Futile attempt of the English to seize Rasles was answered by the destruction of Berwick, whereupon war was declared, Norridgewock burnt and Rasles killed.

1725. The *Yamassee*s, though living under the protection of the Spaniards in Florida, continued their assaults on the English colony in Carolina. Expedition of Palmer to St. Augustine, upon which he chastised the Indians.
1726. The general court of Massachusetts having become involved in a controversy with governor Shute, the latter obtained from the crown an explanatory charter which gave him power to suppress debate, and limited the time for which the house of representatives might adjourn, to two days.
- Treaty of peace between Massachusetts and the eastern Indians, which was long kept.
- In New York, a treaty with the Senecas, Cayugas, and Onondagas added their lands to those of the Mohawks and Oneidas, which were already under English protection.
1728. Burnet governor of Massachusetts. He was at once involved in a wrangle with the legislature over the question of a fixed salary for the governor, which the court refused to grant, "because it is the undoubted right of all Englishmen, by Magna Charta, to raise and dispose of money for the public service, of their own free accord, without compulsion."
- The boundary between Virginia and North Carolina was surveyed and settled, running through the Dismal Swamp.
1729. Division of Carolina into North and South Carolina (p. 417).
1731. Settlement of the disputed boundary between New York and Connecticut.
1733. Settlement of Georgia, the last of the old thirteen colonies (New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia).

It being thought desirable that the government should secure for England the western part of Carolina in order to prevent the French or the Spaniards from Louisiana or Florida from laying hold of it, a charter for the lands between the Savannah and Altamaha rivers extending to the Pacific, under the name of Georgia, was granted to James Oglethorpe and associates, not as proprietors but as trustees (twenty-one in number), for twenty-one years for the crown, at the expiration of which time the colony was to revert to the crown, which should then determine on the manner of its future government. Liberty of conscience and freedom of worship were secured to all inhabitants of the colony except papists. James Oglethorpe, the moving spirit in this projected colony, desired to establish within its limits a chance for reformation for English prisoners, and a home for poor and oppressed Protestants of all nations. Oglethorpe brought the first colonists in 1733, and settled at Savannah; conciliation of the Indians by just purchase of lands and by kindness. Oglethorpe refused to allow the importation either of rum or of slaves into Georgia. Many Scotch Presbyterians as well as Moravians from Austria came to the new colony. One of the first enactments of the trustees declared that male issue only could inherit land in the colony.

1734. In New York arrest of Zenger, printer of the Weekly Journal, for libel on the governor (Cosby). Trial and acquittal 1735.

1738. Foundation of a college at Princeton, in New Jersey.

1739-1748. Great Britain at war with Spain.

1740. Unsuccessful expedition of Oglethorpe to Florida at the head of 1,200 men from Georgia, Carolina, and Virginia. Siege of St. Augustine.

Settlement of the boundary dispute between Massachusetts and New Hampshire in favor of the latter colony.

Expedition of Vernon with 27,000 men against Carthagena, broken up by disease.

1741. The colonies participated in an attack on Cuba.

1742. Expedition of 3,000 Spaniards to Georgia repulsed by Oglethorpe by stratagem. In this year Oglethorpe went to England and never returned to America.

1744-1748. War between Great Britain and France, known in the American colonies as King George's War, in reality a part of the war of the Austrian Succession (p. 400).

The strongest French fortification in America outside of Quebec was Louisburg on Cape Breton Island, a part, as the English claimed, of Acadia; the French, however, had refused to surrender it with that province, asserting that only Nova Scotia was comprised under that name.

1745. Apr. 30-June 16. Siege and capture of Louisburg by 4,000 colonial troops under William Pepperell, aided by a few English vessels.

1746. Projected conquest of Canada, by a united effort of all the colonies prevented by the arrival of a large French fleet at Nova Scotia under D'Anville, which spread consternation throughout the English colonies, but which, by the death of D'Anville, the suffering of the troops through pestilence and the loss of vessels by storm, was prevented from accomplishing anything.

1747, Nov. 17. An attempt of the English commander, Knowles, to press men for his vessels in Boston, caused an uprising of the people; the governor withdrew to Castle William, and the disturbance was only quieted by the release of most of the men seized.

1748. Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle between England, France, and Spain. In the reciprocal surrender of conquests, Cape Breton was restored to the French (p. 403).

Formation of the Ohio Company under a charter from the English crown, which gave great offense to the French.

1750. In spite of the confirmation of the cession of Acadia to England by the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle, hostilities sprang up between the French and English there, owing to disputes over the boundaries.

1751. Governor Clinton, of New York, in association with South Carolina, Massachusetts and Connecticut, concluded a peace with the Six Nations.

1752. The trustees of Georgia finding that the colony did not flourish under their care, gave up their charter, and the crown assumed control, and placed Georgia on the same footing with other royal colonies.

The English parliament adopted the reformed or Gregorian calendar for England and the colonies (p. 438).

1753. The growth of the British colonies extending more and more westward caused the disputes between England and France to grow to a head. The French claimed the Mississippi and the St. Lawrence, and all the region between from the Appalachians to the Spanish settlements in the west, and were intent on securing this region by a line of forts directly back of the English colonies. According to the English all French settlements within the territory of the colony of Plymouth (p. 293) were illegal; they also claimed the whole region occupied by the Iroquois. The settlement of Georgia and the foundation of the Ohio Company were attempts to counteract the progress of the French, and these moves in their turn were a cause of uneasiness to the French, who seized traders within the limits of the Ohio Company. As the lands of the company were within the territory of Virginia, Robert Dinwiddie, governor of that colony, dispatched George Washington to the forts on the Alleghany and the Ohio to remonstrate with the French (Oct. 31-Dec. 12). The commander of the Ohio forts promised to lay the remonstrance before the governor of Canada.

1754. Virginia immediately sent a force to the Ohio, two companies of which were under Washington. In the advance upon Fort Du Quesne, at the juncture of the Alleghany and Monongahela, he captured a small French party, but was besieged in Fort Necessity, which he had erected, and forced to capitulate under condition of free withdrawal (July 4).

June 19. Conference of colonial delegates at Albany with the Six Nations. By the advice of Benjamin Franklin the conference also drew up a plan of a union of all the colonies under a president appointed by the crown, with a grand council of delegates elected by the colonial assemblies, with a right of legislation subject to the veto of the president and the approval of the crown. Connecticut, objecting to the veto power, refused to sign the proposal, which was afterwards rejected both by the colonies and the crown.

1755-1763. War between England and France, called in the American colonies "The Old French and Indian War;" being a part of the Seven Years' War, in Europe, which was fought in Asia and Africa as well. War was not declared until the following year, but it is reckoned from 1755 (p. 403 and 438).

1755. While a conference of the colonial governors with general Braddock, who was sent from England to take chief command, decided on three expeditions: 1. against Fort Du Quesne; 2. against the fort at Niagara; 3. against the French fort at Crown Point in New York; a band of 3,000 Massachusetts troops under Winslow and Monckton captured forts Beausejour and Gaspereaux in the disputed district in Nova Scotia (June 16–17), and dispersed among the British colonies about 7,000 of the inhabitants who refused to take the oath of allegiance to England (“Evangeline”).

Meantime general Braddock took the offensive at the head of the British regulars against Fort du Quesne, and fell into an ambushade, in consequence of neglecting the advice of the provincial officers (Washington), and suffered a complete defeat and great loss in the 1755, July 9. Battle of Fort du Quesne or “Braddock’s defeat.”

Death of Braddock.

Attack on Crown Point: Construction of Fort Edward on the east of the Hudson (Aug.).

Sept. 8. Battle of Lake George; defeat of the French under Dieskau (†), by the provincial troops under Johnson. Construction of Fort William Henry at the south end of Lake George by the English. Fortification of Ticonderoga, between Lake George and Lake Champlain, by the French.

The expedition to Niagara was subjected to so many delays that it was for the time abandoned.

1756. Great Britain declared war on France. Earl of Loudoun commander-in-chief of forces in America.

Aug. Forts Oswego and George captured by the marquis of Montcalm, commander-in-chief of the French armies in Canada, and destroyed.

This disaster occasioned the abandonment of the projected enterprises against Niagara, Crown Point, Fort du Quesne and Eastern Canada. Fortifications of Georgia and Carolina (Fort Loudoun on the Tennessee river). The French constructed a system of forts in the region of the Illinois.

1757, August 9. Capture of Fort William Henry by Montcalm, massacre of the garrison, whose retreat to Fort Edward was guaranteed, by the Indians in Montcalm’s army.

In Massachusetts, controversy between the governor, Lord Loudoun and the general court over the quartering of troops.

In Pennsylvania, controversy between the governor and the assembly over a scheme of taxation; the governor refusing his assent to the bill, the assembly demanded the assent as their right.

1758, July 8. Repulse of Abercrombie before Ticonderoga.

Expedition against Louisburg (May 28–July 26). Capture of the fortress (Amherst and Wolfe, July 26).

Aug. 27. Capture of Fort Frontenac by Bradstreet.

Nov. 25. Capture of Fort du Quesne by General Forbes. The fort was named Ft. Pitt (Pittsburg).

1759, July 25. Capture of Fort Niagara by Sir William Johnson.

July 26. Capture of Ticonderoga by Major-General Amherst.

Expedition of Major-General Wolfe from Louisburg against Quebec. Repulsed at the Montmorency; Wolfe conducted his force by night to the elevated plateau behind Quebec called the Plains of Abraham, where in the 1759, Sept. 13. Battle of the Plains of Abraham the French under Montcalm were completely defeated. Death of Wolfe and Montcalm. Surrender of Quebec (Sept. 18).

1760, Sept. 8. Montreal and all Canada surrendered to the English.

1761. The writs of assistance in Massachusetts. The English government (Board of Trade reestablished 1695) having for some time adhered to a course of commercial restrictions and duties upon the colonies (all molasses charged with duty except that imported from the British West Indies, 1733; erection of rolling mills prohibited, 1750; the slave trade favored in spite of the opposition of the colonial legislatures of Virginia and Carolina, etc.) had roused a spirit of resistance throughout the colonies based on the perception that such duties were a form of taxation without representation. Hence so much evasion was practised that finally the custom house officials in Boston applied to the superior court of judicature (Thomas Hutchinson, chief justice) for the issue of writs of assistance such as were granted by the exchequer in England. The case was argued for the colonists by Thacher, and especially by James Otis, (1725-1783), who urged the dangerous character of the writ as being servable by any officer against any person for any length of time, and accused the acts of trade as infringements of the charter. The court deferred its decision; it would seem that the writs were ultimately granted, but that the officers did not venture to use them.

1762. Expedition against Martinique, by the royal and provincial troops; surrender of this island, of Grenada, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, and of all the other French West Indies.

War between England and Spain (p. 439).

July. Storm of Havana, which was surrendered to the English.

1763, Feb. 10. Peace of Paris, between Great Britain, France, Spain, Portugal. (Preliminary articles 1762, Nov. 3, at Fontainebleau, p. 439).

1. France ceded to England, Nova Scotia, or Acadia, Canada, Cape Breton, and all other islands in the gulf and river of St. Lawrence, reserving the right to fish and dry fish on a part of Newfoundland, and of fishing in the Gulf of St. Lawrence three leagues from the shore, and at a distance of fifteen leagues from Cape Breton; also the river and harbor of Mobile and everything on the left of the middle of the Mississippi, the Iberville, and lakes Maurepas and Ponchartrain, except New Orleans, the navigation of the Mississippi to be free for both England and France; also Grenada, St. Vincent, Dominique, Tobago. In all ceded districts certain civil and religious rights were secured to the French inhabitants. England ceded to France the islands of St. Peter and Miquelon in the Gulf of St. Lawrence for fishing stations, not to be fortified, and Guadeloupe, Marigalante, Desirade, Martinique, Belleisle, St. Lucia, in the West Indies.

2. Spain ceded to England Florida, and all other possessions east of the Mississippi ; Spain also gave up her claims to the Newfoundland fisheries ; England restored Havana to Spain and destroyed all English fortresses in Spanish America ; right to cut and transport dye wood reserved.

3. France ceded to Spain the whole of Louisiana and New Orleans by a previous treaty of Nov. 3, 1762.

The English acquisitions were divided into the four governments of Quebec, East Florida, West Florida and Grenada.

The number of inhabitants in the old thirteen colonies at this time was about two millions.

1763. The conspiracy of Pontiac.

Pontiac was the chief of the Ottawas, a firm friend of the French ; relying on the vain hope of assistance from whom, he resolved to wrest from the English the border fortresses. To this end he formed an alliance of almost all the tribes of the Algonquin race, with the Wyandots and Senecas. The other nations of the Iroquois were with great difficulty kept quiet by the influence of Sir William Johnson. Pontiac had planned to open the attack by the treacherous seizure of the fort at Detroit on May 7. Foiled in this by the coolness of Gladwyn, the English commander, who had been previously informed of the plot, the enraged chief opened the siege of the fort (May 9) and war broke out along the whole line from the Mississippi to Canada. In a short time Fort Pitt, Niagara, and Detroit, of all the border fortresses, alone remained in the hands of the English. In July Boquet forced his way, under severe fighting, to Fort Pitt, which he relieved. Pontiac maintained before Detroit the longest siege which the Indians ever executed, but on September 3, the garrison was relieved by a schooner from Niagara, and with the approach of winter the Indians withdrew. The western tribes were not subdued before 1765, but the danger was over. Pontiac did not long outlive his failure.

1763. Paxton boys in Pennsylvania ; massacre of converted Indians.

The peace gave to Great Britain time to enforce more vigorously that system of repression and taxation which the ministers thought the fitting method of dealing with the too independent colonists, while it gave the colonists time to reflect upon and to resent such a procedure.

1763-1765. George Grenville, prime minister.

1764, March. Parliament voted that they had a right to tax the American colonies, though the colonies were not represented. Passage of the sugar act ("it is just and necessary that a revenue be raised in America") and of an act for increasing the efficiency of the revenue service.

The news was received in America with the greatest indignation. Resolutions of the house of burgesses in Virginia denying the right of taxation, introduced by Patrick Henry (1736-1797).

Oct. 7. Meeting of a congress of twenty eight delegates from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, South Carolina (Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia were not represented, but were in sympathy with the colonies) at New York in accordance with the proposition of Massachusetts. The assembly drew up petitions and memorials to the king and parliament, and adopted a "Declaration of rights and liberties" (Oct. 19).

The arrival of stamp officers led to riots in various cities, as in Boston, where the officer (Andrew Oliver) was burnt in effigy, his house and that of lieutenant-governor Hutchinson sacked, in New York, etc. Non-importation and non-consumption agreements.

1765-1766. Rockingham prime minister.

1766, March. Repeal of the Stamp Act, which had brought in no revenue (Pitt, Burke); examination of Benjamin Franklin (b. Jan. 17, 1706; d. Apr. 17, 1790); agent of Pennsylvania, before the commons. The repeal was accompanied by a declaratory act, asserting that "parliament has power to bind the colonies in all cases whatsoever" (March, 1766).

1766-1770. Duke of Grafton prime minister (Earl of Chatham privy seal).

1767. Duty imposed on glass, paper, painters' colors, and tea introduced into the colonies (this measure followed the defeat of the ministry on the land tax in England, which cost the revenue a large sum). Out of the revenue thus collected fixed salaries were to be paid royal officials.

New York having refused to make provision for troops quartered upon the colony, the legislative power of the assembly was suspended by parliament until compliance.

Creation of a custom house and board of commissioners for America.

Oct. Arrival of British troops at Boston. The selectmen refused to provide quarters for the men.

First settlement made in Tennessee.

1769. Parliament adopted a resolution looking to the trial of acts of treason committed in the colonies in England. Resolutions of the house of burgesses in Virginia denouncing this position. The governor dissolved the assembly. Similar resolutions were adopted in other colonies.

The general court of Massachusetts, refusing to do business while a guard was stationed at the state-house, was adjourned to Cambridge. Refusal to provide for the troops. Submission of the assembly in New York.

1770-1782. Lord North prime minister.

1770. The Boston massacre. In a broil between the populace March 5. and the British soldiers in King (State) street, three men were killed and eight wounded. The officer in command (Preston) was brought to trial, but acquitted (defended by John Adams and Josiah Quincy).

March. Act repealing the duty on paper, glass, and painters' colors, but retaining that on tea.

1771. Insurrection of the "regulators" in North Carolina suppressed by governor Tryon.

Thomas Hutchinson (formerly lieutenant-governor) governor of Massachusetts (went to England, 1774).

1772. Destruction of the British revenue schooner Gaspee, which June 10. had made itself very obnoxious to the people of Rhode Island, and now ran aground in pursuit of a packet. In spite of a large reward offered, no information concerning the offenders was ever given.

Settlement of the boundary between North and South Carolina.

1773. The Virginia assembly appointed a committee of correspondence for intercourse with the other colonies.

The resolution of the colonies having caused a diminution both in the revenue and in the sale of tea, the British government agreed to relieve the East India Company of exportation duty if the company would transport its teas to the American colonies. Cargoes were therefore sent to New York, Philadelphia, Charleston, Boston. New York and Philadelphia sent back the ships; at Charleston the tea was stored in damp cellars, where, as there was no demand for it, it soon spoiled. At Boston, as the return of the ships could not be obtained, 1773, Dec. 16. They were boarded by citizens disguised as Indians, and 342 chests of tea were emptied in the water (Boston Tea Party).

Daniel Boon settled in Kentucky. English settlement near the Natchez.

1774, Mar. Passage of the Boston Port Bill, closing Boston to the importation and exportation of all goods except food or fuel; and of "an act for the better regulating the government of Massachusetts," which was a virtual revocation of the charter, giving the governor great increase of power. Another act decreed that persons accused of murder or any capital crime in aiding government should be tried in England, or in some other colony than that wherein the crime was committed. General Gage, commander-in-chief of the royal forces in North America, was appointed governor of Massachusetts.

June 1. The port act went into operation in Boston.

County conventions throughout Massachusetts protested against the acts (Aug.-Sept.).

Sept. The Suffolk convention resolved : "That no obedience is due from the province to either or any part of the said acts, but that they should be rejected as the attempts of a wicked administration to enslave America."

The project of a congress of the colonies, moved in 1773 by Franklin, was taken up by Rhode Island, Virginia, Massachusetts, and the other colonies (except Georgia).

An address was prepared to the king, memorials to the people of British America, and to the people of Great Britain, to Canada, Florida, Georgia, etc. A declaration of rights was drawn up. The congress also concluded

Oct. 20. The American Association ; an agreement to prevent all importation and exportation from and to Great Britain until the acts were repealed. On Oct. 26, the congress separated with a resolve to meet the next year if justice had not by that time been done.

In the meantime more British troops had been concentrated at Boston, and the town had been fortified. The town was the recipient of much sympathy and many generous gifts from the other colonies.

1775. Fruitless attempt of the opposition in parliament under lord Chatham to procure the repeal of harsh measures toward the colonies.

Acts for restraining the trade of New England and the southern colonies. A "conciliatory" measure introduced by lord North exempting from taxation any colony which would undertake to raise the quota assessed upon it. The act met with no response.

April 19. Skirmishes at Lexington and Concord.

A body of 800 British soldiers, detailed to destroy stores at Concord, fired upon a number of provincials assembled on the green at Lexington, killing eight men ; an ineffectual fire was returned. Proceeding to Concord, the British destroyed the stores, but were obliged to retreat (fight at the bridge) ; the retreat became a rout before they reached Lexington, where lord Percy with fresh troops met them. The further retreat to Boston was much embarrassed by the constantly increasing number of provincials. The British lost 273 men ; the Americans 103.

In Massachusetts a large army was raised and encamped near Boston.

June 17. Battle of Bunker's (more properly Breed's) Hill, opposite Boston, where the Americans had thrown up intrenchments. The provincials were finally driven from their intrenchment, after their ammunition gave out, but not before they had inflicted a loss of 1054 men on the British, themselves losing about 450 men (Warren †).

July 3. Washington took command of the American army at Cambridge.

1775, July–March 17, 1776. Siege of Boston.

1775, Aug. Georgia joined the other colonies. In congress it was moved by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia, and seconded by John Adams of Massachusetts, "That these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved." The resolution was referred and a committee appointed to draft a declaration, which accepted one prepared by Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia. Reported June 28. Debate July 1. 1776, July 4. Adoption of the Declaration of Independence. (Signed Aug. 2 and later.)

To have taken up a position of independence was a moral gain for the colonies, but the act was followed by a period of military disaster.

After the surrender of Boston, Washington went to New York, which was soon attacked by the two Howes with some 30,000 men. The British commanders brought offers of peace, but they were not acceptable.

The army was in a very bad condition, owing largely to lack of money, which congress could supply only by the issue of paper money which soon depreciated largely. Even the arrival of the marquis of Lafayette, who was appointed major-general (July 31, 1777) brought only temporary encouragement.

Burgoyne's and St. Leger's campaign from Canada.

The summer of 1777 saw a change of fortune. The British had planned to cut the colonies in two by an expedition under general Burgoyne from Canada, which should be met by a northward movement of the army in New York. (Capture of forts Clinton and Montgomery, Oct. 6.) Burgoyne took Ticonderoga July 6, and defeated the Americans at Hubbardton July 7.

As Burgoyne reached Fort Edward, Schuyler, who had but half his force, retired to Saratoga. Meantime St. Leger, who was to coöperate with Burgoyne from Lake Ontario, besieged Fort Schuyler and defeated Herkimer (Aug. 6), but returned to Montreal on the approach of Arnold with reinforcements.

Hearing of provisions and stores at Bennington in Vermont (then called New Hampshire Grants) Burgoyne sent colonel Baum to seize them, who was defeated by general Stark in the Schuyler succeeded by Gates.

On Oct. 7, a second battle was fought at Stillwater (second battle of Bemis's Heights or Saratoga), in which the British were defeated. Being now surrounded and finding retreat impracticable, 1777, Oct. 17. Burgoyne surrendered his entire force (about 6,000 men) to Gates.

Arrival of Count d'Estaing with eighteen vessels and 4,000 troops off Virginia. An attack on Newport having been resolved on, the French fleet sailed to that port. Under Sahu, grand-son of Sivaji (p. 389), the real power fell into the hands of his chief minister, a Brahman with the title of Peshwa; this man and his successors (Bálaji, 1718–1720; Báji Ráo, 1721–1740; Bálaji Báji Ráo, 1740–1761; Madhu Ráo, 1761–1772) built up a confederacy at Poona while the true sovereigns sank into the petty princes of Sátára and Kolhapur (the latter still exists). Under the first three Peshwás their armies prospered, they conquered the Deccan and extorted tribute from Bengal (1751). After the defeat of Panipat (1761), the power of the Peshwa of Poona rapidly declined, and the confederacy split up into five divisions: the Peshwás (Poona), Bhonslás (Nágpur), Sindhia (Gwalior), Holkar (Indore), Gáekwárs (Baroda).

When the eighteenth century opened, the British were established at Bombay, Madras, and in Bengal (Calcutta). The French had a factory at Pondicherry, south of Madras. Holding that the emperor had broken the agreement with Clive by joining the Mahrattás, Hastings sold Allahábad and Kora to the governor of Oudh. The resistance of Chait Singh, the Rájá of Benares, to the demands of Hastings was fanned into a rebellion; Hastings charged the mother of the governor of Oudh (Begam of Oudh) with abetting the rebel, and extorted over £1,000,000 from her. For these acts Hastings was impeached in parliament on his return to England (1788–1795; speech of Burke), but acquitted.

(See p. 357.)

From 1654 to 1853 the history of this country is marked by few events of interest. Under the Tokugawa Shoguns, many of whom were famous for their active interest in science and literature, the people progressed in civilization and the diffusion of education. Toward the close of the second century the country began to feel the evil effects of the long peace : wealth, luxury, enervation. Iyetsuna 1650–1681 ; construction of a coöperative history of Japan, the Dai Nihon Shi, under the care of the prince of Mito ; department of astronomy ; growth of Yedo. Tsunayoski, 1681–1708, the friend of learning. Kaempfer in Japan. Yoshimune, 1717–1744, one of the ablest of the Tokugawas ; revision of the criminal code ; introduction of sugar-cane ; foundation of a free hospital at Yedo ; hygienic information distributed throughout the country (population of Japan in 1744, 26,080,000).¹ From 1763–1770 an empress sat on the Mikado's throne.

1774, May 10. Death of Louis XV. He was succeeded by his grandson, whose moral purity and sincere good-will, neutralized by a total lack of energy, were unable to quiet the approaching storm of the revolution by feeble attempts at reform. Restoration of the parliament. Louis, while dauphin (1770) had married Marie Antoinette, daughter of Maria Theresa of Austria. The queen, at first extremely popular, soon incurred the dislike of the people, and became an object of the grossest slanders, particularly in connection with the scandalous affair of the diamond necklace (1785; given to the queen by cardinal Rohan; countess Lamothe). Her influence was an evil one, being exerted for the maintenance of the system of favoritism, and for the resistance of reforms.

1774-1792. Louis XVI.,

THIRD PERIOD.

FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE FIRST FRENCH REVOLUTION TO THE CONGRESS OF VIENNA (1789-1815).

The revolution ran through three stages to the extreme of a democratic republic, three other periods brought it gradually through a reaction back to absolute monarchy, after which came a time of constitutional monarchy, then a republic, then the second empire, then a republic again.

1. States General and Constituent Assembly (Constituante); from May 5 (June 17), 1789, to Sept. 30, 1791 ($2\frac{1}{2}$ years). A limited (constitutional) monarchy. Influence of the higher middle classes.

2. The Legislative Assembly (Législatif); from Oct. 1, 1791, to Sept. 21, 1792 (almost a year). Monarchy still further limited, then suspended. Increase of the power of the lower classes.

3. The National Convention (Convention Nationale); from Sept. 21, 1792, to Oct. 25, 1795 (more than three years); called to frame " new constitution, it first abolished the monarchy and condemned the king to death ; it supported the Reign of Terror, and then overthrew it. It led the resistance to foreign foes.

N. B. The left of the constituent was the right of the legislative, and the left of the legislative was (at first) the right of the convention.

4. The Directory (Directoire): from Oct. 26, 1795, to Nov. 9, 1799 (18 Brumaire, An. VIII.) more than four years. The middle classes recovered their influence. Party divisions. The army. General Bonaparte's coup d'état.

5. The Consulate (consulat), at first provisional then definitive, from Dec. 25, 1799, to May 20, 1804 ($4\frac{1}{2}$ years) ; civil and military rule, virtually of one man ; progress of French arms.

6. The (first) Empire; from May 20, 1804 to (April, 1814) June 22, 1815 (about eleven years). Napoleon I. made France the controlling power on the continent, but was finally overthrown.¹

General Causes of the Revolution.

1. The spirit of the eighteenth century — a spirit devoted to the destruction or reformation of all existing institutions. Attacks of French writers upon church and state. Montesquieu (1689–1755) ; Voltaire (1694–1778) ; Rousseau (1712–1788) ; the Encyclopedia (1751–1780), the work of the Encyclopedists : Holbach (1723–1789) ; Helvetius (1715–1771) ; Diderot (1713–1784) ; D'Alembert (1717–1783) ; Condillac (1715–1789).

2. The unequal division and miserable cultivation of the land (nearly two thirds of which was in the hands of the clergy and the nobles), and the strict control exercised by the guilds, which checked the development of trade and industry.

3. The arbitrary government, the abuses in the administration, the unequal apportionment of the burdens of taxation. Since 1614, the constitutional assembly of the kingdom, the états-généraux had not been summoned (p. 325). Control of the liberty of the subject by arbitrary warrants of imprisonment (lettres de cachet, Bastille) of their property by arbitrary taxation.

In opposition to the right assumed by the parliament of Paris, to refuse the registration of edicts of taxation, the court had recourse to beds of justice (lits de justice, a despotic enforcement of registration), and the banishment of members of parliament. Commissions in the army, places in parliament, and most of the higher offices, were purchasable, but as a rule, only by the nobles. The privileged classes (nobility and clergy) were allowed many privileges in regard to the direct taxes, although by no means exempt by them.² Continuation in the country of the oppressive feudal burdens (corvées, enforced labor on the estate of the lord and on public roads without pay), exactions of the feudal lords, who wasted their revenues in the capital and gave the peasants neither protection nor assistance in return. Taille, land and property tax; gabelle, tax on salt.

Special Cause.

The immense public debt and the deficit. The yearly deficit owed its origin to the wars of Louis XIV., to his costly, often senseless buildings (Versailles with its basins and fountains lying in a district totally without water), and to his extravagant court; it grew under the profligate expenditure of Louis XV. and the cost of the North American war under Louis XVI. till it amounted to nearly half of the yearly income. As Turgot's (1774-1776) attempts at reforms (removal of internal duties on commerce; abolition of the corvée, abolition of many guilds), Necker's (1776-1781) economical administration, and the assembly of notables summoned upon the advice of Calonne (1787), brought no relief, the king took the advice of Necker, who had reassumed office (1788), and resolved upon the 1789, May 5. Summons of the États-Généraux to Versailles, with a double representation of the middle classes, the third estate (tiers état), nobles 300, clergy 300, commons 600. Dispute about the manner of debating and of voting (whether votes should be cast by the orders as such, or by each member individually) which broke out during the verification of the powers of the members. The nobles and the clergy demanded a separate verification, the commons wished that it should take place in common. The true question was whether the legislative body should consist of a lower house of commons, and an upper house of nobles and clergy which would check the lower, or of one house in which the commons equaled in number the nobles and clergy together. Upon the motion of the abbé Sieyès (author of the remarkable pamphlet asking, What is the third estate?) the representatives of the third estate assumed the title of the 1789. Suspension of the meetings for three days; the hall

June 20. closed to the members, who at last resorted to a neighboring tennis court (jeu de paume) and took an oath not to separate until they had given the realm a constitution. President Bailly. Many of the clergy and some nobles joined the assembly.

June 23. Fruitless royal sitting; the king ordered the assembly to meet in three houses.

Principal orator of the assembly: Mirabeau (Riquetti, count of Mirabeau, born 1749, of remarkable talent, but dissolute, in debt, at variance with his family, elected in Provence as representative of the third estate). The representatives of the clergy and the nobility join the third estate by request of the king. Concentration of troops near Paris.

Rumors of a purpose to dissolve the national assembly, and the dismissal of Necker (July 11) caused the

The royal veto was suspensive only, delaying the adoption of a measure for two legislative terms. The king could not declare war and conclude peace without the consent of the chamber, ratification by which was necessary for the validity of all foreign treaties.

In order to relieve the financial distress the ecclesiastical estates were declared public property. Assignats, notes of the government, having for security the public lands, the value of which was not to be exceeded by the issue of notes (a check which was inoperative). The state assumed the support of the clergy.

1790, July 14. National federation in Paris; the Constitution accepted by the king.

Abolition of the old provinces and governments; France divided into eighty-three departments, named after rivers and mountains; these departments being subdivided into 374 districts and cantons. The communes were left unchanged (44,000); tax qualification for the exercise of active suffrage in the primary assemblies, which chose electors (électeurs) who then elected the representatives (745) for a legislature with a term of two years. The administrative officers of the departments and districts were selected from the electors; the municipal officers and the judges were taken from the great body of voters, the active citizens. Each department and each district had a local assembly. Abolition of the parliaments and the old judicial constitution. Juries. Abolition of hereditary nobility, titles, and coats-of-arms. Dissolution of all ecclesiastical orders, excepting those having education and the care of the sick for their objects. Civil organization of the clergy; the pastors to be chosen by the voters of the districts, the bishops by the voters of the departments. Only one third of the ecclesiastics submitted to the new constitution by taking the required oath, so that henceforward there was a distinction between priests who had taken the oath (prêtres assermentés) and priests who had not (réfractaires).

Clubs had existed since 1789; the Jacobins, named after their place of assembly, which was formerly occupied by Dominican monks from the Rue St. Jacques (Robespierre), soon the greatest power in the state; the Cordeliers, who held their meetings in a monastery of Franciscans (Danton, Marat, Camille Desmoulins, Hébert); the Feuillants, moderate monarchists who had separated from the Jacobins (Lafayette, Bailly). The Mountain (la montagne, les montagnards), so called from their seats, which were the highest on the left side of the hall, radicals, adherents of a united, indivisible republic (une et indivisible). They were composed of the leaders of the clubs of the Jacobins and the Cordeliers. Pétion, mayor of Paris.

1799-1801. War of the second coalition, composed of Russia, Austria, England, Portugal, Naples, the Ottoman Porte, and owing its origin chiefly to Paul I., emperor of Russia, whom the Knights of Malta had elected grand master.

Plan of the allies : 1. An English-Russian army (duke of York) was to drive the French from the Netherlands. 2. An Austrian army (archduke Charles) should drive them out of Germany and Switzerland, while 3. a Russian-Austrian army expelled them from Italy (Suvoroff and Melas).

The war began in the latter part of 1798 by a Neapolitan invasion of the Roman Republic, under the Austrian general Mack. The invasion was repulsed, the king of Naples fled to Palermo, the kingdom of Naples was occupied by the French and transformed into the 1799. Parthenopæan Republic. The grand duke of Tuscany was Jan. driven from his domains. The king of Sardinia escaped from Turin and took up his residence in Cagliari in Sardinia; his fortresses upon the mainland were placed under French control. After 1802 they were annexed to France.

The directory opposed to the coalition six armies under as many commanders. 1. Brune in Holland ; 2. Bernadotte on the middle Rhine ; 3. Jourdan on the upper Rhine ; 4. Massena in Switzerland ; 5. Scherer, afterwards Moreau, in upper Italy ; 6. Macdonald in Naples.

Aug. 15. Battle of Novi by Suvaroff and Melas. Joubert.† Suvaroff crossed the Alps by the pass of St. Gothard in order to unite with the second Russian army under Korsakoff, who had taken the place of archduke Charles when the latter went to the middle Rhine, in Switzerland.

His army however had already been defeated at Zürich by Massena. Suvaroff left Switzerland after a series of terrible battles and marches, and returned to Russia.

A Russian-Turkish fleet had wrested the Ionian islands from French control in May, 1799. Erection of the Republic of the Ionian Islands under Turkish protection, and the guarantee of Russia, which occupied the same until 1807.

June 18. Revolution of 30th Prairial. Reorganization of the directory under Sieyès; a revolution which resulted in the return of Bonaparte.

Nov. 9, Coup d'Etat of the 18th Brumaire, and broke up the council of five hundred upon the following day.

1799-1804. The Government of the Consulate with Napoleon Bonaparte as regent under the title of first consul for ten years, and two consuls appointed by him, Cambacérès and Lebrun, who had consultative voices only.

The new (fourth) constitution (constitution of the year VIII.), originally devised by Sieyès, but essentially changed by Napoleon, and accepted by direct vote of the whole nation (3,000,000 to 1,567), preserved the appearance of a republic but in reality established a military monarchy. A senate (80 well paid senators elected for life with but little to do), appointed, from lists of names sent in by the departments, the members of the legislative department, the higher officials and the judges. Legislative power without the initiative: 1. tribunate

(100) discussed the proposals of the government without voting.
 2. The legislative chamber (300) could only accept or reject these proposals, without debate. The executive power was in the hands of the first consul, who was aided by a council of state.

The people voted for notables of the communes, who then elected a tenth of their number as notables of the departments, whence were elected a tenth portion, the notables of France, from which latter list the senate appointed the members of the legislative bodies.

Establishment of prefectures (administration of the departments) and sub-prefectures (administration of the arrondissements), and consequent creation of that centralization which still prevails in France. New system of tax-collection ; receveur-général for each department (abolished under the second empire), receveur particulier for each arrondissement. Code Napoléon commenced.

The overtures of peace made by the first consul were rejected. Paul, emperor of Russia, however, was won over by Napoleon's flattery, and withdrew from the coalition. Defensive alliance between Russia and Sweden (1799), closer connection between Russia and Prussia. Paul quarreled with England in regard to Malta. Renewal of the previous (1780) armed neutrality at sea (p. 536). North-ern convention (1800).

May. Ott. Meantime passage of the Great St. Bernard by Bonaparte. (The fortress of Bard, passed by a detour).

1800, June 14. Battle of Marengo, by Napoleon.

Desaix †. According to the truce concluded with Melas, all fortresses west of the Mincio and south of the Po were surrendered by the Austrians to the French.

B. In Germany : Moreau crossed the Rhine from Alsace in April, and advanced, winning victories at Engen and Stockach, toward Kray (May). Moreau in Munich (July). Truce until November. Recommencement of hostilities. Moreau defeated the archduke John in the captured Salzburg and advanced to the Linz. Truce of Steyer. After Brune in Italy had won a battle on the Mincio (Dec.) and had crossed the Adige (Jan. 1, 1801), a truce was concluded in Treviso, which was succeeded by the 1801, Feb. 9. Peace of Lunéville, from which the abolition of the old Holy Roman Empire practically dates.

Chief conditions : 1. Ratification of the cessions made by Austria and to her in the peace of Campo Formio (p. 459). 2. Cession of the grand duchy of Tuscany (Austrian secundogeniture) to Parma, to be indemnified in Germany. 3. The Emperor and Empire consented to the cession of the left bank of the Rhine to France, the valley of the Rhine (i. e. the middle of the river), the boundary. The princes who lost by this operation received indemnification in Germany. 4. Recognition of the Batavian, Helvetian, Cisalpine, and Ligurian Republics. Germany lost by this peace, taking the Belgic territory into account, 25,180 square miles with almost 3,500,000 inhabitants. The German princes received an increase of territory. The shameful negotiations over the indemnifications lasted more than two years (p. 465), during which time the ambassadors of German princes haunted the antechambers of the First Consul to beg for better terms, and bribed French ambassadors, secretaries and their mistresses.

Tuscany was transformed into the kingdom of Etruria, for the satisfaction of Parma. Besides losing Parma, a Spanish secundogeniture, Spain ceded Louisiana to France, which afterwards sold it to the United States (1803). The peace of Lunéville was succeeded, after conclusion of a truce, by the 1801, March 18. Peace of Florence with Naples. Conditions :

1. Closure of the harbors to British and Turkish vessels. 2. Cession of the Neapolitan possessions in central Italy and the island of Elba. 3. Reception of French garrisons in several Italian towns.

Prussia attacked the Northern Convention against England. Occupation of Hanover.

1801, March 23. Paul I., Emperor of Russia, murdered. He was succeeded by his son, 1801-1825. Alexander I.

Reconciliation between Russia and England (in 1801 England had attacked Denmark, the ally of Russia, and forced her to withdraw from the Northern Convention). The Northern Convention was now dissolved.

1800. Conspiracies against the life of Bonaparte. Infernal machines. 130 "Terrorists and Jacobins" transported, although the attempts had originated with the royalists.

In Egypt the chief command after the departure of Bonaparte had devolved upon Kléber, who defeated the Turks in the battle of Heliopolis (1800, March). After the murder of Kléber at Cairo (June), Menou became commander-in-chief. He concluded a treaty with the English at Cairo (1801), under which Egypt was to be abandoned and returned to the Ottoman Porte, and the French army transported to France by the English fleet.

1801. Union of Ireland with Great Britain under one parliament. In France restoration of the Catholic worship, and after long negotiations with the papacy, conclusion of a

1801. Concordat (executed in 1802), whereby the (10) French archbishops and (50) bishops were to be appointed and supported by the government, and confirmed by the Pope. Pius VII., elected in 1800 in Venice, was recognized in the possession of the Papal States, without Ferrara, Bologna, and the Romagna. The liberties of the Gallican church were strongly asserted. By the new organization of the "Université," an incorporated body of teachers who had passed a state examination, the entire system of higher education was made dependent upon the government. The institut national was reorganized and divided into four (later five) academies : 1. académie française (1635) ; 2. a. des inscriptions et belles-lettres (1663, 1701) ; 3. a. des sciences (1666) ; 4. a. des beaux arts (1648) ; 5. a. des sciences morales et politiques (1832).

After the withdrawal of the younger Pitt from the English cabinet, and after long negotiations, the

was concluded between England and France.

1. Surrender of all conquests made by England to France and her allies, excepting Trinidad which was ceded by Spain, and Ceylon which was ceded by the Batavian Republic. 2. France recognized the Republic of the Seven Ionian Islands. Malta must be restored to the order of the Knights of Malta. In consequence of this peace, peace was concluded between France and the Porte.

Creation of the order of the Legion of Honor (May 19, 1802). Assumption of regal state and authority. Napoleon Bonaparte caused himself to be elected by a popular vote (plébiscite, 3½ millions), 1802, August 2. Consul for life, with the right of appointing his successor.

New (fifth) constitution. The powers of the senate, which was ruled by the first consul, were enlarged; the importance of the legislative bodies and the tribunate was very decidedly reduced.

Napoleon had already become president of the Italian Republic, as the Cisalpine Republic was henceforward called. Elba and Piedmont were annexed to France. Military interference of the French in Switzerland, which was torn with civil dissensions. The act of mediation restored the independence of the separate cantons, but the country remained still so far a single state that it was represented by a landamman and a diet.

As regards the internal relations of Germany, the peace of Lunéville was executed according to a plan of indemnification established by France and Russia by the

1803, Feb. Enactment of the delegates of the empire. (Reichs-deputationshauptschluss).¹

Of the ecclesiastical estates there were left only : 1. the former elector of Mainz, now electoral archchancellor, with a territory formed out of the remains of the archbishopric of Mainz on the right bank of the Rhine, the bishopric of Regensburg, and the cities of Regensburg and Witzlar. 2. the masters of the order of St. John, and the Teutonic order. 3. Of the 48 free imperial cities which still existed, only 6 were left, the 3 Hanseatic cities : Lübeck, Hamburg, Bremen, and Frankfort, Augsburg, Nuremberg. All other ecclesiastical estates and imperial cities were devoted to indemnifications. The electoral bishoprics of Trier and Cologne were abolished. Four new electorates Hesse-Cassel, Baden, Württemberg, Salzburg.

Principal Indemnifications : 1. The grand duchy of Tuscany : Salzburg, and Berchtesgaden. 2. Duke of Modena : Breisgau (in exchange for which Austria received the ecclesiastical foundations of Trient and Brixen). 3. Bavaria : bishopries of Würzburg, Bamberg, Freising, Augsburg, the majority of the prelacies and imperial cities in Franconia and eastern Swabia, in return for which, 4. Baden received that portion of the Palatinate lying on the right bank of the Rhine (Heidelberg, Mannheim). Baden also received : the portion of the bishopries of Constance, Basle, Strasbourg, Speyer, on the right bank of the Rhine, and many ecclesiastical foundations and imperial cities. 5. Württemberg : many abbey, monasteries, and imperial cities, especially Reutlingen, Esslingen, Heilbronn, etc. Prussia : the bishopries of Paderborn, Hildesheim, the part of Thuringia which had belonged to Mainz (Eichfeld and Erfurt), a part of Münster, many abbey, particularly Quedlinburg, and the imperial cities, Mühlhausen, Nordhausen, Goslar. 7. Oldenburg : bishopric of Lübeck. 8. Hanover : bishopric of Osnabrück. 9. Hesse (Darmstadt and Cassel) and Nassau divided the portions of the archbishoprics of Mainz, Trier and Cologne, which remained, upon the right bank of the Rhine. 10. Nassau-Orange : bishopric of Fulda, and abbey of Corvey. As a rule the indemnified princes gained considerably in territory and subjects.

1803. New dissensions between France and England, caused by the refusal to surrender Malta and the quarrels of the journalists.

The French occupied Hanover, where they nearly exhausted the resources of the state. The encampment at Boulogne threatened England with an invasion.

Conspiracy against the life of the First Consul discovered (1804, Feb.). Pichegru met a mysterious death in prison, George Cadoudal was executed. Moreau fled to America. The duke of Enghien, a Bourbon prince of the branch line of Condé, was taken by violence from the territory of Baden, condemned by a commission acting in accordance with the wishes and under the order of Napoleon,¹ without the observation of any of the forms of law, and shot at Vincennes on the night of March 20–21. On the 18th of May the tribunate and senate proclaimed the Consul Bonaparte, 1804–1814 (15) Napoleon I., Hereditary Emperor of the French.

The succession was in the male line, the emperor having the privilege of adopting the children of his brothers, in default of which and of direct issue, the crown was to go to Joseph and Louis Bonaparte. The election was ratified by a popular election, by means of lists to which the people signed their names (3,572,329 to 2,569). The emperor was consecrated at Paris by Pius VII. (Dec. 2), placing the crown upon his own head. (Imitation of Pepin and especially of ¹ That no misunderstandings took place, as is asserted by Thiers and others, throughout the whole shameful proceeding, that Napoleon I. afterwards endeavored in all ways to conceal the truth, and that the guilt of this premeditated murder rests mainly upon himself, has been proved by Laufrey, Histoire de Napoleon I. iii. 128, foll.

THE BONAPARTE FAMILY.

Charles de Bonaparte, † 1785, m. Maria Letitia Ramolini, † at Rome, 1836.

Charles the Great, who, as Charlemagne, was transformed into a Frenchman and prototype of Napoleon). Establishment of a brilliant court. Grand dignitaries of the empire; eighteen marshals. New nobility. An absolute monarchy of the purest type. (Abolition of the tribunate, 1807.)

1805. Napoleon king of Italy. His stepson Eugène Beauharnais, son of Josephine, viceroy of Naples. The Ligurian Republic incorporated with France.

1805. Third coalition against France, between England, Russia, Austria, and Sweden (Gustavus IV.), for the purpose of restoring the balance of power in Europe. Spain allied with France.

The camp at Boulogne broken up. The French armies under Da-vout, Soult, Lannes, Ney, advanced toward the Rhine. The main force of the Austrians in Italy under archduke Charles opposed to Massena; in Germany, under archduke Ferdinand and Mack. Napoleon commanded in person in Germany; relying on the support of most of the south German states, he advanced to meet the Austrians who had invaded Bavaria. On the upper Danube he concentrated his forces (200,000 men), reinforced by Bernadotte, who on his way from Hanover had marched through the neutral territory of Ansbach in Prussia, and by troops from Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Baden, Hesse, Nassau. After the Austrians (80,000 men) had been defeated in several engagements, and the main army was surrounded by the French, 1805. Mack surrendered in Ulm with the whole Austrian army Oct. 17. (30,000 men), prisoners of war.

On the sea England opened the war brilliantly with the 1805. Victory of Nelson at Trafalgar

Oct. 21. over the French and Spanish fleet. Death of Nelson ("England expects every man to do his duty"). This victory broke the naval power of France.

The French marched upon Vienna, which was taken by Murat without resistance. Archduke Charles, who had driven back Massena, returned to Germany; a Russian army under Kutusoff, a second under the emperor Alexander, came to the assistance of Austria. In the 1805. Battle of Austerlitz (the battle of the three emperors), Napoleon defeated the united forces of Austria and Russia. Truce with Austria. Retreat of the Russians.

Dec. 15. Treaty concluded by Prussia, which was on the point of joining the coalition, with Napoleon at Schönbrunn (Haugwitz). Prussia ceded to France the remaining part of Cleve (Wesel) on the left bank of the Rhine, Ansbach, and Neuchâtel, and was promised Hanover in exchange.

Dec. 26. Peace of Pressburg, between France and Austria.

1. France received Piedmont, Parma, and Piacenza. 2. Austria ceded to the kingdom of Italy all that she had received of Venetian territory at the peace of Campo Formio (p. 459); also Venetian Istria and Dalmatia, and recognized Napoleon as king of Italy. 3. Austria ceded to Bavaria: Tyrol, Vorarlberg, the bishoprics Brixen and Trient, Burgau, Eichstadt, Passau, Lindau, besides which Bavaria received the free city of Augsburg. 4. Austria ceded to Württemberg and Baden what remained of the western Austrian lands. 5. Bavaria and Württemberg were recognized as kingdoms. 6. Austria received as indemnification: Salsburg, Berchtesgaden, and the estates of the Teutonic order which were secularized. The elector of Salzburg received Würzburg from Bavaria as indemnification. Russia remained hostile.

1805. The Bourbons in Naples were dethroned by a proclamation Dec. issued by Napoleon from Schönbrunn (La dynastie de Naples a cessé de régner).

1806. Joseph, Napoleon's elder brother, king of Naples. The court of Naples withdrew to Palermo.

Sicily was beyond Napoleon's reach, as the English controlled the sea.

Joachim Murat, brother-in-law of Napoleon, created grand duke of Berg; Marshal Berthier, prince of Neuchâtel; Louis Bonaparte, Napoleon's third brother, king of Holland (the former Batavian Republic).

1806. Establishment of the Confederation of the Rhine. July 12.

Napoleon, protector. Prince Primate, formerly electoral arch-chancellor; the kings of Bavaria and Württemberg; the grand dukes of Baden, Hesse-Darmstadt, and Berg, duke of Nassau, etc. Afterwards all the German princes joined the confederation except Austria, Prussia, Brunswick, and the electorate of Hesse.

Many princes holding immediately of the empire mediatised. The free city of Nuremberg assigned to Bavaria, Frankfort to the prince primas (grand duke of Frankfort).

Emperor Francis, who had already assumed the title of emperor of his hereditary Austrian estates (1804), 1806, Aug. 6. Abdicated the crown of the Holy Roman empire. End of the old German empire.

1806-1835. Francis I., emperor of Austria.

1806-1807. (Fourth) War with Prussia and Russia.

Grounds of the Prussian declaration of war: Erection of the confederacy of the Rhine, annexation of Wesel, seizure of Essen and Verden, garrisoning of half of Germany with French troops; Napoleon's offer to England to take away from Prussia the territory of Hanover which had just been forced upon her; the Prussians were, moreover, embittered against the French by the high-handed execution of Palm, a bookseller of Nuremberg, who had published some strictures upon Napoleon.

Dangerous situation of Prussia at the outbreak of war. The complete separation of the military and civil orders had brought it about that the safety of the state rested on a half-trained army composed in part of foreigners, on a superannuated general, and on subordinate commanders who, full of arrogant pride in the ancient military fame of Prussia, regarded the French with contempt. No allies except Saxony and distant Russia. Dissension between Prussia and England. Want of decision in the cabinet and in the conduct of the war.

1806. Concentration of the Prussian army in Thuringia under the old duke of Brunswick. Defeat of the Prussian advance at Saalfeld (Oct. 10), prince Louis Ferdinand †. In the 1806, Oct. 14. Double battle of Jena and Auerstädt the main army was completely defeated. Dissolution of the army. The reserve under the prince of Württemberg was defeated and scattered at Halle (Oct. 17).

Napoleon in Berlin (Oct. 27). The prince of Hohenlohe with 12,000 men was forced to surrender at Prenzlau (Oct. 28). Blücher after a brave defence in Lübeck was obliged to surrender his whole corps at Ratkau as prisoners of war (Nov. 7). Incredibly hasty surrender of the fortresses : Erfurt, Spandau, Stettin, Küstrin, Magdeburg, Hameln ; only Kolberg (Gneisenau, Schill, Nettelbeck) and Graudenz (Courbière) defended themselves resolutely. The duke of Brunswick († Nov. 10, at Ottensen) and the neutral elector of Hesse were driven out of the country. Coarse behavior of Napoleon toward the royal family (queen Louisa). Robbery of the museums and picture galleries. From his headquarters in Berlin Napoleon proclaimed (Nov. 21) the senseless (paper) blockade of Great Britain and the closure of the continent to British trade, a policy summed up in the title, "Continental System" ("Berlin decree"). The troops of France, Bavaria, and Württemberg invaded Silesia. The Poles summoned to revolt. Separate peace and alliance of Napoleon with the elector of Saxony (Dec. 11), who joined the confederacy of the Rhine as king of Saxony. Occupation of Hanover and the Hanseatic cities.

1807. Fall of Breslau, followed by that of the most of the Silesian fortresses. After several bloody engagements in the neighborhood of Pultusk, Prussians and Russians fought against the French, without decisive result, in the murderous 1807, Feb. 7, 8. Battle of Eylau, where the Prussians repulsed the right wing of the French under Davout. Winter quarters. Frederic William III. went to Memel.

May 26. Danzig captured after a brave defense (Kalckreuth). After several engagements Napoleon was victorious in the June 14. Battle of Friedland, over the Russians. Königsberg and the country as far as the Niemen occupied by Napoleon. Truce with Russia (June 21), with Prussia (June 25). Meeting of Napoleon, Alexander, and Frederic William on the Niemen.

1807. Peace of Tilsit.

July 7. A. Between France and Russia.

July 9. B. Between France and Prussia.

A. 1. Russia recognized the duchy of Warsaw, which was formed out of South Prussia, parts of West Prussia, and New East Prussia, under the king of Saxony. 2. Danzig restored to the condition of a free city. 3. A part of New East Prussia (Bialystock) ceded to Russia. 4. Russia recognized Joseph Bonaparte as king of Naples, Louis Bonaparte as king of Holland, Jerome Bonaparte as king of Westphalia, a new kingdom yet to be created; Russia, moreover, recognized the Confederation of the Rhine, and accepted the mediation of Napoleon in concluding peace with the Turks, while Napoleon accepted the like good offices from Alexander in regard to England. In a secret article, Alexander agreed to an alliance with France against England, in case the latter refused to accept the proffered peace.

B. 1. Prussia ceded: (a) to Napoleon for free disposal, all lands between the Rhine and Elbe; (b) to Saxony, the circle of Cottbus; (c) all lands taken from Poland since 1772 for the creation of a duchy of Warsaw, also the city and territory of Danzig. 2. Prussia recognized the sovereignty of the three brothers of Napoleon. 3. All Prussian harbors and lands were closed to British ships and British trade until the conclusion of a peace with England. 4. Prussia was to maintain a standing army of not more than 42,000 men. In regard to the restoration and evacuation of the Prussian provinces and fortresses, it was settled by the treaty of Königsberg (July 12), that Prussia should first pay all arrears of war indemnities.

These indemnifications, fixed at nineteen million francs by the Prussian calculations, were set at 120 millions by the French, which sum was raised to 140 millions in 1808. After 120 millions had been paid the fortresses were evacuated, excepting Stettin, Küstrin, and Glogau. Until this occurred the Prussian state, reduced as it was from 89,120 to 46,032 square miles, was obliged to support 150,000 French troops.

1807, Aug. Foundation of the kingdom of Westphalia (capital, Cassel) by a decree of Napoleon, who reserved for himself half of the domains.

High-handed proceeding of the English against Denmark, which had been summoned to join the continental system. An English fleet bombarded (1807, Sept.) Copenhagen, and carried off the Danish fleet. Alliance of Denmark with France. Russia declared war upon England. Stralsund and Rügen occupied by the French.

Portugal, which refused to join the continental system, occupied by a French army under Junot (duke of Abrantes) Nov. 1807. The royal family fled to Brazil. Milan decree, Dec. 17, 1807.

Spain invaded by 100,000 Frenchmen under the pretext of guarding the coasts against the English. Charles IV. (1788-1808) abdicated in favor of his son Ferdinand (March, 1808), in consequence of an outbreak which had occurred against his favorite, the prince of the peace, Godoy. Father and son, with Godoy, were enticed by Napoleon to Bayonne and compelled to renounce the throne (May). Napoleon's brother Joseph became king of Spain, Murat taking the throne of Naples instead of Joseph. General uprising of the Spaniards.

1808-1814. War between Napoleon and Great Britain in Spain and Portugal. ("Peninsular War.")

The English landed in Portugal and forced Junot to surrender Cintra, after which he was obliged to evacuate the country (Sir Arthur Wellesley). The French were soon driven back to the Ebro. Napoleon, secured against Austria by a closer alliance with the emperor Alexander, since the assembly of princes at Erfurt, where four kings, thirty-four princes, and other German rulers who had done him homage, hastened in person to Spain with 250,000 men, advanced to Madrid, and with Soult drove the English from Spain (battle of Corunna Jan. 16, 1809. Death of Sir John Moore). After the departure of Napoleon hostilities continued in Spain. Guerrilla warfare. The English returned. Heroic defense of Saragossa (Palafox), which surrendered in Feb. 1809. The English general, Sir Arthur Wellesley (b. 1769; officer in East India 1797-1805; M. P. 1806; viscount Wellington, 1809; duke of Wellington, 1814; prime minister, 1827-1830; d. 1852, Sept. 18), after his victory over Joseph at Talavera, July 28, 1809, was created viscount Wellington, and made commander-in-chief of all English troops in the Spanish peninsula. Soult, duke of Dalmatia, at first victorious against the Spanish and Portuguese, was obliged to evacuate Oporto again.

In Prussia, meanwhile, the state was reorganized after the dismissal of Beymes and Zastrow, by Charles, baron of and in Stein (b. 1757 at Nassau; since 1780, in Prussian civil service; 1796 over-president of the chamber of Westphalia; 1804 minister of finance, d. 1831), and Hardenberg. Regulations for the cities, liberation of industry, abolition of hereditary serfdom, reformation of the administration of the public finances. Reorganization of the army on the basis of universal military service, by Gneisenau, Grolman, Boyen, Clausewitz, Scharnhorst (b. 1755, in Hanover, son of a peasant, officer in the service of Hanover, 1801 lieutenant-colonel in Prussia, taken prisoner at Ratkau with Blücher, major-general at Eylau; d. 1813).

Foundation of the university at Berlin (1810), by Humboldt, Altenstein, Niebuhr, Schleiermacher. Fichte's addresses to the German nation. Tugendbund. Gymnastics, Jahn. E. M. Arndt. Preparations for the liberation of Germany and Europe from the French yoke. Futile attempt of Austria to accomplish this liberation alone, by making use of Napoleon's entanglement in the Spanish war.

1808, July-Nov. English expedition to Walcheren (p. 537).

1809. (Fifth) War with Austria.

Archduke Charles, commander of the Austrian army of Bavaria, and archduke John, commander of the Austrian forces which were sent to Italy, summoned the German people to take part in the struggle against the French supremacy. Tyrol alone heeded the summons, and took up arms (Andreas Hofer, Speckbacher).

Napoleon engaged archduke Charles in Bavaria, with German Apr. 19-23. troops, drove him over the Danube to Bohemia, after five days' fighting at Abensberg, Landshut, Eckmühl and Regensburg, and captured Vienna for the second time. Napoleon crossed the island of Lobau, to the left bank of the Danube, where in the bloody

1809, May 21–22. Battle at Aspern and Essling

(on the Marchfeld), he was, for the first time, defeated by archduke Charles, and (Lannes †) forced to recross the Danube (Massena), where he united with the viceroy Eugene, who had pursued archduke John from northern Italy to Hungary and defeated him at Raab. With 180,000 men Napoleon crossed the Danube anew, defeated archduke Charles in the murderous and pursued him toward Moravia. Truce of Znaim.

Oct. 14. Peace of Vienna between France and Austria, signed in the palace at Schönbrunn.

1. Austria ceded a territory of 32,000 square miles, containing $3\frac{1}{2}$ million inhabitants, viz.: a. Salzburg and Berchtesgaden, the Imviertel, and half of the Hausrückviertel to Bavaria; b. West Galicia to the duchy of Warsaw; c. one district in East Galicia (Tarnopol) to Russia; d. the lands beyond the Save, the circle of Villach, Istria, Hungarian Dalmatia, and Ragusa to the emperor Napoleon, who created from these cessions and the Ionian Islands, which Russia had surrendered to him in 1807, the new state of the Illyrian provinces under Marmont, duke of Ragusa, as governor. 2. Austria joined the continental system, and broke off all connection with England.

The Tyrolese, left to themselves, continued the war with heroic courage, but were in the end subdued. Hofer captured and shot by the French at Mantua (1810). Southern Tyrol annexed to the kingdom of Italy.

Bold attempt of Schill, a Prussian major, to precipitate the war of liberation. With 600 hussars he left Berlin in the spring of 1809, and summoned the people of Germany to take up arms. The news of Napoleon's victories on the Danube frustrated the scheme. Schill fell fighting bravely at Stralsund (May 31). Eleven of his officers were court-martialed and shot in Wesel, the captured soldiers were condemned to hard labor by order of Napoleon, carried to France, and after a half year's imprisonment in the bagno, or prison for galley-slaves, enrolled among the French coast guards.

1809. Bold expedition of the duke of Brunswick across northern Germany. He succeeded in transporting himself and the "Black Legion" to England.

Gustavus IV., of Sweden, a bitter opponent of the Revolution and of Napoleon, but ignorant of the true interests of his country, had been since 1808 involved in war with Russia, which had conquered Finland. He fell at last by a military revolution, the victim of his obstinacy. The capital, Stockholm, being threatened by the passage of the Russians under Barclay de Tolly over the frozen gulf of Bothnia, by the capture of Tornea and that of the islands of Aland, a mutiny broke out in the Swedish army. The king was arrested on March 13, 1809, by generals Klingspor and Adlerkreuz, obliged to abdicate, and dismissed from the kingdom with his family. The crown was given to the uncle of the king, Charles XIII. (1809–1818), passing over his son. In the peace of Friedrichsham with Russia, Sept. 17, 1809, Sweden surrendered to Russia the principality of Finland as far as the river Torneå, together with the islands of Aland. By the mediation of Russia Sweden concluded the peace of Paris with France, Jan. 6, 1810, whereby Sweden joined the continental system and obtained the restoration of Swedish Pomerania. After the sudden death of prince Christian August of Holstein-Augustenburg, whom Charles XIII. had adopted and appointed heir to the throne, the French marshal Bernadotte (prince of Pontecorvo) was elected crown prince of Sweden.

Rome had been occupied by the French in 1808. Pope Pius VII. steadfastly refusing to enter into an offensive and defensive alliance with France, and to close his seaports against England, Napoleon, after the infliction of unheard-of violence for a year, proclaimed from Schönbrunn, May, 1809, that the papal states and the city of Rome were incorporated with France. Pius VII. excommunicated Napoleon in June, whereupon he was arrested and taken over Mt. Cenis to Grenoble and thence to Savona. As he still refused to yield to Napoleon's demands, Pius VII. was placed on prisoner's allowance, and lived for three years almost entirely upon alms (1812 taken to Fontainebleau.)

In Turkey, after the deposition of Selim III., war broke out again with Russia (1809-1812). After the bloody battle at Rustchuck, the Russians retired across the Danube, and the Turkish army which pursued them was captured (1811).

1812, May 28. Peace of Bucharest: the Pruth was made the boundary between Russia and Turkey.

1810, April. Napoleon, divorced from Josephine, married Maria Louisa, daughter of Francis I. of Austria. Abdication and flight (July) of Louis Bonaparte, king of Holland, who had refused to ruin his country by joining the continental system. Annexation of Holland, as the "alluvial deposit of French rivers," to the French empire. Annexation of the canton of Wallis, and soon after of Oldenburg, a large part of the kingdom of Westphalia, the grand duchy of Berg, East Friesland, the Hanseatic cities, so that the French empire, which now comprised 130 departments, extended on the east as far as the Trave.

In Spain strenuous exertions against Napoleon; French, Italian, and Polish troops, along with those of the confederacy of the Rhine, overran the peninsula. Conquest of Andalusia by Victor and Mortier. Unsuccessful siege of Cadiz, whither the Central Junta had fled from Seville. A special session of the Cortes called at Cadiz assumed the sovereignty and drew up a constitution (completed 1812).

In Portugal struggle between Wellington and Massena. Siege and capture of Ciudad Rodrigo by the latter (July 10, 1810). Retreat of Wellington to the lines of Torres Vedras (Oct. 9). Winter quarters. 1811, March; masterly retreat of Massena. Siege of Almeida and Badajoz by the English. Defeat and retreat of Massena from Portugal. Soult, hastening to the relief of Badajoz, was defeated in the bloody 1811, May 16. Battle of Albuera. The English returned to Portugal. 1812, capture of Ciudad Rodrigo (Jan. 19) and Badajoz (April 6).

1812, July 22. Battle of Salamanca; victory of Wellington. Capture of Madrid. Loss of southern Spain to the French.

1811, March. Birth of a son to Napoleon, who received the pompous title of king of Rome.

Napoleon I at the summit of his power. In the naval warfare and in the colonies France, like Holland, had met nothing but losses. Cayenne, Martinique, Senegal, St. Domingo, were lost in 1809. Guadeloupe, Isle Bourbon, and Isle de France in 1810; Java (with Batavia) 1811.

1812-1814. War between England and the United States of North America in consequence of commercial dissensions concluded by the treaty of Ghent, Dec. 24, 1814 (p. 551).

1812. (Sixth) War with Russia.

Cause: Napoleon's claim to rule the continent of Europe. The refusal of Russia to carry out strictly the absurd continental system, which Napoleon himself evaded by salable licenses, and which had ruined Russian commerce, roused the anger of the tyrant. The addition of west Galicia to the duchy of Warsaw by the peace of Vienna, had caused Alexander anxiety lest the restoration of Poland should be contemplated; the deposition of the duke of Oldenburg, his near relative, offended him deeply.

Alliance of Napoleon with Austria, which furnished 30,000 men for the Russian expedition, and Prussia, from which he obtained 20,000 men. Denmark, favored by its position, succeeded in maintaining neutrality during the war with Russia. Sweden (Bernadotte), which had been forced by the violent reproaches of Napoleon concerning disregard of the continental system to declare war upon England (1810), seized the opportunity of the Russian war, to shake off her dependence upon France, and open for herself the prospect of obtaining Norway, as a recompense for Finland. Occupation of Swedish Pomerania and Rügen by the French, Jan. 1812. Treaty of St. Petersburg between Sweden and Russia, April: Russia promised Sweden the annexation of Norway, with indemnification for Denmark; Sweden promised Russia to make a diversion in northern Germany in union with a Russian auxiliary force.

England concluded peace with Russia and Sweden at Örebro (June).

The French army of invasion included Frenchmen, Italians, Swiss, Dutch, Poles, and contingents from all the German princes of the confederacy of the Rhine, in fact, the smaller part only of the army was French. The total number, according to Thiers, was 420,000 men, but reinforcements afterwards swelled it to 553,000. The Austrians, under Schwarzenberg, on the right wing, and Prussians, under York, on the left wing, formed separate armies, the latter being under the command of Macdonald.

1812, June. Passage of the Niemen by the great army; occupation of Wilna. Poland was not restored. The Russians under Barclay de Tolly retreated. The main army reached Smolensk without a battle, though suffering from skirmishes and lack of provisions, while the Prussians besieged Riga, and the Austrians penetrated Volhy- at first in a southwesterly direction, afterwards towards Smolensk. The march was disturbed by the Russian main army under Kutusoff, and by countless swarms of Cossacks. Desperate contest of separate corps of the army at Jaroslawez, Oct. 24, and Vjazma, Nov. 3.

Nov. 6. Commencement of the cold weather. Terrible suffering from hunger and frost. Continuous engagements, especially at Krasnoy (Ney, "the bravest of the brave"), and Borissoff.

Nov. 26-28. Terrible passage of the Berezina.

Ney and Oudinot, with 8,500 men, forced a passage against 25,000. From this point, the disorganization of the remaining fragments of the army was complete, and the retreat became a wild flight. Dec. 3, Bulletin (No. 29), of Malodeczno. Napoleon left the army and hastened to Paris where he arrived Dec. 18. The army continued its retreat pursued by the Russians until Dec. 13, when the remaining troops (100,000), crossed the Niemen. The Russians made 100,000 prisoners according to their reports.

In any case this expedition cost the lives of at least 300,000 able-bodied young men on the side of the French and their allies.

Dec. 30. York concluded a treaty of neutrality with the Russian general Diebitch, in the mill of Poscherun near Taurroggen.

1813 and 1814. The Great War of Liberation of the allies against Napoleon.

ary armies to be furnished by either side. 2. Restoration of the Prussian monarchy according to old political relations. 3. Invitation extended to Austria and England to join the alliance.

1813, March 3. Treaty between England and Sweden: England paid one million rix dollars in subsidies and promised not to oppose the union of Norway with Sweden. Sweden furnished the allies an army of 30,000 men under command of the crown prince Bernadotte (the inactive and suspicious conduct of this general afterwards entirely disabled the northern army).

March 17. Appeal of Frederic William III. "To my people," and "to my army." Establishment of the Landwehr and the Landsturm. Iron Cross.

March. Outbreak in Hamburg. Tettenborn occupied the city. The dukes of Mecklenburg withdrew from the confederacy of the Rhine.

Great preparations on both sides. The Elbe was the boundary between the combatants; Danzig, Stettin, Küstrin, Glogau, Modlin, and Zamosc, being, however, in the hands of the French.

March 27. Occupation of Dresden by Russians and Prussians under Wittgenstein and Blücher, after the withdrawal of marshal Davout. Flight of the king of Saxony.

The French army and the contingents of the confederacy of the Rhine concentrated in Franconia, Thuringia, and on the Elbe.

Napoleon, after the end of April, was at the head of 180,000 men in Germany. He was unexpectedly attacked by the armies of the allies, numbering 85,000 men, and forced to fight the June 4–July 26. Armistice of Poischwitz, afterwards prolonged until Aug. 10 (16).

June 15. England concluded a subsidy treaty with Prussia and Russia at Reichenbach.

July 5 (28)–Aug. 11. Congress at Prague. Austria played the part of mediator. After futile negotiations (Metternich, Cau- 1813, Aug. 12. Austria declared war upon France.

The allies, supported by English subsidies, placed three main armies in the field :

1. The great Bohemian army under Schwarzenberg (Kleist, Wittgenstein), with which were the three monarchs, Alexander, Francis, Frederic William.
2. The Silesian army under Blücher (York, Sacken, Langeron).
3. The Northern army under the crown prince of Sweden, Bernadotte (Bülow, Tauenzien, Winzingerode).

Napoleon opened hostilities with an attack upon Blücher who retired behind the Katzbach. Meanwhile Schwarzenberg advanced against Dresden from Bohemia. Napoleon hastened thither, leaving Macdonald to oppose Blücher. Before an action occurred at either of these points, Oudinot and Reynier, whose attack upon Berlin was to be supported by Davout from Hamburg, were defeated by Bülow in the Oct. 8. Treaty of Ried between Austria and Bavaria, which withdrew from the confederacy of the Rhine and joined the alliance against Napoleon. In return the king of Bavaria was secured in all the possessions which he held at the date of the treaty.

As the three main armies of the allies were attempting to unite in Napoleon's rear, the latter left Dresden in order to escape being cut off from France, and concentrated his troops at Leipzig.

1813, Oct. 16, 18, 19. Battle of Leipzig. ("Battle of the Nations").

Oct. 16. On the first day :

1. Indecisive battle between Napoleon and the army of Bohemia under Schwarzenberg at Wachau (south of Leipzig).

2. Victory of Blücher at Möckern, north of Leipzig, over Marmont.

Oct. 17. On the next day the main armies desisted from fighting. Napoleon sent offers of peace to Francis I. which were rejected on account of the extravagance of his demands. Toward evening union of the four armies of the allies : the grand army, the northern army, with which the army of Silesia had already united by an extraordinary march of Blücher, and finally the Russian reserve (100,000) under Bennigsen. The armies of the allies, forming a large half circle, largely outnumbered the French. (300,000 men against 130,000).

Oct. 18. On the third day general attack of the allies, ending, after nine hours' fighting, in a complete victory. (Struggle for Probstheide). In the evening the French army was driven back to the gates of Leipzig. The corps of Saxony and Württemberg went over to the allies.

Oct. 19. Storm of Leipzig and capture of the king of Saxony. After suffering a loss of more than 30,000 men, the defeated army of Napoleon commenced the retreat. The destruction of the bridge over the Elster before the whole army had crossed caused the drowning of many troops in the Elster, among them prince Poniatowski nephew of the last king of Poland.

On the retreat engagement on the Unstrut between Napoleon and York's advanced guard, and at Hanau (Oct. 30, 31) with an Austro-Bavarian army under Wrede. The French were victorious.

Immediate consequences of the battle of Leipzig : flight of king Jérôme from Cassel ; end of the kingdom of Westphalia, and of the grand duchies of Frankfort and Berg. Restoration of the old rulers tive bureau for Germany under baron von Stein, which had been created at the beginning of the war for the government of those districts which should be occupied by the troops of the allies, found its sphere of action limited almost entirely to Saxony.

1813, Nov. Napoleon crossed the Rhine at Mainz. Württemberg, Hesse-Darmstadt, Baden, and the remaining members of the confederacy of the Rhine joined the allies. The cities occupied by the French fell into the hands of the allies one after another. Dresden (Nov. 11), Stettin (Nov. 21), Lübeck (Dec. 5), Zamosc, Modlin, Forgau (Dec. 26), Danzig (Dec. 30), Wittenberg (Jan. 12, 1814, by Tanenzen), Kustrin (March 7). Glogau, Magdeburg, Hamburg (Davout), Erfurt, Würzburg, Wesel, Mainz, maintained themselves until the peace.

Uprising in Holland (Nov. 15), expulsion of the French officials. A part of the northern army under Bülow entered Holland, while the crown prince of Sweden, with the main body of the northern army separated completely from the allies, invaded Holstein, in a short winter campaign forced Denmark to conclude the 1814, Jan. 14. Peace of Kiel : 1. Denmark renounced the possession of Norway in favor of Sweden, which guaranteed to the Norwegians the possession of their liberties and rights. 2. Sweden ceded to Denmark western Pomerania and Rügen. At the same time peace between Denmark and England, the latter restoring all conquests except Heligoland ; afterwards peace with Russia and Prussia.

Meantime the French, after they had already (in 1812) lost the southern part of the country, and Madrid itself for a time, were driven almost entirely out of Spain in 1813.

After the French power had been weakened by the departure of Soult with a large number of troops for Germany (Feb. 1813), Wellington repulsed Soult's successor, Jourdan, and king Joseph, and defeated them in the 1813, June 21. Battle of Vittoria.

Joseph fled to France. Siege of Pampeluna by the Spaniards. Soult returning with reinforcements to the relief of Pampeluna was defeated in the Pyrenees (July 28, 29), and withdrew behind the Bidassoa. At the same time marshal Suchet was driven out of Valencia into Barcelona. After the conquest of Pampeluna (Oct. 31) by the Spaniards, Wellington crossed the Bidassoa, defeated Soult on French soil, and compelled him to retreat to Bayonne. Napoleon endeavored to secure peace with Spain by a treaty with the imprisoned king, Ferdinand (whom he liberated from his confinement at Valencay), and thus to protect France against invasion from the side of the Pyrenees, but the attempt was a failure. The Cortes did not ratify the treaty, on the ground that the king had not been a free agent, and that they were unwilling to conclude a peace which did not include the English.

1813. The allies on Nov. 8 laid before Napoleon a proposal which secured to France the Alps and Rhine for boundaries, but as Dec. 1. Napoleon did not earnestly entertain it, they adopted the resolution to prosecute the war vigorously and to pass the Rhine. Napoleon obtained from the senate a new levy of 300,000 men; the corps législatif, in which words of blame were at last heard, was prorogued sine die.

Passage of the allies across the Rhine.

1813, Dec. 21–25. The main army under Schwarzenberg, Wrede, etc., crossed the upper Rhine and traversed Switzerland (Basle), whose treaty of neutrality with Napoleon was disregarded.

1814, Jan. 1. Blücher with the army of Silesia crossed the middle Rhine, at Mannheim, Caub, and Coblentz.

The total strength of the allies on their entrance into French territory was not quite 200,000 men. The main army advanced through Burgundy; Blücher through Lorraine toward Champagne. To prevent their junction, Napoleon attacked Blücher at Brienne, and drove Jan. 29. him back; Blücher, however, united with a part of the main army (crown prince of Württemberg) and defeated the emperor in the

Feb. 1. Battle of La Rothière, and drove him across the Aube. The impossibility of provisioning the united armies, led to their separation. The grand army was to advance upon Paris by way of the Seine, while the army of Silesia followed the Marne toward the same goal.

No sooner did Napoleon hear of this separation than, with astonishing boldness, leaving a very small body of troops behind to engage the army under Schwarzenberg, he hurled himself suddenly upon the separate divisions of the army of Silesia, defeated them in four battles Feb. 10–15. at Champaubert (Sacken), Montmirail (York driven across the Marne), Château-Thierry, and Vauchamps, and forced Blücher back to Étoges. Then, turning like a flash upon the main army, he defeated it in the Napoleon thus obliged the main army to retreat to Troyes, after which the two armies were for a short time again united on the Aube.

Napoleon formed the desperate plan of throwing himself in the rear of the allies in Lorraine, summoning the garrisons of the fortresses to his aid, and calling the entire population to arms. The allies, however, with equal boldness, advanced upon Paris, and defeated the marshals Marmont and Mortier in the Marmont and Mortier threw themselves into the capital. The regent, Maria Louisa, fled to Blois. After a brave defense and after the they capitulated under condition of free departure, and left Paris to its fate.

March 31. Entrance of the allies into Paris, where the senate, through the influence of Talleyrand, declared that Napoleon and his family had forfeited the throne.

Napoleon, hastening to the relief of his capital, came a few hours too late. His marshals having refused to follow him in a foolhardy assault upon Paris, he abdicated the throne in favor of his son (April 6) at Fontainebleau, and, when this reservation was rejected, unconditionally (April 11). Napoleon made a futile attempt to poison himself.¹

He received from the allies the island of Elba as a sovereign principality, and an annual income of two million francs to be paid by France. His wife received the duchies of Parma, Piacenza, and Guastella with sovereign power; both retained the imperial title.

1. France retained, in the main, the boundaries of 1792, which embraced 3,280 square miles more than those of 1790: Avignon, the Venaissin, parts of Savoy, of the German empire, and of Belgium. 2. France recognized the independence of the States of the Netherlands, according to their future enlargement, as well as of all German and Italian states and of Switzerland. 3. England restored the French colonies excepting Tobago, Sta. Lucia, and Isle de France. England retained Malta. 4. The allies remitted all sums which they might have claimed for supplies, advances, etc. 5. France promised England to abolish the slave trade.

After the peace of Paris Pius VII. returned to Rome, the king of Sardinia, Victor Emmanuel, to Turin, the king of Spain, Ferdinand VII., to Madrid. In Spain the rejection of the ultra-liberal constitution proposed by the cortes of 1812, was followed by the immediate outbreak of a cruel contest of arbitrary power against the liberal party.

Visit of Alexander and Frederic William III. in London (June 7-22, 1814), accompanied by their victorious generals (Blücher); enthusiastic reception by the English nation. For the purpose of restoring and regulating the European relations, and particularly those of Germany, after the overthrow of the military supremacy of the French empire, the was assembled. The emperors of Austria and Russia, the kings of Prussia, Denmark, Bavaria, and Württemberg, and a great number of German princes were present in person.

Chief negotiators : Austria, Metternich ; Prussia, Hardenberg and W. v. Humboldt ; Russia, Nesselrode and Rasoumoffsky ; Great Britain, Wellington and Castlereagh ; France, Talleyrand and Dalberg. (Baron vom Stein, prince of Ligne.)

The five powers, which had concluded the peace of Paris, and which, to avoid quarrels about rank, were henceforward named in the order of the French alphabet, Autriche, France, Grande-Bretagne, Prusse, Russie, formed a closer union at the congress of Vienna (hence afterwards called the Pentarchy of the Great Powers). For special cases this union was joined by Spain, Portugal, Sweden. These eight powers, after long negotiations and after the disputes over the Saxon and the Polish questions had for a moment threatened to lead to war (Russia and Prussia against Austria, France, and England), and after Napoleon's return from Elba (p. 483), signed the Act of the Congress of Vienna.

Principal articles :

1. Restoration of the Austrian and Prussian monarchies : a.

Austria received besides her ancient domain of Milan, Venice, which had been conferred upon her by the treaty of Campo Formio (these were now called the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom), the Illyrian provinces (the kingdoms of Illyria and Dalmatia), Salzburg, Tyrol (from Bavaria), and Galicia. b. Prussia received a part of the grand duchy of Warsaw (Posen) with Danzig ; Swedish hither Pomerania with Rügen in return for Lauenburg, which was ceded to Denmark ; its old possessions in Westphalia, somewhat enlarged, as well as Neu- châtel and the grand duchy of the lower Rhine, and the greater part of Saxony as an indemnification for the loss of some former possessions, as Ansbach and Baireuth ceded to Bavaria, East Friesland to Hanover, the Polish possessions to Russia.

2. Formation of a kingdom of the Netherlands, comprising the former republic of Holland and Austrian Belgium, under the former hereditary statthalter as King William I.
3. Creation of a German confederacy to take the place of the old empire, comprising 39 (at its dissolution in 1866 only 34) sovereign states, including the four free cities; all other princes who were formerly sovereign were mediatized.
Act of confederation signed June 8, 1815, supplemented by the final act of Vienna, May 15, 1820.
4. Russia received the greater part of the grand duchy of Warsaw as the kingdom of Poland. Cracow became a free state under the protection of Russia, Austria, and Prussia.
5. England retained Malta, Heligoland, a portion of the French and Dutch colonies, and the protectorate over the Republic of the Seven Ionian Islands (the latter by treaty of 1815, Nov. 5, which was made an integral part of the peace of Vienna. See p. 482. These islands were given to Greece by the treaties of Nov. 14, 1863–Nov. 29, 1864. See p. 505).
6. Sweden retained Norway, which had been ceded to her at the peace of Kiel (p. 479), with a constitution of its own; Denmark was indemnified with Lauenburg.
7. The nineteen cantons of Switzerland were increased to twenty-two by the accession of Geneva, Wallis, and Neuchâtel (at once canton and a principality).
8. Restoration of the old dynasties in Spain, in Sardinia, which received Genoa, in Tuscany, Modena, the Papal States. The Bourbons were not reinstated in Naples until 1815, as Murat had secured possession of that state for the present by his desertion of Napoleon.

News of the discontent in France with the government of the Bourbons, and of the discord in the bosom of the congress of Vienna, as well as the invitations of his adherents, encouraged the deposed emperor to return to France.

ropean nations were invited to join the alliance. One after another all the states joined it except Sweden, which was occupied in crushing with military power the resistance of Norway to the personal union. The sum of the contingents furnished against Napoleon amounted to over a million men.

The duke of Brunswick fell. Meantime concentration of the army of Wellington, consisting of British, Hanoverians, Dutch, and troops from Brunswick and Nassau. Upon this force Napoleon hurled himself with superior numbers.

1815, June 18. Battle of Waterloo and Belle Alliance, called by Napoleon the battle of Mont St. Jean.

Napoleon thought he had insured the prevention of the juncture of the Prussians under Blücher with the English under Wellington, by directing Grouchy to engage the former. By afternoon Wellington's army, though still unyielding, had suffered so heavily that the day was only saved by the arrival of the Prussians under Blücher. Complete defeat of the French, whose army, pursued by Gneisenau, was entirely scattered. Meanwhile Grouchy, on whose help Napoleon had relied, was engaged at Wavre against Thielemann, whose corps he by some unexplained error took for the whole Prussian army.¹

June 22. Abdication of Napoleon in favor of his son.

July 1. Arrival of the allies before Paris.

July 7. Second capture of Paris.

Entrance of Blücher and Wellington. Return of Louis XVIII.

Arrival of the two emperors, and of the king of Prussia.

Meantime Napoleon fled to Rochefort, where, after futile attempts to escape to America, he surrendered himself to the British admiral Hotham on the ship-of-the-line Bellerophon, who conveyed him to England. Thence, by a unanimous resolve of the allies, he was transported as prisoner of war to St. Helena, where he arrived in October († May 5, 1821).

Sept. 26. Foundation of the Holy Alliance upon the suggestion of Alexander, comprising at first Russia, Austria, Prussia, theoretically an intimate union on a basis of morality and religion, but practically soon degenerating into an alliance for the protection of absolute monarchy.

Ney made his escape, but was captured, condemned, and executed on Dec. 7, 1815. Murat made a reckless attempt to recover his throne by landing in Calabria; he was captured, court-martialed, and shot Oct. 13, 1815.

Nov. 20. Second Peace of Paris.

1. France surrendered the four fortresses Philippeville, Marienburg (also Bouillon to the kingdom of the Netherlands), Saarlouis (and Saarbrücken to Prussia), Landau, which became a fortress of the German confederation, with the surrounding region as far as the Lauter (to Bavaria). France ceded to Sardinia that part of Savoy which she had retained in the first peace of Paris. She was therefore brought back, generally speaking, to the boundaries of 1790, instead of to those of 1792, which she had retained in the first peace.

2. Demolition of Hünningens, a fortress below Basle.

3. Seventeen fortresses on the north and east borders of France were to be garrisoned for five years at the utmost, by troops of the allies at the expense of France.

4. France paid 700 million francs for the expenses of war. Besides this the art treasures which the French had carried away from various cities, partly by treaties, and which had been left in Paris under the first peace, were now reclaimed.

The desire of German patriots that at least a portion of the ancient appanages of the old empire, Lorraine, Alsace, and Strasburg, should be taken from France, which would thus be deprived of a point of attack against Germany, was not gratified. (See p. 526.)

FOURTH PERIOD.

FROM THE CONGRESS OF VIENNA TO 1883 1815—1883

§ 1. INVENTIONS.

The universal adoption and application of four inventions which had been made at an earlier period, and in comparison with whose influence upon the transformation of the world that of all political events, wars, treaties, revolutions almost disappears, lends the modern world its peculiar character. [A century of material, intellectual, social development of the people follows a century of diplomatic intrigue and misgovernment. (Compare with these inventions those of the fifteenth century, p. 279.)]

1. The first attempts to utilize steam for the production of motion were made in the seventeenth century. Nothing, however, is certainly known about either the exact date or place of the invention, or the person of the true discoverer. The French ascribe the invention to Denis Papin, of Blois (1647-1714), the English to the Marquis of Worcester (1663) and Captain Savery (1698). At all events the first steam engine which deserves the name seems to have been set up in England, and to have been used in mining. This was done by Newcomen, in Devonshire (1705). The man who did the most to improve the steam engine, and whose inventions first made it possible to use these machines in the most various industries, was James Watt (1736-1819), of Greenock, in Scotland.

2. The priority of the idea of applying steam to navigation is disputed between the French, English, and Americans. The French ascribe the invention to the above-named Papin. In 1774 the count of Auxiron, and in 1775 Périer, are said to have sailed the first little steamboat upon the Seine. The experiment was repeated by the marquis of Jouffroy in 1775 on the Doubs, and in 1780 on the Saône at Lyons with a vessel of larger dimensions. In England the invention is ascribed to the marquis of Worcester; it would seem, however, that the first steamboat in Great Britain was built in 1786 by Symington at Edinburgh. To America, however, where experiments with small steamboats had been made upon the Delaware in 1783, 1785, belongs the honor of establishing the first regular steamboat service. This was instituted in 1807 by Fulton, who had already made an experiment with a steamship on the Seine in the presence of the first consul, Napoleon, and had in vain offered to apply steam to the French ships of war (1803).

3. Railroads were without doubt an English invention. In the second half of the seventeenth century wooden railroads were used in the mines at Newcastle on the Tyne, in imitation, it is claimed, of a similar arrangement in the Harz mines. In 1716 the rails were covered with sheet iron, and in 1767 the wood was replaced by cast iron. For a long time the roads were used only for securing an easier draught for horses. The first application of steam to railroads was made in 1806 by the engineer Trevithick. Gradual improvement in the mechanical construction of the engines. George Stephenson in 1814 invented the locomotive and in 1829 an improved locomotive, which in 1830 ran upon the first great railroad for passenger traffic between Liverpool and Manchester. The first road of this kind was constructed in 1825 between Stockton and Darlington. First railroad in Germany, Fürth to Nuremberg (1835), at first a horse railroad; the first larger line worked by locomotives was constructed between Leipsic and Dresden (1837). First railroad in the United States, 1827, at Quincy, Mass.; cars drawn by horses. First roads to use locomotives: South Carolina, Baltimore & Ohio, 1830-31. After England and North America were covered with an iron network, Germany, and much later France, began the construction of railroads upon a large scale. [Financial disturbances caused (especially in England) by the withdrawal of capital from other industries to be sunk in construction of railroads, and by stock speculation.]

4. The first electric telegraph was invented in 1809 by Sömmering, a German, in Munich. The invention was offered to Napoleon I., who dismissed it as a "German notion." After the Dane, Ørsted, had discovered electro-magnetism in 1819, the Frenchmen Ampère and Rütsch conceived the idea of applying the new discovery to the telegraph. The first electro-magnetic telegraph which was actually constructed and used was set up in Göttingen by Gauss and Weber in 1833. Somewhat later an electro-magnetic telegraph was invented in Russia by a German, Schilling. Schilling's invention was carried to England by Cooke, an Englishman. There it was improved by Wheatstone, and this perfected telegraph was first practically worked in London, between Euston Square and Camden Town. After the invention had undergone many improvements, especially in Germany and America (Morse, 1844), Great Britain, the continent of Europe, and North America were covered with telegraph wires. The first submarine telegraph was laid in 1851 between England and France (Dover to Cape Gris-nez). Submarine cables were then laid from England to Ireland and Belgium (1851, 1853), and in many other locations. The gigantic undertaking of connecting Europe and America by a cable failed in 1857. A second attempt in 1858 was crowned with success, but only for a time. In 1866 the undertaking was again renewed and brought to a successful close. (Valencia in Ireland to Newfoundland, 1,650 English miles.) Since that time, many others have been laid. In 1902 a Pacific cable was laid.

1830-1837. William IV. (heretofore duke of Clarence) king of England. Whig ministry.

1830. Revolution in Belgium. Cause :

The kingdom of the Netherlands, created by the congress of Vienna, had been formed by the enforced union of two utterly different elements, the protestant commercial state of Holland, which was of like nationality with its sovereign, and the catholic manufacturing country of Belgium, which was divided between the Flemish and Walloon nationalities, but was pervaded by French culture. The success of the July revolution in Paris inflamed the long smouldering dissatisfaction in Brussels.

1830, Aug. 25. Outbreak in Brussels after a performance of the "Masaniello." The mediation of prince William of Orange, the eldest son of king William I., failed of success. Prince Frederic, the king's second son, who had occupied a part of Brussels with a division of the army, was expelled from the city during the night of Sept. 26-27. On Nov. 18, Declaration of Independence passed by the Belgian congress. Provisional government.

The London Conference between the great powers procured a cessation of hostilities between Holland and Belgium and recognized the new state (Jan., 1831), which in February adopted a liberal monarchical constitution. After Louis Philippe had declined the honor for his second son, the duke of Nemours, upon whom the first choice fell, 1831-1865. Leopold I., of Saxe-Coburg, was elected king of the Belgians. [A man of ability and excellent disposition, he approved himself an admirable constitutional monarch.] The war with Holland lasted until 1833. Peace was established in 1839.

Results of the July Revolution : Revolutionary movements in Germany (in Saxony and Hesse-Cassel, alteration of the constitutions). In Brunswick duke Charles († 1873) was expelled; duke William taking his place, in accordance with a decree of the diet of the confederacy. Democratic transformation in many of the Swiss cantons.

1830-1832. Revolution in Poland.

1830, Nov. 29. Revolt in Warsaw. The attempted assassination of the grand duke Constantine foiled. Bloody engagement at Grochow (Feb. 19-25, 1831), where the Poles with 45,000 men offered long and victorious resistance to the superior force of the Russians (70,000 men with more than twice as many cannon as the Poles possessed), but were at last forced back upon Prague. Skrzynecki commander-in-chief; defeat of the Russians at Wawar and Dembe Wielski; the insurrection spread through Lithuania and Podolia. Diebitch defeated the Poles in the bloody

The Organic Statute of Feb. 26, 1832, deprived Poland of its constitution and reduced it to a province of the Russian empire, although with a separate administration.

1831. Uprisings in Modena, Parma, and Romagna, quickly suppressed with the assistance of the Austrians.

1833-1840. After the death of Ferdinand VII., civil war in Spain.

Banishment of the queen dowager, Christina.

1833. The Frankfort uprising, wherein two watches were overpowered for a few hours, caused a vigorous reactionary movement throughout Germany. Frankfort received an Austro-Prussian garrison. Establishment of commissions for political investigations, arrests and condemnations. Meeting of the sovereigns of Austria, Prussia, and Russia at Münchengrätz; ministerial conference in Teplitz (1833) and Vienna (1834), by whose resolutions the rights of the estates in Germany were still further curtailed.

1833. Foundation of the German Customs Union (Zollverein) (Maassen, Prussian minister of finance), which had been zealously advocated by Prussia since 1818. In 1830 the union already included a population of 25,000,000 and a territory of 80,600 square miles. After 1854 it embraced 98,000 square miles and 35,000,000 inhabitants.

1835–1848. Ferdinand I., emperor of Austria.

The chancellor of state, Metternich, was still the actual head of the government and the soul of the conservative reactionary policy throughout Europe. Censorship of the press. Strict system of pass-ports. Police surveillance.

1837. Upon the death of William IV. of England, Hanover, where the *salic law*¹ regulated the descent of the throne, became separated from England.

Partial repeal of the fundamental statute of 1833 by the king of Hanover, Ernst August, under the pretext that the constitution had been adopted without his consent, he being at the time heir to the throne. The true reason was probably that the constitution had made the domains public property and had established a civil list. Dismissal of seven professors at Göttingen (Jacob and William Grimm, Dahlmann, Gervinus, Ewald, Albrecht and Weber), for refusal to take the oath of homage.

1837–1901. Victoria, queen of Great Britain and Ireland.

1837. Arrest of the archbishop of Cologne (Droste von Vischering), in consequence of a quarrel with the Prussian government about marriages between persons of different religious beliefs.

1840. Death of Frederic William III. of Prussia. His son and successor June 7.

1840–1861. Frederic William IV. (see p. 515).

Mehemet Ali, viceroy of Egypt, in a previous victorious war (1831–1833) with his over-lord the sultan, threatened Constantinople. He was, however, compelled by the European powers to make peace, and obliged to be content with the investiture of Syria as a fief from the sultan. The attempt of the Porte (1839) to deprive him of Syria, failed. Ibrahim, son of Mehemet Ali, defeated the Turks at Nisib on the Euphrates. Through treachery the Turkish fleet fell into the hands of the viceroy of Egypt. Relying on the support of France, Mehemet Ali demanded from the young sultan Abdul-Medjid (1839–1861) the hereditary investiture of all lands under his government. To oppose these demands, England (lord Palmerston), Austria, Prussia, and Russia, concluded in 1840 a treaty of alliance, to the exclusion of France, which for a moment threatened the peace of Europe. After the fall of the ministry of Thiers, however, and after

Guizot became president of the ministry in October, France submitted and deserted the viceroy of Egypt. The armed intervention of England and Austria in Syria forced the viceroy to take a lower tone, and he retained only the hereditary rule over Egypt under the over-lordship of the Porte.

1846. Death of Pope Gregory XVI. Attempted reforms of his successor Pius IX. (Mastai-Ferretti).

1847. Convention of the united legislature (Landtag) in Prussia.

War of the Sonderbund (separate confederacy) in Switzerland against seven Catholic cantons (Jesuits). General Dufour quickly overpowered Freiburg and Luzerne. Dissolution of the Sonderbund.

Transformation of the Swiss confederacy from a close alliance [Staatenbund] of sovereign cantons into a federal nation [Bundesstaat]. The former diet, in which Zürich, Berne, and Luzerne had in turn been the chief town, was now succeeded by a confederate council which sat in Berne and consisted of 1. a council of estates (representation of the governments of the separate cantons), 2. a national council (representation of the whole Swiss people according to the density of the population). A common system of coinage ; centralized postal service and military organization.

1848, Feb. 24. February Revolution in Paris (p. 530).

1848-1851 (1852). France, for the second time, a republic.

In Switzerland, complete victory of the radicals. The canton of Neuchâtel threw off allegiance to its prince, the king of Prussia.

1848. Revolutionary movements in Germany, in consequence of the French revolution.

Feb. 27. Popular assembly at Mannheim under the lead of Itzlein, which demanded a German parliament, jury trials, free press, right of forming organizations, societies, etc.

March 11. The elector of Hesse obliged to agree to these demands.

March 13-15. Outbreak in Vienna. Metternich driven from the city, which fell into the hands of the burgher-guard and the students.

March 18. Conflicts in the streets of Berlin. The troops, tired but not conquered, left the city by order of the king (March 19-20). Formation of a poorly disciplined burgher-guard. Liberal ministers frequently changed. Anarchy in the capital. Call of a constituent assembly at Berlin.

March 20. After disturbances had occurred in Munich as early as March 6, Louis I. († 1868) abdicated in favor of his son Maximilian II. Disturbances in Saxony, Hanover, Nassau, Mecklenburg, etc.

April. A republican rising in Baden (Hecker, Struve), supported by the arrival of refugees (Herwegh) and foreign republicans quickly suppressed by the troops of the German confederation.

General Frederic von Gagern treacherously shot by the volunteers (April 20).

May 15. Second insurrection in Vienna, which compelled the convocation of a constituent diet. The emperor left Vienna and went to Innsbruck. The intended dissolution of the legion of students caused a

May 26. Third insurrection in Vienna, after which the troops left the city and a committee of public safety (citizens and students) controlled the city.

1848-1849. German National Assembly (Parliament)

May 18. in Frankfurt (Church of St. Paul) for the purpose of "harmonizing" a constitution for the German empire with the governments of the various states.

The national assembly elected archduke John of Austria (66 years old) administrator of the empire. He entered Frankfurt June 11. The confederate council (Bundestag) dissolved itself. First imperial ministry (afterwards made more complete): Schmerling (Austria), foreign affairs, and interior; Peucker (Prussia), war; Heckscher (Hamburg), justice. It was soon evident, however, that the newly created central power had no real authority either as regarded foreign countries or the separate states.

President of the national assembly, Heinrich von Gagern. Parties: right (Radowitz, Vincke, prince Lichnowsky), holding to the idea of an imperial constitution in harmony with the separate governments; left (Vogt, Ruge, Robert Blum), proclaiming the principle of the sovereignty of the people, and endeavoring to establish a republican confederation (Bundestaat) by revolutionary means; right centre (Gagern, Dahlmann, Gervinus, Arndt, Beseler, Bassermann, J. Grimm), which hoped to persuade the governments to recognize the establishment of a constitutional monarchy for Germany; left centre (Römer, Fallmerayer, Raveaux, etc.), which insisted upon the unconditional subordination of the separate states to a central monarchy, to be created on the basis of the sovereignty of the people; it recommended, however, that the views of the separate governments and such particular requirements of the states as were well founded should be respected.

1848. In Naples grant of a liberal constitution, followed by a reaction after the victory of the Swiss troops in the conflicts in the streets (May). War with Sicily, which was in revolt, but was subdued by Filangieri with great severity. After the murder of his minister, Rossi, Pius IX. fled to Gaëta (Nov.). Rule of the anarchists and republicans (Mazzini) in Rome. After a two months' siege Rome was captured by the French (July, 1849), and the papal authority was restored. The Pope did not return to Rome, however, until 1850. (French garrison in Rome, 1849-1866.)

1848. Slavonic congress in Prague,

June 2. called by the Czechs (Palacki), in order to unite the opposition of the Slavonic people of Austria against the growth of German culture and influence. In order that the representatives of the different Slavonic nationalities might understand one another, the proceedings of this anti-German congress were held in German. June 12-17. Uprising of the Czechs in Prague suppressed by Windischgrätz.

Oct. 31. Capture of Vienna by imperial troops (Windischgrätz, Jellachich). Robert Blum (member of the parliament of Frankfort), Messenhauser (commander of the city), and many others were shot.

Nov. 1. Commencement of the reaction in Prussia. Ministry Brandenburg-Manteuffel. General Wrangel entered Berlin without resistance (Nov. 10). Proclamation of a state of siege. The burgher-guard disarmed.

Nov. 27. Transference of the national assembly to Brandenburg. As a quorum failed to meet there, Dec. 5. Dissolution of the national assembly and imposition of a constitution with two chambers, the second elected by universal (manhood) and equal suffrage.

Dec. 10. Prince Louis Napoleon elected president of the French Republic (p. 531).

1848-1849. War between Austria and Sardinia.

The Austrians, driven from Milan by a revolt (March, 1848), retired to Verona. An Italian attack at St. Lucia repulsed. Radetzki, reinforced by Nugent (engagements at Udine and Belluno), advanced again. The troops of Charles Albert, king of Sardinia, victorious at Goito (May), were completely defeated by Radetzki at July 25. Custoza. Milan recaptured by the Austrians. Truce from Aug. 9, 1848, to March 20, 1849. Radetzki, by the victory of Mortara (March 21) and Novara (March 23), compelled the conclusion of peace. Charles Albert abdicated in favor of his son, Victor Emmanuel, and retired to Portugal († July, 1849).

Capture of Brescia after terrible fighting in the streets. Cruelties exercised upon prisoners (Haynau). In Venice, after the withdrawal of the Austrian garrison (March, 1848), a provisional government in the name of the king of Sardinia was succeeded, after the defeat of the Italian army, by a republic (president Manin). Siege and capture of Venice by the Austrians (Aug. 1849). The whole of the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom subjected anew to Austria.

1848-1849. Uprising of the Hungarians (Magyars).

The Hungarians demanded and received a separate ministry (April, 1848). Count Batthyanyi, president of the ministry; Kossuth (pr. Kóshüt), minister of finance. Diet in Pesth under the presidency of the archduke Stephen as palatine. The opposition of the Slavonic population and the appanages of the crown of Hungary (Croatia, Transylvania) to the supremacy of the Magyars, and their demand for political equality, were supported by the court of Vienna. Jellachich appointed Ban of Croatia. Kossuth procured from the diet a levy of national troops (Honveds), and the issue of Hungarian paper money. Jellachich invaded Hungary, but was defeated at Velencez. The archduke palatine Stephen resigned his office. Count Lamberg, created imperial governor of Hungary, murdered at Pesth (Sept.) The emperor dissolved the diet.

After the abdication of Ferdinand I. († 1875) his nephew mounted the throne as 1848–1916. Francis Joseph I., emperor of Austria.

The Hungarian diet refused to recognize the abdication of Ferdinand I. and the accession of Francis Joseph I. Prince Windischgrätz led an Austrian army into Hungary. Kossuth and the Magyar officials retired to Debreczin. Windischgrätz occupied Pesth (Jan., 1849). The Polish general Bem, to whom Kossuth had given a command, defeated the Austrians in a series of engagements. Other troops, under the Pole Dembinski and the Magyar princes Görgey and Klapka, were successful against the Austrians. Dembinski was appointed commander-in-chief of the Magyar forces, but was defeated at Kapolna (Feb. 26, 1849) and resigned his command. Meanwhile a bloody struggle was in progress in Transylvania: Bem, defeated by the Austrian general Puchner at Hermanstadt (Feb., 1849), after having received reinforcements, took the offensive against the Austrians and Russians, whom the former had called to their aid, with success; driving the Russians out of Transylvania. In the west, too, fortune smiled upon the Hungarian arms. Görgey relieved Komorn. Windischgrätz was driven back to Pesth, which his successor, Welden, was compelled to evacuate; an Austrian garrison remained in Ofen. In consequence of the 1849. Publication of the general constitution for Austria, March 4. which abolished the ancient Hungarian constitution, the diet, upon Kossuth's motion, pronounced the deposition of the house of Hapsburg-Lorraine. Kossuth placed at the head of the Magyar government with the title of governor. Divisions and lack of decision among the Hungarians. Instead of marching upon Vienna they laid siege to Ofen, which Görgey captured May 21. Kossuth and the diet made a pompous entrance into Pesth. Meanwhile at a meeting of the emperors of Austria and Russia, Russian intervention was agreed upon, and a common plan of operations adopted for the subjugation of Hungary.

Last decisive struggle of the Hungarians. Bem defeated at Hermannstadt in Transylvania by the Russians (Lüders), who outnumbered him three to one. Dembinski forced to retire before the superior Russian force under Paskevitch. Görgey tried in vain to break through the main Austrian army under Haynau, was defeated at Zsigard and Komorn, went to the aid of Dembinski, defeated the Russians under Rüdiger at Waitzen, but was obliged to retire to the mountains upon the approach of Paskevitch, escaping the Russians only by a masterly retreat. Kossuth fled with the diet to Szegedin, whither Haynau marched. Dembinski, attacking him, was defeated at Szörek (Aug. 5), and at Temesvar (Aug. 9), where his army was almost entirely scattered. Confusion and discord among the Hungarians. Kossuth laid down the chief power; the dictatorship was conferred upon Görgey. Two days later Görgey concluded the

in which about 25,000 men laid down their arms (120 cannon surrendered) before the Russian general Rüdiger. Most of the other corps surrendered unconditionally; Klapka alone, who defended Kormorn, made an honorable capitulation. Kossuth, Bem, Dembinski, found refuge in Turkish territory. Haynau administered terrible punishment to the captured leaders of the insurrection. Numerous executions (count Batthyanyi hanged), imprisonments and confiscations. Abolition of the Hungarian constitution. Transylvania and Croatia separated from Hungary. Abolition of the general constitution of Austria, Dec. 31, 1851.

1848-1851. Three wars of Schleswig-Holstein against Denmark.

Cause: "Open letter" of the king, Christian VIII. (July 8, 1846), which arbitrarily decreed the continuance of the union of the duchies with Denmark, in spite of the different laws of inheritance in the two states. A revolutionary movement in Copenhagen (Casino party) compelled king Frederic VII. to pronounce the annexation of Schleswig to Denmark (1848). Hence insurrection in the duchies (March, 1848), and formation of a provisional government of the country (Beseler).

1848. First War. Prussian troops and those of the German confederacy came to the assistance of the duchies, which were obliged to form a new army. General Wrangel defeated the Danes at Schleswig (April 23) and advanced to Jütland. The losses to commerce in the Baltic by the Danish blockade and the influence of England and Russia produced the not very honorable truce of Malmö (26 Aug. 1848-26 March, 1849). Establishment of "common government" for the duchies.

Dissatisfaction with the truce throughout Germany. Angry debates in the national assembly at Frankfort; contest in the streets with the populace, who were excited by the democrats. Murder of prince Lichnowsky and general von Auerswald (Sept.).

1849, March-July. Second War. Creation of a governorship (Beseler, Reventlow-Preetz) by the central government of Germany. At Eckernförde the ship of the line Christian VIII. was fired by cannonade and the frigate Gefion captured (April 5). Storm of the redoubts of Dippel by Bavarian and Saxon troops (April 13). The Prussian general Bonin, at the head of the Schleswig-Holstein army, defeated the Danes at Kolding (April 20). In consequence of the threatening attitude of England, France, and Russia, indifferent conduct of Prussia and other German troops in the war (general Prittwitz). Siege of Fredericia by the Schleswig-Holstein army, which, however, suffered a considerable loss through a successful sortie of the Danes. Truce of Berlin, between Prussia and Denmark (1849, July 10), whereby Schleswig was to be occupied by Swedish troops in the north, in the south by Prussian troops, and received a new administration. The truce was converted into a peace (in the name of the German confederation as well). Bonin and all Prussian officers were recalled from the Schleswig-Holstein army.

1850, Jan.-1851, July. Third War, conducted by Schleswig-Holsteiners alone without the aid of Germany. General Willisen, formerly in the Prussian service, assumed command of the army. He was defeated at Idstedt (July 24, 25). Schleswig occupied by the Danes. In the engagement at Missunde (Sept. 12) the Schleswig-Holstein troops were again defeated. In the storm of Friedrichstadt (Oct. 4) they were repulsed with great loss. The chief command was transferred from Willisen to general Horst. The German confederacy having been restored meanwhile (p. 498) enforced under Austrian influence the cessation of hostilities; Holstein was occupied by Austrian troops with the consent of Prussia, and delivered to the Danes upon the vague promise of "respecting the rights of the duchies" (1852).

1849. Completion of the constitution of the German Empire.

Diet, composed of a chamber of state, appointed half by the governments, half by the popular representatives of the separate states, and a popular chamber. Monarchical power with only a suspensive veto. Formation of two parties, the great German (Grossdeutsche) party, which wished to retain the German territory of Austria in Germany, and the small German (Kleindeutsche), which wished to exclude Austria and form a narrower confederacy under the hegemony of Prussia. 1849. The offer of the crown of emperor of the Germans, by a April 3. deputation of the national assembly at Frankfort, was declined by the king. Frederic William declared that he could assume the imperial dignity only with the consent of all German governments.

May. Uprising in Dresden (Tzschirner, Heubner, Todt, Bakunin) suppressed by Prussian assistance.

Recall and withdrawal of a great number of representatives 1849. from the national assembly at Frankfort. The Rump-Parliament (president Löwe-Kalbe) in Stuttgart dissolved.

The administrator superseded by a central power to be executed by Austria and Prussia alternately, "for the German confederacy" (The interim). Death of the administrator, Oct. 20, 1849.

May. Republican uprising in the county palatine and in the grand duchy of Baden (Struve, Mieroslawski); defection of the army. Prussian troops under the prince of Prussia entered Baden, defeated the insurgents at Waghäusel, besieged and captured Rastadt.

The commander Tiedemann and others were shot; many, among them the poet Kinkel, condemned to imprisonment for life with hard labor (Kinkel, 1850, in Spandau, was rescued by Karl Schurz).

1850, Feb. 6. In Prussia the king and legislature took the oath of allegiance to the revised constitution.

Exertions of Prussia to create a German federal state (Bundesstaat), with exclusion of Austria (Radowitz), actively supported by the old party of the hereditary empire in the Frankfort parliament, the Gothas (so called from a meeting in Gotha). The "alliance of the three kings" (Prussia, Hanover, Saxony), concluded May 26, 1849, which was immediately joined by most of the smaller German states, was soon broken up by the withdrawal of Hanover and Saxony. Nevertheless the 1850, March 20. Parliament of Erfurt was opened, which on the 27th April concluded the discussion of a new German Union.

May 9-16. Congress of princes in Berlin, wherein the dislike of electoral Hesse (Hassenpflug) for the union came to light. Creation of a college of princes. Austria opposed the efforts of Prussia by the Sept. 2. Reopening of the Frankfort parliament.

Contest over the constitution in the electorate of Hesse. Repeated dissolution of the assembly of the estates by Hassenpflug. The whole country was pronounced in a state of war (Sept. 7). Resistance of the officials and the courts. The prince elector left the country and invited the intervention of the diet, which had been restored by Austria, but was not recognized by Prussia and her confederates; Hassenpflug ambassador to the diet. The diet granted aid to the prince elector, Prussia protesting. General Haynau appointed military dictator in electoral Hesse (Oct. 2). Almost the entire corps of officers in electoral Hesse received their dismissal.

Rupture between Prussia and Austria; Nicholas of Russia took sides with the latter (two meetings in Warsaw). Meeting of the emperor of Austria and the kings of Bavaria and Württemberg at Bregenz, directed against Prussia. Execution of the decree of the confederacy by Bavarian and Austrian troops. The Prussian government sent their troops (general Gröben) into electoral Hesse, and seemed for a moment about to oppose the execution of the decree of the confederacy (encounter of the pickets at Bronnzell, Nov. 8), but were finally satisfied with occupying the military roads of Prussia. Dismissal of the minister Radowitz, and thereby complete abandonment of the Prussian exertions for union. In the 1850. Conference at Olmütz (Manteuffel and Schwarzenberg) Prussia yielded to all the demands of Austria;

Schleswig-Holstein was delivered to the Danes, the unlimited authority of the elector was restored in electoral Hesse. The question of the German constitution was settled at the 1850-1851. Conference at Dresden

Dec. 23-May 15. after a lengthy discussion, wherein the influence of the emperor of Russia had great weight, by a simple return to the diet of the confederacy. Prussia herself invited the former members of the union to send representatives to that body, so that the 1851. German confederation of 1815 was reestablished in its old form.

1851. First universal industrial exhibition in London.

1851. In Paris, coup d'état of Louis Napoleon, who became president of the republic for ten years (p. 531).

1852, May 8. Treaty of London (protocol) signed by the five great powers and Sweden. In order to guarantee the integrity of the Danish monarchy, a successor was appointed for the crown of Denmark and for the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein, without consulting the estates of the duchies. The female line next in succession having renounced its rights, Christian of Sonderburg-Glücksburg was proclaimed heir of the childless king Frederic VII. for the entire monarchy. This treaty was recognized by Hanover, Saxony, and Württemberg, but not by the German confederation.

1852, Dec. 1. Napoleon III., emperor of the French (1852-1870).

1853-1856. War of Russia against Turkey and 1854-1856. War of the western powers against Russia. Crimean War.

Cause: Resuscitation of the old Russian plans of conquest (Catherine II. p. 411) against Turkey by Nicholas I. Thinking an alliance between England and France impossible, and believing that he had made sure of Austria and Prussia, he pressed forward without hesitation. He developed his views, concealing but little, to the English ambassador in St. Petersburg, Seymour: Servia, Bosnia, Bulgaria, and the principalities of the Danube should become independent states under Russian protection. Constantinople should be occupied provisionally, by Russian troops; the prospect of the acquisition of Crete and Egypt was held out to England. In spite of the unfavorable attitude of England, the emperor pursued his plans. Demand for a protectorate over all Christians of the Greek church in the Turkish empire, urged in an overbearing manner, by the Russian ambassador prince Mentchikoff. The Porte refused to listen to the proposition. Mentchikoff left Constantinople with threats (May 21, 1853).

1853. A united French and English fleet was placed at the entrance to the Dardanelles, afterwards in the Bosphorus, for purposes of observation. 80,000 Russians crossed the Pruth and occupied the principalities of the Danube (July). Meeting between Nicholas and the emperor of Austria and the king of Prussia in Olmütz (Sept.), where however, he did not obtain the desired alliance, but only an assurance of neutrality under certain conditions. The Porte declared war upon Russia (Oct.). Omer Pacha crossed the Danube and held his ground against the Russians at Olténitza (Nov. 4). The Russian fleet surprised and defeated a Turkish squadron at Sinope, Nov. 4. Upon the refusal of the emperor to evacuate the principalities of the Danube, 1854, March 12. Alliance of the western powers with Turkey, and March 28. declaration of war by England and France upon Russia. Paskevitch appointed to the chief command of the Russian army which crossed the Danube, but besieged Silistria in vain (June). England and France sent troops to the aid of Turkey, which concentrated in Gallipoli. Alliance between Prussia and Austria; these states declared the passage of the Balkans by the Russians an act of war, and soon demanded the evacuation of the principalities. The emperor Nicholas ordered the evacuation "for strategic reasons" (July). With the consent of the Porte the principalities were provisionally occupied by the Austrians.

A second French and English fleet (Napier) appeared in the Baltic, but could make no impression upon the fortress of Kronstadt and captured only the small fortress of Bomarsund, upon one of the Aland Islands.

At the southern seat of war, the allies landed at Varna, on the Black Sea (June). Marshal St. Arnaud and lord Raglan commanders-in-chief. The French invasion of the Dobrudsha was followed by great losses through sickness. At Varna the expedition to the Crimea was resolved upon, in order to destroy Sebastopol and annihilate the Russian naval power in the Black Sea. The French and English (50,000 men together) and 6,000 Turks landed at Eupatoria, on the west coast of the Crimea, Sept. 14, and defeated the Russians in the 1854, Sept. 20. Battle of the Alma.

Marshal St. Arnaud died of the cholera. The command of the French given to Canrobert. After the English had established themselves on the bay of Balaklava, and the French on the bay of Kamiesch, the 1854-1855. Siege of Sebastopol

Oct. Nov. began. The city was surrounded by new fortresses by Mentchikoff, under the superintendence of Totleben, and the harbor closed by sunken ships of war. An attack of the allies upon Sebastopol failed (Oct. 17). The Russian general Liprandi attacked the English at Balaklava (Oct. 25) and inflicted a severe loss upon them (charge of the Light Brigade). After Mentchikoff had received reinforcements, he attacked the allies anew, but was defeated in the bloody 1854, Nov. 5. Battle of Inkermann.

Slow progress of the siege works during the winter. After the emperor of Russia had rejected the conditions of peace which were supported by Prussia and Austria, the latter power joined the alliance of the western powers (Dec. 1854), and placed a considerable force upon the Russian boundary without, however, commencing actual operations of war. Prussia persisted in her neutral attitude. Victor Emmanuel of Sardinia concluded an alliance with the western powers and sent 15,000 men under La Marmora to the Crimea. A Russian attack upon Eupatoria was repulsed by the Turks.

1855, March 2. Death of Nicholas I. His son

1855-1881. Alexander II. (abolition of serfdom 1858-1863).

Prince Gortchakoff received the chief command in Sebastopol. After fruitless negotiations in Vienna, Austria again assumed an attitude of waiting and withdrew a portion of the troops on the Russian border. Enormous losses among the besiegers, from sickness (Florence Nightingale). Privations and daily skirmishes. At the request of Canrobert the command of the French forces was transferred to general Pelissier (May 16). A general storm was repulsed, with great loss to the allies (June 18). Lord Raglan died June 28, and Simpson became commander-in-chief of the English army.

After a continuous bombardment and many bloody engagements 1855. Storm of the Malakoff tower by the French, and of the Sept. 8. Redan by the English, who were, however, soon driven out again by the Russians.

Sept. 11. The Russians, by means of a pontoon bridge, withdrew into the northern part of the fortress. Occupation of the city of Sebastopol by the allies.

Nov. 28. In Asia, capture of the fortress of Kars by the Russians.
 At the congress of Paris (France, England, Russia, Turkey, Sar- dinia, Austria, and at the last Prussia), the 1856, March 30. Peace of Paris was agreed upon.

1. Russia ceded the mouths of the Danube and a small portion of Bessarabia on the left bank of the lower Danube. 2. Russia renounced the one-sided protectorate over the Christians in Turkey (whose elevation to equality with the Mohammedan population was promised by the Porte), and over the principalities of the Danube, whose relations were to be settled later. 3. Russia restored Kars, and promised not to establish any arsenals upon the Black Sea, nor to maintain there more ships than the Porte. 4. The western powers restored Sebastopol to Russia, after having destroyed the docks, the constructions in the harbor, and the fortifications. [5. Adoption of the four rules: 1. Privateering is and remains abolished. 2. The neutral flag covers an enemy's goods, except contraband of war. 3.
 Neutral goods, except contraband of war, not liable to capture under 1856-1857. Dispute between the king of Prussia and Switzerland, in consequence of a hasty suppression of a royalistic outbreak in Neuchâtel (Neuenburg), settled by the release of the royalistic prisoners by the Swiss, and the renunciation of Neuchâtel by the king of Prussia.

1857-1860. French and English expedition against China.

Cause: infractions of the treaty with the English (of 1842) by the Chinese led to hostilities in Oct., 1856, between the English and the Chinese officials of Canton. The French government, which purposed an alteration of the commercial treaty with China, joined in supporting the English demands.

1857, Dec. Occupation of Canton by the allies.

1858. Treaty of Tien-Tsin, which opened to European trade and the June. missionaries entrance to the interior of China, and allowed standing embassies to be established in the capital, Pekin.

1859, June. Infraction of the treaty of Tien-Tsin. The English, French, and American ambassadors, who were on their way to Pekin, were turned back at the mouth of the Pei-ho.

The attempt of the English and French to force their passage failed; an attack upon the forts, undertaken with but few troops, was repulsed with great loss.

1860. Landing of a French (general Montauban) and English (gen-May. eral Grant) corps at Shang-hai; storm of the fortified camp, while the flotilla of the allies proceeded up the Pei-ho.

Negotiations commenced by the Chinese. In consequence of their dubious and faithless conduct the allies made a new advance, defeated a Tatar army of 25,000 men in the 1860. Battle of Palikao, and marched upon Pekin. Destruction of Sept. 21. the summer palace of the emperor as punishment for the cruel mutilation and execution of several persons whom the Chinese had treacherously captured. In affright prince Kong, the emperor's brother, concluded the 1860. Peace of Peking, which ratified the treaty of Tien-Tsin and Oct. 24, 25. imposed upon the Chinese the payment of a large indemnity.

1857. Illness of Frederic William IV. The prince of Prussia assumed the vice-regency, and later (Oct. 7, 1858) the regency as provided by the constitution of Prussia. The prince regent replaced the ministry of Manteuffel by an old liberal ministry (prince of Hohenzollern, Auerswald, Schleinitz, Bonin, Bethmann-Hollweg, and afterwards count Schwerin).

1859. War of France and Sardinia with Austria.

April-July. An Austrian ultimatum having been rejected, field-marshal Gyulay crossed the Ticino, but his inactivity gave the French time to come to the assistance of the Piedmontese. Napoleon III. assumed the chief command.

An extensive reconnoitring expedition of Gyulay's led to the May 20. Engagement of Montebello; the Austrians, after obstinate resistance, driven back. Garibaldi and his volunteers invaded Lombardy. The allies assuming the offensive, Gyulay retired across the Ticino and was defeated in the

June 4. Battle of Magenta

(Napoleon III., Canrobert, MacMahon).

Napoleon III. and Victor Emmanuel entered Milan. The emperor Francis Joseph took the chief command in person. The Austrian army was defeated by the allies in the June 24. Battle of Solferino.

The emperor Francis Joseph in a meeting with Napoleon III.

July 11, in Villafranca was induced to accept preliminaries of peace (exchanged July 8) which were ratified and completed in the 1859, Nov. 10. Peace of Zürich.

1. The emperor Francis Joseph ceded Lombardy (with the exception of Mantua and Peschiera) to Napoleon III., who surrendered it to Sardinia. 2. Italy was to form a confederation (Staatenbund) under the honorary presidency of the Pope. 3. The sovereigns of Tuscany and Modena, who had been expelled in April and July, were to be reinstated; the revolted legations (Bologna, etc.), were to be given back to the Pope, but "without foreign intervention."

Despite these enactments of the peace of Zürich

1860. Tuscany, Parma (whose sovereigns had likewise been expelled), Spring. Modena, and the papal legations were united with the monarchy of Victor Emmanuel, who, in return, was obliged to surrender Savoy and Nice to France.

Descent of Garibaldi with 1,000 volunteers (soon 4,000, May 11) upon Sicily. He marched upon Palermo. Bombardment of the city by the Neapolitan general Lanza, whereupon the city capitulated on condition of the free withdrawal of 25,000 Neapolitan troops (June 6). Messina evacuated by the Neapolitans, with the exception of the citadel (June 28). Garibaldi landed on the mainland (Aug. 20). Surrender of Reggio, triumphal progress through the southern half of the peninsula. King Francis II. left his capital, Naples, and retired behind the Volturno with 40,000 men, retreating to the fortresses of Gaëta and Capua (Sept.). Meanwhile the Piedmontese troops under Fanti and Cialdini had entered Umbria and the Marches, where the desire for annexation had long since made itself manifest. The French general Lamoricière, who had entered the papal service, was defeated in the 1860. Engagement at Castelfidardo by Cialdini. The Papal Sept. 18. States (excepting the Patrimonium Petri) were annexed by Victor Emmanuel, who thereupon invaded the Neapolitan territory (Oct.) and joined Garibaldi. The Neapolitan army retreated behind the Garigliano, Capua was taken. Francis II. and his troops retired to Gaëta.

1860-1861. Siege of Gaëta. Francis II. capitulated after a brave Nov. 12-Feb. 13. defence and went to Rome.

1861, March 17. Victor Emmanuel king of Italy.

With the exception of Venice and the Patrimonium Petri the whole peninsula was united under one sceptre. Death of Cavour, June 6, 1861. New expedition of Garibaldi, with volunteer bands, to liberate Rome, against the wishes of the government. He was wounded and captured at Aspromonte, the southern point of Italy, Aug. 29, 1862. Treaty between France and Italy (Sept. 15, 1864), whereby the duration of the French occupation of Rome was limited to two years, and the Italian government undertook to protect the Patrimonium Petri against any foreign invasion. Florence made the capital of Italy.

1861, Jan. 2. Death of Frederic William IV. The prince regent mounted the throne as 1861-1888. William I., king of Prussia.

1861-1867. Mexican Expedition, undertaken, at first, by France, England, and Spain in common.

1861. Treaty of London between these three powers. The purpose Oct. 31. of the expedition was to force the republic of Mexico to fulfill certain treaty obligations towards these nations.

1861, Dec.-1862, Jan. Occupation of La Vera Cruz and the fort of San Juan d'Ulloa by the allies.

1862. Treaty of La Soledad with Juarez, president of Mexico, who Feb. 19. promised to pay the indemnity and the arrears of debt, as required. Juarez did not fulfill the obligations incurred, and demanded the delivery of his opponent, Almonte, who had come to the French camp from Paris.

England and Spain withdrew from the expedition. Napoleon III., acting on the expectation that the republic of the United States of America would be broken up by the war between the North and the South, resolved to create a monarchy in Mexico. Magnificent plan to check the spread of the Anglo-Germanic race by this expedition, and induce a regeneration of the Latin race.

1862. An attack upon Puebla by 5,000 French repulsed. Retreat to May. Orizaba. The emperor sent 25,000 men as reinforcements, followed by more considerable numbers, to Mexico. After a long and bloody contest 1863. Puebla, bravely defended by Ortega, was captured by the May. French general Forey, who entered Mexico. The French called an assembly of notables, composed of opponents of Juarez, caused the monarchy to be proclaimed by this body, and the imperial crown of Mexico to be offered to the archduke Maximilian, brother of the emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. This young and ambitious prince, gifted with excellent abilities, suffered himself to be inveigled by Napoleon III. into accepting the crown.

1864, June. Arrival of Maximilian in Mexico. Prolonged contest with the republican armies. The new monarchy constantly in financial difficulties. Impossibility of establishing a settled state of affairs in a land so torn with party feuds.

Meanwhile the end of the civil war in the United States had completely altered the political relations. The decisive demand of the United States government that the French troops should be withdrawn from Mexico, put a sudden end to the magnificent plans of the French emperor. He submitted at once to the request of the United States.

1867. Withdrawal of the French troops from Mexico. The emperor Spring. Maximilian, who refused to leave with the French, continued the war alone. After a brave resistance he was surrounded in Queretaro, captured by treachery (Lopez ?), brought to trial before a court-martial at Juarez' command, and shot (June 19, 1867).

In Austria, in spite of the vehement opposition of the nobility and the clergy, 1861. Publication of a new, liberal constitution for the united Feb. 26. monarchy with a close diet for the Germano-Slavonic lands, and a wider diet (only projected, however) which by the participation of Hungarian members was to represent the united monarchy, with the exception of Venice, for which the introduction of a special constitution was promised. Resistance to the February constitution, not only by the Hungarians, who demanded the restoration of their separate constitution with a special ministry, but also by the national parties of the other non-Germanic peoples of the empire.

1861. Coronation of the king of Prussia, William I. in Königsberg; Oct. 18. soon after there broke out a constitutional conflict in consequence of a reorganization of the army which the government had carried out. Dissolution of the house of representatives (March, 1862). Resignation of the Schwerin ministry. Heydt ministry. The opposition majority returned from the new elections (May) with increased strength (party of progress (Fortschritt), and the left centre).

Von Bismarck (Otto Edward Leopold, prince of Bismarck-Schönhausen, born 1815, 1848 member of the united Prussian legislature, 1851 member of the diet of the confederation at Frankfort, afterwards ambassador at St. Petersburg and at Paris) became president of the ministry. The ministry governed without the passage of a money bill. [Especial care bestowed upon the army, in which, according to Bismarck, the hope of Prussia and Germany rested ("Blood and Iron")].

1862. Revolution in Greece. King Otto († 1867) compelled to leave the country by an insurrection. Provisional government. After a long search the Greeks found in George of Denmark a prince who accepted their throne (1863). England ceded to Greece the Ionian Islands (p. 483).

1863, Jan. Uprising in Poland and Lithuania suppressed in the spring of 1864.

1863. Congress of German princes at Frankfort o. M., under Aug. the presidency of Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria, to consider a reorganization of Germany. The meeting was without result, Prussia refusing to take any part in the deliberations.

The "Eider-Danes" in Copenhagen having brought about the 1863. Incorporation of Schleswig with Denmark, the patience of March 30. the diet of the German confederation, so well preserved in face of the encroachments of the Danes since 1852, was exhausted, and an immediate execution of the decree of the confederation was decreed (Oct. 1).

1863, Nov. 15. Death of Frederic VII., king of Denmark.

According to the London Protocol (p. 498), Christian IX. succeeded for the entire monarchy. In spite of this and regardless of his father's renunciation, the hereditary prince of Augustenburg proclaimed himself duke of Schleswig-Holstein as Frederic VIII.

Yielding to the pressure of the influential party of the Eider-Danes in Copenhagen, Christian IX. accepted the new Danish constitution which incorporated Schleswig with Denmark. Great excitement in Germany. Public opinion decidedly favored the complete separation of Schleswig-Holstein from Denmark, and demanded of the German confederation at least a preliminary occupation of the duchies. On the motion of Austria and Prussia, however, who were bound by the London Protocol, the confederation undertook nothing but the execution of its decree, and caused Hanoverians and Saxons (general Hake) to enter the duchies of Holstein and Lauenburg, which belonged to the confederation. Frederic VIII. proclaimed duke throughout Holstein.

1864, Feb.-Oct. War of Austria and Prussia with Denmark.

Cause: Austria and Prussia demanded the repeal of the November constitution as being inconsistent with former agreements. (Denmark in 1852, when the two powers handed over Schleswig-Holstein to her, had promised "to respect the rights of the duchies," which clearly excluded an incorporation of Schleswig.) Refusal of Denmark. Advance of the Austro-Prussian army (Feb. 1, field-marshal v. Wrangel, prince Frederic Charles; Austrian general v. Gablenz) into Schleswig. (Holstein continued in possession of the troops of the confederation.) The Austrians advanced upon the Danewerk, under heavy fighting; the Prussians, after an unsuccessful cannonade at Missunde, crossed the Schlei at Arnis. The Danish commander De Meza surrendered the Danewerk Feb. 5, 6. He was replaced by general Gerlach. The Austrians under Gablenz undertook to clear North Schleswig of the Danes. (Brilliant engagement of the Austrian advance at Oversee, Feb. 6.) The Prussians under prince Frederic Charles undertook the difficult operation against the entrenchments of Düppel, which had been transformed to a veritable fortress.

1864. Skirmishes and preliminary operations until the arrival of the Feb. 22–March 12. siege artillery.

March 15–April 18. Actual siege of the entrenchments of Düppel.

April 18. Brilliant storming of Düppel by the Prussians. Capture of all the entrenchments. The Danes retreated to Alsen, evacuating the fortress of Fredericia. A part of Jütland occupied by the allies, as a ransom.

May 12–June 26. Truce, and meanwhile peace conference at London.

Prussia and Austria seceded from the London Protocol. As no agreement could be reached either in regard to a personal union of the duchies with the crown of Denmark (Beust objecting as representative of the confederation), or in regard to the division of Schleswig according to nationality, the war broke out anew. The Prussians under prince Frederic Charles (who had received the chief command) accomplished the June 28–29. Passage to the island of Alsen, defeated the Danes at all points, and took a large number of prisoners. All Jütland occupied by the allies.

At sea a Prussian squadron under Jachmarn had fought successfully at Jasmund, March 17, while an Austro-Prussian fleet under Tegethoff had won a victory at Heligoland, and after the truce had captured the islands off Friesland. These misfortunes induced Christian IX. to make direct applications for peace, which led to the 1864, Oct. 30. Peace of Vienna.

1. The king of Denmark renounced all his rights to the duchies of Schleswig, Holstein, and Lauenburg in favor of the emperor of Austria and the king of Prussia. 2. He agreed to recognize whatever disposition the monarchs should make of these three states.

Upon the motion of the two great powers, the execution against Holstein was declared by the confederation to be completed; the troops of the confederation (Hanoverians and Saxons) evacuated the country. Prussia and Austria established a common government in the city of Schleswig.

While the question of the succession was zealously discussed in the diet of the confederation, in diplomatic negotiations, and in the press, and the cause of the hereditary prince was agitated in both duchies, the Austrian and Prussian commissioners became involved in a wretched conflict. In order to put an end to this, the final decision in regard to the duchies of Schleswig and Holstein was postponed and the 1865. Treaty of Gastein was concluded between Prussia and Aus Aug. 14. tria.

1. Both powers retained the sovereignty of both duchies, in common; Austria assuming the provisional administration of Holstein, Prussia that of Schleswig.

2. Rendsburg to be a fortress of the confederation, Kiel a harbor of the confederation; the use of this harbor was to be in common, but Prussia received the chief command there; a military road, a telegraph and postal line through Holstein were guaranteed to Prussia.

3. The emperor of Austria surrendered all his rights to the duchy of Lauenburg to the king of Prussia for two and a half million rix dollars.

In execution of this treaty Prussia occupied the duchy of Schleswig (governor, v. Manteuffel) and Austria the duchy of Holstein (governor, v. Gablenz). The duchy of Lauenburg, after the consent of the estates had been obtained, was joined in personal union to the crown of Prussia.

Deep dissatisfaction with this treaty in the rest of Germany. Between the two great powers new disputes soon broke out. Austria, being determined not to agree, under any circumstances, to a real increase of Prussian power, returned to the attitude of the confederation upon this point, and entered into agreement with the middle states of Germany. Prussia, regarding the decision of the German question by war as unavoidable, entered into negotiations with Italy.

1866. The Austro-Prussian War.¹

June 16–July 22. The war proper lasted one month: June 22 to (Aug. 23). July 22.

Allies of Prussia: the smaller North German states and Italy.

Allies of Austria: Bavaria, Württemberg, Saxony, Hanover, Baden, the two Hesses.

Cause of the war: the desire of the German people for greater unity, and the impossibility of reaching a re-organization of Germany with a strong central government as long as two great powers confronted one another in the German confederation, one having a population largely non-Germanic, with non-Germanic interests.

Special cause: the quarrel about the future of the North Albingian duchies. Austria wished that the crown prince of Augustenburg should be recognized as duke of Schleswig-Holstein, and join the confederation as a sovereign prince. Prussia demanded (note of Feb. 22, 1865) that in case a new small state, Schleswig-Holstein, was created: 1. its whole military force should become an integral part of the Prussian army and fleet, and its postal and telegraph systems be united with those of Prussia; 2. that several important military posts (Friedrichsort, Sonderburg, etc.) should be given to Prussia, to enable her to undertake the necessary protection of the new state against Denmark.

Reason for the participation of Italy in the war: the favorable opportunity of acquiring Venice.

¹ Der Feldzug von 1866 in Deutschland (by the Prussian General Staff) and Oesterreichs Kampf im Jahre 1866 (by the Austrian General Staff).

Arming of the three powers, each claiming to be driven to that step by the preparations of its opponent.

The chief command of the Austrian armies in Bohemia and Moravia (northern army) given to general Benedek (240,000 men), who made his headquarters at Olmütz. The command of the army in Venice (southern army) given to archduke Albert.

Prussia placed five armies in the field : —

1. First army in Lusatia (93,000) under prince Frederic Charles.
2. Second (Silesian) army (115,000) under the crown prince, Frederic William.
3. The army of the Elbe (46,000) in Thuringia under general Herwarth von Bittenfeld.
4. The reserve army at Berlin under general v. Mülbe (24,000).
5. The army of the Main not formed until later, at first divided into three corps, Vogel v. Falckenstein at Minden, Manteuffel at Schleswig, Beyer at Wetzlar (in all 48,000 men). Commander-in-chief of all forces, king William I.; chief of the great general staff, general v. Moltke.

The mediation of France, England, and Russia, proffered at Frankfort, May 27, 28, was frustrated by the demand of Austria that at any peace conference which might be held there should be no reference to an alteration of boundaries.

The convocation of the Holstein assembly of estates (June 2) by the Austrian governor, v. Gablenz, led to an open rupture. Prussia declared that the treaty of Gastein was broken, and general v. Manteuffel entered Holstein (June 7); v. Gablenz, under protest, retreated to Altona with the Austrian brigade, and thence to Hanoverian territory.

On the motion of Austria, which declared the peace of the confederation broken by the action of Prussia in Holstein, 1866. The diet decreed the mobilization of the whole army of June 14. the confederation, with exception of the three Prussian corps. Secession of Prussia, and dissolution of the German confederation.

June 15. Prussia called upon Saxony, Hanover, and Hesse to disregard the resolve of the confederacy, to replace their troops upon a peace footing, and join a new confederation under the lead of Prussia. Upon the rejection of these demands, the Prussians invaded Hanover and Electoral Hesse. King George retreated to the south; the elector, Frederic William, was carried to Stettin a prisoner. The Prussians invaded Saxony (Herwarth); the Saxon army, king, and government retreating to Bohemia. Dresden occupied (June 18); all Saxony, excepting Königstein, in the hands of the Prussians (June 20).

Prussia resolved upon an offensive war. The occupation of Saxony opened the way for a strategic march of the army of the Elbe and the first army along the line of Bautzen-Dresden. The concentration of the Austrian power about Olmütz threatened the province of Silesia, but the Austrian army not being completely ready, the Prussians determined to forestall the enemy by an invasion of Bohemia.

A. Principal Scene of War in Bohemia.

June 22-25. Prussian invasion of Bohemia.

June 26, 27. Prussian victories (under prince Frederic Carl and the crown prince) at Hühnerwasser, Nachod (June 27) ; victory of the Austrians at Trautenau (June 27).

June 28. Prince Frederic Charles at Münchengrätz forced back the Austrians and Saxons.

Meantime the Silesian army defeated v. Gablentz at Soor (June 28), and the crown prince occupied Trautenau. Prussian victories of Skalitz (June 28, heavy losses) and Gitschin (June 29). Capture of Königinhof.

The engagement at Schweinschädel completed the purposed approach of the two Prussian armies to one another. They were purposely not united, but kept asunder in a manner "which, being without danger strategically considered, secured great tactical advantages." Hitherto the chief movements of both armies had been directed by telegraph from Berlin.

June 30. King William I. and general Von Moltke, chief of the general staff, left Berlin for the seat of war.

On July 2 it was decided to attack the Austrians with the whole force on the next day, they being stationed behind the Bistritz brook, with the fortress of Königgrätz and the Elbe in their rear.

1866. July 3. Battle of Königgrätz or Sadowa.

The first Prussian army, united with that of the Elbe (king William I., prince Frederic Charles, v. Herwarth), had a severe contest with the northern army of Austria, in an advantageous position, under Benedek ; in the afternoon the second (Silesian army), under the crown prince, gained the flank and rear of the Austrians, after a fatiguing march, and in combination with the first army secured the complete victory of the Prussians. Pursuit was stopped by the Elbe and by the exhaustion of the troops. Retreat of the Austrians toward Olmütz.

Francis Joseph appealed to the mediation of France, and ceded Venetia to Napoleon III., but the truce desired by France was rejected by Prussia and Italy. Two thirds of the Austrian southern army was transferred to the northern seat of war.

Occupation of Prague by the Prussians (July 8), of Brünn (July 12). March of the main Prussian army upon Vienna.

Benedek advanced to the defence of the capital, but was cut off from the direct way by the rapid advance of prince Frederic Charles, and forced to attempt the circuitous route by way of the Little Carpathians. A Prussian corps invaded Hungary.

July 22. The engagement of Blumenau was broken off by the announcement of the conclusion of a truce for five days, which was converted into July 26. The truce of Nikolsburg, after the preliminaries of peace had been signed under French mediation (p. 510).

B. Western Seat of War.

The entire army of the confederation was under the command of prince Charles of Bavaria.

1866. Victory of 16,000 Hanoverians over 8,000 Prussians and June 27. troops of Coburg-Gotha, at Langensalza; the junction of the Hanoverians with their southern allies was, however, prevented.

June 29. Capitulation of the Hanoverians at Lagensalza.

July 4-14. Victories of the Prussians at Dernbach (July 4), and in five battles on the Frankish Saale, over the south German troops (Hammelburg, Kissingen, Friedrichshall, Hausen, Wal-daschach) July 10, thus forcing the passage of the river.

July 14. Engagement at Aschaffenburg; victory over the united Hessian, Austrian, and Darmstadt troops. Occupation of Frankfort (July 16) and Darmstadt (July 17). Occupation of Würzburg and Nuremberg.

Aug. 2. Truce.

C. Seat of War in Italy.

1866. Battle of Custoza; victory of the Austrians (archduke June 24. Albert) over the Italians (king Victor Emmanuel). The Italian army retreated across the Mincio, but after the Austrian army was transferred, in large part, to the seat of war in the north, the Italians again advanced.

July 20. Naval victory of the Austrians (Tegethoff) at Lissa over the Italians (Persano).

1866. Peace of Prague

Aug. 23. between Prussia and Austria.

1. The emperor of Austria recognized the dissolution of the German confederation, and consented to a reorganization of Germany without Austria, and agreed to the annexations contemplated by Prussia. A special condition secured Saxony (as a member of the new north German confederation) from an alteration of her boundary. 2. Austria transferred to Prussia her rights in Schleswig-Holstein, with the reservation that the northern districts of Schleswig should be reunited with Denmark, should the inhabitants express a desire for such reunion by a free popular vote (rescinded, 1878). 3. Austria paid twenty million rix dollars ($15,000,000) for the costs of the war. 4. At the request of Prussia Venice was ceded to Italy.

Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover, Electoral Hesse, Nassau, and the free city of Frankfort were definitively incorporated with Prussia, so that by this successful war the extent of the monarchy was increased from 111,000 square miles (over nineteen million inhabitants) to 140,000 square miles (twenty-three and a half million inhabitants).

Peace between Prussia and Württemberg (Aug. 13), Baden (Aug. 17), Bavaria (Aug. 22), Hesse (Sept. 3), Saxony (Oct. 21).

The proposed cessions of territory in the southern states were in the main given up, inasmuch as Napoleon III. showed a desire for a rectification of boundaries as regarded Germany; conclusion of an offensive and defensive alliance between Prussia and the southern states. Reciprocal guarantee of territorial integrity. The southern states placed their entire military force under the command of the king of Prussia in the event of war. The demand of Napoleon III. rejected.

1866. Peace of Vienna

Oct. 3. between Austria and Italy. Austria recognized the kingdom of Italy, with which Venice was united. Prussia having concluded an alliance with the North German states in August, 1866, elections for a North German diet were prescribed on a basis of manhood and direct suffrage.

1867. First diet of the North German Confederation.

Feb. 24. After a short discussion the diet agreed with the governments upon a constitution for the North German Confederation: presidency of the league united with the crown of Prussia, which represented the confederation in its international relations, declared war, concluded peace and treaties, and accredited ambassadors in its name. The governments were represented in the council of the confederation (Bundesrath), in which Prussia had seventeen votes, and the other twenty-one members twenty-six votes altogether. Imperial diet (Reichstag) originating from direct manhood suffrage. Centralized military system, under the command of the king of Prussia. Universal compulsory military service. United customs, postal, and telegraph service. Count Bismarck, chancellor of the confederation.

1867. In Austria a reorganization of the state in a liberal sense was undertaken, in consequence of the unsuccessful war. The former Saxon minister, von Beust, president of the ministry, afterwards (until 1871) chancellor of the empire. Agreement with Hungary. Restoration of the Hungarian constitution. Solemn coronation of the emperor Francis Joseph in Pesth as king of Hungary. Reunion of the dependant lands (Croatia, Transylvania) with Hungary. Establishment of a liberal constitution in that part of the monarchy this side of the Leith (Cisleithania). (The constitution of 1861, p. 504, was suspended in 1865.) Germano-Slavonic Reichstag.

1867. Luxemburg question.

Napoleon III. wished to secretly indemnify the French nation for the increased power of Prussia by a new annexation. His negotiations with the king of Holland in regard to the purchase of the grand duchy of Luxemburg were broken off in consequence of the objection of Prussia, whereupon Napoleon III. demanded that the Prussian garrison of Luxemburg should evacuate the fortress. Under the excitement which the dispute aroused in Germany and France, the outbreak of war seemed unavoidable, when the 1867. London Conference (Italy recognized as the sixth great power) succeeded in establishing the following agreements: 1. The neutrality of the grand duchy was guaranteed by the great powers in common. 2. The Prussian garrison evacuated Luxemburg, and the fortifications were razed.

1867. Italian volunteers, with the tacit favor of the Italian government, made an attack upon the papal territory. Napoleon III. declared the former treaty (p. 503) broken, and sent assistance to the Pope. The free troops were defeated at Mentana. Rome received a new French garrison.

1868, April. First customs parliament in Germany.

1868. Outbreak of the Spanish Revolution in Cádiz. The royal-Sept. ist troops under Novaliches were defeated by the insurgent troops under Serrano at Alcolea. Queen Isabella fled to France; the whole country declared in favor of the revolution. Provisional government. The Bourbons deposed from the throne. Summons of a constitutional cortes. The majority of the cortes established, in spite of the opposition of the numerous republican members, a new constitutional monarchy. Serrano provisional regent. After many negotiations with foreign princes, conducted by Prim (murdered 1870), without result, the prince of Hohenzollern (1870, p. 513) accepted the Spanish crown. After his withdrawal, during the Franco-Prussian war, the duke of Aosta, the second son of Victor Emmanuel, king of Italy, was elected by the cortes, and ascended the throne as 1870-1873. Amadeus I., king of Spain.

1869. In France general election for the corps législatif; for the first time during the second empire, strong manifestation of party spirit, and a large number of votes cast. The departments, especially the country population, gave the government a good majority, though weaker than formerly. In Paris and Lyons victory of the ultra radical party, and election of candidates opposed to the government and the dynasty.

1869, Nov. 16. Formal opening of the Suez Canal, which was completed by the indomitable perseverance of its projec-tor, the Frenchman, Ferdinand de Lesseps.

1869, Dec. 8. Opening of the Vatican Council. Proclamation of the dogma of papal infallibility July 18, 1870, by a vote of 547 to 2. Adjournment of the council, Oct. 20, 1870.

Vacillating and indecisive conduct of the emperor Napoleon III.
in face of the daily increasing dissatisfaction in the country with the arbitrary character of the government, which was no longer offset by any brilliant achievements outside. Dismissal of the "vice emperor" Rouher (July). Formation of a new cabinet, composed of similar reactionary elements; then, as the different factions of the opposition (Thiers, Ollivier, Favre, Gambetta, Rocheport) grew more bold, formation of the

1870, Jan. Ministry of Ollivier from the ranks of the moderate liberals. Dismissal of the prefect of the Seine, Hausmann.
The death of a radical journalist at the hands of Pierre Bonaparte, a cousin of the emperor (self-defence or murder?), produced an extraordinary excitement in Paris. Riots. Condemnation and imprisonment of Rocheport, in consequence of his incendiary newspaper articles. New riots. Arrest of many radicals. Prince Pierre Bonaparte declared not guilty by the court in Tours.

April. A new liberal constitution, introduced by the government, was accepted by a decree of the senate, whereupon a vote of confidence was demanded from the people by a "plebiscite" (May), which resulted, thanks to the application of well-known methods, in a majority of more than seven million yeas to one and a half million nays, the latter being cast in Paris and the larger cities. In the army and the fleet more than 50,000 voted "no." In view of this grave dissatisfaction in the army, and of the constant agitation of the parties, which were in no wise quieted by the liberal concessions which had been made, a diversion, to be induced by involving the country in foreign disputes, such as had often been tried in France, seemed to be the best means of extrication. To the adoption of this means the emperor, who was anxious for the future of his dynasty, was more and more strongly urged by his intimate councillors (the empress, marshal Lebœuf, duke of Gramont, minister of foreign affairs).

1870, July 19–1871, March 3. Franco-Prussian War.¹

General Causes : 1. The idea entertained by a great part of the French nation, and kept alive by historians, poets, and the daily press, of the reconquest of the left bank of the Rhine (*les frontières naturelles*²). 2. The French, not understanding the long struggle of the German nation for political unity, saw in the consummation of this union only a forcible aggrandizement of Prussia, and in the victory of the latter state over Austria an unpermissible encroachment upon their own military fame.

Special causes : 1. The internal troubles of the government of Napoleon III. (p. 512). 2. The rejection of the "compensation" demanded, since 1866, from the cabinet of Berlin, for the growth of Prussia in extent and population. 3. News of the approaching introduction of an improved weapon for the north German infantry, which threatened to put in question the superiority of the French chassepot.

Immediate cause: The election of the prince of Hohenzollern to the throne of Spain (512), which was represented in Paris as a Prussian intrigue endangering the safety of France. The request made by the French ambassador Benedetti in Ems of king William I. in person, that he should forbid the prince of Hohenzollern to accept the Spanish crown, was refused. After the voluntary withdrawal of the prince, the French government looked to the king of Prussia for a distinct announcement "that he would never again permit the candidacy of the prince for the Spanish crown." King William refused to discuss the matter, and referred Benedetti to the regular method of communication through the ministry at Berlin. This and the telegraphic announcement of the proceeding was represented by the duke of Gramont as an insult to France. Tremendous excitement in Paris, artificially fermented (cries of "à Berlin!"). In the corps législatif (July 15), opposition of a small minority (Thiers: "because France is not prepared for war") to the declaration of war, which the imperial government declared was forced upon them by Prussia ("La France accepte la guerre que la Prusse lui offre").

² The first use of this idea, which can be established, was by king Charles VII. 1444.

In Germany quiet but decided attitude of the government and the people. William I. on his return to Berlin enthusiastically received (July 15). The same evening mobilization of the north German army and convention of the Reichstag ordered.

July 19. Delivery of the French declaration of war.

Opening of the north German Reichstag, which unanimously voted a war credit (July 23).

South Germany understood that the French attack, although apparently directed against Prussia alone, was in reality an attack upon the German nation, and that Napoleon's purpose was the conquest of German territory and the establishment of a new confederation of the Rhine. The patriotic attitude of Louis II. of Bavaria, who on July 16 had declared that the case of war contemplated in the confederation was at hand, and had ordered the mobilization of the Bavarian army, had a decisive influence upon Württemberg. Patriotic attitude of Baden.

The French cabinet, which had counted on the neutrality of south Germany, at the least, undeceived. Hence a new military plan. The grand army was to be divided into three groups, the two former (250,000) of which were to force neutrality upon the south Germans, and hasten the hoped-for alliance with Austria and Italy. This should be followed by an attack upon the north German army, while expeditions to the coasts of the German ocean should instigate an uprising in Hanover and secure the assistance of Denmark. In reality the strategic advance of the French army took place as follows :—

1. Corps under marshal MacMahon, at Strasburg.

2. Corps under general De Failly at Bitsch.

3. Corps under Marshal Bazaine at Metz.

4. Corps under general Ladmirault at Thionville (Diedenhofen).

The corps of marshal Canrobert at Châlons, of general F. Douay at Belfort, and the Garde under general Bourbaki at Nancy formed the reserve (320,000). Commander-in-chief, Napoleon III.; chief of the general staff, marshal Lebœuf.

It appearing that most of the corps were not in readiness for war the plan of attack was exchanged for a defensive plan.

The German forces moved in three great armies.

I. Army, right wing, Steinmetz at Coblentz (60,000).

II. Army, centre, prince Frederic Charles, Mainz (134,000, with the reserve 194,000).

III. Army, left wing, crown prince Frederic William at Mannheim (130,000).

The total strength of the north German army 750,000 (of which 198,000 were Landwehr); of the south German 100,000. Commander-in-chief, king William I.; chief of the general staff, general Von Moltke.

The strategic movement of the German armies was at first planned for defense simply, but as the enemy's delay gave a chance for an attack an advance of all three armies towards the boundary, from Trier to Landau, began in the latter part of July. Before the Germans could take the offensive the French made an

Aug. 4. Engagement at Weissenburg. MacMahon after a most courageous defense defeated in the Aug. 6. Battle of Worth (Reichshofen) by the army of the crown prince, which was numerically greatly his superior.

Aug. 6. German victory at Spicheren (Saarbrücken).

In consequence of these defeats the French army commenced its retreat to the Moselle. The crown prince detached a corps to besiege Strasbourg and other Alsatian fortresses, and advanced upon Nancy; the I. army marched upon Metz; the II. army upon Pont à Mousson, with the intention of surrounding the main force of the French about Metz and cutting them off from Paris.

To prevent this Bazaine, upon whom the emperor had conferred the chief command, resolved, after some indecision, to retreat upon Châlons-sur-Marne and join there the remnants of MacMahon's command and a newly formed army. To prevent such juncture the advance guard of the I. army attacked Bazaine and in the

Aug. 14. Battle of Colombey-Neuilly and the

Aug. 16. Battle of Vionville (drawn battle), with great losses, prevented the retreat of the French to Verdun.

Upon the arrival of the delayed corps of the I. and II. army on the next day, the French were again attacked in their excellently chosen and partially strongly fortified positions. In the Aug. 18. Battle of Gravelotte and St. Privat (Rezonville) the Germans under command of king William I. gained an advantageous position after eight hours' hot fighting, in spite of the desperate resistance of the French.

Aug. 19. Retreat of the French under the guns of Metz.

The result of these three bloody battles near Metz was to separate the French force into two parts, and to surround their main army in and about a fortress which was not provisioned for so large a body of troops.

1870, Aug. 19–Oct. 27. Siege of Metz.

Aug. 14–Sept. 27. Siege of Strasbourg by general Von Werder.

After the battles near Metz, advance upon Châlons. MacMahon evacuated Châlons, but instead of retreating to Paris, as was expected at the German headquarters, he attempted to reach Metz and liberate Bazaine by a circuitous flank march to the northeast. Napoleon III. accompanied the army. On learning of this manœuvre the Germans made a detour toward the right (north).

Bazaine's attempt to break through the German lines and join MacMahon frustrated by the Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Engagements at Noisseville.

MacMahon saw the impossibility of reaching Metz, and concentrated his forces at Sedan. The Germans (240,000) far outnumbering the French (about 100,000) decided to send a part of their troops over the Meuse and surround the French army. This was accomplished by the Sept. 1. Battle of Sedan.

MacMahon, wounded in the morning, gave up the command to Ducrot, who afterwards transferred it to the older general Wimpffen. The victorious advance of the Germans on all sides was not checked by the brilliant charges of the French cavalry. At three o'clock the French army was surrounded. Napoleon III. delivered his sword to William I. and acknowledged himself a prisoner. Negotiations between Von Moltke and Wimpffen, and between Napoleon III. and Bismarck. The following forenoon the was signed.

The entire French army prisoners of war: 39 generals, 2,300 officers, 83,000 men, 20,000 having been captured during the battle (3,000 escaped to Belgium). Napoleon III. conducted to Wilhelms-höhe.

In Paris the news of the first defeats, which had been long concealed, produced great excitement and the fall of the ministry of Ollivier (Aug. 10). Montauban-Palikao, the minister of war, formed a new ministry composed of ultra-Bonapartists. Falsification of war news. Paris in a state of siege. The receipt of the news of the capitulation of Sedan caused the Sept. 4-16. March of the German armies upon Paris.

Defenses of Paris: continuous line of bastions and trenches, surrounding the suburbs; around this on the inside a belt railroad; sixteen detached forts, two of which, Mont Valérien in the west and St. Denis in the north, were actual fortresses, all connected by continuous entrenchments and liberally provided with heavy artillery and military stores. Including the sailors and garrison, about 72,000 veterans; with the mobilized guards from the provinces, the guard mobile and national guard of Paris, over 300,000 men. Extensive accumulation of provisions.

The negotiations between Bismarck and Favre leading to no result (refusal of any cession of territory), the great city was invested by the IV.¹ army on the north and east, by the III. army on the S. and W. Headquarters at Versailles.

1870, Sept. 19-1871, Jan. 28. Siege of Paris.

After the capitulation of Sedan the whole war was a struggle for Paris. Excepting the conquest of Alsace and German Lorraine, which Germany had regarded as the prize of victory, from the commencement of the war, all the military operations of the Germans had the object of preserving the positions and the lines of connection of the armies about Paris, and of preventing any attempt to raise the siege; the raising of the siege was, on the contrary, the object of all the French operations.

1870. In consequence of the withdrawal of the French garrison Sept. 20. from Rome, capture of that city by the Italian army and abolition of the secular power of the Pope.

Sept. 23. Capture of Toul.

Sept. 27. Capitulation of Strasburg.

The delegation of the French government in Tours, since Oct. 9, under the dictatorship of Gambetta, who had left Paris in a balloon, formed two armies for the relief of Paris: a. army of the Loire (not 30,000); b. northern army. The former defeated by the Bavarian general Von der Tann in the 1870, Oct. 10. Engagement at Artenay. Occupation of Orléans.

While Gambetta with the greatest energy was strengthening and arming forces for relief, Bazaine, who, as leader of the largest regular army in France, had thought to play a political rôle, by means of negotiations, was forced, after several unsuccessful sorties, to the (3 marshals, 6,000 officers, 187,000 men, 622 field artillery, 876 fortress cannon). A part of the besieging army was sent to reinforce the armies before Paris; a part was dispatched under Manteuffel against the French army of the north; the largest part, under prince Frederic Charles, was sent against the army of the Loire.

Nov. 28. Defeat of the army of the Loire at Beaune la Rolande (by prince Frederic Charles), whereby the purpose of the French commander to force his passage to Paris was frustrated.

Nov. 27. Defeat of the army of the north at Amiens by Manteuffel.

Nov. 30. At Paris, sortie under Trochu and Ducrot, in coöperation with the intended advance of the Loire army. Storm and capture of Champigny and Brie. Successful defense of Villiers and Cœuilly by Württemberg troops. Further French advance was checked, but they kept Brie. After great losses in the fight and through cold the French troops returned to Paris (Dec. 3).

Dec. 2-4. Battle of Orléans, the name given to a number of engagements in which the Germans defeated the army of the Loire, with the following results: 1. Capture of the strong French entrenchments on the right bank of the Loire, and re-occupation of Orléans. 2. Separation of the army of the Loire into two parts. Flight of the delegation of the government to Bordeaux (Dec. 9).

The larger part of the Loire army driven behind Vendôme; Frederic Charles, at Orléans, covered the besieging armies before Paris from the south.

Dec. 27. Opening of the bombardment of the forts of Paris, after the transportation of heavy artillery and munitions had been accomplished with the greatest difficulty. Bombardment of the city, Jan. 8, 1871.

1871, Jan. 12. Battle of Le Mans.

Defeat of Chanzy by Frederic Charles. The French army almost annihilated.

Jan. 6-12. Sortie from Paris against Meudon and Clamart, and one against Le Bourget repulsed.

In the south, Bourbaki with 150,000 men forced von Werder, who was besieging Belfort, without giving up the siege, to take up a favorable position along the Lisaine by a masterly retreat. In the three days

Jan. 15-17. Battle of Belfort,

Von Werder successfully defended his position, and forced Bourbaki to retreat.

Jan. 18. Renewal of the title and office of German Emperor in the palace of Louis XIV. at Versailles, all the sovereign princes and the three free cities having offered the crown to king William I.

Jan. 19. Last great sortie from Paris, with 100,000 men, under Trochu, repulsed after severe fighting. On the same day,

Jan. 19. Battle of St. Quentin, in which general Von Göben completely defeated and scattered the French army of the north. In the south Manteuffel forced the French to take refuge in the neutral territory of Switzerland, where they were disarmed.

1871, Jan. 28. Capitulation of Paris by the convention of Versailles: 1. surrender of all the forts with munitions of war, disarmament of the city wall; 2. all French soldiers in Paris considered as prisoners of war, with exception of 12,000 men, which, with the national guard, preserved order; the French officials to provision the city; 3. the city of Paris paid 200 million francs; 4. truce (excepting the departments of Doubs, Jura, and Côte d'or) for three weeks, for the purpose of allowing a free election for a national assembly, which was to meet in Bordeaux, and decide between peace and war.

Gambetta's resistance to this agreement was soon broken; his resignation (Feb. 6). Elections throughout France (Feb. 8). The national assembly formed in Bordeaux (Feb. 12). Truce prolonged to 24th Feb., and afterwards to March 3. Thiers, elected head of the executive department, conducted the negotiations with Bismarck which resulted in the

1. France ceded to the German Empire: Alsace (except Belfort and territory) and German Lorraine, with Metz and Dieudenhofen (Thionville), in all 4,700 square miles, with one and a half million inhabitants; 2. France agreed to pay five milliards of francs for indemnification in three years, which were secured by an occupation of French territory.

March 1. Entrance of 30,000 German troops into Paris (additional article), and temporary occupation of a small part of the city; evacuated again on March 3d. The preliminaries of peace were ratified, and the details settled in the definitive 1871, May 10. Peace of Frankfort on Main.

The results of the war were : 1. destruction of the military power of France ; 2. acquisition of a secure military boundary for Germany on the west ; 3. the realization of the political unity of the German nation.

March 21–June 15. First imperial Parliament of the new German federal state (Bundestaat), which on April 14 almost unanimously adopted the following constitution for the empire : presidency hereditarily connected with the crown of Prussia, whose king bore the title of German emperor, and represented the empire in international relations, declared war and peace (with the consent of the Bundesrath), concluded alliances, and had the chief command of the army and navy. The representatives of the 25 governments formed the federal council (Bundesrath) under the presidency of the chancellor of the empire (the first : prince Bismarck). (In all, 58 votes : Prussia 17, Bavaria 6, Saxony and Württemberg each 4, Baden and Hesse each 3, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Brunswick each 2, the rest each 1.) The representatives of the people formed the imperial parliament (Reichstag), consisting of 382 members, chosen by direct manhood suffrage. Centralized military system ; universal compulsory service (3 years in standing army, 4 years in reserve, 5 years in the Landwehr), uniform postal and telegraph service, uniform system of coinage, weights and measures.

The new German empire comprised 216,770 sq. miles, and more than 41,000,000 inhabitants.

1871, July 1. Rome became seat of the government and capital of Italy, now completely united under the sceptre of Victor Emmanuel (guarantee for the Pope).

Sept. Opening of the Mt. Cenis tunnel across the Alps (begun 1859 ; 7.6 miles long).

1872, June 29. New agreement between Germany and France, which fixed the payment of the fourth milliard for March 1, 1874 ; the fifth, March 1, 1875 ; and permitted the substitution of a financial security for this last milliard, for the occupation of French territory.

1873, Jan. 9. Death of Napoleon III. in Chislehurst (England).

Feb. Amadeus I. resigned the Spanish crown. Spain a republic. Anarchy. Civil war against the Federalists in Cartagena (captured 1874), and against Don Carlos in the north.

July–Sept. The German troops, after an anticipation of the indemnity, leave the French territory.

In Italy, in Switzerland, and in Prussia, struggle between the state and the Roman catholic hierarchy. In Italy, dissolution of all monasteries in Rome and the former papal states (May, 1873). In Switzerland, complete rupture with the Roman chair and establishment of a catholic clergy elected by the people. In Prussia, in consequence of the May laws (afterwards extended), which the catholic clergy openly resisted, numerous arrests and removals of ecclesiastics. This contest led to the 1874. Introduction of compulsory civil marriage and the civil Oct. 1. registration of births and deaths, which afterwards became an imperial law (Jan. 1, 1876).

Oct. International Postal Congress in Bern.

The regulations agreed upon went into force July 1, 1875 (for France, Jan. 1, 1876).

1875-1885. Alfonso XII., king of Spain. In the north, in spite of some successes of the royal troops, the civil war continued against Don Carlos, whom the new king declared to be an usurper.

1875. Revolt against Turkish government in Herzegovina, supported by Montenegro and Servia.

March. End of the civil war in Spain. Don Carlos was obliged to leave the country, and went to England.

May. The Turks proved unable to suppress the revolt in Herzegovina. Murder of the German and French consuls in Salonica. The three northern great powers invited the other three to join in making a common representation to the Porte (memorandum of Berlin). Great Britain refused to join. Before the memorandum could be presented a 1876, July. Servia (prince Milan) and Montenegro (prince Nikita) declared war upon the Porte.

A revolt which had broken out in Bulgaria bloodily suppressed by the Turks. The Turkish troops and the Turkish militia exercised shameful cruelties, which produced the greatest indignation throughout Europe, particularly in Russia, thereby giving the Russian government a welcome excuse to proclaim itself the protector of the oppressed Christians, and especially of the Slavonic population in Turkey. Military preparations in Russia.

Meanwhile the war was waged unsuccessfully by Servia, in spite of the open Russian assistance, and the presence of Russian volunteers in the Servian army, which obtained a Russian commander in Tshernajeff, while the Montenegrins were several times victorious.

1876. New, bloodless palace revolution in Constantinople. Murad Aug. V., who suffered from an incurable mental disorder, deposed.

He was succeeded by his brother, Abdul Hamid II. The Turkish army crossed the Servian frontier, and was prevented from marching further only by an ultimatum of the Russian government. The Porte agreed to a truce for two months at first, and afterward for six months.

Russia being unable to induce any other power to join her in an armed interference with Turkey, and being herself unprepared for war and hindered by the winter season, diplomatic negotiations were prolonged. Finally a conference of ambassadors of all the great powers was arranged to meet in Constantinople.

Dec. 24. Meeting of the conference. Promulgation of a constitution for the whole Ottoman empire, which gave the Christians equal rights with Muhammedans and which the Porte hoped would make unnecessary any special provisions in favor of his Christian subjects, to be guaranteed by the powers.

1877. The guarantees which were still demanded by the conference in spite of the Turkish constitution, but which had been gradually reduced in extent, were rejected by the Porte, after consultation with an imperial council summoned for the occasion. The ambassadors of all the great powers left Constantinople.

Peace concluded between the Porte and Servia on the basis of the status quo ante bellum. Montenegro continued in arms.

After further negotiations with the European powers, which had no result, and after completion of its preparations, the Russian government concluded to take up arms alone against Turkey, making a formal declaration that it had no conquests in view.

1877, April-1878, March. Turco-Russian War.

A. Seat of war in Europe: A Russian army under the grand duke Nicholas crossed the Pruth, an understanding with Roumelia having been previously reached, and advanced to the Danube, which was first crossed June 22 by a corps under Zimmermann, which occupied the Dobrudsha; the main army, which Alexander II. had meanwhile joined, forced the 1877. Passage of the Danube at Shistova.

June 27. A flying corps under Gurko crossed the Balkan by an unguarded pass, and drove the Turkish garrison from the important Shipka Pass, by an attack from the south (July 17-19), while one division of the main army, under the crown prince, fronted east and by hard fighting, prolonged for months about the rivers Jantra and Lom, held in check the Turkish army under Abdul Kerim (afterwards under Mehemed Ali, and finally under Suleiman).

The other division of the Russian army captured Nicopolis (July 15), but suffered repeated repulses with heavy loss before Plevna (S. W. from Nicopolis), where Osman Pasha had collected Turkish troops and thrown up strong fortifications (July 20 and 30), and was forced to wait for reinforcements.

Meantime Suleiman Pasha attempted in vain to storm the Shipka Pass from the south with superior numbers (Aug. 23, Sept. 17). He was now appointed commander of the Turkish army in the east on the Lom, where his troops had been sadly missed.

Arrival of Roumanian troops and Russian reinforcements before Plevna. After the failure of an attempted storm (Sept. 7-12), a regular siege was undertaken (gen. Totleben), and

II. to St. Petersburg. Servia (Dec. 14) declared war upon the Porte anew.

Dec.-Jan. A Russian division under Gurko crossed the western Balkans and occupied Sophia; a second under Rudetzki and Skobeleff poured through the Shipka Pass. Both divisions, in conjunction with the portions of the eastern army which had also crossed the Balkans, advanced by way of Philippopolis (victory of Gurko over remnants of the Turkish army, Jan. 16 and 17, 1878) and Adrianople (occupied Jan. 20), close upon Constantinople.

B. Seat of war in Asia (Russian commander-in-chief grand duke Michael). While the operations of a Russian division against Batoum, as well as an expedition of the Turkish fleet to the Caucasian coasts, were without result, the main column of the Russian army (Loris-Melikoff) forced its way to Kars, which it invested (May, 1877). Two other divisions occupied Ardaghan and Bajasid. The reverses suffered from Mukhtar Pasha, who advanced to the relief of Kars from Erzeroum (June), compelled the Russians to retreat across the frontier, abandoning almost all their conquests.

In October the Russians advanced again, and after the 1877. Storm of Kars

Nov. 8. pushed on victoriously to Erzeroum.

The success of the Russian arms created lively apprehensions in the west, particularly in England, to whom Turkey appealed for mediation. Angry negotiations between England and Russia. Meanwhile the Porte was obliged to ask for peace directly of Russia, which in the 1878. Agreement of Adrianople

Jan. 31. granted a preliminary truce, and sketched the plan of a future peace.

1878, Feb. 1. Greece sent her troops into Thessaly, but was induced to withdraw them after a few days.

After the Russians had drawn their lines closer and closer about Constantinople and had occupied Erzeroum in Armenia, and a part of the English fleet which was lying before the Dardanelles had entered the Sea of Marmora, the was concluded between Russia and Turkey: 1. Montenegro and Servia received considerable additions from Turkish territory, and were recognized as independent; likewise, Roumania. 2. Bulgaria, i. e. the larger part of ancient Mæsia, Thrace, and Macedonia (boundaries: Danube, the Black Sea and Ægean Sea, Albania and Servia) remained tributary to the Porte, but received a Christian prince, separate administration and militia; a Russian commissary with 50,000 men was to remain two years in the country. 3. The Porte was to introduce certain reforms in the small portion of his European possessions which remained to him. 4. Turkey paid Russia 300 million rubles, and ceded large parts of Armenia in Asia and the Dobrudsha in Europe, Russia agreeing to give the latter to Roumania in return for the part of Bessarabia (p. 501) which she had ceded in 1856.

This peace aroused great opposition in the west, especially in England, which showed herself ready to go to war with Russia in case the latter insisted on the execution of the above conditions. Austria also began to arm.

June 4. The Porte concluded a treaty with England (at first secret), wherein the latter undertook to protect Turkey in Asia against Russian conquest. The Porte, however, promised to introduce reforms in these parts, and gave up the island of Cyprus to England (Cyprus occupied July 11).

Germany having mediated between Russia and England, to prevent war, and three powers having come to a preliminary understanding, the met under the presidency of prince Bismarck.

1878, June 13–July 13. Congress of Berlin

Principal conditions: 1. Montenegro, Servia, Roumania, became independent, but the cessions to be made to the two former states were somewhat reduced, while the territory which Roumania was to receive in exchange for Bessarabia was somewhat enlarged. 2. The principality of Bulgaria was limited to the country between the Danube and the Balkans, including, however, Sophia and its territory. (An assembly of notables elected prince Alexander of Battenberg (Hesse), a nephew of the Russian emperor, April, 1879.) 3. The southern portion of Bulgaria, with its boundaries considerably narrowed toward the south and west, was left under the immediate rule of the sultans, with the title Province of East Roumelia, but received a separate militia, and administration under a Christian governor-general; only in specified cases could it be occupied by regular Turkish troops. 4. The Russian troops were to evacuate East Roumelia and Bulgaria inside of nine months, Roumania inside of a year. 5. The Porte ceded to Austria the military occupation and administration of Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as the military occupation of the Sandshak of Novi Bazar. 6. The Porte was advised to cede a part of Epirus and Thessaly to Greece. 7. Russia received in Asia Batoum (as a free harbor), Kars, Ardaghan, and some border territories. 8. In Turkey, and all the states which had been separated from her, there should be political equality of all confessions.

1878. Entrance of the Austrians into Bosnia and Herzegovina, where part of the inhabitants offered armed resistance until autumn (1879, occupation of the Lim territory).

1879. In the German empire excited discussion of changes advocated by prince Bismarck in the tariff and economical policy (new tariff, July). Attempted reconciliation with the Pope. The Prussian minister of religion (Falk since 1872) retired ; his successor, Von Puttkamer (July 14).

Oct. 1. The new system of jurisprudence for the entire German empire went in force (supreme court in Leipzig).

1880. The boldness of the Nihilists in Russia continuing to increase Feb. in spite of the severe measures of the government (three desperate attempts upon the life of Alexander II. inside of ten months), general Loris-Melikoff was clothed with a sort of dictatorial power, but endeavored to prevent the imminent dangers by concessions.

Conflict with the papacy in regard to ecclesiastical orders and new laws relating to education in France, and still more sharply in Belgium (liberal ministry of Frère Orban since 1878).

In Prussia, all negotiations with the papacy proving vain, certain limitations of the existing laws relating to the church (p. 521) were introduced as an attempt to reach the desired result by political legislation.

The resolutions of the congress of Berlin had never been completely carried into execution, in part because of the resistance of the Albanian league (secretly aided by the Porte ?) to the cessions made to Montenegro, and also because the negotiations relative to a surrender of territory to Greece had been without result. Hence the

was called, which delivered to the Porte certain distinct propositions in regard to these questions (Thessaly and Epirus with Janina to be given to Greece), which should eventually be enforced by armed interference. The Porte still delaying, a squadron of vessels of all the great powers assembled at Ragusa (Sept.). This demonstration produced the

The electoral system arbitrarily changed so as to restrict the suffrage to rich land-owners. 3. Prohibition of the publication of newspapers and pamphlets without a royal permit. This violation of the charter produced a revolt in Paris July 27. Protests (Thiers, Mignet). This resulted in the election of

by a majority, it was asserted, of more than six million votes. The president was clothed with monarchical power, and permitted to issue a constitution. By a decree of Jan. 9, 1852, the president arbitrarily banished his most important opponents; by a decree of Jan. 14 he established a constitution like that of the first empire (sénat, corps législatif, see p. 464). During the siege of Paris the numerous socialist party had made several attempts to seize the supreme power, which had been frustrated by the troops and the national guard. After the capitulation the workingmen had, under various pretexts, got possession of several hundred cannon, and converted the northeastern part of the city (Montmartre and Belleville) almost into fortresses. (The Tuileries, a part of the Palais Royal, the library of the Louvre, the whole of the Hôtel de Ville, the palace of the Legion of Honor, the building of the ministry of finance, etc., actually destroyed.)

Marguerite*, near Cannes, whence he escaped in the summer of 1874.

1875, Feb. After a long struggle between the parties in the national assembly a republican constitution was finally agreed upon.

The legislative power was exercised by two chambers: the chamber of deputies, which was elected by direct elections and manhood suffrage for four years, and the senate (300 senators: 75 for life, elected by the national assembly, and afterwards by the senate itself; and 225 elected for nine years by electoral colleges, composed of deputies, councils of the departments and districts, and delegates of the communes). The executive power was entrusted to a president, who, after the expiration of the septennat (above), was to be elected by the senate and chamber of deputies united in a national assembly for this purpose, for seven years, and at the expiration of his term of office should be again eligible. The president, who governed by a responsible ministry, exercised almost all the rights of a constitutional monarchy, but could be impeached by the chamber of deputies before the senate for high treason.

1832. A nullification ordinance (Nov. 1832), which declared that the tariff laws of 1828 and 1832 were unconstitutional "and are null and void, and no law, nor binding upon this state," etc. Colonel Hayne was elected governor of South Carolina, and Calhoun took the seat thus vacated in the senate. Dec. 10 president Jackson issued the nullification proclamation, in which the doctrine of states-rights was refuted and the national theory set forth; and he declared his intention of executing the laws of the United States. This was followed by the nullification message, 1833, Jan. 16. This trouble was finally ended by the compromise tariff act, introduced into the senate by Henry Clay, 1833, Feb. 12. The annexation of Texas led to a 1850. Population 23,194,876 (7th census). The discovery of gold in California (1848) had led to the rapid population of that territory, and in 1850 it became the 31st state.

1850, Sept. Clay's compromises provided for the admission of California as a free state ; for the payment to Texas of ten millions for her claim to New Mexico ; for the organization of Utah and New Mexico as territories without any mention of slavery ; for the prohibition of the slave trade in the District of Columbia ; and for the rendition of slaves who had escaped to free states, this last known as the 1854. Kansas-Nebraska bill passed. It provided for the organization of two territories, Kansas and Nebraska, and left the question of slavery to those who should there settle (squatter sovereignty), thus repealing in part the Missouri compromise. A struggle immediately ensued between the slave-holders and the abolitionists as to which party should colonize these territories first. Growing dissatisfaction with the usurped power of the shoguns among the samurai; jealousy of the long possession of the shogunate by the Tokugawa family (1603-1868) among the great daimios.

1853, July 7. Commodore Perry, of the United States navy, entered the harbor of Yedo with four vessels, but soon departed; in Feb. 1854, he returned, and concluded a 1854, Mar. 21. Treaty between Japan and the United States, which was signed by the shogun, whom Perry took to be the "secular emperor" of Japan, under the newly assumed title of tai-kun (tycoon, "great prince," properly a title of the mikado). Treaties with Great Britain (1854, Oct. 14), and Russia (1855, Jan. 26). In 1858 treaties (peace, amity, unrestricted commerce) concluded with the United States (Townshend Harris), Great Britain (Elgin), France, Russia, — all signed by the shogun.

FIFTH PERIOD

FROM 1883 TO 1925

§ 1. SCIENCE AND INVENTIONS

The last half-century has been marked by so many important discoveries and inventions that it has often been called the Second Industrial Revolution. These discoveries in general differed from those of previous times in that they were largely the result of the conscious application of scientific method and knowledge to the field of industry. (See above, pp. 485-87, for an account of the earlier period of inventions.)

In 1891 a rotary turbine engine was perfected by C. A. Parsons, and in 1897 appeared the Diesel internal combustion engine, both important in ocean transportation. Previously, in 1866, an important step in the use of electric power had been made with Wilde's invention of the dynamo which was based on the work of Faraday, and improved by Gramme in 1870. In 1880 M. Faure, of France, brought out his storage battery or accumulator. The electric locomotive appeared on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in 1895. Tesla devised an alternating current motor in 1892.

About the same time a number of inventions and improvements were making possible the modern automobile. In 1877 M. A. Otto had produced a workable gas engine, while the Selden patent of 1879 became the basis of the modern automobile power plant. It was not until 1892, however, that Otto Daimler manufactured the first gasoline motor of the present automobile type. In 1890 nickel steel was first produced, and in 1900 electrolytic and high-speed steels were both invented. Previously, in 1884, manganese steel had been produced, following the development of the Bessemer and Martin processes in 1855 and 1865. In the iron and steel industry the most important advances have consisted in the combination of the Bessemer and open-hearth methods, known as the Duplex-process, and in the introduction of the electric furnace, first made a success in Sweden. A process for reducing aluminum was discovered in 1885, and perfected in 1889 by Charles Hall. All of these advances, while important in a great many other ways, helped in producing the automobile, of which the first practical example appeared in France in 1889 (Serpellet).

The first successful airship flight was made by M. Santos-Dumont in 1901. This machine was lighter than air; the airplane (heavier than air machine) devised by Samuel P. Langley in 1896, and perfected by the Wright Brothers and others between 1903 and 1905. Glenn Curtiss built the first successful hydro-airplane in 1911.

During this period, too, photography developed into an important factor in modern civilization. The work of Daguerre and Fox Talbot in 1839 had marked the real beginnings of this process. Improvements were made by Archer (1850) and Fox Talbot (1852). Roll films were invented by Melhuish in 1854, and the dry plate by Taupenot in 1855. The modern emulsion for rapid photography appeared with Maddox in 1871, while in 1872 the Willis photographic platinotype process made permanent prints possible. After 1888 the Kodak type of film camera was used widely. This invention was made a practical commercial success by George Eastman. Much of this progress had been made possible by the production of celluloid in 1870 by J. W. and Isaac Hyatt. Marey in 1890 employed celluloid roll films in the moving-picture camera, which did not, however, become practicable as a means of public entertainment until some twenty years later.

In 1876 the first successful speaking telephone was brought out by Alexander Graham Bell. From 1877 to 1891 the carbon microphone and telephone transmitter were developed by Edison and Berliner, and thus gradually evolved the telephone of to-day. In 1888 Hertzian waves were discovered, making possible Marconi's wireless telegraph of 1896 ff. and all subsequent developments in radio telegraphy and telephony. The first wireless message was sent across the Atlantic in 1901. L. De Forest perfected the wireless telephone or "radio" following 1909. During the World War great improvements were made in wireless apparatus, and finally the perfecting of the vacuum tube led to the long-distance detecting radio of to-day. This brought a parallel advance of the sending or broadcasting instruments.

The web printing-press first came out in 1871; Ottmar Mergenthaler invented the linotype machine in 1884, and in 1890 constructed a vastly improved model which, in its later forms, has revolutionized methods of newspaper printing. The monotype machine has still further simplified certain forms of typesetting. The typewriter, invented by C. L. Sholes in 1868, has, with progressively varied and complicated attachments, assumed a larger and larger place in modern life. Computing machines have lessened labor in accounting and engineering, and insured greater accuracy.

The problem of lighting has engaged the attention of inventors a great deal and remarkable advances have been made. In 1809 Sir Humphry Davy had exhibited the first electric light at the Royal Institution of London, but electric lighting did not become widely used for a long time thereafter. Wöhler made calcium carbide in 1862, but acetylene gas as a means of lighting did not become commercially practicable until thirty years later. Brush's arc lamp appeared in 1879. Welsbach's original gas burner appeared in 1885; in 1887 his incandescent mantle was perfected, and for many years gas was the most common form of urban illumination. Edison brought out the first successful incandescent electric light in 1878. Since that time rapid progress in this form of lighting has been made, among the chief advances being the introduction of tungsten and various alloys for filaments instead of the old carbon used by Davy and his successors, and the recent use of nitrogen-filled globes.

Of a large and varied group of inventions affecting industry, a few stand out. As the inventions which ushered in the Industrial Revolution were based chiefly on the principles of mechanics and thermodynamics, so those of the last half-century have been associated to an ever greater degree with economic chemistry, though electro-dynamics has been basic in the epoch-making inventions in the field of improved methods and devices of communication. The beginnings of economic chemistry go back to the work of Davy, Liebig, Wöhler, and Kekulé, between 1800 and 1870, but it was systematized by the great German chemist Emil Fischer (1852-1919). It not only underlies the vast and varied number of synthetic compounds, described by Slosson in his Creative Chemistry, but is also basic in the modern methods of manufacturing iron and steel, rubber and commercial chemicals, and in the "breaking-up," refining, and exploitation of petroleum. The long list of adaptations which made rubber so important in modern life opened with Charles Goodyear's discovery of the vulcanization process in 1839. Within a decade, the pneumatic tire was devised, but the first important practical use began in 1890 with its application to the bicycle. With the rise of the automobile industry, new types of pneumatic and solid tires had to be developed. To-day this branch of the rubber industry is as vast as it is indispensable. The Westinghouse air brake first appeared in 1869, the automatic type in 1872. In 1871 Goodyear brought out the welt shoe-sewing machine, a remarkable extension of Elias Howe's original invention of 1846. Modern refrigeration was made possible by the successful ice-making machine of Pictet in 1875. The first Portland cement plant in the United States was built in 1876 and styles of construction were thereafter radically changed. Harvesting machinery underwent revolutionary changes, Appleby's automatic knotter of 1879 making possible the modern self-binder. The first electric railway in the United States was built in 1885 and the overhead contact device perfected in the same year. Bowers's hydraulic dredge was also introduced in 1885. In 1886 the electric welding process was perfected by E. Thompson. The cyanide process for separating precious metals appeared in 1887. The caterpillar tractor came in 1906, and during the World War was developed into the "tank."

Medicine and surgery were greatly changed by the use of anæsthetics which began with the discovery of ether which was successfully used by W. T. G. Morton in Boston in 1846. Chloroform was discovered by Guthrie in 1831 and its application to surgery made by Dr. Simpson in 1847. Cocaine was first prepared by Gaedeke in 1855. In 1905 A. Einhorn discovered novocain and laid the basis for the successful "local anæsthetic." Sir J. Lister introduced anti-septic surgery in 1865. The discovery of radium by Mme. Curie in 1898 opened up new fields in medicine, besides overturning much in physics which had been considered fundamental. The X-Ray aided greatly in both surgical diagnosis and medical therapeutics. In 1880 the typhoid bacillus was isolated in Germany, and in the same year the pneumonia bacillus in the United States. Two years later, in 1882, the bacilli of tuberculosis and hydrophobia were isolated by Robert Koch and others, followed in 1884 by those of cholera, diphtheria, and lockjaw. In 1905 Schaudinn discovered the spirochæta pallida of syphilis; in 1906 Wassermann discovered the blood test to reveal its presence; and in 1906 ff. Paul Ehrlich discovered salvarsan ("606"), a powerful arsenic specific against syphilis. Freudian psychology or psychoanalysis, and endocrinology, developed by Cannon, Crile, and others, have revolutionized the treatment of nervous and mental diseases. The various mechanical inventions of this same period were largely responsible for many of the improvements in surgery which became possible only with the acquirement of finer instruments. Remarkable strides were made during the World War, when surgeons were called upon to face new and intricate problems. New antiseptics, such as the Carrel-Dakin solution, and methods of wound drainage saved a vast number of lives. The war forwarded, and also brought to public attention, the enormous advances made in the inoculation against disease during the past half-century.

The full significance of the World War in the field of inventions and science is not yet apparent, but will undoubtedly prove to have been very great, especially in the perfection of weapons of destruction. The development of the submarine, the "tank," the airplane, poison gases, high explosives, and capsules of disease-germs are only a few examples among many. Many of these innovations are obviously useful in peace as well as in war — for example, the reliable airplane, radio apparatus, and better explosives.

Austrian opposition to Russian policy in the Balkans caused great difficulty for Germany. In Austria she was called pro-Russian. In Russia, Katkoff, the most famous of Russian journalists, an accomplished classical scholar and master of several foreign languages, became the leader of a campaign to turn the tsar from Berlin to Paris. In the summer of 1886 Katkoff's paper, the Moscow Gazette, began to demand a Franco-Russian rapprochement. Bismarck protested against the anti-German onslaughts of the Russian press and gave his answer in the new army bill of Jan. 11, 1887 (see above).

In spite of strong anti-German feeling, the Russian foreign minister, Giers, secured

June 18. the renewal of the treaty between Russia and Germany — "Reinsurance treaty."

Russia and France were both hostile to Great Britain and Germany who were thus kept in close touch; a contact strengthened by British coöperation with Austria and Italy in maintaining the status quo in the Mediterranean.

1896-1899. Cretan revolt and Turco-Greek war.

For several years there had been disorders in Crete arising out of discontent with Turkish rule. Mainly through the efforts of the British government a convention was accepted by Turkey and a reform program agreed upon. This was not applied with any great will. The Moslems resisted and 1897. Feb. 4. a large part of the Christian quarter of Canea was burned and civil war began. The

Feb. 7. insurgents proclaimed union with Greece, and Greece landed troops, refusing to withdraw at the order of the powers (Feb. 18), who had assumed joint occupation of the island and

Mar. 2. presented an ultimatum; no annexation to Greece, but Crete to have an effective autonomous government. Greece still refused to withdraw (March 8), and the powers announced the blockade of Crete.

Public opinion in Greece forced the government into a war with Turkey, for which she was utterly unprepared. The conflict began on the Thessalonian frontier on April 16, and

Apr. 17. Turkey declared war, her forces, under Edhem Pasha, driving the Greeks out of the Milouna pass (April 18), and causing a general retirement, though unsuccessful at Raveni pass (April 19). The Greeks, under the crown prince, seized with panic, Apr. 25. evacuated Larissa and retreated to the Karditsa-Volos line. The Greek ministry was dismissed and Athens almost in revolt. Meanwhile the Greeks had invaded Epirus from Arta (April 20), but were driven back by Osman Pasha (April 28). Karditsa was abandoned on the advance of Edhem Pasha; May 5 the Greeks were driven from Fersala and Velestino, and May 8 the Turks entered Volos. Fighting closed with the further retreat of the Greeks from Domokos to Lamia (May 17).

May 10. Greece consented to withdraw from Crete and was ready for mediation, which the powers offered to Turkey. Russia and Austria had ordered the Balkan states to keep out of the war (April 29), and now at a hint from the tsar the May 18. Porte suspended hostilities. Turkey was not allowed to profit by her victories. By the

Dec. 4. treaty of peace at Constantinople, the frontier was rectified (Turkey gained control of the passes), and Greece paid an indemnity of $17,600,000. A commission of the powers assumed control of Greek revenues sufficient to pay this and the old Greek loans.

Meanwhile in Crete the settlement made little progress, though the Christian assembly accepted autonomy (Aug. 26) and the Powers increased their zone of occupation. The Powers failed to agree among themselves or with Turkey, and Germany and Austria withdrew. Turkey wished to keep troops on the island as a mark of her suzerainty and have the Christian governor her subject; but the withdrawal of her troops was forced (Nov. 12, 1898) after a Moslem attack on the British troops and Christians at Candia (Sept. 6), and 1898. Dec. 21. Prince George of Greece was made governor-general by the Powers. A constitution, drawn up by a native commission, was accepted by the four Powers (Russia, Great Britain, Italy, France) and the Cretan assembly (April, 1899). Many destitute Mohammedans emigrated.

- Apr. 5. By ministerial decree in Austria Czech (Bohemian) was placed on an official equality with German in Bohemia. A race war followed in Bohemia. In the reichsrath violence and obstruction by the Germans produced a deadlock which continued during 1898 and 1899 and made necessary legislation by decree under a temporary suspension of the constitution. The Ausgleich was thus renewed as a modus vivendi. Matters were complicated by socialism and anti-Semitism. In Hungary there was opposition to the renewal of the Ausgleich. The repeal of the language ordinance (July 20, 1900) was followed by obstruction by the young Czechs.

An attempt by col. Picquart to reopen the Dreyfus case (p. 574), with proof that the dossier contained nothing applicable to him and that the bordereau was written by another officer (Esterhazy), was met by an attempt to discredit Picquart and his evidence by forgeries made by Henry, acquittal of Esterhazy by court-martial (Jan. 11, 1898), the declaration that the case was une chose jugée, and that the Dreyfusards (including Zola) were trying to dishonor the army. Public opinion, led by the Patriotic League, anti-Semites, army officers, and reactionists, became rabid against the revisionists. But Henry confessed to the forgeries and committed suicide (Aug. 31), and the prime minister (Brisson) now favored a revision; but while the court of cassation was considering the question, the ministry resigned after a vote virtually accusing them of permitting attacks on the army, and the ministry Dupuy with Freycinet as war minister succeeded (Oct. 30). The court of cassation (June 3, 1899) ordered a new court-martial, declaring the bordereau to be Esterhazy's work and the secret dossier without reference to Dreyfus, but the new court-martial renewed the conviction (Sept. 9). Meanwhile the agitation had endangered the stability of the republic, and the ministry Dupuy ("trimmers") was replaced (June 22) by the ministry Waldeck-Rousseau (interior); Delcassé (foreign), Gallifet, later André (war). This was known as the ministry of republican defense, and it steadily repressed the "affair." Dreyfus was pardoned (Sept. 19), the leaders of militarism transferred and subdued, and an act of amnesty passed (Dec. 24, 1900).

§ 4. THE PARTITION OF AFRICA

Modern Imperialism. The period 1883-1914 was characterized by a continued and widespread imperialism and the gradual division of Europe into two armed camps, the triple alliance and the triple entente, which finally clashed in the great war. Leading up to this outbreak there were a series of more or less important "crises" and diplomatic quarrels foreshadowing the ultimate conflict of 1914-18.

There had been relatively little expansionist activity during the first three quarters of the nineteenth century. But the last quarter witnessed a sudden and rapid development, the "new imperialism." The industrial revolution (see pp. 485 and 564) had entered on a new phase during the century; not only was industrialism carried to many countries other than England, to France, to Germany, to Italy, and even to Russia, but new inventions and discoveries gradually brought about what has sometimes been called the second industrial revolution. As a result there was a great increase in the production of goods and also a tremendous increase in the amount of capital available for investment. For this surplus of goods and capital the old world provided no adequate outlet. Moreover, with the growing complexity of civilization certain raw materials, such as rubber, oil, etc., had become essential to the life of every great nation. Herein lies the explanation of modern economic imperialism. Colonies were good for three reasons: (1) for investment of surplus capital — this was most important; (2) as markets for manufactured products; (3) as sources of essential raw materials. Certain other factors operated in the expansionist tendencies of individual nations: e.g., in France where every government was anxious to atone for the defeat of 1871 at home by gaining glory abroad. Nationalism, too, operated as a powerful force. And, finally, as a by-product of Christian missionary activity, there came many territorial acquisitions in "backward" countries. But the "new imperialism" was mainly an expansion of investment opportunities.

Every country produced its philosophical rationalization of the imperialistic impulse, using Darwinian or pseudo-Darwinian ideas of the "survival of the fittest," old notions of racial superiority, belief in the "mission" of Europe to the "backward" races, and similar teachings.

The chief fields of imperialistic activity were Africa and Asia. For Asia see pp. 628, 687.

France and Germany protested so vigorously against this latter clause that on June 22, it was withdrawn. France was also aroused because her way to the Nile would now be barred. Accordingly pressure was brought to bear on Leopold and August 14, an agreement was signed between Leopold and France by which France acknowledged the Mbomu river as Leopold's northern frontier and the latter renounced all rights west of 30° E. and north of a line to the Nile along 5° 30' N.

Causes: chiefly reaction led by a few provincial officials, the empress dowager and party at court against drastic reforms (above, p. 630); antagonism of foreign exploitation of the country and the efforts of missionaries, whose actions¹ sometimes gave excuse for charges against them. A secret society called the Boxers ("patriotic harmonious fists") spread throughout China, especially in the northern provinces, committing outrages on missionaries and converts.

Countenanced by the government (regent, the empress dowager) and aided by the army, they cut the communications between Peking and the coast (June 6), and threatened the foreign legations, for whose defense 450 legion guards had been sent by the different nations.

¹ Missionaries under the treaty of Tientsin in 1858 (p. 561) were given special protection. The French secured further concessions and the United States took advantage of them under most favored nation treatment. The result was a violation of the sovereignty of China and considerable trouble to Chinese officials on account of the assumption of the right of extraterritoriality not only by the missionaries themselves but by their converts as well.

- in this. Following the Anglo-Japanese alliance (p. 643) Russia agreed to restore Manchuria to China (Apr. 8, 1902), gradual evacuation to be completed by Oct. 9, 1903.

Creation of a new army. By 1908 China had 2500 miles of railways with 1700 more under construction; also industrial plants on western models growing up. China is abundantly supplied with coal, iron, and labor power. C. Siberia to 1925

Geography: Ural mountains on the west; Arctic Ocean on the north; Bering Sea, Sea of Okhotsk, and Sea of Japan on the east; Chinese Republic, Buryat, Mongolia, Oyrat, and Kirghiz on the south. The country is rich in natural resources of timber, fish, furs, oil, and mineral wealth (gold, silver, copper, iron, and coal) while the southeastern provinces of Trans-Baikal, Amur, Sakhalin, and the Maritime Province are suitable for grain-growing and cattle raising. Area, 4,831,882 square miles (1914).

Exploration and development: The southeastern provinces were inhabited as early as Neolithic times by Yeneseians and succeeded by Ugro-Samoyeds, who were supplanted by Turko-Tartars, a people with a higher iron culture, then Mongols and, later, nomadic tribes. By the beginning of the 19th century, however, the country was still practically an uninhabited wilderness.

Russian advance began in 1580 with the crossing of the Urals by an outlawed Cossack chieftain, Yermak. The advance continued steadily, largely induced by desire for furs; Sibir founded, 1581; Tobolsk, 1587; Tomsk, 1604; Yakutsk, 1632; Irkutsk, 1651. Buryat tribes in the Baikal region subdued, 1655. In Amur, after thirty years of trouble with Manchuria, Russia signed the unfavorable treaty of Nertchinsk (1689) with China setting the Gorbitz river as boundary. Alaska explored and annexed by Russia (1741). Muraviev, appointed governor-general of Siberia (1847) by Nicholas I, determined to acquire Amur in spite of the treaty of Nertchinsk. He founded Nicholaievsk (1851), built several forts, beat off attacks of English and French during the Crimean war, and successfully negotiated the treaty of Aigun with China (1858) fixing the Amur river as the boundary as far as the Ussuri river. Vladivostok founded (1860).

At the same time the country was beginning to be filled with political offenders, rebellious serfs and criminals sent thither over an arduous and brutal 3000 mile march on foot. Between 1823 and 1887, 700,000 exiles crossed the Urals; 100,000 were sent after the revolt of 1905, and these continued until the exile system was abolished in 1914. Governmental efforts to induce settlers to migrate voluntarily from Russia after 1860 brought 2,500,000 by 1890. By 1904 the Russian population was 6,500,000, with governmental encouragement of immigration continuing. Serfs in imperial mines were liberated to form Cossack regiments for defensive purposes (Amur and Ussuri Cossacks).

1867. Agreement with Japan for joint occupation of Sakhalin. In 1872 Russia exchanged the Kurile Islands for the Japanese claim on Sakhalin.

1872. Vladivostok made the chief Russian naval station on the Pacific.

1884. Railroad completed from Perm to Tiumen. In 1891 the trans-Siberian railroad was commenced; finished to Irkutsk (1898).

1891. Visit of czarevitch Nicholas; received everywhere with great enthusiasm.
1895. Russian interference in Japanese demands of Liaotung from China (p. 642). In reward Russia secured the right to build a railway across Manchuria to Vladivostok (Chinese Eastern Railway, opened 1903) and in 1897 a 25 year lease of Liaotung (including Port Arthur). Russia now had dreams of a vast Asiatic empire.
- 1904-05. Russo-Japanese war, as a result of Russian aggression in Manchuria and Korea (p. 643); and treaty of Portsmouth (p. 644).
1905. Construction of the Amur railway as an all-Russian line to Vladivostok undertaken; this work brought in new settlers, fresh capital, and industry, particularly to Vladivostok, which was now heavily garrisoned, fortified, and developed with saw-mills, rice and flour mills, tanneries, railway shops, etc. By 1914 the country seemed very prosperous and contented.
1914. Outbreak of war (see Great War). The Cossacks and peasants were mobilized and withdrawn from productive work; food and manufactured articles became scarce; prices soared; Vladivostok alone seemed to prosper, due to the transport of materials from America. The peasants to relieve their distress formed coöperative societies, first for the purchase of goods to avoid exorbitant, predatory merchants' profits, later for marketing their own produce as well. These societies were also social and educational centers, developing the ability of the people for common action.
1915. Population, 10,377,900.
1917. Russian revolution (pp. 732 ff). With the slow infiltration of news of the revolution in Russia, committees of public safety were formed by soviets of workers, peasants, and soldiers to safeguard the revolution. All were against the hated autocracy and merchant class, but constructive programs were impeded by the variety of theories held, and by the return of large numbers of revolutionaries from abroad.
1917. Oct. 28. First convention of the workers' organizations of the Far East met in Vladivostok. News of the Bolshevik Revolution in Petrograd caused a split in the communists of the convention between those who wanted immediate communism (Krasnoschekoff) and the moderates (Nikiforov), and the convention dissolved.
- Dec. Danger of conspiracy between the Russian military leaders and Japanese, and of foreign intervention led a conference of Far Eastern soviets at Habarovsk to assume power with the people strongly behind them, and dismiss the Zemstvo conference (advocating old existing government) at Habarovsk after vain attempts to form a coalition government. Good order. By June, 1918, all eastern Siberia had organized government under the Far Eastern Council (pres. Krasnoschekoff) satisfactory to the people in spite of interference of the Japanese and the allied consular corps. In the rest of Siberia a confusion of governments prevailed; the Czechs gave support to temporary government under Kolchak at Omsk; gen. Horvath at Harbin (July, 1918); the Ufa convention (Sept. 1918); and another at Nicholaievsk. Later the Ufa convention fused with the Omsk government establishing a directorate of five with Admiral Kolchak as minister of war; with allied support, other governments recognized its authority. July 23, 1918, it proclaimed the independence of Siberia; this government was garrulous and ineffective.

1918. May 16. Sino-Japanese secret military pact proposing that China and Japan should dispatch troops to Amur and Trans-Baikal.

June 28. Czech forces en route to the western European front via Siberia by permission of the Moscow government, having had their "safe-conduct" revoked, seized Vladivostok and other Siberian centers, and commenced moving westward again (July 12). The reason for this action was the attack by the Bolsheviks, and possibly some urging by the allies. The Czecho-Slovak republic was recognized by France, June 30; Great Britain, Aug. 13; United States, Sept. 2; Japan, Sept. 9.

July 6. Allied commanders issued a declaration taking command of Vladivostok in view of danger to allied people and troops, and approving of all acts of the Czechs since June 29.

Aug. 3. Allies announced an agreement to intervene in Siberia to relieve the Czechs; especially denied intention of territorial aggression; expeditionary forces not to exceed 7000 for each nation to be sent with two purposes: (1) to guard the munitions at Vladivostok and prevent their reaching the Germans; (2) to protect the Czech rear against attacks of Bolsheviks and liberated Germans. The Siberians were highly suspicious of this interference, especially of the Japanese, who exceeded their quota of troops by more than nine times — until American protest, Nov. 1918, following which they reduced their forces to 35,000 (1919), 50,000 (1920), and who further disregarded their agreement by spreading their operations 800 miles north of Vladivostok. No resistance was offered the allies by the Siberians, and by Oct. 15 the Kolchak government supported by the allies held the railway within 300 miles of Moscow.

Nov. 18. Reaction plotted by Cossack officers led to arrest of three social-revolutionary directors of the Omsk government and secured the selection of Admiral Kolchak as dictator to wage an active anti-Bolshevik campaign. An army of from 200,000 to 300,000 men was organized and an offensive planned in conjunction with Gen. Denikin for the spring of 1919. The campaign met with early success, but Kolchak was handicapped for lack of funds and supplies. Sought recognition from the allies and 1919. June 12. Conditional recognition of Kolchak's Omsk government by Japan and the Council of Four at Paris.

July 21-Aug. R. S. Morris, (U.S.) commissioner, presented an unfavorable report on the Kolchak government but advised assistance to it. Following defeats of Kolchak in the summer and autumn, his army melted away; and the country was highly dissatisfied with his nominal officers, especially Semenov; the government disintegrated; Omsk evacuated (Nov.); and the Kolchak régime ended in January, 1920.

1920. Jan. 8. Battle of Krasnoyarsk; remnants of Kolchak's army routed and many surrendered to the advancing Bolsheviki. Kolchak fell into the hands of the Bolsheviki and was shot (Feb. 7, 1920). Semënov succeeded to the command of the remainder of the army, in which there was a good deal of brigandage. Bolshevik influence was now dominant in western Siberia; meanwhile the allies quarreled among themselves, chiefly over the Chinese Eastern Railway arbitrarily controlled by Semënov, the Japanese apparently supporting him and blocking agreements.

Jan. 12. Pres. Wilson announced the proposed withdrawal of the American Expeditionary force; completed by March, 1920. The British and French withdrew also, leaving the Japanese whose aggressions the Siberians feared greatly.

Jan. 20. Semënov declared himself temporary ruler of Siberia; vague claims. Many cities, including the northern Petro-pavlovsk (Kamtchatka), turned communist and elected soviets. The peasants were tired of the two years of civil war and socialist theorizing. They wished peace, and to secure it they organized themselves into bands of Partisans, "the minute-men of the revolution" though badly maligned.

Jan. 28-31. Revolt of conscript reactionary cadets and peaceful seizure of Vladivostok aided by Partisans; provisional government organized at Vladivostok. Habarovsk seized and brought under the provisional government.

Apr. 1. Conference of delegates from all parts of eastern Siberia at Vladivostok to consider the unification of the Russian Far East under one government.

Apr. 2. Japanese, now unembarrassed by allied occupation, presented six demands to the Partisan government, to which the latter, after joint conferences with the Japanese, agreed under protest.

Apr. 4-5. Japanese attack on the government of Vladivostok during the night; shelled government buildings, opened fire in the streets, and disarmed Russian guards. The stated cause for this was an alleged previous Russian firing on Japanese troops, but Russian denials and simultaneous attacks on the government at Habarovsk and Nikolsk-Ussuriski served to invalidate the unsubstantial Japanese charge.

Apr. 29. The Partisan temporary government forced to agree to exorbitant demands of the Japanese army.

May 27. Nicholaievsk burned by the brigand Tripitzin. 134 Japanese who had broken their patrol and were recaptured burned in the gaol. The Japanese charge massacre of 700 subjects. The Partisan forces later captured and executed Tripitzin but the Japanese used the incident as the pretext for July 4. the seizure of northern Sakhalin Province.

Apr. 6. Proclamation of the independent Far Eastern Republic by a conference of delegates at Verkhne-Udinsk. The republic was to serve as a buffer state between the Japanese and Soviet Russia. Provisional government formed with Krasnoschekoff as president. The government of the Maritime Province continued under the military supervision of the Japanese.

- May. Conference of delegates of the new republic held in Verkhne-Udinsk; opinion was split over the Semënov situation, the Japanese question, and the site for a capital. The republic seemed doomed through internal dissension when the
- May 11. Japanese commander telegraphed gratification at the foundation of the buffer state and stated the Japanese would evacuate the Far East as soon as a stable government was established.
- May 16. Receipt of note of recognition of the Far Eastern Republic from Soviet Russia (Tchicherin). Krasnoschekoff sent to secure aid from Soviet Russia (June); he secured the cession of all railways east of the Selenga river (Soviet Russia in control of Siberia west of the Selenga), the promise of funds and material as needed, and the par exchange of the paper currencies of the two governments.
- June. People's Assembly of the Maritime Province passed a resolution in favor of union with the Far Eastern Republic.
- Aug. The Japanese withdrew from Trans-Baikal following negotiations (Gongota agreement) with the Far Eastern Republic.
- Aug: 21. Diplomatic mission (Yourin) from the F.E.R. government to negotiate a trade treaty with China arrived in Peking. Negotiations seriously obstructed, due to Japanese and French influence with China. Yourin's baggage found to contain Russian papers for propaganda.

The fomentations of reactionaries had to be dealt with; armies under Ungern on the Mongolian frontier and Semenov, under cover of the Japanese occupation in the Maritime Province, together with insidious press propaganda of reactionaries in the outside world, seriously embarrassed the government and necessitated the maintenance of an effective standing army. And relations with the Japanese were tense, due to the exasperating excesses of the Japanese militarists, and the aid furnished the reactionaries.

The diplomatic representatives of Argentine, Brazil, and Chile ("A.B.C." powers) offered the services of their respective governments for mediation (Apr. 25). - Jan. 31. German declaration of a new submarine campaign in the war zone in which all merchant vessels were to be sunk at sight. This violation of the agreement of May 4, 1916 (see World War) aroused American anger. The war had furnished an enormous stimulus to American exports — foodstuffs and munitions especially. In 1914 American exports were $2,329,684,025; in 1916, $4,272,177,579. (Munitions exported in 1916 were valued at $481,000,000.) Imports were but $1,893,925,657 (1914) and $2,197,883,510 (1916), leaving an exceedingly favorable balance — the United States was converted from a debtor to a creditor nation and New York became the leading gold center and exchange market of the world. The German submarine campaign, in addition to being a violation of America's rights as a neutral, would have interfered seriously, if effective, with an immensely lucrative trade with the belligerent powers. Furthermore, loans of American bankers to allied belligerents would have been imperilled in the event of a too prolonged struggle or a German victory. Ambassador Gerard recalled from Germany (Feb. 3) and passports handed to ambassador Bernstorff. The United States proceeded to arm merchant vessels and the sinking of three of these (Mar. 18) together with information that Germany had offered bribes to Mexico and Japan ("Zimmermann note") to attack the United States led pres. Wilson to recommend to Congress (Apr. 2) in special session a declaration of war against this "natural foe to liberty." A joint war resolution passed the senate (Apr. 4) (82-6) and the house (Apr. 6) (373-50).

1918. Canal opened between Waterford (Hudson) and Buffalo (Lake Erie). The transportation problem in the United States was becoming more acute yearly. - Mar. 1. Railroads returned to their owners (see above). Losses during government administration estimated at $700,000,000. United States shipping board abandoned operation of its ships and turned them over to private operators as agents. Nov. 12-1922, Feb. 6. Washington Conference.

Growth of feeling in favor of disarmament led pres. Harding to invite formally Great Britain, France, Japan, and Italy (Aug. 11) to discuss the question of armament reduction. These agreed, and sent delegates as did also China, Belgium, Portugal, and the Netherlands. Mr. Hughes was chosen chairman, and in his opening address concretely proposed the limitation of the naval armaments of the great powers for ten years. The chief visible results of the conference were:

(1) Five-power naval treaty (Feb. 1, 1922) (a) restricting the maximum capital ship tonnage of Great Britain to 525,000 tons; United States, 525,000; Japan, 315,000; France, 175,000; Italy, 175,000; tonnage of individual ships to 35,000 tons, and maximum caliber of guns 16 inches; (b) auxiliary ships limited to 10,000 tons and 8-inch guns; (c) aircraft carriers limited for five powers to 135,000, 135,000, 81,000, 60,000, 60,000, respectively; (d) status quo in fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific. No limitation on submarines due to violent disagreement on the quotas.

(2) Four-power Pacific treaty (Dec. 13) of Great Britain, United States, Japan, and France replacing the Anglo-Japanese alliance (expired) to insure peace in the Pacific. Each power bound to respect the integrity of the island possessions of the other and in event of dispute to invoke the good offices of the other parties. No fortification of strategic islands.

(3) Yap treaty (signed Feb. 11, 1922) by which the United States secured equality with Japan and all other nations in the use of cable and wireless facilities in Yap and other Japanese mandates.

(4) Treaty on Chinese integrity (Feb. 4) or "open door" pact signed by United States, Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, China, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Portugal; signatories pledged to respect the sovereignty, independence, and administrative integrity of China, to provide the fullest opportunity for China to develop stable government, to maintain the "open door," to refrain from exploiting Chinese conditions in order to secure special rights, and to respect Chinese neutrality in time of war.

Apr. 1-Sept. 4. Great strike of coal miners demanding a maintenance of the 1920 wage scale in resistance to proposed cuts of 17-40 per cent, and demanding the "check-off" system by which unions require employers to deduct union fees from wages. The strike was nation-wide with 515,000 men "out." In the Herrin riots (June) several strikers and strike-breakers were killed when union men tried to close a mine operating with non-union labor. Conferences between miners and operators at Cleveland resulted in settlements with the bituminous workers (Aug. 15) and the anthracite workers (Sept. 4).

Nov. 20. An American "observer" (Mr. Grew) sent to the Lausanne conference (p. 760). This break in the administration's policy of non-participation in European affairs was largely due to the fact that United States interests were much concerned in the oil situation and the fear of a British monopoly of the near eastern fields. However, an amicable settlement with the English over the Mesopotamian fields was reached during the year.

1923. Feb. 28. British debt funding act ratified; the principal of the British debt of \$4,600,000,000 to be paid in 63 annual installments on a fixed schedule with interest for the first ten years at 3 per cent, remaining years at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

Apr. 9. Supreme court decision held that a minimum wage law of the District of Columbia was unconstitutional in that it interfered with the liberty of contract guaranteed the individual as against the national government by the due process clause of the fifth amendment (Taft, Holmes, and Sanford dissenting).

June 3. Regulations issued by the treasury department ordering all vessels in American territorial waters to be "dry" after June 10. This order was caused by the difficulty of enforcing prohibition due to "rum running" beyond the three-mile limit and the firm intention of the administration to enforce prohibition. But conflicts resulted with other nations over legal issues. Treaty with Great Britain on the issue permitting British vessels to bring in liquor under bond, in return for which concession the right of search and seizure was extended to an hour's steaming (about twelve miles) from the shore (ratified, May 22, 1924). Similar treaty with Norway (May 24, 1924), Italy (June 3, 1924), and Denmark (July 25, 1924).

Aug. 31. Official recognition of the Obregon government in Mexico by the United States. Internal troubles still rife; outbreak of further civil war by the insurgency of de la Huerta (Dec.). Coolidge.

Features and results of civil government:

Manhood suffrage established; this has been a stimulant to popular education. The women do not vote. There is no educational test. Free trade authorized with the United States (fully effective after Mar. 1, 1902), the duties collected in Porto Rico on foreign imports going to the island treasury. In consequence, the external trade of Porto Rico increased between 1900 and 1924 from $16,602,004 to $177,650,164. A corresponding increase of population occurred, from 953,243 in 1898 to 1,299,809 in 1920. With growing prosperity went extension of good roads. The 275 kilometers left by Spain in 1898 became 1447 kilometers by 1924. A public school system was built up from negligible beginnings to the point where, in 1924, there were 233,425 pupils enrolled. Illiteracy was reduced from 90 to less than 50 per cent. The death-rate fell from 41 per 1000 in 1898 to 18.6 per 1000 in 1922. A less commendable consequence of the business increase was the concentration of land in fewer hands; small holdings decreased more than 30 per cent.

1909. Two half-mile tunnels were opened through the mountains, providing irrigation for the south side of the island, which is a trade-wind desert. Agitation began, under the leadership of Luis Muñoz Rivera and others, for the extension of American citizenship to Porto Ricans.

1917. Mar. 2. U.S. congress (Jones act) conferred United States citizenship upon the people of Porto Rico. Voting was made compulsory. Proportional representation was established by means of a "limited vote" for certain senators and representatives. And it was provided that United States internal revenue collections on the island should be paid into the Porto Rican treasury. (Subsequently permission was accorded for the island, practically, to collect United States income taxes for the benefit of the local treasury.) With such assistance, the budget of the insular government increased from $2,001,302 in 1901 to $11,000,000 in 1924. More than one half of these funds were derived from what would normally be federal taxation.

May. The United States having entered the World War, the Selective Service draft was extended to Porto Rico by request of the Insular Government, after only two months of American citizenship: 17,855 men were inducted into service and 706 officers were commissioned and trained in Porto Rico.

1918. June 2. The war, thus far a rather distant interest of the island, was suddenly brought home to Porto Rico when the Germans sank the S.S. Carolina, toward the end of her voyage from San Juan to New York. War interest was thoroughly aroused.

Sugar industry of St. Croix had been in process of concentrating, owing to economic causes; process continued, and many small sugar mills were abandoned, and all grinding done in three large steam "centrals." Many laborers were thereby thrown out of employment.

Loss of the "free port," which existed under Danish laws, reduced the trade of the islands, especially of St. Thomas.

"The figures presented in this summary are both incomprehensible and appalling, yet even these do not take into account the effect of the war on life, human vitality, economic well being, ethics, morality, or other phases of human relationships and activities which have been disorganized and injured. It is evident from the present disturbances in Europe that the real costs of the war can not be measured by the direct money outlays of the belligerents during the five years of its duration, but that the very breakdown of modern economic society might be the price exacted." (Bogart, p. 299.)

2. Capitalized value of loss of life

The most elaborate and most generally accepted scheme for estimating the monetary value of human life in different countries was made by M. Barriol, a French actuary, in the Revue Economique Internationale, December, 1910, and May, 1911. He estimated the average social value of an individual in the leading countries to be as follows:

England.....	£828
U.S.A.....	944
France.....	580
Russia.....	404

This estimate has been accepted in various countries as applying to life as a whole, and therefore in using these figures as a basis for calculating the capitalized value of war-losses of men in the prime of life, and therefore of more than the ordinary average earning-power, the tendency obviously is to err on the side of under-estimation rather than exaggeration.

Further, if a capital value can be assigned to human beings at all, this value to-day would be greatly above that of before the war, owing, in the first place, to the scarcity of men, and, secondly, to the depreciation of the money in which the value is estimated.

M. Barriol's figures were confined to the larger Powers, but there seems no impropriety in applying to the other belligerents his estimates of value. The lowest value has been assigned to the others, with the exception of Belgium, to which the French figures have been applied.

The figures quoted below include the known dead and the pre-sumed dead:

COUNTRY	NUMERICAL TOLL	VALUATION	TOTAL
England.....	938,904	£828	£695,420,512
United States.....	109,740	944	103,594,560

Greece.....	37,500	404	15,150,000

3. Supplementary financial figures

(1) Loans to Allies. In addition to the net expenditure of the war, shown above, Great Britain also advanced a further sum of £1,739,000,000 to various Allied Powers as follows:

To France.....	£434,000,000
To Italy.....	413,000,000
To Russia.....	568,000,000
To Belgium.....	87,000,000
To Dominions.....	171,000,000
To Other Allies.....	66,000,000

During the war Great Britain borrowed just under £900,000,000 from the United States. Since the war this sum, which meanwhile had increased, by the addition of the interest, to approximately £1,000,000,000, has been funded, and is now being repaid at the rate of £30,000,000 per year. Defaulter

The United States also made advances to the amount of £1,891,000,000, to the Allies, as follows:

To Great Britain.....	£863,000,000
To France.....	570,000,000
To Italy.....	318,000,000
To Russia.....	37,000,000
To Belgium.....	68,000,000
To Serbia.....	5,000,000
To Czecho-Slovakia.....	6,000,000
To Others.....	24,000,000

France during the war, borrowed £1,000,000,000 from Great Britain and the United States of America, and loaned £309,440,000 to other Allies.

(2) Sea-going merchant shipping. On July 1, 1914, British sea-going merchant shipping totalled 20,100,000 gross tons; by December 31, 1918, it had fallen to 16,900,000 tons. That of the United States on July 1, 1914, was registered as 1,875,000 gross tons; by December 31, 1918, it had increased to 5,719,000 tons. That of other Allies, including France, had fallen from 7,675,000 gross tons on July 1, 1914, to 6,840,000 gross tons on December 31, 1918.

(3) National debts. Great Britain's pre-war debt (1914) stood at £700,000,000; by 1919 it had risen to £6,750,000,000, an increase of £6,050,000,000. France's pre-war debt was £132,000,000, and had risen in 1919 to £5,400,000,000, an increase of £5,268,000,000. The United States' pre-war debt was £260,000,000, post-war (1919), £5,750,000,000, an increase of £5,490,000,000. Italy's pre-war debt was £580,000,000, post-war (1919), £2,200,000,000, an increase of £1,620,000,000.

(4) Thus, at a glance, the cost of the war to the four chief Allied Powers was:

British Empire.....	£10,054,000,000
France.....	8,126,639,000
United States.....	5,519,594,000
Italy.....	3,502,000,000

The threatened

Ploetz' DICTIONARY OF DATES

What It Contains:

Ploetz' Dictionary of Dates is a comprehensive handbook of the essential facts of ancient, medieval and modern history, so arranged that the subject matter falls into the periods generally used by teachers of history. The material within these periods is set down as a series of brief, connected narratives which are accompanied by a clear, well-graduated chronology to emphasize the sequence of events. The relative importance of the various facts is made easily distinguishable by the use of italics plus a regular and a bold face roman type. In addition, an elaborate, 90-page index makes the book suitable for reference work with the minimum of time and effort.

To Whom It Will Be Useful:

To all students of history from the first year of high school up.

To all parents with growing children.

To any one wishing to gain a good working knowledge of all history or of any portion of history with the minimum of time and effort.

To all owners of home libraries interested in history.

To people playing games which require exact historical information.

To all school and public libraries.

To any one desiring a reference book which will provide quickly the facts of ancient, medieval and modern history, particularly teachers, editors, writers, lawyers, public speakers, students and ministers.

How Authoritative and Permanent Is It:

This Dictionary of Dates was first prepared by Dr. Carl Ploetz, a veteran German teacher and scholar, author of a number of educational works of high reputation and usefulness. Since its first publication in 1880, it has been translated into many languages. The first translation into English, with enlargements and revisions was made in 1883 by William H. Tillinghast. The present edition is the fifth enlarged and revised edition in English, prepared by a committee under the editorship of Harry Elmer Barnes.

This book, in the 55 years since its original publication, has made a world-wide reputation and is today considered the best guidebook of its kind.

Why It Is Now Available At This Low Price:

This remarkable book has never before been offered at less than $5.00. Special permission has now been obtained from the owners of the copyright to publish a less expensive edition for a limited time only. By printing a very large quantity at one time, we are able to reduce the price. This low price can only be maintained so long as this bargain edition lasts.
